SPORT SPICE—Strangely enough it was just five years ago tonight that Louis first knocked out by Max Schmeling. It was later that Louis registered one of the quickest knock-outs ever witnessed in the heavyweight ranks when he K.O.'d Hurt Maxie of the iron cross (secondhand) in less than two minutes. Tonight at Toronto the Cleveland Indians are the only team the Yankees can beat. Yesterday the White Sox handed the Bronx Bombers their second consecutive reverse in as many days, as Squd Chandler pitched a five-hitter against the Bronx Bombers, curling in the groove while Feller was chalking up his 14th win of the season for the Cleveland Indians. As an all-star selection the Corby's are playing the Continental Cab outfit tonight. Trenton at the Flats tonight. Come and get it.

Make Your Jam and Jelly This Quick, Reliable Way

REDUCES BOILING TIME

It takes such a short time to make jam or jelly with Certo. For jam you need give only a one-minute to two-minute full, rolling boil—for jelly only a half-minute to a minute. Goodbye to long, tedious boiling and stirring!

SAVES MONEY WITH EVERY BATCH

In this very short boil practically no juice has time to boil away. You get up to one half more jam or jelly from an equal amount of fruit. That means more jam or jelly for less cost per jar.

KEEPS THE NATURAL TASTE AND COLOUR

The boiling time is so short it does not affect fruit or darken the colour as long boiling does. All the natural, fresh taste and colour of the fruit remains unspoiled in your jam or jelly.

NO ANXIETY AS TO RESULTS

With every bottle of Certo you get a book of 72 tested, easy-to-follow recipes—a separate one for each kind of fruit. If you follow them exactly for the fruit you are using, you'll never have failures.

3 out of 4 Jam and Jelly Champions use CERTO

Mr. J. S. Wardner of Belleville, Ont.—both the Shannonville and Tweed Fairs—writes: "I always keep a bottle of Certo on my sugar shelf. I can make perfect jams and jellies with so little trouble and effort. I appreciate the confidence that Certo gives me in making prize-winning jams and jellies."

Look for Book of 72 Tested Recipes under the label of every Certo bottle

Zellers Employees Picnic at Cobourg

Approximately 130 persons including employees of Zellers Limited from Lindsay, Peterboro', Oshawa and Belleville, with their families and friends attended an enjoyable picnic at Cobourg Beach on Wednesday afternoon, when a fine program of sports was enjoyed.

The picnic parties opened with a tug-of-war which was on by the Peterboro' entry, this being followed by a series of relay races and a softball game into which the teams entered with spirit.

After a delightful picnic supper which was prepared by the Ready-to-Ye'ass' Department heads, a program of community singing was enjoyed. Mr. Hallen, of Peterboro', acting as song leader. A vote of thanks to Mr. Wyman, manager of Oshawa store, to Mr. Smith, manager of Lindsay store, and Mr. Reid, manager of Belleville store, was extended by Mr. Fitzgerald of Peterboro' for their untiring efforts respectable for the success of the picnic.

The presentation of prizes to the lucky winners in the Peterboro' sports program was featured by the award of a comic antique cup, won by the Lindsay store for aggregating the most points. This reminder of the enjoyable afternoon and evening of fun was spent in dancing.

U.S. SENATE COOL TO SHIP ARMING

Washington, June 19 (AP)—The Senate showed distinct coolness today to the idea of arming United States merchant ships against Axis marines and raiders, several legislators contending such a move would invite duels on the high seas.

The discussion was predicated on President Roosevelt's statement that the United States had plans in readiness for arming merchantmen. Mr. Roosevelt was replying to a question regarding the torpedoing of the "American freighter Robin Moor. His words, and attitude on the hint, that necessary orders would be issued if developments warranted.

Senator George Norris (Ind-Nebraska, told reporters he was against the effectiveness of arming merchant vessels.

One of 11 Senators who blocked arming of U.S. ships before the U.S. entered the First World War, Norris said that arming ships "would not give them much protection."

One highly-placed Senator, who figure in the councils of administration foreign policy legislation, expressed belief President Roosevelt would "come to Congress" before taking such a step.

From Senator Tom Connally (Dem-Texas), member of the Senate foreign relations committee, came a statement that "if it really is necessary to arm vessels, the President should do it himself."

CAR FERRY SINKS OFF NOVA SCOTIA

Charlottetown, June 19.—(CP)—The car ferry S.S. Charlottetown 5,880 tons, sank early today off the south shore of Nova Scotia, and lies in 100 feet of water, it was announced by E. W. MacKinnon, Prince Edward Island superintendent of Canadian National Railways. The vessel sank in water heavy after she ran aground and was refloated.

Known as the largest ice-breaking car ferry in the world, the Charlottetown plies between Northumberland Strait between Borden P.E.I. and Cape Tormentine, N.B. She was equipped to carry railway trains between the mainland and Prince Edward Island.

On her way to Pictou harbor in Saint John for her annual refit, the Charlottetown ran aground off the south shore of Nova Scotia, in a thick fog.

Small Boy, Hit By Truck, Has Both Legs Broken

Judy Garland, Hedy, "many and Mickey Rooney, and Director James Sleward and Tony Martin in the Garfield Circle Theatre sensational spectacle opening next at the Belle Theatre.

Six-year-old Charles H. Cleaver, of 36 Herchimer St., sustained fractures of both legs when he ran directly into the path of a truck on Catherine St., while returning to school this afternoon. The injured lad was given first aid at the scene of the accident by Dr. G. E. Cronk and Dr. Van Blaskiee before he was later rushed to the emergency in Belleville Burial Company ambulance for further treatment.

According to eye witness and Clarence Blakely, 24 East Main St., driver of the truck which struck the lad, the little Cleaver boy was playing with two other boys while returning to school. The boy was seen hobbling across the road at the intersection of Dunbar and Catherine Streets when he suddenly darted out into the street directly in front of the truck driven by Blakley.

Constable Wm. Emms arrived at the scene and the lads convicted both him and Detective Fire-Chief Fairfield Circle Theatre Chief Ewing Hicks. Later, that Blakley had swerved his truck and applied the brakes in order to avoid striking the lad.

Hitler Covets Great Wealth Of the Ukraine

By JOHN EVANS
(Associated Press Chief of Foreign Staff)

Washington, June 19 (AP)—Germany and Soviet Russia obviously are in conflict and there are some reports of actual hostilities. Their two great armies have been standing by while Hitler and Stalin discussed an agreement, or perhaps a disagreement.

Persons who should know what is going on say something is likely to happen within a week, if it has not already done so. German signatures of a "friendship treaty" with Turkey Wednesday afternoon is the latest event in a series that sounds like drum beats to those watchers from the Baltic to the Black Sea, whose lives and lands may be involved in the issue.

Russia and Germany are joining their units. There probably are many German soldiers in Finland under the agreement for them to travel unarmed through the country and from Norway. Many foreign diplomats think Finland would tolerate if not encourage German troops to reinforce the Finns against the Soviets if there appeared danger of another attack.

Far to the North Britain is nervous. She is reinforcing her frontiers in case Germany might seek to go to India by way of Southern Russia if and when Germany should go to war with the Soviets or get transit rights around the Black Sea.

Reich Envious of Riches.

Much of what Germany needs and doubtless envies in Soviet land is in the south. The Ukraine, called a "breadbasket," is about the size of Germany before Hitler. It is at the northwest cornrse of the Black Sea.

In Northern Ukraine from Kiev eastward are many industries. Fully 1,000 miles from Eastern Germany and well around the Black Sea are the great oil wells of Baku from which pipelines reach to Batum on the Black Sea.

The two countries may settle their differences with another agreement for great Soviet supplies to Germany or Stalin and his army of several millions may find the Nazis more than a match for them.

Only the two partners who have struck bitter blows at each other know what it is all about, but the military men sharing armed forces in Europe are certain there is a possible new front 2,000 miles long threatening the rich Ukraine which yields more than Southern Russia oil. It seems fairly sure that Hitler has spread a million German divisions or about 1,500,000 men, from Finland to Bulgaria facing eastward.

Soviet Russia says she is in constant alarm over Nazi penetration. She lets little be known of exactly what forces she has and where they are, but recent repeated official comments in Moscow show that the Soviets are alert to some great danger. Despatches today said there was no general mobilization, but since the war started the Soviet Army has been reorganized, probably strengthened, and it certainly has had valuable experience in the Finnish War.

Strength is Burn

Germany considers Europe in her hands. She occupies or controls with garrisons all but a few countries and four neutrals have sworn themselves almost at Hitler's mercy.

Since Britain still is on the defensive and could not at present invade the Continent, Germany is free to turn her land strength where she will. Latterly there have been rumors of attacks on Britain. If Germany plans an attack on Soviet Russia she may be organizing her force for a quick campaign there.

Of all this marshalling of might Hitler and his family could be expounding the table to make Stalin think it is wiser to work with Hitler than to defy him.

The stakes are big. Soviet Russia is one of the world's great wheat growers. She has vast quantities of oil. She makes and takes what she is Germany's great potential enemy. To strip her of her wealth would be to disarm her down to manageable proportions.

Portuguese Irked Over 'Freezing' Of Assets in U.S.

Lisbon, June 19—(AP)—Portuguese irritation with the United States has become generally vocal in the wake of President Roosevelt's action in freezing Portuguese assets in the United States.

(President Roosevelt's executive order of Saturday freezing assets in this country of all nations of continental Europe was accompanied by a White House statement that it was "intended through the medium of general licences" to lift the freezing control with respect to Finland, Portugal, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland and Russia "conditional upon the receipt of adequate assurances" the general licences "will not be employed to evade the purposes of this order.")

Portuguese banks and exchange agencies refusing to buy United States dollar cheques or notes at any price pending clarification of the President's action, Portuguese circles in London reported tonight that, as they put it, Washington was going out of its way to slap one of the few remaining European neutrals disposed to be friendly with the Anglo-Saxon nations.

The freezing of Portuguese assets served to add to the fire caused by President Roosevelt's speech of May 27, which was interpreted here as indicating that the United States has designs on the Azores and Cape Verde Islands.

THE WAR TODAY

BY DON GILBERT
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

The Turkish government has signed a non-aggression pact with Germany. On the surface it represents a triumph for Nazi diplomacy; its real worth must wait the test of events.

Berlin, naturally, says the pact will decisively influence the course of the war. This conclusion presumably is based on the Treaty's inference that Turkey will remain non-belligerent. However, as Turkey had repeatedly made it plain in recent months that she would fight only if her territory were attacked, it is hard to see how reaffirmation of a policy already existing is going to make such a difference.

In London, the British government had been kept informed of the negotiations. It was said the Turks, felt that by signing a piece of paper they might ease the terrific pressure to which Turkish leaders have been subjected ever since the defeat of France made the Anglo-Turkish Alliance a difficult instrument to implement.

The Germans feel, perhaps, that conclusion of the pact, now, when pressure is exported being put on Russia will enhance Moscow's feeling of isolation in the world. It would fit well into any plans the Nazis have to determine the Soviet regime.

It was the aim of Turkish policy early in the war to bring Russia and Britain closer to form, if possible, on Germany's flank a great eastern bloc, with Turkey But geographical and political link between the two large powers. But Turkish overtures met repeated rebuffs at the Kremlin, and developments since have made such an alignment impracticable.

Turkey stood by Britain when the outlook was blackest last summer, and is likely to run out now. In London authoritative quarters concede that effectiveness of the alliance between Britain and Turkey depends largely on Britain being able to supply the Turks with up-to-date military equipment in adequate quantities. France's defection has made this so far impossible.

SAYS BLACKOUT 'WAS TOO BLACK'

Pilot Officer of R.A.F. Says If Such Continued Night After Night, Life of City Would be Paralyzed

Toronto, June 18 —(CP)— A pilot officer of the Royal Air Force who spent last night's blackout test in Toronto said today that the blackout "was too black."

He is Jack Bostwick, who arrived here from Britain three days ago, said the test was "very spectacular, but it wouldn't do, night after night." If we had to do that continually the life of the city would be almost completely paralyzed.

"In actual practice in London we don't put all the lights out; a few dim lights remain on, shaded by making the light come through the floor in a pool not visible from above. When the alert sounds, motorists carry on with a blackout headlights until told to stop. The actual beam of this light is not visible at a distance of 30 yards."

Picton and District

Picton, July 19—A delegation representing the Free French Committee of London, visited Picton on Wednesday and paid tribute to one of their number, A.C. 2 Jean Battaglia, who lost his life in a plane crash at the Outlet Beach in April 8th last. Battaglia, whose parents reside in France, had made his way to England where he left of France and joined the R.C.A.F. at the start of the war. At the time of the crash was Pilot Officer Kenneth Armstrong, a native of Los Angeles, Calif.

The committee was comprised of G. L. Asele, president of the Free French in Toronto; also known under the name of France Forever, and a lecturer in French at the University of Toronto; B. Lestocart, a member of the committee and H. Hilles, war veteran of 1939-40 who escaped from France to Canada in January.

This Free French Committee is to organize their countrymen in the fight against Hitler and report a good response.

In the Picton Cathedral cemetery of Mount Olivet, where A.C. 2 Battaglia was buried with full military honors, the committee placed a beautiful wreath of peonies and larkspur, bearing a ribbon with the words: "The Committee of Free French of Toronto." There was another wreath, a permanent wreath, which had been placed on the grave by members of the R.C.A.F. bearing the words: "France Forever" and tied with the French colors. There was little ceremony as the tribute was laid on the grassy mound, unmarked as yet by a headstone, a fact that will be remedied. On the hill just above the cemetery, where Picton Rifleshing and Gunnery School is located, and where Battaglia trained, they drones within sight and sound of the resting place of a Free Frenchman who died in the service of King and Country.

New York, June 19 (AP)—The attendance of the Louis-Conn championship boxing match was announced as 54,487 with a gross gate of $451,743 today as the most attractive fight from attendance and financial standpoint since 72 000 paid $1,000,000 to see the second Louis - Max Schmeling fight three years ago.

The net gate receipts were $386,012. The fighters' purses were not announced but Louis was down to receive 49 per cent of the net and Conn 21 1-2.

Says 9,000 Troops Taken Prisoner in Greece

Canberra, June 19 —(CP)— Army Minister Percy Spender told the House of Representatives today that 9,000 Dutch, Australian and New Zealand troops were taken prisoner in Greece.

He said 9,251 Australians had not returned from the campaigns in Greece and Crete.

Australians taking part in the Greece and Crete campaigns totalled 17,238 officers and men Mr. Spender said, of whom 11,285 returned to Egypt and Palestine. Losses in Greece he set at 2,775 and in Crete 3,675.

Conn Secures Marriage Licence

New York, June 19 (AP)—Billy Conn aped to Brockway, Pa., soon after he was knocked out in the 13th round by Champion Joe Louis in their heavyweight title at the Polo Grounds last night.

Promoter Mike Jacobs said this afternoon that he had telephoned from the Western Pennsylvania town but didn't say what he was doing there. Associates, however, came word that the marriage licence issued to Conn and Mary Louise Smith, Pittsburgh model, had been turned over by Registrar Waller Evans to Thomas Stauffer, Brookville attorney whom Evans described as a friend of Conn.

AT THE BELLE
"The Lady Eve"

If there still remain some few who hesitate to believe Preston Sturges a genius at handing comedy, a visit to the Belle theatre, where his new Paramount picture, "The Lady Eve," is now on the Belle theatre screen, will be enough to convince them that it is time to start singing his praises.

For, with "The Lady Eve," Sturges proves that there is really no word short of that terrmithal would do justice to his work. Writer, director, first he gave us "The Great McGinty," following that with the talk "Sullivan's Travels" and in July," and now, topping both his previous efforts, "The Lady Eve."

It has been a long time since this writer heard such unrestrained laughter as filled the Belle theatre last night, as a great comedy cast went about enacting Sturges' puzzling story of a man in love with one woman, who thinks he marries another, when actually they are one and the same person. From this complicated circumstance arises a number of situations that all work up explosively hilarious climaxes.

As stars of the picture, both Barbara Stanwyck and Henry Fonda show themselves to be superb comedians in the roles of the intelligent, mixed-up pair. The supporting cast, even those who have walk-on parts, is also of the best, with this picture its sparkling comedy. Heading the talented cast are Charles Coburn, Eugene Pallette, William Demarest, Eric Blore, Melville Cooper, Dora Clement, Jimmy Conlin, Robert Greig and Lula Alberni.

Along the picture with Fonda, a sarcastic authority, returning home from a boat trip with a scientific expedition in South America. He meets beautiful Barbara Stanwyck, and her father, Charles Coburn, a pair of shipboard cardsharps. From then on the picture moves into high speed and stays there. Miss Stanwyck and her father are bent on making Fonda, scion of a wealthy ale manufacturer, one of their victims. But Miss Stanwyck didn't consider Fonda in love with the charming yokelike Henry.

When he finds out she's a cardsharp the picture changes as far as he's concerned, and he goes off to his wealthy father's home. Thirsting for revenge, Miss Stanwyck puts on a lady Eve act, poses of a former confederate, who has joined the circle of wealthy social set-living in Connecticut and found them easy pickings.

Scheming and witty "phoney" Miss Stanwyck is readily accepted. Fonda is sure he has met her before but is convinced she couldn't be the girl she met in South America, and nothing to disguise herself. He falls in love with her and thinks he's married. Their honeymoon on a train is kept up to a climax that had last night's audience roaring with laughter.

CHIEF WAHOO

A Saunders and woggon cartoon contributed to the 1941 Victory Loan campaign by Publishers Syndicate.

In the persons of Miss Stanwyck and Fonda, and the rest of the cast, these characters all come to life with rollicking hilarity. "The Lady Eve" is a comedy you will be laughing about and talking about for some time.

"Raggedy Anne" a clever and highly entertaining 3 reel color run cartoon, and "Nature's Nursery," an unusual screen oddity precede the feature attraction.

so good. You're always been such a devoted son; you've brought up those fatherless brothers and sisters and seen them educated and started out in life—and I know it wasn't easy. It used to almost break my heart to see you have to work so hard and never have anything for yourself because there were so many places for your money to go—"

"And so little money to go!" said Orwin, and smiled at her.

She looked about her at the small, gay, compact house; out through the open window beside her at the close-crowding jungle that was misty and erotic in the dusk; she listened to the tireless pounding of the surf on the beach, and drew a great sigh of utter contentment.

"Oh, Orwin, we have so much to be thankful for," she whispered. "We have each other—and I won that $2,500 prize. Imagine ME, a New England school teacher, actually winning fourth prize in a nation-wide contest like that! And then—with contest like that! And being able to get our mothers established on a little farm so they could be self-supporting and we could be married—and now, as a perfect finish, this heavenly spot for our honeymoon! It's like a lovely dream, isn't it? A beautiful miracle."

And then Orwin said what was probably the most romantic, the most dramatic, speech of his entire life. He said, "The most beautiful miracle of all, dear, is that you could ever manage to fall in love with me! And that you could wait for me all these years—"

"The Mighty Lion Needs You"

Honeymoon Gold

by PEGGY DERN

CHAPTER TWENTY

BROOKS HEDGE opened a hot biscuit, sniffed it, and dropped in a lump of sweet butter. His knife slid smoothly through the steak and he said in a tone of awe, "Food for the gods and she says it's simple! Darling, you're a miracle woman. Why didn't you tell me you could do tricks like these?"

"I'm a woman of ordinary intelligence. She should you think it so strange that I can cook?" Natalie demanded almost resentfully.

Brooks shook his head. "I don't know. I guess it's just that you were so lovely and so fragile looking that I'm bewildered to find you can do useful things!" he admitted.

Natalie did not answer for a moment. He thought she was lovely. He liked being with her. He loved her. He liked being with the girl of a new day and the girls of a home maker. Would he—oh, dear God, WOULD he ever so like having her around—enough to want to keep her around the rest of his life? Please—oh, PLEASE, God!

All up and down the beach behind the gaily lighted fronts of the eating places the rite of "Their First Meal Together" was taking place.

In the Cardinal cottage the kitchen was blue with smoke, because Terry had never had any experience with an oil stove before, and because, too, Terry's favorite food was French fried potatoes, and she had definitely that she "did them very well." The kitchens had all been equipped alike, and Betsy had provided practically the same supplies for all of them. Bi-monthly each couple would make up its own order, but tonight the odor of steak was rather prevalent. Terry's idea of steak was to dredge it in flour, immerse it in very hot grease until it browned richly. She still wore the halter shorts and the bra; about her waist she had tied a gingham apron she had picked up at the ten-cent store when she was gathering what she had considered "hopeless" duds.

Bill watched her, tender amusement in his eyes at, flushed, bright-eyed, her hair tumbled about her damp forehead and curling in baby-ish tendrils on her neck, she worked busily and not too efficiently. She was like a child playing house. He told himself, and a little stab of tenderness and something very like pity bit deeply into his heart. At that moment she turned her back and the abundant, wide apron that hid the front of her from breast to knee, while the back of her was revealed in all its nudity of her shorts struck him and he laughed.

Puzzled, startled out of her absorption, she turned and looked at him, a little resentful of his amusement.

"I was just wondering why it was that that scrap of cloth you've got on seemed all right this afternoon out in the open, and now when you tie an apron around your waist, the back of you looks down-right indecent!"

"It's got something to do with association of ideas," said Terry helpfully, lifting the lid from the browning potatoes and inspecting them hungrily.

"My, my, but you're profound—" "No wise-crack, my lad," she warned him.

Bill came over and stood behind her. Put his arms about her and drew her back until her head rested against his broad chest. With a hand beneath her chin, he turned her face about until her mouth lay just beneath his own and he kissed it. A long time afterward she said dreamily, "Oh, Bill — the potatoes!"

"What potatoes?" said Bill huskily, and his arms tightened about her.

Next door, in Sandpiper cottage, Lael and Orwin Littlefield sat down to their neatly spread table, which, well-cooked, appetizing food had been neatly arranged.

"I'm very hungry, aren't you?" said Lucy almost hurriedly. "The salt air gives one an appetite, doesn't it?"

Orwin didn't answer and she glanced up at him, surprised at his silence. He was looking at her as though he could never have enough of just looking at her. In her neat, dark print dress, her fashionable pinafore apron of dark blue, with its pocket made of three brightly colored appliqué pieces shaped like apples, her hair brushed neat and smooth, she was a nondescript sort of person. The kind of woman you see by the hundreds in suburban grocery stores on a late afternoon, shopping in bargain basements; working in factories, mills — the kind of woman who seldom receives a second glance from a passerby. And yet in Orwin's tired, patient eyes she was the loveliest creature in the world.

"I can't believe it," he told her at last. "It's going to be like this for the rest of our lives. I'm going to come home every night to you! I'm going to look across the table like this from you; we're going to be together like this all our lives—and I can't make myself believe it. It's a miracle—like a dream coming true."

There were tears in Lucy's eyes. She put out her hand across the table and his hand closed over it hungrily.

"Just when we'd almost given up hope," said Orwin huskily.

"I know, dear—I know it's been so many years, so long to wait—and just because I won that prize and could buy that little farm for my mother and yours. They'll make good at it, too. They know about chickens, and they'll have their garden, and they'll have fun fixing up preserves and jellies and things."

Orwin, with a touch of tenderness that had in it nothing even remotely resembling her hand and set his lips to an ink spot on her forehead.

"Isn't it absurd—that ink spot? I've never been able to get rid of it—teaching school 14 years, and still getting ink on my fingers!" she tried to sound gay and bright.

"I love it—you, as I love everything about you," said Orwin. "I love you because you're so good and so kind and so sincere. That means a lot to a man, Lucy—that a woman be gentle and good, as you are."

She smiled at him, misty-eyed.

"It's easy to be gentle and kind to a man like you, Orwin. You're—

RECTAL SORENESS AND PILE TORTURE QUICKLY RELIEVED

If you are troubled with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not delay treatment and run the risk of letting this condition become chronic. Any itching or soreness or painful passage of stool is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once.

For this purpose get a package of Hem-Roid from J. R. McKeown or any druggist and use as directed. This formula which is used internally is a small, easy to take tablet, will quickly relieve the itching and soreness and aid in healing the sore tender spot. Hem-Roid is pleasant to use, is highly recommended and it seems the height of folly for any one to risk a painful and chronic rectal condition when such a fine remedy may be had at such a small cost.

If you try Hem-Roid and are not entirely pleased with the results, your druggist will gladly return your money.

Hi Ya, Shirereeve!

The world "sheriff" comes from the old English title "shirereeve," meaning custodian of the country's peace.

CANADIAN WORKERS!

Our fighting men must have your help NOW

This is a mechanized war. Much of the responsibility for its outcome rests squarely upon the shoulders of those who toil — in workshop and office, factory and farm. Proudly, labour accepts the challenge. All Canada resounds with the hum and clang of tireless industry. Our men and women are at work!

Now — immediately — our fighting men need more tanks and guns, more ships and planes, more food and equipment. Today it is more true than ever that "there is not a week, nor a day, nor an hour to be lost!"

Canada's war effort calls for huge sums of money. You, the worker, are asked to invest your savings, and some of your wages, in Victory Bonds. All Canada is your security for repayment. Invest cheerfully, quickly, generously.

Act now. Let your dollars have a glorious share in helping to turn back the barbaric power that would make slaves of free men.

R.C.A.F. CASUALTY LIST

Ottawa, June 19—(CP) — Royal Canadian Air Force headquarters today reported the death of seven airmen in Canada and overseas in the latest casualty list of the war. Today's list brought the total number of dead and missing reported by the R.C.A.F. since war began to 200.
One was killed in battle overseas and three in flying accidents overseas, while three are missing due to a flying accident and operations at flight. One man is reported dangerously ill.
Two are killed in flying accidents in Canada, two are seriously injured and three more are reported dangerously or seriously ill.

KISS YOUR TIRED FEELING GOODBYE!

Pepless Many Suffer Low Blood Count—And Don't Know It.

The bafflingly thing about low blood count is that you can weigh about as much as you ever did, and have plenty of energy for a time—you can feed it if you feel tired in your food. Then suddenly you collapse.

Low blood count means you haven't enough red blood corpuscles. It is their vital job to carry life-giving oxygen. If you lack oxygen through pepless blood, you feel tired, dull, and you may suffer headaches or dizziness. If this makes the power to turn the food you eat, soon you must have plenty of oxygen to enable the energy in your body and give you pep.

Get Dr. Williams Pink Pills today. They are a tonic for the blood, the help give you increasing the number and strength of red blood corpuscles. Then you have plenty of pep. You'll feel like tossing up your hat and shouting "Hurrah!" Get Dr. Williams Pink Pills today.

War-Parted Family, Partially Reunited At Canadian Port

Halifax, June 19 (CP)—A war-parted family was partially reunited last night when Sqdn. Ldr. Roy S. Darbishire of the Royal Air Force met his two children and niece, refugees from Britain. Mrs. Darbishire is in London.

Sqdn. Ldr. Darbishire, in Canada to fly United States-made bombers back to Britain, telephoned Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hornel, Austin, Minn., Tuesday night. Within two hours Mrs. Hornel, a nurse, and Callum, 17 months, Nadia, five, and their cousin, Gillian George, 13, were on their way by plane to the Royal Air Force man. The last lap of the trip was made by train from Moncton, N.B.

Darbishire, a gray-haired veteran of 17 years' service with the R.A.F., sent his children to his friends, the Hornels, last July. They were part of a group of guest children that arrived at New York.

Callum, who left his home in North Wales last summer an infant met his father as a regular young man who could walk and talk. Although he didn't know his father at first he was soon won over by playing with the R.A.F. service cap and the golden wings on his dad's uniformed chest.

Nadia was overjoyed to meet her father again and flinging her arms around his neck said: "But you don't know how old I am?" then "How's your chauffeur?"

Gillian's father, Maj. Richard George, is in Imperial Army of the Nile in Egypt. Her mother is in India.

Pipe Line Supplies Oil to Canadian Firm

Philadelphia, June 18—(CP)—An authoritative source said yesterday that owing to the existing shortage of tankers the Mid - Continent Petroleum Corporation now is supplying to the Imperial Oil Company at Sarnia, Ont., oil which formerly came from South American fields.

Until a month ago, the oil came from South America by tanker to Marcus Hook, Pa., thence by pipe line to Sarnia. When fifty United States tankers were transferred to British service, making it impossible to supply the South American oil, Mid-Continent agreed to furnish the oil, pumping it from southwestern United States fields to the Canadian border connection at Port Huron, Mich. The Marcus Hook leg of the pipe line was taken out of service.

AT THE CAPITOL

Gene Autry

The inimitable Gene Autry proves again his ability to entertain an intelligent and widely diversified audience in "The Singing Hill," which opens tonight at the Capitol Theatre.

Without pretending to be a great dramatic actor, Gene is so honest, so sincere, and unaffected, that fans flock to his standard by the thousands with each successive picture.

Cast opposite him in the current film is Virginia Dale, a vivacious blonde who portrays to perfection the role of the rich society girl who is tamed by Gene's beguiling smile and plaintive guitar. Smiley Burnette, who may lay honest claim to the title of the screen's number one comedian, judging from the number and the faithfulness of his fans, has a typical Burnette role and contributes more than his just share of laughs.

Little Mary Lee, whose voice is nothing short of phenomenal, scores again as "Patsy", the orphan adopted by the cowhands employed by the Circle R ranch. Supporting roles are capably filled by Gerald Mohr, Sheila Bromley, Chester, George Meeker, Harry Stubbs, Cactus Mack, Chuck Morrison and Sam Finn.

"The Case of the Black Parrot"

A thrilling mystery film that will send chills up an down your spine will open at the Capitol Theatre tonight. The picture, called "The Case of the Black Parrot", is the exciting story of the search for a dangerous international criminal who has successfully outsmarted the police of two continents.

Paul Sandigan, who makes his debut as a leading man, is cast as a taxi talking newspaper man who attempts to track down the Black Parrot. Playing the feminine lead opposite him is Marla Vivian, charming young Warner player who is starting on the path to stardom. The picture is crammed full of suspense and exciting action.

The action-crammed double bill is completed by a late news reel, and the tenth chapter of Zane Grey's "King of the Royal Mounted".

Ultimate Can Relieve or Aggravate Symptoms

That a change of scene, a change of climate, is helpful in some ailments is true. In those who are nervous with a tendency to ulcer of the stomach or duodenum and be testing a climate where the atmosphere is warm and moist, it means that they are less energetic, less anxious to be doing something, and quite willing to rest themselves. This explains why in the northern part of the United States there is a large proportion of cases of stomach and intestinal ulcers than in the southern part. It explains also why patients with stomach ulcer would do well to get to a warm and moist climate for a while and learn how to "rest" or keep quiet.

The warm moist climate is also helpful in cases of high blood pressure, or where the nervous condition of the individual is causing an increased heart rate with the possibility of a weakening of the heart muscle. In other words, when the patient is nervous, excitable, emotional, a climate that makes him willing to rest takes away the tension or spasm that aggravates his symptoms.

Even a change of scene, which takes the individual away from his troubles and worries, will relieve his symptoms to some extent.

However, where there is sinus, throat or ear conditions, it is the dry, warm climate that should be sought. Sometimes a stay of six months to a year in a dry climate such as Arizona or Colorado will "dry up" the chronic sinus trouble. The dry climate is also the type best suited for tuberculosis, but in some cases a dry, cool or cold climate is best. Here the patient is kept quiet or in bed and not allowed to exercise too much as the atmosphere may be too stimulating.

Now what about the great majority of patients suffering from the effects of nervousness on heart, blood pressure, digestive tract or stomach and intestinal ulcer who must remain in their present climate and are unable to go to the "special" type of climate best suited to their case?

The main reason why the warm climate gives relief in these cases is because the warmth diminishes the work exercise and tenaceness of mind and body.

If these patients would rest more in bed at night and during the day, and keep warm, they would get much of the benefit obtained by going to a warm climate.

Rest prevents the tenseness and tiresome is the biggest factor in causing the symptoms.

Little Benny's Note Book

I came home for lunch thinking about the piece of salmon mercing pie left over from yestiday, and ma started to give me my lunch on account of Nora being away, saying, Well, how do you feel, Mr. Impudent?

Who me? G, why? I said, and ma said, I, but I'm not impudent. I mean I'm not either kind ao whats a use of worrying? I said. Is that piece of lemmin merrang pie still in the refrigerator? I said, and ma said, it's still there, but I really dont think I ought to give it to you.

Well aw G, ma, why not? I said. G wimickers what did I do, I mean, I didn't even have the dream, I said, and ma said, it was the most vivid thing I ever dreamed, and and where there's so much smoke there must-be some fire.

Well jimmihy crickmas ma, where is there any smoke? I said. Good night, ma, what's a use of making up smoke out of a dream, that's screwy, I said, and ma said, There, I know it was coming, I couldn't of had such a vivid dream for nothing, no idea of using a word like that to your mother.

Meaning screwy, and I said, Well jimminy, ma, I didn't say you, I said the dream. G whimickers, ma, I didn't do anything but fo'get,and anyways, I said, and she said, Well that's slightly better, that sounds more like a little gentleman.

And she left me have the pie and I pretty near didn't enjoy the first half of it on accoutn of thinking how close I came to not getting it.

Bonarlaw

Bonarlaw—Rawdon Township Councillors John Morrison, Wilfred Spencer and Geo. S. Eastwood, also Wilfred Clark, C. F. Barlow attended the social evening held by the members of the County Council in Belleville on Wednesday evening of last week.

The regular meeting of St. Marks W. A. was held at the home of Mrs. G. S. Eastwood on Thursday afternoon of last week with a good attendance. Rev. A. E. Caldwell, Rural Dean, and Mrs. Caldwell were present. A splendid program was given and committees were appointed to look after the strawberry festival being held on the rectory lawn.

Messrs Douglas and Thomas Stocker have secured positions with Rawdon Township farmers for the summer months.

Mr. and Mrs. Lindsay Mumby and Mrs. Clarence Jeffrey returned home on Sunday last from a two weeks visit in Saint John, N.B. and vicinity including Moncton, Sussex, etc. While in Saint John they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Mumby. They also called on several Bonarlaw boys who are in service especially mentioning Lieut. John A. Bell and Pte. David Wellman who they report are looking fine. Their trip was very enjoyable and instructive and covered about two thousand miles.

Felt Tired, Rundown; Stomach Out Of Order

Relates How Systems Ended Gas, Cramps, Acidity, Nausea, Headaches and Dizzy Spells. Appetite Improves As He Sleeps Better

MR. WILLIAM SANGER

All who suffer from disorders of the stomach, liver, kidneys, or bowels or any of their long train of distressing symptoms will be interested in the experience of Mr. William Sanger, Glanford Station, Ontario, as reported recently. Read his sincere statement:

"In the last four or five years I suffered terribly with stomach gas and indigestion. I felt so rundown and miserable I hardly cared not work at all. Food I ate just fermented and caused a burning feeling and sour liquids would rise right up into my throat. Often I couldn't keep any food in my stomach at all. I would get dizzy, bilious spells accompanied by nausea, headaches, my eyes and shocking headaches.

"I had tried all kinds of medicines, but nothing was helping me. Then my boss' wife persuaded me to try Adlerika. Well, I'll say it helped me plenty. It helped my stomach at once, right from the first, and now, after a few weeks, I am feeling just fine again. I enjoy my meals. I sleep well and I have more energy. I don't get those awful headaches and dizzy spells any more and my whole system feels more healthy than it did in ten years.

If you who read this, suffer like Mr. Sanger did, make up your mind to begin taking Symtone today. See how much better you are too, can be feeling in just a short time.

Symtone is sold and recommended in Belleville at DOLAN THE DRUGGIST.

U.S. TO CONTROL EXPORT PETROLEUM PRODUCTS

"SUPER BOMBS" POURED ON GERMANY BY RAF

Industrial Ruhr Smashed With Dual Objective

Slowing up Germany War Effort and Snarling Transportation Routes Aim of Royal Air Force

9 SUCCESSIVE ATTACKS

London, June 20—(CP)—The intensive British air assault on chemical invasion ports and the German Ruhr, now in its ninth successive day, was described today as an all-out effort to obstruct a big Nazi push against Britain which Britons are convinced grimly that they expected as soon as Germany settles matters with Russia.

Repeated attacks on the Industrial Ruhr with the new British "super bombs" which have a devastating splash blast, were said to be aimed at a dual objective:

1. Slowing the German war effort by hampering the industrial output, particularly synthetic oil.

2. Snarling the transportation routes from base points to material and personnel with the German armies will need when a full scale offensive against Britain starts.

A Twin Purpose;

British planes have been over the Ruhr area eight times in the last nine nights in "heavy" attacks and many others on invasion ports on the other night.

For four consecutive days there have been daylight attacks on Channel ports, and the night bombromes that would be used for invasion and, to some extent, have been a twin purpose:

1. To drive back the fringe of combat by making forward German bases unsafe for fighters to use.

2. To impair facilities which will be needed for the expected Nazi offensive against Britain.

The R.A.F. in its smash at the heart of Nazi war industries, has attacked industrial targets at Cologne and Dusseldorf during last night.

Two British planes are missing.

(Nazi sources in Berlin admitted that large-scale bombs and incendiaries fell on Germany.)

Coastal Positions Attacked

Late yesterday the R.A.F. continued its smashing of potential invasion ports by night and by daylight blast-hold French coastal positions. Docks and railway yards at Le Havre and a German supply ship was hit.

One German plane was destroyed. Six planes were lost in these operations and a communique said that "very little" opposition was encountered.

Skies over the British Isles continued to be free of the fire of aircraft. Bombs were dropped at a few widely-separated points last night, causing a small number of casualties and damage. One Nazi bomber was destroyed.

Taking No Chances

Authoritative sources said the R. A. F. is taking no chances on any German plan to invade Britain as was half a century ago by those Britons who warn against over-optimism about the possibilities of a German invasion.

In other words, Britain is taking no chances with the possibility that Germany, if able to make a deal with Russia, would be ready to turn on Britain with an all out invasion attempt.

THE WEATHER

Toronto, June 20—(CP)— Light showers have occurred in Manitoba and in a few districts of southern Saskatchewan, also light to moderate showers in Alberta, where it has been cool, but in the rest of the decidedly warm over the greater part of Ontario with thunderstorms showers in northwestern districts.

R.C.A.F. Starts Cooking School For Rookies

Ottawa, June, 20.—(CP)— A school for "rookie" cooks is the latest venture in the Royal Canadian Air Force.

Starting Monday, the youngest of the three fighting services will inaugurate a series of cookery classes in the class-rooms of Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph, Ontario.

Preliminary plans call for about 20 people to take courses lasting several months under direction of members of the culinary staff. Pupilities for training have been provided through courtesy of the Ontario government.

Classes are divided into two stages—the "Ab Initio" or primary stage and the advanced classes. Graduates from the stage will depend on the pupil's aptitude or experience. Lectures will cover rationing of foods dietetics, food values, and all-important topic of food management.

Tire, Gas, Electric Consumers Receive "Go Slow" Warning

Washington, June 20 (AP)—An official "go slow" warning was posted today for tire buyers all over the United States and consumers in the east, and electricity consumers in the northwest.

To meet the demands of rearmament, a new plan of rubber must be built up with emphasis largely from the East Indies, so decision officials said, on a reduction henceforth in the amount of rubber available for civilian consumption.

Hydro-electric power in the northwest-Canada border area is needed for the manufacture of vital aluminum, so the Federal Power Commission announced yesterday it was ready to urge adoption of Daylight Saving Time throughout the entire area.

With scores of tankers transferred from domestic runs to British use, eastern motorists got an official hint to tighten the belt when gasoline coastline until new ways for getting oil to the east from the Texas and Louisiana fields can be developed.

The motorists, however, received some encouragement in a move by the price control administration to "freeze" the price of gasoline as a barrier to unwarranted increases.

Petroleum Coordinator Ickes revealed at his press conference yesterday that the new price ceiling for gasoline was "one of the things under consideration."

ORDERED TO REPORT

461,328 TONS SHIPPING LOST IN MONTH OF MAY

Figures 120,000 Tons Under Those for April—May Losses Include Those in Mediterranean

FOE LOSS 299,000 TONS

London, June 20—(CP)—Britain announced today a drop in her tonnage losses during May but authoritative sources said sinkings in the Battle of the Atlantic are growing and the number of German submarines operating is increasing "despite the fact that we have taken a heavy toll."

The total for May was given as 461,328 tons, a drop of 119,320 from those for April. It was said authoritatively, the tonnage sunk in the Atlantic itself increased in May over April.

The surmise that more German submarines were at work on the vital Atlantic commerce lanes, this source said, is based on "all figures, including the number of attacks made by our defences against submarines, the number of targets our shipping has presented, the number of known losses of our ships and the 'kills' of U-boats."

Specific Figures Not Given

Specific figures were not given.

It was stated authoritatively, however, that:

1. The general decrease in merchant shipping losses sunk dropped due to a slackening of enemy warfare in other areas, not in the Atlantic.

2. The number of attacks on merchantmen during March was "in a record."

These sources said a number of newly-acquired United States coast guard cutters are operating in the Atlantic and are proving to be "very useful."

They reported an improvement in the work of the Atlantic battle-ground training ground for shipfitable hunting ground for submarines and declared the German undersea and air raiders had been compelled to change their tactics and go further afield.

Rear-Admiral Harold, First Lord of the Admiralty, in a speech this afternoon in Glasgow, said the improvement in the Battle of the Atlantic "despite the fact that the enemy has been noted as the northern approaches."

Retreat

The costly German air pounding of Greek withdrawal harbors and airdromes during April and most of the retreat from Greece was completed before May 1.

Authoritative sources said the total of ships sunk by neutral losses for the war to the end of May was 1,698 ships of 6,702,807 tons, divided as follows:

—British, 1,008 ships of 4,302,445 tons and neutral, 317 ships of 1,411,421 tons.

These sources said that losses over the past 12 months had averaged 641,740 tons.

The May losses were listed at 86 vessels, totalling the May tonnage.

Hastings County Goes "Over the Top" in Victory Loan Campaign

Official Figures Issued Today Reveal $2,025,000 Has Been Subscribed in Seventeen Days of Canvassing

BELLEVILLE SHORT $30,000

This afternoon a small blue pennant upon which is emblazoned a colored torch, fluttered from the city flagstaff beneath the Victory Loan pennant.

It was perhaps unnoticed by hurrying pedestrians on Front Street.

As its blue folds moved slowly in a warm afternoon breeze, those watching on the street below perhaps sensed a thrill of pride. For the blue pennant symbolized the fact that Hastings County had achieved its objective in the Victory Loan campaign.

Last night at seven o'clock proud officials, jubilant in their moment of achievement announced that Hastings County had gone "over the top," official figures today revealed the county has subscribed $2,025,000.

BUT, it was the outlying towns, villages and rural districts which did the job.

BELLEVILLE IS STILL $30,000 SHORT OF ITS OBJECTIVE OF $600,000.

To date residents have subscribed $570,000. And there is but one day, exclusive of today in which the job has to be finished.

$30,000 IS STILL NEEDED!

Belleville Canvassers on Last Lap

Today, canvassers started on the last lap of the Victory Loan race, determined to place Belleville in its rightful position in the province of the larger communities.

Enthused by the fact that outside districts are going over the top, Belleville canvassers are confident that they will be able to complete their objective.

Telephone 3000 is Here Canvasser

Residents of this city should not wait until the last minute to do her particular district calls upon them. Remember only a few short hours remain and prompt action is necessary if the city is to go over the top.

Anyone wishing to have a canvasser call upon them may do so by telephone Victory Loan Headquarters, the phone number is 3000.

Loan Total Reaches $631,096,100; Canada Urged to Swell Total

Ottawa, June 20 (CP)—Canada's 1941 Victory Loan has passed its initial objective of $600,000,000, National Leader Ralston announced today subscriptions have been received to a total of $631,096,100.

In announcing the passing of the objective Headquarters appealed to Canadians to go on and add more millions to the total in the final two days of the Loan Campaign, today and tomorrow.

A Costly War

"The amount of $600,000,000 which was named as the objective of the campaign represented the very minimum amount required by the Government to carry on the naval, military and air services," Dr. W. Spinney, National Executive Chairman, said.

"This is a mechanized war and machines cost much money. The Government estimated that every subscription would be welcome.

"Every two days remain in which to subscribe—today and until midnight tomorrow, Saturday night. An appeal is now made to all Canadians to register an emphatic overthe-top subscription.

"Our cumulative cash total today is $631,096,100. Let anyone have any notion that somewhere we have a smug back-peg ready to produce that last million. We do not want to make it absolutely clear that the above figure includes every dollar that has been subscribed.

"On May 19 in an official statement opening the Campaign, Hon. J. L. Ilsley, Minister of Finance, said: 'Today, Minister of Finance, nominally for $600,000,000 in the Dominion Bond to return for it full hope and expectation that subscriptions received will prove to be considerably in excess of that amount.'

More Is Needed

"Now we have reached and passed the initial amount. Britain, Canada and Canada needs more money from her citizens, more by a long row—offers an interest-bearing Dominion of Canada Bond to return for it—the finest investment is available. Every Victory Bond of the past has

SAYS RUSSIANS READY TO ANSWER BLOW FOR BLOW

Soviet Newspaper Says "The Enemy" Will Never Step Across Forbidden Boundary

MOSCOW IS CALM

Moscow, June 20 (AP)—"There was no question of war," Izvestia declared today that Soviet Russia expects an invasion but the government and people are ready.

They need the whole-hearted cooperation of every citizen who has yet to purchase a bond, and additional purchases on the part of those who have.

Workers, villages and rural communities of the county have done their bit, or will have done it, by the time the final figures are announced. As the county town of Hastings, Belleville should set the example, not follow it. To date it has not done so.

But there is time left in which it can be done. And it will be done if that co-operation necessary is forthcoming.

Canvassers are ready and willing to call on you. Any time this article is being read they will have gone for the last efforts to accomplish their objective.

While the capital was perfectly calm, confidence in the Red army and its reserves continues throughout the Soviet Union.

The Russians were represented as ready to answer blow for blow any attempt to violate the Soviet frontier.

This stand was reiterated by Izvestia when it said "the enemy" would never trespass the fatal boundary, the Russian people's declaration, issued on the eve of the Nazi-Soviet border unity of the NKVD state bodies, the army and navy, year round, day and night, aloof, "on horses and camels, or drawn by reindeer."

Urges Aid For Russia If Needs Be

London, June 20 (CP Cable)— The Evening Standard, commenting on campaign to impress on readers what is believe is the imminence of a West attempt to invade Britain, in support of Russia, said: "If Russia is fighting Germany should invade the country.

"Like other papers and authoritative sources avoided speculation on Britain's part if Russia is attacked, The Evening Standard declared that "if Germany goes to war with Russia, we should recognize our interest in satisfying Russia's resistance—we should attempt to make our friends the Americans understand too."

The Standard, which yesterday stated that "all our resistance in our power will be given the Russians," warned that Hitler could overrun the Soviet now "he would hurl all his weapons against us."

Standard's View

It said that whatever his intentions toward Russia, "his aim will be to destroy Britain, and the circumstances for an early invasion conquest of this island."

"Let there be no rumor engulfing the facts, authoritative sources were reticent last night on Britain's policy toward Russia in the event of an attack.

"It is strictly a matter for the cabinet," one source said, adding "Hitler probably would like to know what we intend to do."

It was noted in some quarters, however, that if the Russians get to war with Germany, Britain would be our Allies and it is reasonable to suppose we would help them whatever aid possible." There was no immediate comment, as to what that aid might be.

HEAVY FINE LEVIED

London, June 20.—(CP)—Robert Bosch, German industrialist, was fined the equivalent of $60,000 today by Old Bailey Court for failing to offer $36,882 in United States currency for sale to the British Treasury.

Yesterday Hogg was fined $60,000 at the Mansion House for failing to register with the Bank of England securities worth $185,426 held in the United States.

Shot Down in Sea, Lost for Six Days Flying Officer Again Back With Unit

Cairo, June 20 (CP)—Flt. Lt. D.News Service quoted him as saying: S. G. Honor who was shot down "Then a Messerschmitt 109 attacked me close to the bay. over the bay, Alexandria harbor, on May 14 and was given up for dead, days on the enemy-occupied island of Crete and by a big Sunderland flying boat which spotted his flashing signal, shot back on duty in Egypt with his Royal Air Force Hurricane squadron.

The flier was attacking Maleme airport and had intercepted and shot down a Junkers 52 and one 87D when he himself was attacked from below.

Hepburn Says He is Prepared to Stand by While Do inion Invades Tax Field

MORE PROPERTY TAX

Woodstock, Ont., June 20 (CP)—Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn of Ontario said in an address at a farmers' picnic here yesterday that he realized "we have to win the war and I am prepared to stand by while the Dominion invades our fields of taxation."

The Premier was one of several speakers at a gathering of Junior supporters of the Ontario section of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture.

Can Only be Sent To British Empire, Egypt, Americas

Order for Direct Action Issued by President Roosevelt

WILL AID BRITAIN

Washington, June 20—(AP)—By direction of President Roosevelt, all petroleum products were subjected today to export control, and exports from the eastern seaboard may be made only to the British Empire, Egypt and the Western hemisphere.

A plan will be prepared, the White House said, for the most effective use of tanker facilities in supplying petroleum to the Eastern seaboard and the other American Republics.

Further restriction of shipments or purchases of petroleum of Pacific ports is not contemplated, the White House said.

The President acted, apparently because of a threatened shortage of oil and gasoline along the eastern seaboard, resulting from lack of tanker facilities and the transfer of tankers to Britain.

Local Gains Made Toward Damascus By British Forces

Cairo, June 20 —(AP)— British and Indian troops have made local gains on the drive toward Damascus, Middle East headquarters announced today, and added Free French forces are holding their ground against a sharp counterattack by numerically superior Vichy forces south of the Syrian capital.

On the southern Syrian front, the communique said, the situation still has not "been fully cleared up" and General Mittelhauser has not yet to have been surrounded after Vichy forces had recaptured it.

LAC. R. H. MILLER KILLED IN CRASH

Brockville Airman Crashed Near Home While Flying Plane Near Malton Airport

Toronto, June 20.—(CP)— LAC. R. H. Miller of Brockville was killed at noon today when his training plane crashed near the Malton airport northwest of Toronto.

LAC. Miller was a student pilot with No. 1 Elementary Flying Training School operated by the Toronto Flying Club at Malton and was flying an elementary type Fleet training plane. LAC. Miller is survived by his mother at Brockville.

A Royal Canadian Air Force court of inquiry was convened to investigate the accident and the inquest will also be held.

He was flying alone on a routine flight, it was stated at R.C.A.F. headquarters.

This was thought to be the first fatality at No. 1 Elementary Training School.

Ship, Bearing Canadian Military Personnel, Sunk by Two Torpedoes

Halifax, June 20— (CP)—Sinking of a ship numbering Canadian military personnel among its complement is described in a letter received here today by Mrs. Ethel Chisholm, Halifax man now in England with the corps of military police.

Two torpedoes sent the ship to the bottom less than four minutes after the first one struck, Chisholm wrote, and he said "many fellows were lost.

Among those who went down with the vessel he named "Cal Leng, Wilkinson, Rose and McGovern."

He was believed to be referring to CSM. Calvert Leng of Halifax, Sgt. Parrel McGovern, Ottawa, and Cpl. Leslie Wilkinson, Toronto, and Cpl. Lloyd Rose, Sydney, N.S., all members of the C.M.S.C., whose loss has been announced.

Cpl. Chisholm was named in a list of survivors issued by the shipping loss, made public at the same time.

"It was certainly a terrible experience and one I would not care to repeat", Chisholm wrote. "It happened about 10.30 at night. I had just gone to bed, as I was on No. 1 morning submarine watch due at four o'clock.

"Wilkinson and Rose were my cabin mates and were also in bed. Suddenly there was a terrific blast, the force of the explosion threw me out of bed and came to my feet.

Sir S. Cripps May Not Return To Soviet Post

By D. E. BURRITT
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London, June 20 (CP Cable)— The return of Sir Stafford Cripps to Moscow is becoming more improbable with every passing day that Russo - German developments are not unfavorable to the master plans of the brilliant socialist lawyer-ambassador.

Sir Stafford was authoritatively reported to have come home "only because he wanted to confer" with British officials "in person." He re-emphasized that his here must not be construed as a withdrawal from Britain's alliance from Russia.

It is known there is pressure from some quarters to have the ambassador return to Moscow as soon as possible but it is also known that Sir Stafford himself is not anxious to resume his post as he considers "futile" further diplomatic efforts in that direction.

In support of this view it is pointed out that Sir Stafford Cripps' year of service in Moscow be now Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden's colleague in the British Cabinet.

Bren-Gun Carriers Reach Britain

First Armored Fighting Vehicles From Canadian Plants Assigned to Canadian Units

By ROSS MUNRO
Canadian Press War Correspondent

Somewhere in England, June 20 —(CP Cable)—First armored fighting vehicles from Canadian factories—a fleet of Bren-gun carriers—have arrived in England and are being assigned to Canadian army units.

One of these speedy carriers was inspected today by Lt.-Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton before being sent to the Canadian Corps.

The carriers are made in an Ontario factory and thoroughly tested before being shipped overseas.

CITY AND DISTRICT NEWS

THIEF TURNS OUT TO BE A SKUNK

Provincial Police hurried to Sidney Township farm on Highway No. 2 early today following reports that thieves were reported to be in the farmer's barn. The Provincial Police discovered the would-be-thief, however, but he was clad in a fine black suit while fur suit. It was nothing less than a skunk.

The two ladies who operate the farm phoned Provincial Police and assured them there were undue disturbances emanating from the farm barn. Two constables later arrived on the scene where they found, what wasn't a pretty sight, the skunk in the hen house. The skunk was promptly disposed of.

BUILD CINDER PATH ON MEMORIAL PARK

Under the direction of the Belleville Horticultural Society a cinder path leading from the junction of Station Street and Cannifton Road to the base of the Cenotaph in Memorial Park was commenced yesterday by the Department of Public Works in the city. The cinder path is to be twelve feet wide and extend for a short distance of the base of the Cenotaph, where the path widens out to about 15 foot stretch. Next year the Horticultural Society intends to plant a floral display around the base of the monument.

The Society also planted a number of dwarf pine trees on Memorial Park this week.

DELIVERS SERMON AT ANNIVERSARY

The four hundredth anniversary of the exodus commenced Thursday, June 19th by a Pontifical High Mass in St. Mary's Cathedral, Kingston. The celebrant was His Grace, Archbishop O'Brien.

For the occasion was delivered by Mgr. J. F. Mackinnon, M.C.

CAR IS DAMAGED BY HIT, RUN DRIVER

Leeman Hicks, Milford, complained to Belleville police last night that his motor car had been damaged by a hit-and-run motorist on Highway No. 2 within the south limits of Belleville.

Hicks was proceeding towards Belleville when he met a south bound car on the brow of the hill near Massassaga. The other car swerved and struck Mr. Hicks' car resulting in considerable damage to the left side of the vehicle. The driver of the other car sped away by away into the night. A full description of the vehicle was given Sergeant Albert Harman.

SLIGHTLY INJURED IN CAR ACCIDENT

When the motor car in which they were riding went out of control on Highway No. 2 three miles east of Belleville, Robert Arnold and Charles Hall, both of Belleville, sustained injuries early today. The motor car left the highway and turned over in the ditch. Moyes and Arnold were taken to the Belleville General Hospital in the Martin ambulance, where it was discovered their injuries were not as serious as at first believed. Motorcycle Patrolman J. E. Hatch investigated.

DRY WEATHER RETARDING GROWTH

Lack of rain together with the blistering effects of a hot June sun, is seriously retarding the growth and prospects of crops in the district according to farmers attending cheese board last evening. Mr. W. Johnston of Melrose, stated that never in his life had he seen oats will under that they did on Thursday as they received the full effect of the sun's rays on the bolted day for this season.

The lack of rain this season, one of the driest on record, has serious ly retarded growth of straw, in many cases oats and barley beginning to head out at heights above the ground, while late sown grain on high ground is exceptionally disappointing.

Motorist Mistakes Window-Tapping 'Dog' For Noise in Motor

The motor of his car was purring sweetly when the motorist left it parked in front of a drug store on Front Street, Belleville a few minutes later, his trained ear discerned a strange noise apparently emanating from beneath the hood of his car. "Strange," he murmured, "the old bus has never performed in a few minutes ago."

He got out and lifted the hood of the car. Here everything appeared to be alright, but somewhere the strange knocking noise persisted. He looked at the motor, puzzled, scratched his head tapped him on the shoulder. A friend, his face alight with a wide grin, stood there. "Listen, pal," he grinned, "that knock on the motor you are looking for is coming from that window, or pressing over my head in the office of the Intelligencer." The other car swerved and struck Mr. Hicks' car resulting in considerable damage to the left side of the vehicle. The driver of the other car sped away by away into the night. A full description of the vehicle was given Sergeant Albert Harman.

POLICE BLOTTER

Two teen-aged boys residing on the West Hill set out to see how many lights and bells they could, but their wanderings were brought to an abrupt end in Trenton, Thursday thoughtfully left notes behind them to inform their parents they had decided to run away from home.

Through the medium of the Belleville police radio a description of the lads was broadcast to Trenton, where they were later apprehended and later returned to Belleville.

Mrs. Charles Arnold, 301 Pinnacle street told police that some person had entered her home last evening and stole $3.00 from her purse. "I was at the front of the house watering the lawn, and the back door was unlocked. Apparently the thief came in the rear door and removed the money from my purse," Mrs. Arnold, who added that on a previous occasion she had lost two dollars in a similar manner, but had not reported it.

Charles E. Aylesworth, 70 George Street, told police that last night that some sneak thief had stolen his bicycle license plate from No. 1 Fire Hall, and was number 15, he said.

Electrification of the Sorocabana railway, owned by the Brazilian state of Sao Paulo will be completed within two years by a company controlled by American interests.

City Council in Committee Completes Busy Session

Recommendations Passed for Ratification of Council in Regular Session.

TO BUILD SEWER

Considerable business was transacted by the City Council in committee on Thursday evening in preparation for the regular council meeting on Monday evening. The request of the Parks Board for four additional lights on Victoria Park was approved and the Public Utilities authorized to install these lights at once.

Tenders were ordered called for fuel for the City Hall and the Chairman of Market and City Property and the Comptroller were given authority to act in this matter. Residents in the vicinity of the circus grounds on Bridge Avenue were given permission to rope off a certain area for the erection of a couple of tennis courts for the recreation of themselves and children in that area. The letter requesting this privilege was sent to the council by Miss Irene Kennedy.

The Board Property Committee recommended to the Council "that all plans and specifications for any house or building proposed to be erected in Belleville be first submitted to the City Engineer and the Comptroller for their approval before any permit is issued and before any contract for construction is let and that if said plans and specifications are not to their satisfaction they shall have the privilege of submitting their report to the Council that may have the privilege was ratified by the Council in committee and will likely be accepted by the Council in regular session.

To Construct Sewer

The Chairman of Public Works recommended to the committee the construction of a sanitary sewer and water main be undertaken on Dufferin Avenue and Victoria Avenue from" Bleecker Avenue to Lot 15 on Dufferin Ave, under the provisions of the Local Improvement Act and that the intention of construction be advertised and the application made to the Ontario Municipal Board for approval. This was ratified in order to make more funds available for building purposes.

It is recommended "that the Chairman of Regional Planning be authorized to obtain options on property necessary for approaches to the proposed Riverside Drive on the roadway along the east bank of the Moira River, the City Solicitor to prepare the necessary options and also provide to have property already acquired by the corporation by various property owners properly transferred to the City of Belleville and the same to be properly registered in the Registry Office."

Authorized to Advertise

The City Comptroller was authorized to advertise some properties which recently came into the possession of the city, the tenders to be received not later than July 15th and the lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted. The properties mentioned are 1 St. Paul Street, 34 Hill Street, 75 South John Street and 74 South George Street. The following properties have been sold and the Mayor and City Clerk were authorized to sign the deeds transferring these properties. The properties sold were Lots 2 and C, North Front street to J. W. Fox, $30, Pt. Lot 16, North Purdy Street to F. W. Day, $25, Pt. Lot O, E. Ann Street to W. H. Hodge, $50 and Pt. Lot 8, Victoria Avenue to V. B. Weaver, $30.

Obituary

JOHN ALLEN LOWDER

Picton, Jan. 20 — There passed away at his home, Bridge Road, on Thursday, John Allen Lowder, a well known and highly respected resident. He was born in Sidney 84 years ago and has been confined to bed for the past month. Born at the West Lake road, Dec. 26th, 1857, he was a son of the late Rev. Silas Edward County. He was a member of the Church of Christ.

Surviving are his wife and a son, Norvel, and a grandson, Albert; a brother, David Lowder, predeceased him.

The funeral is being held at his late residence Saturday afternoon with Rev. Cavender officiating and interment in the Petlet cemetery.

MRS. WILLIAM E. WAY

(Albury)

Mrs. William E. Way died suddenly at her home at Albury, 1st concession of Ameliasburgh township, Prince Edward County, on Thursday, June 19th.

The late Mrs. Way, who was in her 77th year, was born in Hednersville and prior to her marriage she was Miss Elizabeth Russell, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Russell. Most of her life was passed in the district where she was born and her death has brought a deep regret to many old friends. In religion she was a member of the United Church at Albury and was highly esteemed.

Surviving are her husband, Mr. William E. Way, one daughter, Mrs. Edith Pitcher, Picton, one son, Mr. Lawson R. Way, at home and one brother, Mr. Clarence Russell, Rednersville.

LAC. ROY ROBLIN

The funeral of Leading Aircraftsman J. Roy Roblin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Byam Roblin, of the 3rd concession of Sidney Township, who lost his life in an airplane crash at Calgary, Alberta, on June 13th, took place from the Martin Funeral Home, Church street, on Thursday afternoon, June 19th, to the Centenary United Church where an impressive service was conducted by the pastor, the Rev. W. E. Mercer. The address was given by Pit. Lieut. W. J. Province, Chaplain at the Trenton Camp. There was a large attendance of friends at the service.

The bearers at the funeral home and at the church were all boy friends and neighbors of the deceased and were: Herbert Mason, Percy Sutherland, Arthur Calvert, William Sargent, Phillip Ray, Lawrence Hubbis and Alden Boyd.

Upon leaving the church the funeral cortege proceeded to the cemetery at Ameliasburgh, where interment was made with full military honors. The committal prayers were recited by Rev. W. J. Province, Chaplain at the Trenton Airport and the Last Post and Reveille were sounded by the bugler.

The bearers at the cemetery were officers from the Trenton Airport.

POLICE COURT

"That's the shortest Jewish trial on record in a Belleville police court," commented Crown Attorney B. C. Donnan, K.C., when Abe Sonberg, Jewish merchant dealer hailed Munsio Joseph Collesso, a tenant in Sonberg's apartments into local police court on a charge of assault today. Collesso pleaded not guilty before Magistrate E. J. Butler, K.C.

"What happened?" asked Mr. Donnan.

"Well, it was upstairs——" commenced Sonberg.

"Never mind upstairs, tell me what happened at the time of this alleged assault," interrupted Mr. Donnan.

"He hit me with his flat," replied Sonberg.

"Next witness," snapped the Crown Attorney.

Two women substantiated Sonberg's charge; Collesso denied it, the Magistrate found him guilty and assessed a fine of $5.00 and $4.30 costs or 30 days.

Harry Accette, Montreal, appeared in police court charged with theft. He was sentenced to one year in the Ontario Reformatory after pleading guilty to the theft of a suit of clothes. She stated that several articles were given in the other two cases, one being obtaining money by false pretences and the other for the theft of an overcoat in Trenton. Accette readily agreed to all charges and assisted the court.

"I had intended to ask for a penitentiary term in these cases but due to the fact this man has rendered a service to the country I feel I will be satisfied with the lesser term," remarked Crown Attorney B. C. Donnan, K.C.

Two motorists paid five dollars and costs each after being convicted of speeding their motor cars on city streets.

Two non-support cases found accused settlement arrived at between the parties concerned in a special hearing before K. C. Mather and R. D. Arnott, K.C., were solicitors in these domestic matters.

Brilliant Dance Recital Presented By Pupils of Miss Mary Forster

Achieving a high standard of excellence, pupils of Miss Mary Forster, in their annual dance recital presented a splendid program last evening at the McCarthy Theatre. The varied and intricate dances, the colorful beautiful costumes and the talented work of the young performers made a most entertaining and special delight to the audience. The dances taking part were the most gifted of Miss Forster's pupils, since this year she has restricted her class to those who are taking up the study of the dance seriously.

The pupils presented an engaging picture in their appearances and won the hearts of the audience, the lovely little costumes adding to the appeal which went with their fine dancing. Especially interesting was the Dutch Doll scene, the principals proving clever little dolls in their clever dancing. Another number which took the audience by storm was the exhibition balloon dance by Arlene Dickie and Jack Jeffrey which received an ovation.

Guest Artist

Two guest artists added to the interest of the program. Miss Lou Figden, Toronto, formerly of N.Y. was a beautiful dancer and contributed two outstanding numbers. Miss Mary Alice Rogers, pupil of Miss Forster, also appeared as accompanist for her artistic work in the ballet dance, "Only a Rose" and "Thumbs Up."

The senior pupils showed that under Miss Forster's tuition they have made wonderful progress during the last season. Their graceful manner was exemplified with classic dances, the popular tap numbers and some remarkable acrobatic exhibitions showing the versatility of the class and the skill of its teacher. Bringing the show to a brilliant finale was the military number, the girls in flashing red, white and blue uniforms tapping to favourite military airs. Mrs. H. Pidgen, Ann Street, is to be congratulated for the beauty of the costumes which she executed and Mrs. K. Kalvert for the excellent piano accompaniment which added to the success of the numbers. The becoming make-up worn by dancers was the result of Dorothy Gray products donated by Lutman's Drug Store and the hair dressing of Mrs. Morris. The program follows:

1. Soloist—Helen Cooper (Pup). Barbara McLuskie, Valerie Fleming, Emily Mae McCullough, Mary Bongard.

2. Vienna Waltz—Dorothy Dickie and Billy Wallace.

3. Sergeant-Major — Madeline Walden.

4. Flash Tape—Barbara Nicol.

13. Nocturne (The Ballet)—Madeline Walden, soloist, Joyce Rogers, Grace Carlson, Pupils.

14. Jolly Tars—Carol Smith, Billy Walden, Arlene Dickie, Dorothy Dickie and Dick Jeffrey.

15. Finale—Entire Pupilsan.

16 Military Finale—(Ensemble).

Dorsin Akey Given 3 Months

When Dorsin Akey, of Tweed, appeared in County Police Court held before Magistrate J. L. Lloyd on a charge of jail-breaking at Tweed yesterday, he was committed to the Reformatory for three months, but the feature of the proceedings resulted when Mr. Lloyd asked Mrs. Vera Akey also of Tweed, was arrested in the court-room on the charge of comforting and assisting Akey in his escape. Mrs. Akey pleaded not guilty and was remanded in custody for one week.

Akey was originally arrested last Saturday night by Chief J. C. Hayes of Tweed on a charge of the illegal possession of liquor. However during a military parade, which commanded the attention of Chief Hayes, Akey was alleged to have broken an inner door of the Tweed lockup and effected an escape, setting himself and another prisoner, Vincent O'Coin, free. Akey was captured and was not apprehended until the next day, when he gave himself up. O'Coin remained at the lockup and when Chief Hayes returned Saturday night he walked into the Tweed bastile, therefore escaping a charge of jail-breaking. He was given 17 days on a drunk charge after refusing to pay the levied fine.

Akey was given an additional three months, to run concurrently with the charge of jail-breaking, when he was in default of the payment of a $100 fine assessed after being convicted of the illegal possession of liquor.

County Crown Attorney B. C. Donnan K.C., prosecuted the day's court.

School Children To be Admitted Free to Fair

Board Authorizes $1,200 in Purses, for Horse Racing on Two Days of Exhibition

FINE ATTRACTIONS

School children will be admitted free to the Belleville Fair this year it was announced at the fortnightly meeting of the Fair Board last evening. Complimentary tickets will be issued to all school children in the district, such tickets to be honoured any time during the three days of the Belleville Fair that opens on Sept. 8th. President Wesley Gray also announced that circular letters would be sent to all school teachers in the Bay of Quinte and Trent Valley districts with full explanation of the details pertaining to the proposed innovation.

"It is only by interesting the future generation in the advantages of fall exhibitions of farm products, the products of the good earth and livestock that Canada can ultimately take her place with the producing countries of the world," prestticted President Gray as the Board made it clear that the complimentary tickets to be distributed among the school children would be honoured any day of the three-day Belleville Fair.

Horse Racing to Return

Horse racing will return to prominence at the 1941 Belleville Fair when $1,200.00 was voted to be given as purse money for a two day meet, the last two days of the Fair. Of this sum, set aside for the attraction of harness horse racing, $600 per day will be given in purses with two races each afternoon being featured. "With the Toronto Exhibition over and the Lindsay Fair following ours, we should be assured of the return of good harness racing in this sector of the country. I have personally talked with the harness racing mentors in Kingston and Napanee and they with the proper purses we can expect good race horses from Ontario and the northern part of New York State," revealed Mr. Geo. Jarrell, board member. The attraction while he will be Messrs. Wellbanks and Palmer.

Large Midway Coming

The largest midway to play in Canada this year, the Conklin Shows, will be the midway attraction, coming directly to Belleville from the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto. Nearly a decade ago the Conklin Shows appeared at the Belleville Fair and proved the greatest outside attraction ever to display attractions in Eastern Ontario. In addition the Belleville Fair Board have engaged the Garden Amusement Company to present a daily and nightly grandstand performance, reported to be one of the most thrilling displays before a grandstand ever attempted in this part of Ontario. An entirely new grandstand performance has been assured by Mr. Wm. Garden, director of the shows.

In an effort to induce a better display of horses the special prize list for horses was declared open for this year's fair. There will be no restrictions for the winning of special prizes in the horse classes, as in former years, Secretary A. L. Burke announced following a lengthy discussion on this question. The Board was of the opinion that by opening the special prize section, without restrictions, the patrons of the fair, especially those witnessing the displays from the grandstand, would be afforded a more interesting contest.

The various farm implement agencies in Belleville have agreed to increase their displays of modern farm equipment in the interest of the farmer. The Belleville Fair Board will also place on sale 400 books of tickets in advance of the fair.

'The Duchess' Given Thirty-day Reprieve

San Quentin, Calif., June 20 (AP) —Mrs. Evelia Juanita Spinelli, the "the Duchess" to the underworld gang she dominated, has escaped for at least 30 days being the first woman executed by the State of California.

Sentenced to die today in San Quentin's gas chamber, she was granted a reprieve by Gov. Culbert Olson last night.

Superior Judge Raymond Coughlin of Sacramento and trial foreman Lloyd Locke told the Governor they had important information on the case. Judge Coughlin had sentenced the Duchess, a former member of the notorious Detroit "Purple Gang," and two of her companions for killing 18-year-old Robert Sherrod, youngest member of the gang. The gang feared Sherrod was going to "squeal" on them at a gang meeting.

The Governor at the same time granted 30-day reprieves to George Hawkins, another member of the gang, and Mike Simonov, Mrs. Spinelli's common-law husband. They still had seven days more of life in a previous stay.

Warden Clinton Duffy said Mrs. Spinelli kneeled and dramatically grasped her cell bars when he awakened her to tell her she had been reprieved.

"Thank God," he quoted her. "He has listened to my prayer. I hope He will find a way to get the truth now. I have prayed hard today and tonight."

OPINIONS VARY ON NAZI-RED CRISIS

Some U.S. Senators Think Russia Will Not Fight, Others Think Threats Just Smoke-Screen

Washington, June 20 (AP)—Several United States Senators well informed on international affairs agreed today that Germany's threatening gestures toward Russia may win the Nazis vast new supplies of raw materials, prolong the war and increase the chances of American involvement.

"The massing of German troops on the Russian frontier means she is determined to have Russian food supplies and war materials, with or without fighting," said Senator Claude Pepper (Dem.-Florida).

Pepper referred to his recent suggestion that the U.S. occupy Dakar, the Azores and other strategic bases which might become stepping stones across the South Atlantic.

Senator George Norris (Ind.-Nebraska) told reporters "it would be damned nice if the dictators would really quarrel" and said that if Russia would actively resist Nazi penetration "it might give England a real opportunity to bomb Germany."

Chairman Walter George (Dem.-Georgia) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee voiced belief Germany would keep a substantial force in or near Russia for the duration of the war in order to prevent any back-door attack while the Nazis are operating against Britain in the West.

Senator Tom Connally (Dem.-Texas), a Foreign Relations Committeeman, said that in his opinion, regardless of demands, "Russia will not fight Germany under any circumstances."

Still another Foreign Relations Committee member, Senator R. M. La Follette (Prog.-Wisconsin), said he believed Germany's concentration of troops on the Russian border "is a screen for other activity in some other sector."

Thrill Flight Put on Record

Story of Royal Air Force Bomber Badly Shattered by Anti-Aircraft Fire

London, (CP)—Fresh evidence of the courage and skill of Britain's fliers is given in the account of a hazardous flight to Kiel Canal, Germany by the captain and observer of a Royal Air Force bomber.

The aircraft, after the target was attacked, came under heavy anti-aircraft fire. Shells burst all around and fragments spattered the plane like rain. Flames spread over the wing and came through the fuselage.

The crew were still fighting the fire when they reached the Dutch coast and when the flames spread to the wireless operator's cabin and there was danger of the aircraft blowing up at any moment, the captain turned back over land and gave the order to bale out.

The wireless operator, second pilot and rear gunner beat their way through the flames and dropped through the front hatch. Meantime, my observer was fighting the fire with his hands," said the captain. "He was tearing the burning stuffing from the wireless operator's seat and throwing it out of the aircraft. Suddenly he shouted that the fire inside the cabin was under control, and just then the flames around the port engine died down."

One One Engine

The captain decided to try his luck over the sea and the observer volunteered to stay with him, although there still was danger of an explosion and the machine was sputtering badly, threatening to cut out altogether.

They glided down from 12,000 to 1,000 feet to give the overheated starboard engine a rest and the observer got the rubber dinghy ready in case they had to land on the sea. Then he gave the captain a course to follow which would be broken—and they made a landfall and came to a safe landing.

For two hours they had flown over the sea on only one good engine and when the starboard threat of fire recurring. Even then their troubles were not over. Circling the land they found the wheels wouldn't come down. The undercarriage had been hit. But the captain made a "belly" landing and he and his observer ended the flight unhurt.

AT THE CAPITOL

Gene Autry

Gene Autry rides again—this is the clarion call that will bring patrons in droves to the Capitol theatre, where Republic's "The Singing Hill," is now showing.

Autry, as foreman of the Circle D ranch, and head of the Cattlemen's Association, is concerned over the future of his friends and associates when 20 year old youthful owner of the Circle R (played by Virginia Dale), announces her intention to sell the ranch to John Ramsay. Jo is young, frivolous and extravagant—sentiment means little to her, and she is unmoved by the fact that it has been a tradition in the Adams family, begun by her great-grandfather, the first owner of the Circle R, that its vast grazing land may be used as "free range" by all the ranchers in the neighborhood. If Ramsay succeeds in buying her out, he will close the free grazing land to the ranchers and they will lose their means of livelihood.

In order to get an audience with Jo, Gene, Frog and Mary Lee, who portrays an orphan adopted by the cowhands, masquerade as musicians and play at one of Jo's parties. At first she is interested in the handsome cowboy, not knowing that he is her foreman, but when he discloses his identity and pleads with her to reconsider her plan to sell the ranch to Ramsay, she angrily refuses reveals in the course of the painful interview that Ramsay has already made a down payment. To clinch his option to buy within sixty days, and she has spent the $2,000 down payment to pay her debts.

Gene extricates the girl and all his neighbors and friends from this seemingly impossible situation with true Autry finesse and the film, according to advance reports, is one of the most successful of Republic's musical westerns to date.

"The Case of the Black Parrot"

Thrills, mystery and murder are the ingredients that make up the new Warner Bros. film, "The Case of the Black Parrot" which opens at the Capitol theatre today. It tells the story of an international criminal.

Known only as the Black Parrot because of his uncanny ability to counterfeit anything from legal documents to masterpieces of art, he is sought by the police of two continents.

Starred in the roles of a keen-witted newspaper reporter and his lively sweetheart are William Lundigan and charming Maris Wrixon.

The same programme includes the late news reel and the tenth chapter of Zane Grey's "King of the Royal Mounted."

STILL HARD AGROUND

Brockville, Ont., June 20 (CP)—The S. S. Kingston of the Canada Steamship Lines was still hard aground early today on a shoal in the St. Lawrence River, five miles west of here, despite efforts of salvage tugs to release her.

The vessel went aground last Tuesday during a heavy fog.

A plant will be constructed near Genoa, Italy, for the production of about 264 pounds of vanadium daily from naphtha ashes.

School Children To be Admitted Free to Fair

Board Authorizes $1,200 in Purses, for Horse Racing on Two Days of Exhibition

FINE ATTRACTIONS

School children will be admitted free to the Belleville Fair this year it was announced at the fortnightly meeting of the Fair Board held last evening. Complimentary tickets will be issued to all school children in the district, such tickets to be honoured any time during the three days of the Belleville Fair that opens on Sept. 8th. President Wesley Gray also announced that circular letters would be sent to all school teachers in the Bay of Quinte and Trent Valley districts with full explanation of the details pertaining to the proposed innovation.

"It is only by interesting the future generation in the advantages of fall exhibitions of farm products, the products of the good earth and livestock that Canada can ultimately take her place with the producing countries of the world," predicted President Gray as the Board made it clear that the complimentary tickets to be distributed among the school children would be honored any day of the three-day Belleville Fair.

Horse Racing to Return

Horse racing will return to prominence at the 1941 Belleville Fair when $1,200.00 was voted to be given as purse money for a two-day meet, the last two days of the Fair. Of this sum $600 was set aside for the attraction of harness horse racing, $600 per day will be given in purses with two races each afternoon being featured. "With the Toronto Exhibition over, and the Lindsay Fair following ours, we should be assured of the return of good harness racing in this sector of the country. I have personally talked with the harness racing mentors in Kingston and they assure me that with the proper purses we can expect good race horses from Ontario and the other side of New York State," revealed Mr. Geo. Jarrell, board member whose committee arranged the attraction.

Large Midway Coming

The largest midway to play in Canada this year, the Conklin Shows, will be the midway attraction, coming directly to Belleville from the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto. Nearly a decade ago the Conklin Shows appeared at the Belleville Fair and proved the greatest outside attraction ever to display attractions in Eastern Ontario. In addition the Belleville Fair Board have engaged the Garden Amusement Company to present a daily and nightly grandstand performance, reputed to be one of the most thrilling displays before a grandstand ever attempted in this part of Ontario. An entirely new grandstand performance has been assured by Mr. Wm. Garden, director of the shows.

In an effort to induce a better display of horses the special prize list for horses was declared open for this year's fair. There will be no restrictions for the winning of special prizes in the horse classes, as in former years, Secretary A. L. Burke announced following a lengthy discussion on this question. The Board was of the opinion that by opening the special prize section, without restrictions, the patrons of the Fair, especially those witnessing the displays from the grandstand, would be afforded a more interesting contest.

The various farm implement agencies in Belleville have agreed to increase their displays of modern farm equipment in the interest of the farmer. The Belleville Fair Board will also place on sale plots of tickets in advance of the fair.

'The Duchess' Given Thirty-day Reprieve

San Quentin, Calif., June 20 (AP) — Evelyn Juanita Rybolli, 23—she Duchess" to the underworld gang she dominated—has escaped for at least 30 days being the first woman executed by the State of California.

Sentenced to die today in San Quentin's gas chamber, she was granted a reprieve by Gov. Culbert Olson last night.

Superior Judge Raymond Coughlin of Sacramento and trial foreman Loyd Locke told the Governor they had important information on the case. Judge Coughlin had sentenced the Duchess, a former member of the notorious Detroit "Purple Gang," and two of her companions for killing 19-year-old Robert Sherred, youngest member of the gang. The gang feared Sherred was going to talk about a bookkeeping killing.

The Governor at the same time granted 30-day reprieves to Gordon Hawkins, another member of the gang, and Mike Simonoe, Mrs. Spinelli's common-law husband. They still had seven days more of life as a previous stay.

Warden Clinton Duffy said Mrs. "Spinelli kneeled and dramatically grasped her cell bars when he awakened her to tell her the news she had been reprieved.

"Thank God," he quoted her. "He has listened to my prayer. I hope He will find a way to get the truth now. I have prayed hard today and tonight."

OPINIONS VARY ON NAZI-RED CRISIS

Some U.S. Senators Think Russia Will Not Fight, Others Think Threats Just Smoke-Screen

Washington, June 20 (AP)—Several United States Senators well informed on international affairs agreed today that Germany's threatening gestures toward Russia may win the Nazis vast new supplies of raw materials, prolong the war and increase the chances of American involvement.

"The massing of German troops on the Russian frontier means she is determined to have Russian food supplies and war materials, with or without fighting," said Senator Claude Pepper (Dem.-Florida).

Pepper referred to his recent suggestion that the U.S. occupy Dakar, the Azores and other strategic bases which might become stepping stones across the South Atlantic.

Senator George Norris (Ind.-Nebraska) told reporters "it would be damned nice if the dictators would really quarrel" and said that if Russia would actively resist Nazi penetration "it might give England a real opportunity to bomb Germany."

Chairman Walter George (Dem.-Georgia) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee voiced belief Germany would keep a substantial force in or near Russia for the duration of the war in order to prevent any back-door attack while the Nazis are operating against Britain in the West.

Senator Tom Connally (Dem.-Texas), a Foreign Relations Committeeman, said that in his opinion, regardless of demands, "Russia will not fight Germany under any circumstances."

Still another Foreign Relations Committee member, Senator R. M. La Follette (Prog.-Wisconsin), said he believed Germany's concentration of troops on the Russian border "is a screen for other activity in some other sector."

Thrill Flight Put on Record

Story of Royal Air Force Bomber Badly Shattered by Anti-Aircraft Fire

London, (CP)—Fresh evidence of the courage and skill of Britain's fliers is given in the account of a hazardous flight over Nazi Germany by the captain and observer of a Royal Air Force bomber.

The aircraft, after the target was attacked, came under heavy anti-aircraft fire. Shells burst all around and fragments spattered the plane like rain. Flames spread over the wing and came through the fuselage.

The crew were still fighting the fire when they reached the Dutch coast and when the flames spread to the wireless operator's cabin and there was danger of the aircraft blowing up at any moment, the captain turned back over land and gave the order to bale out.

The wireless operator, second pilot and the gunner beat their way through the flames and dropped through the front hatch. "About this time, my observer was fighting the fire with his hands," said the captain. "He was tearing the burning lining from the wireless operator's seat and throwing it out of the aircraft. Suddenly he shouted that the fire inside the cabin was under control, and just then the flames around the port engine died down."

One One Engine

The captain decided to try his luck over the sea and the observer volunteered to play with him, although there still was danger of an explosion from the flames which sputtering badly, threatening to give out altogether.

They glided down from 12,000 to 1,000 feet in safety and started starboard engine a rest and the observer got the rubber dinghy ready in case they had to land on the sea. Then he gave the captain a course to steer to Britain, which he broken—and they made a landfall and found an aerodrome.

For two hours they had flown over the sea, on only one good engine and with the constant threat of fire recurring. Even then their troubles were not over. Circling inland they found the wheels wouldn't come down. The undercarriage had been hit. But the captain made a safe landing and he and his observer ended the flight uninjured.

YOUR VICTORY BONDS

Are you among those Canadian citizens who have bought Victory bonds to the utmost of their ability?

If you have not bought and are able to buy even a fifty dollar bond, are you not going to join those hundreds of thousands who will be the proud possessors of these Victory bonds, the absolute security of this Dominion? Every purchase counts and builds up the majestic total. Many small purchases make a big total .No purchase is too small.

If you have bought bonds and feel that you can buy more, there is yet time though it is brief. But it is sufficient.

You can buy on the cash basis or the instalment plan. In the latter instance you make a deposit and monthly payments according to the plan which has been devised.

If you need to do so, you can sell a Victory bond. In fact it is more valuable than cash from the standpoint of interest and from the fact that while it may be disposed of at any time, you are more likely to be reluctant to part with it and rather strive to retain possession, whereas with money you are likely to spend it or at least some of it.

You know that a Victory bond is as secure as the solid rocks on which Canada is built. Behind Canada's resources of mine, field, timberland and fisheries.

These bonds will give you the inner satisfaction that you have co-operated in Canada's war effort in the way the Government finds the easiest and it is your help and co-operation are appreciated by the whole nation.

Many will yet buy in order to swell the loan far beyond the nominal objective of six hundred millions of dollars and so give the best proof of the vitality of Canada and the steadfastness and confidence of her people that through an all-out war effort will come the merited victory. They have been putting their money into these bonds which are symbolic of duty to, loyalty for and love of Canada as a member of the British Commonwealth of Nations. No Canadian would want to do less. The people have faced the facts, poured out their treasure and are reliant and steadfast.

Many citizens have done nobly and are sacrificing for the cause of democracy. What they have done has given others inspiration and courage. They have done what they could to arm Canada financially.

Canada knows she can depend upon her people and the success of the loan is a proof.

For those who have never before bought bonds, this is an opportunity. To become acquainted with securities in the form of a government bond. These bonds have the moral advantage that they are being sold to wage a war for morality and honor and truth and faith against the forces of evil and international anarchy. Make your dollars fight for your country and the right.

The British show great strength and resource on the Libyan-Egypt border. Their latest attack this week is Egypt.

Hitler's blitzkrieg has failed at Tobruk. This port stands after two months. Wagner took an opportunity. The British took Narvik after only six weeks. Tobruk has stood longest and shows no sign of yielding.

The glory of the defence is that "technically" the town seems indefensible. It is a collection of flat-roofed buildings gathered around a scoop in the Libyan shoreline. Despite every method and means of attack the enemy has failed to shake the heroic British defenders, a single division of Australians with Indian troops, battling in dust and heat and sandstorms. Though their distillation plant is smashed they live on water rations. But they strike back at the Axis powers forces.

Tobruk stands as a warning to the Axis. It is on the line to Egypt. It is in a key position and the blitz hardly dare not fail to recognize it. It resists and the Axis line had to halt and wait and take punishment from the British defenders.

OURSELVES AND OTHERS...

LINES TO A CONQUEROR

I wonder, Fuehrer, do yo ever know,
Some fit of sanity, some moment when
The banquet's ended and the toadies go
And leave you face to face with murdered men?

What grave, accusing victims could appear,
How many bomb-strafed innocents could come,
Now free alike from suffering and fear,
To show you trophies of your Nazidom!

If ever one day's harvest passes you
On journey to that rest that you deny,
What scenes of triumph shall you ever view
To blot their vision from your quailing eye?

That how will come (or has) and you will find
A world were better lost than peace of mind.

—Jerome Maher, in the New York Times.

Little Rudy Hegs, arch-Nazi and Hitler's right-hand raxi, who deserted the pirate ship "Swastika" for three good English meals a day, and more or less peace at night, was not the first of his kind to cross over to the other side.

It appears that years ago when an ambitious "Little Corporal" had ideas of world domination and took on all comers in Europe with brilliant success, he lost one of his best aides through similar methods.

Napoleon's brother Lucien, who was the family cut-up and caused Pa and Ma Bonaparte no end of trouble, was, it seems imbued with more or less democratic ideas. He and Bony, (Lucien was one of the more brilliant of th eBonaparte brothers), got along for a number of years, with Napoleon receiving invaluable assistance from his brother.

He assisted the "Little Corporal" in his meteoric rise to fame, but when Nap. conceived ideas along similar lines to those that have now warped the mental capacities of present-day European dictators, Lucien kicked over the figurative traces and told Damon and Pythias act was called off. His democratic ideas would brook of no dictatorial methods. He himself, by a brilliant coup-d'etat ended the Jamboree of Five Hundred on the 18th Brumaire.

The actual rift between the brothers started when the Little Corporal began to develop megalomaniacal tendencies. He wanted to confer the title of kings and princesses on all .Mrs. Bonaparte's boys and girls, but the democratic Lucien would have none of it. He quit his job and retired to Rome and lived quietly for a while under the protection of the Pope.

But he had not reckoned with his proud brother. Later when Nap. took over Italy, Lucien feared for his head and in the dark of the night fled the country, headed ostensibly for America.

But he boarded a British frigate and a short time later landed in England. He was treated with true English courtesy and lived for four years with Lord Powys, near Ludlow, Later he resided in a house of his own.

After Waterloo, he returned to Italy, dying in June, 1840.

ALSO HIS SHIRT

Due to the British blockade, Italy is short of cloth, with the result that sleeve-less coats and shorter pants are obligatory for Italians. Il Duce was warned that he would lose his pants if he entered the war against Britain.—Porcupine Advance.

SUMME R'S EDGE

Here we are at summer's edge,
Flowers white along the hedge,
Roses budding on the trees,
Draining blossoms to the leas,
Fledglings with their mothers by Making their attempts to fly,
And the garden all day long
Just a theatre for song.

Here we are at summer's rim,
Beauty brightening spaces dim;
Many a little garden spot
Gay with blue forget-me-not,
And, what's always good to see,
Bronze and purple fleur-de-lis;
Bright blue flag in gardens all,
Whether large or whether small.

Here we are at summer's gate
Where uncounted glories wait.
Hills and lakes and running streams,
Ready for the man with dreams;
And in many a fair-by field
God's unfailing dairy yield.
Here we are! Say not in vain
Summer comes to us again.

SCOTT'S SCRAP BOOK

By R. J. SCOTT

ON THE RECORD

By DOROTHY THOMPSON

The Radio Network Dispute

New York, June 20 — I confess that I cannot see exactly how the issue of "monopoly" and "competence" is involved in the efforts of James C. Fly, the head of the Federal Communications Commission, to change the present system of network broadcasting.

I am not discussing here whether the present system of private corporate organization and control is the best possible system. I believe that question is open to discussion. It is possible that a public corporation such as the British Broadcasting Corporation could do it better. I am not sure.

But nothing like this is at issue. What is at issue is whether Mr. Fly is not overstepping the powers given him by the Radio Act, and whether what he is apparently being proposed will or will not improve matters in any way from the standpoint of the public. I think it will not.

The original Radio Act was clearly designed primarily as a matter of traffic control. The commission was appointed to license wave lengths. There is nothing in the act that gives it power to censor what goes out over the air, or to decide how the industry is to be organized except an ambiguous phrase to the effect that it must be administered in conformity with "public interest, convenience and necessity."

The question at issue has to do with the financial and organizational structure of the commercial broadcasting system, and it seems to me that Mr. Fly has little right to interfere in the form or structure and system as the Interstate Commerce Commission would have to decide whether corporations, or chain stores or co-operatives or small order house systems, should be allowed to issue money.

* * *

Mr. Fly's prejudices ought not to give him the right to become, as William S. Paley of Columbia Broadcasting Systems quite accurately described him, "commissioning witness, prosecutor, judge, jury and hangman."

The public listens to the radio about five hours a day, but the public has little knowledge of how the remarkable broadcasting systems are run.

The regulations proposed by Mr. Fly contain two clauses that lay an axe at the base of the whole structures of broadcasting. One point says that the networks shall have any option on affiliated stations time, and another that no network may have an exclusive contract with any station. This knocks the CBS and NBC systems right between the eyes. These companies do not own affiliated stations held by contracts which give the companies exclusive options on the stations' time, and give the stations exclusive call upon the network's entire program service.

This system makes it possible to assure advertisers nation - wide hook-ups on a definite number of stations. To make advertising contracts in advance, to insure certain outlets, and to build up audience capital to permit such grandiose commercial programs as Major Bowes' Town Hall of the Air, the Church of the Air, the Symphony orchestras and an immense amount of free distribution of time for educational programs such as the one on music appreciation.

Without such order and certainty no network would have the incentive to build up and finance special "prestige" programs. Last year, for instance, CBS spent $1,000,000 on such programs, and NBC's outlay must have been as great. The cost over ten years had made an investment of some $25,000,000 in goodwill. Fixed costs, such as wires, union wages for talent, etc., are so high that the network must have a high level of advertising revenue if the quality of programs is to be maintained.

In matters like this one, it is well to ask one's self "who stands to profit by the changes" desired? Because if any one system stands to profit at the expense of the others, objectivity is out of the question.

Mutual stands to profit. For Mutual is not a corporation in the sense that CBS and NBC are, but instead of holding contracts with the stations is owned by the stations. They have no sustaining service, but pick up local programs and make them nationwide. Mutual is Macy in New York, and the Chicago Tribune in the Middle West. Each owns 25 per cent. of the stock and for all purposes together control the system.

Now, if Mr. Fly's new regulations go through, Mutual will be able to sell programs as CBS and NBC have built up, with no effort whatever. Mutual will be placed on a basis of absolute equality and get for nothing what CBS and NBC have created at enormous investment over more than a decade.

Are there any political interests at stake?

I should guess there are. The new regulations would enormously increase the strength of Colonel McCormick's station. Colonel McCormick, incidentally, is not a man to complain about monopoly. His Chicago Tribune has exercised a monopoly in the governing paper field all over the Middle West, and his competitors, if they lifted their heads, have felt a ruthlessness exercised against them.

Colonel McCormick's views on the present emergency and international allegiance are those of Senator Wheeler. And, as it happens, Senator Wheeler is the chairman of the Senate committee that holds the club over the White resolution which would throw the whole issue back into Congress for legal regulation instead of by the ukases of Mr. Fly.

In the hearings, it has not seemed to me that Senator Wheeler was in the least objective, but had definitely a part pro on the question. And meanwhile, his America First Committee is bombarding the networks with requests for time, with a letter-head bearing Mrs. Wheeler's name, which, with the whole issue under discussion, might amount to a veiled blackmail.

I have long observed that although business interests perennially complain about government regulation and control they are the first to rush to Washington, to any of the controlling agencies, and get the state to interfere if they can thereby get some profits for nothing.

This whole business looks to me like that, with the advantage to Mutual, which has been after these rules for three years.

And at any rate, to set the whole broadcasting system adrift at this point of history seems hardly to conform with the public's interest, convenience, or necessity.

OUR QUAKER FRIENDS

War and the threat of war always attracts attention to the Friends' meeting and remarkable Christian sect known as The Religious Society of Friends, commonly called Quakers.

There are 160,000 Quakers in the world today.

About 100,000 of these live in the United States.

The Quakers in the United States are divided into four "groups"—Orthodox, Friends, Hicksites, Primitive Wilburites and Primitive Friends.

Members of this sect at first called themselves Children of Light, Children of Truth, or Friends of the Truth, but finally settled on the name Religious Society of Friends.

In his journal, George Fox, the English founder of the sect, said that he and his followers were first called Quakers by Justice Bennett of Derby because "I bade him quake and tremble at the word of the Lord."

But several years before Fox was hailed before Justice Bennett and sentenced to a term in Derby jail in 1650, the word Quaker had been applied to a sect whose members expressed their religion in trembling, shaking and similar physical manifestations, which were also characteristics of many of the early adherents of Fox.

The early Quakers, in both England and America were subjected to cruel persecutions because they refused to attend the Established Church, to pay tithes, to take oaths, or to bear arms, and because of their plain clothes, simple manners, and plain speech.

As marks of the equality of all men and women, the Quakers addressed everybody as "thee" and refused to remove their hats before anybody superior.

Their ministers are not ordained. Quaker ministers, who may be women as well as men, require no special training. Any person who has experienced a call from God and has given evidence of sincerity may be recorded or acknowledged as a minister.

When Quakers meet to worship they sit in silence until one of the assembly is moved by the Spirit to speak. Whole meetings may be spent in absolute silence.

They have no formal baptism and their marriages are virtually without ceremony.

Many Quakers have distinguished themselves in America—William Penn, founder of Pennsylvania; John G. Whittier, poet; General Smedley Butler, "The Fighting Quaker"; Herbert C. Hoover, former President of the United States; Julia Mole, social reformer; John Woolman, anti—slavery evangelist and diarist; Nathanael Greene, Revolutionary soldier, and others.

DR. DAFOE'S COLUMN on the Quintuplets and the Care of Your Children

UNDULANT FEVER FOUND TO INFECT MANY MILK DRINKERS

To all who ask me what are the best health precautions to take while on a summer vacation, I say:

"Don't exert yourself; that is, don't go in for any more strenuous activities than you do at home.

"Be sure the milk you drink is pasteurized."

None of the summer health rules is more important than the latter. I have been accused of being hipped on the subject of pasteurization of milk. Perhaps I am. But you had been a practising physician for nearly 35 years in a region where undulant fever is almost unheard of for years; if you had seen the many cases of sick children suffering from th. of the bowels, spine and joints and brain fever traceable to milk, you might be hipped on the subject too.

It's curious but true that the most nearly perfect of human foods is the easiest contaminated and the likeliest to transmit disease germs from animals to man. It can bring us disease instead of health unless it is handled carefully.

I've said this here a good many times, but it bears to be said and repeated too often. And I have been asked by many readers to say to those who will have vacations at farms and summer resorts "good old milk, fresh from the cow" will be alluring. It is presented in the form of cream, too. Dr. Harold J. Harris which has the forbidding (to laymen) title of "Brucellosis", Dr. Harris is health officer in upstate New York and has been devoting years of study to milk.

If you think I've overemphasized the subject of pasteurized milk in this column, you should read Dr. Harris' book. He estimated that the yearly total of 18,000,000 cattle in the U.S. are infected with the germs of undulant fever as a result of detailed investigations. He may rightly consider that is enough. It is enough for me to keep me away from and on your pocketbook.

This problem of being expected to give gifts for several showers for the bride-elect is indeed becoming serious, in these days of shrinking budgets. Perhaps a group idea to the problem is for shower hostesses to plan showers at which small inexpensive presents may be bought. Perhaps a group of the bride's friends could more frequently entertain for their new home. But if your budget is limited, and since you have already given your share, why not send a gift after the shower?

There aren't any definite rules and regulations as to whether or not you should give a wedding gift. There really couldn't be. As in the matter of all other gifts, we do as we give if we wish, and don't if we don't feel that we can afford it.

Naturally, if the bride and groom are your family or close friends of ours, our inclination is to give a wedding present, for their new home. But if your budget is limited, and since you have already given a shower gift, you are under no obligation to give another gift. That really couldn't be. As in the matter of all other gifts, we do as we give if we wish, and don't if we don't feel that we can afford it.

How Some 'Dull' Children Are Helped

When a youngster does not do well at school, teachers now try to find the reason. Very often the youngster does not hear well and thus loses much of the information given by the teacher. The youngster is placed nearer the front of the class and the parents advised to have the child's hearing tested.

Similarly, a youngster can have a slight defect in vision such as shortsightedness, and cannot properly see the blackboard. The fitting of suitable glasses corrects this defect and an everyday sight now is to see a considerable number of youngsters wearing glasses. This does not mean that defective eyesight is becoming more common but that teachers and parents now watch for such defects.

Another defect that is not easily recognized by parent or teacher is an underactive thyroid gland—not enough thyroid juice being manufactured. It thus may happen that a teacher, after testing eyesight and hearing of a "dull" child, may come to the conclusion that nothing can be done about it.

When the thyroid gland is "very" defective, there is no difficulty in recognizing the condition—stunted growth, dull or stupid appearance, mental and physical sluggishness. This condition is called cretinism. However, there are youngsters who "nearly" up to normal height for his age, is "nearly" of normal mentality, but is not quite up to par. Instead of many pounds overweight, he is underweight. In studies, and "nearly" normal in physical activities, it can be readily understood why the condition of an underdeveloped thyroid gland would often be suspected by parent or teacher.

Much can be done for these children who, for want of more drugs at its London studies a 18-year-old youth was sent to a Borstal institution for three years.

Advice to the Lovelorn

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Give Husband Another Chance

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I've acted so much that I can hardly see to write you this letter. I found out lately that my husband has been seeing another woman.

So far I haven't said a word to my husband about it, but I am convinced he knows that I have discovered his infidelity. He has overdone himself in being kind to me and has even offered to take me away on a vacation trip. But I've refused to go and won't tell him what's wrong. We have three children.

Unhappy Wife

You were very wise not to rush to your husband with accusations when you discovered his infidelity. It would have been impossible to recall the bitter words you would have been inclined to say and which would have made reconciliation more difficult.

Friends are much more ready with advice than actual assistance when it comes to a question of breaking up a home. You've already experienced some of this with your own family. Very often, when a home is broken up, more harm is done, without threats or bitter recriminations, the other woman loses by comparison.

There are the children to consider. What will become of them if you leave your husband? Take my advice and give him another chance.

Claims Girl He Loves Is Selfish

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I'm 24 years of age, and although I've been in love many times, I'm looking forward to marriage to a girl who loves me, so she says. However, when I'm in company with other people she gives the impression she doesn't care for me. Then she says things that hurt and then says she didn't mean them. Why bruised heart at your feet.

MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

GIFTS ALREADY GIVEN

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

We are going to be invited to a church wedding. There is not going to be any kind of reception afterwards. We are puzzled about whether or not we should send a wedding gift. We have been to quite big showers for the bride-to-be, and have, in fact, taken shower gifts to these parties. Will these gifts count as wedding gifts? Should one always give a wedding gift also?

MOrion

Shower gifts don't usually count as wedding gifts. It depends upon if the shower gifts were fairly consequential. I am sure the bride-to-be wouldn't also expect a wedding gift. After all, she has had her shower gifts to these parties. Will these gifts count as wedding gifts? Should one always give a wedding gift also?

First Visiting Cards

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I am twenty-two years of age, and I am planning to have some visiting cards (my first ones) engraved. Should I have Miss on my cards? Also, I don't like my middle name — must I use it?

Dorothy

Your visiting cards should have Miss engraved before your name—Miss Dorothy Brown.

You do not have to use your middle name. It isn't necessary and it is entirely a matter of personal preference.

I know many people who never use their middle names either because they don't relish them or because they have changed their name more distinctive without it.

But if you do use your middle name, it should be spelled in full, not lettered as a mere initial. Dorothy Ann Brown, for instance, not Dorothy A. Brown.

FIRST DIP

In the ocean should be glorified by a neat swim suit. Deep blue linen is the fabric used for this attractive model. A row of white pique on the bodice and collar provides trimming. A white mesh is appliqued on the brief skirt of the suit.

The Stars Say

For Saturday, June 21

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

THIS day proves a day of contrasting elements with sudden contrasting events. Both the ambitious and swift action in the direction of probably dramatic achievements or thrilling adventure, but perhaps brought to a close by the fatigue of duties, responsibilities or obligations. Those who are successfully managed there is great promise of unusual enterprise, with increased fortunes and advancement of surprising nature. This may be accomplished by tact, finesse or strategy or by influential personages. In the domestic sphere there may be cherished culminations.

Those whose birthday it is may be assured of a year of unusual thrilling year, with much activity culminating in the realization of achievement and also dramatic denouement. While all points to a year of unusual activities, with advanced position and expanding financial status, yet there may be certain drawbacks in the way of obligations or responsibilities, to be handled with tact.

Matrons' Coat Cape Frock

Pattern 4786 by ANNE ADAMS

Everything about this smart coat cape dress spells COOLNESS! Clearly designed by Anne Adams, Pattern 4786 will be the most comfortable, go-to-work garment for your wardrobe . . . still it's a perfect dress-up style. You'll be thrilled charmed by the soft rippling grace of the cape that covers your arms when it's chilly, yet yet is so airy and free and unbinding. Note the smart tie shoulder lines, so smart this season. The cape is held trim in front by darts above the waist. And here's a wonderful idea for the matron—for there may be cherished culminations.

Profit From "Wings" Merchandise Goes To Buy Fighters

"Wings for Britain" was organized recently at the request of the British Ministry of Aircraft Production. It is registered under the War Charity Act and as its name implies is a fund existing for the sole purpose of collecting money to buy fighter planes. Various individual funds set up for this same purpose are now contributing through "Wings for Britain" which has its Head Office at 215 Jarvis Street in Montreal. A strong Executive Committee is headed by Mr. J. W. McConnell, while the Women's Division is directed by the Hon. Marguerite Shaughnessy.

In the short time of its existence "Wings for Britain" has already received many unsolicited contributions from all over Canada and the United States, enabling it to supply fighter planes. Every single cent of the money donated goes directly into the fund, as all work is voluntary and all expenses privately paid.

The merchandise which is being put on the market is to be sold on a non-profit basis by all the leading shops, and the entire profits going to "Wings for Britain". The merchandise consists of: Scarves, Ties and Playing Cards.

The scarves, gaily printed with the "Wings" are shown in four attractive colours, navy, royal blue, powder blue, green and red, and can be worn in a variety of interesting ways. For motoring they can be tied on under the chin in the popular peasant style or draped as turbans. With summer cottons, they make an effective contrast twisted into the new Dutch Cap. Another suggestion is to wear the "Wings for Britain" scarf as a belt on a plain-coloured dress, a fashion made popular by smart women at winter resorts this year.

The "Wings for Britain" Pin makes an attractive ornament for the lapel, purse, hat or scarf. Of blue and gold enamel, it has the graceful spreading wings already well known as the insignia of the Air Force.

Bridge fans will be delighted with the Playing Cards, which are of regulation size, and come in the usual two pack set. A choice of two colour combinations is offered, blue with red, and green with yellow.

There can be no doubt that the buying public will receive this merchandise with enthusiasm, knowing that the proceeds of its sale go to help one of the most vital branches of our war effort. The more scarves and pins and playing cards that are sold throughout the country the bigger the guarantee we can give our fighting pilots of parity in the air. Our boys need planes, and they need them now.

Hang on to your hat, McGinnis —I've been waiting for a chance like this for years!"

Popular West Huntingdon Resident Honored by Neighbors and Friends

West Huntingdon — The spacious home of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Cooke, Kingston, was packed to capacity on Friday evening, with neighbors and friends from far and near, who assembled to honour Miss Annie Cooke, whose marriage to Mr. Raymond Baker of Madoc took place in Stirling on Saturday. Mr. Kenneth Stewart acted as chairman. Community singing was indulged in and thoroughly enjoyed by all. Miss Jean Farrell and Mr. Vincent Farrell gave two appropriate vocal duets with Mr. Farrell accompanying on the piano.

Mrs. John McInroy gave a reading, Mr. Philip Carr spoke briefly, Miss Theda Moorcroft read an address embodying the good wishes of the audience to the young couple and regret that Annie would be removing her residence from the community.

Many beautiful and useful gifts were given which were evidence of the esteem of the bride and her worth in the neighborhood. Both Annie and Raymond suitably replied and invited their friends to visit them in their new home in Kingston. The ladies served refreshments.

Cardinals Come from Behind To Whip Phillies While Yanks Fail to Gain on the Indians

Cards and Indians Have Three-Game Lead in Their Respective Leagues

DIMAG STILL HITTING

BY JUDSON BAILEY

Associated Press Sports Writer

The champion of the National League has to be a club that can win, the close games because that is the way they play best in the senior circuit.

This was true of Cincinnati Reds last year, when they won 41 games by one run. It is in the process of being proved again by St. Louis Cardinals, who have had more close contests and more extra-inning games than any other team in baseball's big league.

They snatched a 7-6 triumph from Philadelphia Phillies in 11 innings yesterday in their latest exploit.

In the last of the ninth they still were behind 6-5. But they worked Don Padgett around to third base and scored on a long fly to tie the score. Then in the 11th Frank (Creepy) Crespi singled with the bases loaded for the winning run.

Cards Three Games Up

This kept St. Louis three games ahead of the Dodgers, who unleashed a 15-hit assault on Claude Passeau and Vance Page to whip Chicago Cubs 9-4.

Kirby Higbe kept nine hits scattered in gaining his eighth victory for Brooklyn and had no particular trouble with anyone except Babe Dahlgren, who hit two home runs.

In the only other National League game New York Giants overpowered Pittsburgh Pirates, 9-4, with Hank Gumbert topping off a 12-hit attack with two doubles and a triple. Harold Fear ruin.

Cleveland Indians, who walloped Philadelphia Athletics with a 17-hit bombardment Wednesday, stepped up their attack in his yesterday and crushed the A's 13-1. Jeff Heath hit a home run, two doubles and a single and every Indian except Rollie Hemsley collected at least one safety.

Preserve Three-Game Lead

The victory preserved Cleveland's three-game American League lead over New York Yankees, who trounced Chicago White Sox 7-2. Joe DiMaggio extended his spectacular hitting streak to 32 consecutive games with a perfect day at bat—4 home runs, two singles and a walk—and Charley Keller smacked his fourth home run in three days with the bases filled in the fourth inning.

Boston Red Sox went to work early and downed Detroit Tigers 6-4 in a free-hitting game.

Washington Senators slaughtered St. Louis Browns 13-0 with a 14-hit raid on three pitchers and a three-hit performance by Emil (Dutch) Leonard.

Philadelphia to Have Own Hockey Team

Philadelphia, June 20 (AP)—Philadelphia will have its own hockey team when the American League opens the 1941-42 season.

Plans were made today with termination of an agreement between the Philadelphia Arena and Madison Square Garden in New York under which New York Rangers of the National League operated the Ramblers as a farm club here for six years.

The arena management will operate its own franchise in the league with the team privately owned and operated by the local management.

Pete Tyrrell, general manager of the arena, announced the controversy declaring relations with the Rangers was terminated by mutual agreement since the contract ended at completion of the last season.

It will be necessary for the arena management to purchase 15 players for the new team.

BULLA-GULDAHL FEUD FLARES INTO OPEN

Bulla Requests "Referee With Stop Watch" in His Match With Guldahl

PLAYS TOO SLOW

Toledo, O., June 20 (AP)—Big time golf's current feud between gigantic Johnny Bulla of Chicago and equally gigantic Ralph Guldahl of California—flared into the open again today as Bulla demanded a "referee with a stop watch" to handle their third-round match in the $7,000 Inverness invitational round-robin four-ball classic.

The scrap between the two big boys started in April, during the Asheville, N.C., Open, when both "picked up" and walked off the course. He was paired with Guldahl in that medal play test and declared the deliberate play of the former "ruined" the tournament.

Guldahl was the only one who was too tying for him to put forth his best effort.

"I'll never play with him again as long as I live, even if I'm leading a tournament by nine strokes going into the last round," P. G. A. tournament manager Fred Corcoran quoted Bulla as saying on that occasion.

Comment on Request

When Bulla came up with his demand for a referee, Corcoran remarked:

"Can you imagine me in there refereeing a match between two guys who are better than six feet tall, around 200 pounds each?"

In yesterday's opening round Bulla and his partner, Sam Byrd, former New York Yankees outfielder, surged into the lead in the race for $2,000 top money by trouncing Henry Picard and Johnny Revolta three up. Bulla had six birdies in the 18 holes and one ripped three strokes off par.

In the other matches Lloyd Mangrum and Harold "Jug" McSpaden defeated Ervin Kelly and Ed Dudley and Ben Logan, each set being six under par; Clayton Heafner and Dick Metz finished one down to Guldahl and E. J. "Dutch" Harrison as the latter pair shot a best-ball 65; and Horton Smith and Lawson Little lacked a two-down decision on Jimmy Thompson and Byron Nelson, last pro and National P.G.A. king.

BATTING HERO OF BUFFALO FANS IS BOB BOKEN

Team Scores Double Victory Over Jersey City With Boken the Hero

LEAFS BEAT TWICE

(By the Associated Press)

Bob Boken, a newcomer to the International League baseball ranks this year, is the current batting hero of Buffalo fans.

The 25-year-old infielder came through with timely singles Wednesday night and again last night to break up extra-inning games.

His hit with two out and the bases loaded in the 12th inning last night ended a tight pitching duel between Buffalo's 6ial White and Jersey City's Hal Feldman, giving the Bisons a 4-3 victory in the opener of a doubleheader. The Bisons also took the nightcap 4-1 behind the four-hit pitching of Virgil Trucks. Wednesday night Boken singled home the winning tally in the 11th.

The double victory yesterday enabled Buffalo to maintain its two game lead over the fifth-place Jersey City Skeeters. The Bisons won a twin-bill, defeating the hapless Toronto Leafs 4-3 and 2-1.

Scores Sixth Straight

Lynn Nelson racked up his sixth straight win for the Leafs in the first game, holding the Bisons to six hits. Toronto, yielding four runs, and helping along his own cause with two run home'rs in the sixth. Joe Krakauskas, an Ontario boy, collected Herman Besse in the second game.

The league-leading Newark Bears lost ground to second-place Rochester, blowing a 6-5 decision to Montreal Royals in the ninth inning. Behind 5-0 going into the ninth, the Royals cut loose with five runs to win. Don Bolli's three-run single with the bases loaded settled the issue.

Rochester smothered Baltimore Orioles 16-0 with 16-2. Gene Lillard and John Wyrostek led the Rochester rampage with three hits each.

New York, June 20 (AP)—Let's over look the sunflower Billy Conn's been offered $40,000 to make the movie of Octavus Roy Cohen's flight story, "Dark Timber." Incidentally, the movies of the flight show Billy wasn't hit with a single right-hand punch through the 13 rounds as long as he kept his left hand high. . . . Louis dealt it off the arm-only when the glamor boy forgot and dropped his port paw. . . . Louis' ring earnings to the penny are $1,287,652.90 in 54 fights in seven years. . . . And in case you've forgotten, Conn turned down $200,000 just a year ago to tangle with Louis, for which he got $77,000 slightly more than.

LOUIS TO MEET NOVA IN N. Y. IN SEPTEMBER

Brown Bomber Intends to Load for Next Couple of Months

ADMIRES CONN

By GAYLE TALBOT

(Associated Press Sport Writer

New York, June 20 (AP)—Barring the unforeseen, Joe Louis will make the next defense of his heavyweight championship here in September against Lee Nova, the California husky who recently forced Max Baer to quit-for the second time.

They wrangled about it all day yesterday in Promoter Mike Jacobs' office with Mike trying to talk Nova into fighting Abe Simon first, but Nova's manager, Ray Carlyn, was obdurate, and toward evening Mike began to lose interest in the debate and looked as though he was ready to give in.

One thing is certain: Louis intends to load for the next two months. His performance over Billy Conn night before last left him worn out and tired of fighting. The champ has been in almost constant training for the last seven months.

"Joe admits he made an almost fatal mistake in not laying off training for a couple of days last week after his workout with Conn," said Julian Black, a co-manager. "Joe says he knows now how he'll feel when he loses the title. He still can't quit talking about how little fellow like Conn can take punishment."

Admires Billy Conn

Joe's admiration for Conn is sincere. The champ was very sore in Billy's corner to congratulate the game little warrior. Manager Jack Hurley had finished bringing Billy around with smelling salts. Billy's manager, Whitey Bimstein, was also there to help Louis: "I didn't think you could do it, Joe. You're a real fighter." Joe said: "Thanks Johnny. Billy is a real fighter, too."

Ray, in between denying that he knew where Conn was hiding and that he would be married, demanded a return shot at Louis. Carlyn, an ex-pug, said: "Joe let Conn off easy because Louis' managers, Julian Black and John Roxborough, are afraid to let Promoter Jacobs that they would prefer a fight with a man in Sept-mber if it were just the same to Mike. That practically handed the battle to Conn on a platter. And listings of Jimmy Johnston, who handles Abe Simon.

Returning to the fight, and while musing on the bouts around, it was agreed that Louis made about as noble a gesture as has been seen in the ring when Conn slipped at the outset of the scrap and for an instant was in an absolutely helpless position. Louis had a right cocked that would have landed Conn over the top rope, but he held it and stepped back.

GOSSIP NEWS COMMENT

The age old question as to whether there is any basis of actual figures to prove that pitching is 70 percent of a winning baseball club has at last been answered.

Proof takes a gander at the 1940 National League averages. The Pittsburgh Pirates finished last in team batting and scored the most runs. The St. Louis Cardinals were the most hits, the most home runs the most two-baggers and stole the most bases. The Brooklyn Dodgers led the league in triples. Boston performed the most double and triple plays, but the Cincinnati Reds led the National League pennant race and subsequently the world series.

The statistics merely go to show that good pitching is the greatest of any winning ball club. The same goes for softball—look at the Corby's A.C. nine in our own little league today.

Gene Sarazen, veteran American golfer, who is quite finicky about his putters, twice switched putters at all times. If the one with which he started grew cold, then he'll keep switching until he finds one that is hot.

Here is the list of Sarazen's different style putters:

1. A light thin-bladed cleek-putter, with which he tied Byron Nelson in the Masters Open.

2. A centre-shaft putter, lightweight as all putters are now in the Colonial Club greens are fast.

3. A "Heavyweight" putter, made for him years ago by Sir Walter. It is an aluminum blade, because it has a big, thick blade, although not heavy, and he uses sometimes likes to shift to it because it is so much bigger than the other thin blades.

Right after his fight with Louis Wednesday night, Conn, who could not have been injured too badly, left for St. Mary's, Pa., to meet his 18-year-old bride-to-be, Miss Mary Catherine Smith. Pittsburgh model. However, it seems as though luck dogs Conn outside the ring, as well as in it, because it seems parental trouble has now set in and Mary Louise's daddy doesn't want a pugilist as a son-in-law. As a matter of fact Mr. Smith, a former and major league ball player, says he'll "punch Conn if he marries Mary." (That really would be the day). In the meantime champion Joe Louis and his somewhat shaky heavyweight title went on an extended vacation yesterday.

OXFORD HONORS PRESIDENT OF UNITED STATES

Degree of Civil Law Conferred in Absentia at Special Convocation of Harvard University

'STAND FOR LIBERTY'

Cambridge, Mass., June 20—(AP)—Oxford, England's oldest university, in a precedent-breaking ceremony at Harvard University conferred on President Roosevelt the honorary degree of Doctor of Civil Law "in token of our deep regard for his exalted station and in lively recollection of his stand for liberty and of his steadfast championship of humanity and law."

The President was unable to attend personally the special convocation of the British University that immediately followed Harvard's 290th commencement exercises. He received the degree by proxy, represented by Maj.-Gen. Edwin M. Watson, his military aide and secretary.

British Ambassador Confers Degree

The British Ambassador, Viscount Halifax, as Chancellor of Oxford, conferred the degree during his history-making transfer of an academic function of the English university to ancient Harvard yard.

The ceremony took place shortly after Harvard, in turn, had conferred an honorary degree of Doctor of Laws upon Lord Halifax as a representative of a "stalwart nation unyielding before the blows of tyranny." Eleven other honorary degrees — one to a Nova Scotia priest—also were given by the United States' oldest university, along with approximately 2,270 other degrees.

Supporting Lord Halifax at the convocation were nine officers and delegates of Oxford, including Sir Arthur Salter, Burgess of the university and Lord Greene, Master of the Rolls.

It was explained that the University of Oxford has long wished to confer the degree of D.C.L., the highest honor in its power to bestow, upon President Roosevelt. But it has clearly been out of the question for President Roosevelt to visit the University in order to receive it.

Special Convocation at Harvard

When therefore Viscount Hadifax, the chancellor of Oxford University came to the United States as His Majesty's ambassador, the university decided first to approach the president and ask him if he would be willing to receive this honor and, on hearing of his acceptance, asked the University of Harvard whether they would be prepared to grant permission for the special convocation of Oxford to be held at Harvard.

Only once or twice in history has a convocation taken place outside Oxford walls. And so far as can be traced never before has the chancellor himself presided at such a ceremony in person.

Responding by proxy to the precedent-shattering award President Roosevelt declared that "We would rather die on our feet than live on our knees."

"We, too, born to freedom and believing in freedom, are willing to fight to maintain freedom," the President said.

An honorary degree of Master of Arts was tendered by Harvard to Rev. James J. Tomkins, parish priest of Reserve Mines, N.S., who is identified with the co-operative movement in the Maritime Provinces.

To mark the solemnity of the occasion, the University of Oxford decided that the degree of the President should be conferred by diploma—an honor not customarily awarded — which admits the recipient to enjoyment of all rights and privileges belonging to the degree.

Tyendinaga Farmers Urge Bounty on Half-Breed Wolves

Meeting Called to Check Depredations on Sheep Flocks in Township

HEAVY COST TO TWP.

A recommendation that a bounty of $10 be paid for the destruction of half-breed wolves that infest the commons in the Township of Tyendinaga, and which have in the past few years made serious inroads into sheep flocks in the district, was passed at a farmers' meeting held in the town hall at Melrose last Saturday evening. The meeting was called to determine if some means could not be adopted whereby the district might be rid of the half-wolf half-dog creatures, which consistently raid sheep flocks, causing the township to pay sheep losses in the last few years ranging as high as $3,300 annually.

The meeting was attended by Mr. L. O'Neill, superintendent of the Provincial Farm, Kapuskasing under Agriculture, to whom the facts of the distressing situation were clearly outlined. Many farmers, it was told, lost their sheep flocks to the ravaging wolf creatures; told of their experiences, the result of which a large percentage of the sheep raisers in the township have decided to go out of sheep entirely. After hearing acquainted with the facts, it was suggested by Mr. O'Neill, that the meeting go on record as favoring for the bounty, the province to pay $5, this to be met by a like amount from the township.

Submit to Department

The recommendation will be submitted to the Department of Agriculture and also to the Department of Game and Fisheries pending their approval. Should the recommendation be acted upon, it was further suggested by Mr. O'Neill that when the raiding creatures were destroyed they should be sent to the department for identification, and that the cost of every effort should be made to capture them alive, he stated, the animals likely to be worth $50 for identification. If found to be true wolves, then the bounty would be pay the full bounty rate in both cases.

Incident Responsible

A rather unusual incident is said to have been responsible for the appearance of half-cat wolves in Tyendinaga. About two years ago it is said that an American tourist captured live wolf cubs during his vacation in the northern part of the country and while on route home, the animal escaped from custody and disappeared. The wolf then sought refuge in the commons along the Salmon River and mated with a dog found in the district. The creatures gradually increased in numbers and in the past few years have become so numerous that their raids on sheep flocks have assumed alarming proportions.

Not being eligible for wolf bounty district trappers and hunters were thus not encouraged to hunt the animals, and although the township has been paying a small bounty, it has not been large enough to encourage trappers. A bounty of $10 would, it is felt, result in many trappers' and hunters' interest with the result that the species of wolf will gradually be exterminated.

Impersonates Brother Before Medical Board

Kitchiner, Ont., June 20 (CP) — Andrew Heinbuch of Kitchener pleaded guilty in police court today to impersonating his brother, John, before an army medical examining board. He was remanded in custody until next Friday for sentence.

Heinbuch faced four charges in all and pleaded guilty in each case. He was charged with failure to report a change or address under the Defence of Canada Regulations; revising a medical examination and report form; impersonating and theft of a letter.

Crown Attorney W. P. Clement told the court accused took a registered letter, calling his brother for military service, without his brother's knowledge and presented himself for medical examination although he had already been turned down several months previous.

The brother, John, was freed on a charge of refusing to report for medical examination.

Court Will Fly To Belcher Islands To Try Eskimos

Toronto, June 20—(CP) — Mr. Justice C. P. Plaxton is to preside as a slipendiary magistrate of the Northwest Territories at the trial in August of several Eskimos who face murder, charges at Belcher Islands. Attorney-General Conant has notified Lorne Gordon, Department of Justice that the trial will likely be held on Belcher Islands and the judge, and other officials will be flown in from Moosonee.

Officials explained this move is being made because it is easier to fly in the court than to bring out all witnesses and accused to Moosonee as under a religious custom those on trial and witnesses cannot bring with them any blood relatives.

According to the Department of Justice, Mr. Justice Plaxton is being given the court because of his previous knowledge of Eskimo matters, gained while an officer of the department.

U.S. Does Not Propose To Yield Use of High Seas to Germany

Washington, June 20 (AP)—President Roosevelt described the sinking of the Robin Moor today as ruthless and the act of "an international outlaw" and declared that the United States did not propose to yield use of the high seas to Germany.

The President made his pronouncement on the sinking of the American vessel in a special message to Congress which permitted of no misunderstanding than a formal diplomatic note.

Mr. Roosevelt stated without qualification that the vessel was sunk by a German submarine.

The Robin Moor went down in the South Atlantic on May 21 and all its passengers and crew members apparently reached safety.

Survivors said a German submarine torpedoed and shelled the ship.

The first word of the sinking came June 9, when the Brazilian ship Osorio flashed word she had picked up a lifeboat containing 11 survivors. Then on June 16 a British vessel arrived at Cape Town, Union of South Africa, with the other 35 persons who had been on the Robin Moor.

Drifted 12 Days

The first lifeboat of survivors picked up drifted in the mid-Atlantic 12 days while the others for 13 days.)

Mr. Roosevelt said the General purpose of the sinking "would appear to be to drive American commerce from the ocean wherever such commerce was considered a disadvantage to German designs."

Its specific purpose, he said, "would appear to be interruption of our trade with all friendly countries."

"We must," he added, "take it that notice has now been served upon us that no American ship or cargo on any of the seas can be considered itself immune from acts of piracy. Indeed, it would appear, in effect, that the German Reich proposes so to intimidate the United States that it will be deterred from carrying out our chosen policy of helping Britain to survive.

We Are Not Yielding

"In brief, we must take the sinking of the Robin Moor as a warning to the United States not to resist the Nazi movement of world conquest. It is a warning that the United States may use the high seas of the world only with Nazi consent.

"Were we to yield on this we would inevitably submit to world domination at the hands of the present leaders of the German Reich. We are not yielding and we do not propose to yield."

Mr. Roosevelt proposed to congress no line of action or steps could be taken.

Apparently he chose the vehicle of a special message so he could couch his protest in the most forceful language at his command.

No Disclosures

Nor was there any disclosure what steps the government might be contemplating to protect United States merchant vessels on the high seas.

It was regarded as doubtful, in order not to tip Germany off on what to expect, that there would be any disclosure on this point—whether in the field of arming cargo ships or of bringing the navy into play to protect them.

Mr. Roosevelt told congress the Robin Moor was sunk without provocation in the safety of the passengers and crew and despite the fact that the ship's American nationality was known to the submarine commander and was clearly indicated by her flag and markings.

Retention Of England Will Decide War

McNaughton Tells Canadian Officers

By ROSS MUNRO

(Can. Press War Correspondent)

Somewhere in England, June 20 —(CP)—Urging Canadian troops to make rigorous preparations for battle in the defence of Britain, Lt.-Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton told officers of a Canadian Infantry Regiment of 2nd Division that "very likely the time for us to meet each headway at all he must attack soon."

"There are indications he may not delay long," the commander-in-chief said on a barren hill following a mimic battle in which the regiment participated in the preparations.

Again stressing his belief that the retention of England will decide the war, the Canadian Corps Commander said "It may seem to you we are having a pretty dull time here, but it is clear to everyone that this England is the critical point of the war."

URGES REVISION OF STEEL PLANS

J. L. Replogle Recommends Severe Restriction of Use of Steel

New York, June 20—(AP) — J. Leonard Replogle, United States member of the Board of the Office of War Industries Board, was quoted in the magazine "The Iron Age" today as saying that the United States faces a tragic period, possibly including a second depression unless cross-hauling of steel and petroleum production.

Replogle, who is Chairman of Automotive Council for War Production, recommended:

"1. Severe restriction of commercial use of steels, a 50 to 75 per cent. cut in automobile steel shipments as a first step, and that cuts until no steel is going into automobiles for civilian use.

"2. Reduction of losses and elimination of some of the traffic burden now being thrown on the American railroads, second, by rerolling cross-hauling of steel and petroleum products.

"3. Abandonment of schemes for vast long-term increases in steel capacity which would come into production too late to help United States industry and would complicate the task of post-war adjustments, to peace-time conditions."

THE WAR TODAY

By DON GILBERT

(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

The many stories about the possibility of war between Germany and Russia raise questions concerning the line Britain would take in such an eventuality.

The Evening Standard today urges strongly that Britain in the event of Russo-German hostilities furnish aid to the Soviets. "We should recognize in Russia the sustaining Russia's resistance," says The Standard's City Editor Beverbrook's principal newspapers.

However, the only aid that could be effective would be military equipment, and supplies of these Britain has none to spare. If she had, she would not have shipping facilities to handle such aid. And the Soviet merchant marine is very small.

How short Britain is of men and material for great operations/battlefronts in the Middle East can be seen in the slowness of the campaign in Syria, which has now been in progress for nearly two weeks. Although Britain aided in Greece in the spring of 1936, when German troops invaded that country two years later Britain could spare only 60,000 men.

Nazi Help Wanted

It is clear that Britain can be spared from Britain's island fortress must be used to bolster Gen. Wavell's army, which is menaced by the German armored divisions stationed on the Bulgarian-Turkish border awaiting the signal from Berlin to attack.

Every ship that can be spared from the Atlantic traffic is now carrying men and equipment to Africa. Some of it has to make the long voyage around the Cape of Good Hope, Other ships land aircraft in Egypt, whence the planes are flown across the equatorial possessions of Free France to Egypt. Most of these laden ships are from Britain; others are from North America.

From the political point of view, consideration must be given the prevailing anti-Soviet sentiment in the British Empire. Russia has done everything possible to thwart British efforts to prevent the collapse of war, and when hostilities began aided and abetted the Nazis at every turn.

The Evening Standard says "we should attempt to make our friends the Americans understood too" about the necessity of aiding Russia, should fighting develop. But at present anti-Soviet feeling runs high in Congress and elsewhere, and many have blamed Communists for a wave of strikes in defence industries.

Godbout Says Quebec in Fight To Last Sacrifice

Oka, Que., June 20 —(CP)— The people of Quebec Province "are in this war to fight to the end and will not consider any sacrifice asked of us," Premier Godbout said here today in an address at the final close of the annual convention of the Canadian Seed Growers' Association.

Speaking at a dinner gathering of the convention the Premier said that "the people in this province have given their all to the British crown than you yourselves because we realize that the very safety and we have needed its protection.

"If we were not, the people who do not realize that we (French-Canadians) are citizens of the British crown then we would have been under our Mother Country."

"We are British as much as anyone," the Premier said.

"Some are not reflecting the true sentiments of our people and some time something is said that shouldn't have been said.

"All of us worship the same God, all of us are serving the same laws, we have the same ideals and are working for the development of Confederation.

"We are all responsible," he added. "for the same cause as are the others and I am sure that going back to your provinces you will spread this same feeling which alone can make a great country."

Many in Attendance At Christening Of New Corvette

Lake Ontario Port, June 20—(CP)—Leading large crowd of visitors and citizens along with mayors of surrounding Ontario and New York State cities and towns today attended the christening of the new Corvette Prescott, recently launched at a Lake Ontario port.

The ceremony took place on the waterfront this afternoon with Mrs. J. T. Brown, wife of the Mayor of Prescott, Ont., officially naming the vessel. At 2.30 p.m. the new Corvette was escorted from her launching place to this waterfront by a tug boat escort.

At a banquet tonight in connection with the christening, the main speaker is expected to be Post-master-General Mulock.

NEWSPAPER BANNED

Berlin, June 20 (AP)—D.N.B., Nazi News and Propaganda Agency reported today that the Swedish Government has banned the newspaper Tverrir Ilter, apparently as a result of the Turkish-German agreement of friendship and radio in line with the new pact.

Eyewitness of Bismarck's Sinking Says Ship Glowed Red Before the End

London, June 20 (CP)—An officer who watched the sinking of the Bismarck said the "unsinkable" pride of the Nazi Navy went down "like a cog which has been run over —someone had got to finish her off because the Germans were still flying at the mainmast head."

The officer, who followed the action from the bridge of the battleship King George V, told in an interview aboard ship most detailed and dramatic stories of the battle that brought revenge for the Royal Navy for the loss of H.M.S. Hood, the world's biggest warship.

Throughout the fight, Admiral Sir John Tovey, commander-in-chief, Admiral Tovey, saw it first. He put on his tin hat and out poured a little group of officers after him. He just grinned.

"There is a sort of cracking roar to port—the Rodney has opened fire with her 16-inch guns and an instant later the King George V jets fly with her 14-inch. The compass bounds with the concussion; my battle bowler tips over my nose and clatters down on the deck, and a pile of signal papers shoots up like a fountain in the draft made by the guns.

"I just kept my binoculars glued to Bismarck. Rodney's first salvo produced great white columns of water 150 feet high that would break the back of a destroyer and ask her dear friends to be steamed through one of them.

"The second splash I missed, all except one shell which seemed to belong to King George V and was a little ahead of Bismarck. Then I watched Rodney to see if she was being hit but she just sat there like a great slab of rock blocking the northern horizon with confident belched a full salvo. I actually saw these projectiles flying through the air for some seconds after they left the guns, like little diminishing footballs curving up and into the sky.

"Now, I am sure that four or five hit. There was only great spash and finally went under".

There was a terrific upheaval, a sort of flurry of spray and splash which might have been a waterlily hit. The others had bored their way through the armour belt like cheese and pray God I may never know what they did as they exploded inside the hull.

"Bismarck turned north, steaming about 12 or 13 knots. Her steering is in and out to confuse the enemy range-finders. She is still closing the range rapidly.

"The admiral says quietly: "Close the range; get closer, yet closer. I can't see enough; hit her."

"Then we closed the range.

From then on, the officer continued, the most merciless hail of high explosive, armor-piercing shells that any ship has, I suppose, ever faced.

"The Bismarck is still on pumping it out in a steady succession of shattering roars and I can only forget all about ourselves in the intense interest of watching the Bismarck."

One or two shots from the Bismarck came whining over.

He said that in 40 minutes, "when the glow of great fires was incinerating men inside our German ship", although some of the secondary armament still was firing a little wildly, he saw a steady trickle of little human figures racing across the deck and plunging into the sea.

"We just shot the guns out of her and left a smoking, lurching hulk to ruin. It made one feel a little sick to see such a mighty powerful vessel brought to the state of an impotent hulk. Only her slow wallowing speed showed that there was life and those little jumping figures in the sea.

"It was like a dog that has been run over; great mass has got to be her off—because her colors were still flying at the mainmast head.

"Our battleships turned away and (the cruiser) Dorsetshire closed in and finished her off.

An officer of the Dorsetshire said the Bismarck "was a fine and terrible sight.

"Perhaps you saw those photographs of the Graf Spee after she had been blown up", he said. "It was worse than that. Top heavy, clear away, flames roaring out in several places and plates glowing red with heat. Great clouds of black smoke rose to 100 feet. It was the end. We asked permission to finish her off by firing torpedoes. But as we closed down by the stern, then went straight down on her side, her bottom still flying. It was a most impressive sight.

"We just watched in silence as she

NO INDICATION

Moscow, June 20 —(AP)— There was no indication in Moscow today that Soviet Russia expects an invasion.

Nothing in the behavior of authorities of the population suggests the imminence of conflict.

Today's editorial of Pravda, Communist party organ, was directed against slikers, while the midday radio described the life of Leningrad workers on vacation at rest homes and sanatoriums on the shores of the Gulf of Finland.

NOW PRISONER OF WAR

Dartmouth, N.S., June 20—(CP) Believed missing when the Imperial oil tanker Canadolite was destroyed by enemy action off the West Coast of Africa several weeks ago, Captain T. V Ferns' family here was advised by Ottawa officials today that he was safe and interned in Germany.

Notification last month that was that 40 of the 44-man crew of the Canadolite were interned in Germany and Italy, including Capt. Ferns, was incorrect.

URGE EMPLOYERS TO RAISE WAGES

St. John, Que., June 20 (CP) —Municipal Council of St. Jerome, a town of about 10,000, has passed a resolution urging all local employers to increase minimum wages in view of the higher cost of living.

The resolution says the request was based on a "serious enquiry" revealing that many persons were not in a financial position to respond to wartime campaign needs. St. Jerome has raised minimum wages of town employees from 30 to 35 cents an hour.

General Advance In Top-Grade Eggs

Toronto — Top-grade eggs registered a general advance in prices in all sections of Ontario during the week, Toronto open produce market yesterday. Demand continued light on the butter market hence there was little action.

Good demand and light receipts forced prices of top-quality eggs up 1 cent a dozen in morning trading on the egg market and these prices held during the afternoon. Quotations extended to country dealers on graded eggs are unchanged at cents grade A-large, 22 1-2 cents a dozen, grade A-medium, 21 1-2 cents, and grade A-pullets, 21 cents. Prices of grade A-large and, A-medium to the retail trade also showed 1-2 to 1 cent.

The tone on the butter market was quite greasy, with trading spotty and offerings not heavy but sufficient to meet the demand. Demand for cheese has definitely fallen off.

Montreal Produce.

Montreal, June 20 —(CP)— Produce market prices here, as reported by the Dominion Department of Agriculture, follow:

SHOT DOWN

Treasured Four Hours

"After much more tramping," he continued, "I came upon a lonely patchwork of green and gold fields with a church, a white house a sight for sore eyes. It took me four hours to reach the village. Boys who were at their games let it go at a church, where the Padre gave me water, 'gratis' like the Arabs, and bread.

"Here I was told that another British pilot had been brought in that day. Almost unbelievably it turned out to be a brother-officer of my own flight...

"Then came a friendly discussion whether the villagers should turn me over to the enemy as we were completely penned in. I stayed for four hours to think it over, realizing that from their point of view it would be better to surrender to the Nazis than to be found with a bad six of their villagers shot by the Germans for supposedly withholding information.

"So we started our journey through the night.

Signalled With Flashlight

"The plan was to be made of our crossing of the island, although it was German-held in part, by a secret password, which I will not set down here, R.A.F. here', in torchlight saved me, although it was a million-to-one chance. It was shouted and pilot's words. The Sunderland crew had to follow their dinghy to take us aboard."

POST-WAR WORLD

And the post-war problems which will inevitably arise will be dealt with by the will of the masses of the people, and not by the dictatorship of the vindication and the hope of democracy lies.

"Never again, I hope and pray," Mr. Mackenzie continued, "shall you and I know the Canada we knew before this war broke upon system unemployment, with its misery and distress and hunger and poverty and despair, a blot and a shame in the richest country in all the world.

"The new day, the new order, the new plan must bring a new and will bring, a remedy for all that."

Must End Economic Inequalities

But if "old dogmas and old doctrines" could not solve the post-war problems, "we shall be prepared to sever remedies and newer faiths and newer methods," Mr. Mackenzie declared.

He suggested a collective security based on collective force and collective peace, rather than that based upon collective idealism. An "ideal" League of Nations would stand as the "ideal" of the world, "a series and comforts of mankind."

Mr. Mackenzie described his "vision" of post-war Canada—a vision of timed development, of integrated municipal provincial and federal effort, of progressive industrial development, and ruled by a "sound and progressive agricultural policy."

"Above all," he said, "my vision includes the development of a new international scheme of social security." Simply stated, he said, Canada's war aims were the restoration of justice and freedom and liberty once again in this world.

culture and the Ontario Concentrated Milk Producers' Association.

Others included Miss Agnes Macphail, former United Farmers of Ontario member; Dr. Charles Hill, and H. H. Hannan, President of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture.

Mr. Hepburn said that a result of Federal encroachments in the field of provincial taxation fields would be an increase of the tax burden on real property.

"If the Provincial Treasury is deprived of its revenue from succession duties," he said, "there is only one other source from which the lost money can be obtained and that is from the owners of real property."

With the province relying on property taxes, the Premier said, the farmer individually will be more inevitably direct taxation, something that has been avoided to the present time if he is going to produce those things which are necessary if Britain is going to carry on this war to a successful conclusion."

Farmers will have to bear heavier sacrifices and, Mr. Hepburn added, "I know the farmers of old Ontario will rise to the occasion. But they would want an equality of sacrifice.

He said the Ontario Government would stand by the farmers because "a proud economy once destroyed can never be revived."

The war situation was "not very rosy" and victory could be won only by great sacrifice and by organizing the means of production and resources our nationalism and not get away from the idea that national deterioration has set in."

School Teacher Convicted of Common Assault

Camdenton, Mo., June 20 (AP)—A jury of Ozark menfolk yesterday convicted school teacher Alcythea Revelle of "gentle assault" in the part in a flogging imposed upon 21-year-old Miss Caldwell. Judge C. H. Jackson fined her $100, then set July 22 for hearing on a second charge, a new trial.

The 28-year-old teacher related that she struck Caldwell "only three or four times" with a switch and then only because she feared Dr. Robert Murrell would shoot her if she did not. Murrell and his wife, Mrs. Eldon, Mo., osteopath handed her the switch and told her to "give Miss (Caldwell) a few lashes for the good of everybody."

Miss Keeth was tried on a charge of assault with intent to kill.

The State accused her and her co-defendants, Miss Hilda Rhoads, 26, of whipping Caldwell for 45 minutes while Dr. Murrell, Miss Rhoads' fiance, held a pistol on Caldwell.

Miss Rhoads filed a complaint against Caldwell accusing him of rape but later withdrew the charge.

She and Dr. Murrell are awaiting trial, also, on a charge of felonious assault and battery.

Finland Enacts Defence Measures

Helsinki, June 20 —(AP)— Defence measures and decrees designed to maintain order and preserve while army reservists summoned to the colors unexpectedly last night, are away from their jobs were enacted today by the Finnish Government.

Leaders expressed conviction that Finland's differences with neighbor Russia would involve Finland.

Officials said the present precampaigns, warned that all necessary steps must be taken at once to insure the nation's food supply and British blockade of Petsamo came as a blow and that the Finnish agricultural self-sufficiency through food conservation.

The newspaper Ilta Sanomat stressed that Germany was not evacuating city inhabitants to the country, where they could help with farm work.

FREIGHTER SUNK

Via Real De Santo Antonio, Portugal, June 20 (AP)—The 1,375-ton British freighter Empire Warrior has been sunk by a German raider, German planes off this port yesterday, it was learned today. Her two wounded, were landed here by a Portuguese sloop which put out to the attack alarmed.

The Empire Warrior left Newport, Monmouth, ago with coal for Santo Domingo.

HOUSEBOATS FOR SAFETY

WITH SEVEN PROFITS

London (CP)—When authorities convicted of 20 charged with profiteering, it was revealed seven had made profits of £1,000 each through seven dealers, profit being taken each time.

HOUSE DESTROYED BY FIRE

Picton, July 20.—A large frame house owned by Charles McDermaid in Sophiasburg Township, was destroyed by fire early yesterday, when discovered, the roof was a mass of flames which spread quickly. Only part of the contents were saved. Insurance of $1,000 was carried on the building and $500 on the contents. Just two years ago, Mr. McDermaid lost his barn by fire when it was struck by lightning.

DIPLOMATIC BREAK PERILOUSLY CLOSE BETWEEN U.S., AXIS

Axis Orders Against U.S. Consulates Increases Strain With Washington

MAY AFFECT ITALIANS

Washington, June 20 (AP)—A diplomatic war of nerves brought the United States and the Rome-Berlin Axis perilously close today to the breaking point of relations.

The initiative for the moment appeared to rest with the United States, and informed sources predicted that President Roosevelt would act promptly by setting a deadline for all Italian Consular agents in the U.S.

This would hit back at Italy for the U.S.A. Oil 15 1-4 Axis's ban-only yesterday, directing expulsion of all American consular officials from Germany, Italy and seven Axis-conquered nations by July 15.

German action had virtually been taken for granted in view of the State Department's action Saturday, giving all German Consular agents and the members of their German agencies until July 10 to quit the United States.

The order did not extend to Italian Consulates, but some diplomatic observers believe Berlin was inclined that it had the Rome end of the deal in mind when it drew up the retaliatory measures as an impressive parallel.

Not only Italian Consular authorities but Italian Nationals here may feel the result of American counteraction.

It was pointed out that the government could invoke the same restrictions against Italians which Rome has recently put into effect against citizens of Germany in the Axis nations. Italian residents are considerably more numerous.

Could be Restricted

Under these restrictions Italians here could be forbidden to travel in the United States on the ground that their movements have been frozen as German funds and designs in this country to evasion of the freezing order.

Entrance permits likewise could be withheld from immigrants on the ground they might have been sent here by Italy to take advantage of work, fearing relatives abroad as hostages for the present good conduct of their mission. Such a ban would affect persons coming from Germany or Nazi-occupied countries.

Italy now maintains 49 consular offices here staffed by 42 representatives. Seven months ago the consulates in Newark and Detroit were closed at the request of the state department.

Want Them Sent Home

The present plans for getting Italian Consular officials and Italian States include the course that Italy has taken with the United States colleagues. The United States has been forced to take over the conduct through the blockade to Italy, giving them the means for their return to their homeland rather than have them go to a Swiss-American exchange point as Continue activities there.

Italy protested during the departure of the consular staffs, Ambassador Alexander Kirk, chief of the American Express Company here, and the hitherto unmolested occupied by Nazi forces. Italy refused to let the Kirk party leave action against the Express Company.

The Nazi order was interpreted as a reprisal against the action of the United States in closing the German Library of Information, the German Railway Office here and German Trans-Ocean News Agency.

Berlin, June 20 (AP) — The strain of deteriorating United States-German relations increased today when the Italian Consulate and American Express Company offices in occupied Europe began making preparations for closing down, on the request of the Nazi government.

The fact that Italy also ordered closed all American consulates was taken as an indication that the action was intended as a demonstration of Axis solidarity.

Italian Consular officials protested to her protest against the closing of German Consulates in the United States and Germany's retaliation with a similar step here charging the United States government with espionage, propaganda and other hostile activities.

All United States citizens working in Consulates and in the American Express Company offices were ordered to leave before July 10 deadline.

The entire Berlin Press gave the current front-page display to the German News Agency's announcement of the closing order without comment.

Two Doctors in Christie St. Hospital Attacked by Nazi Prisoner Patient

Toronto, June 20 — (CP) — Two doctors at the Christie Street Military Hospital here were reported Thurs., to have been attacked by a German patient, a prisoner of war. Seven stitches were required to close a wound inflicted on one of the doctors.

The attack was said to have occurred late Wednesday as a German war prisoner, a patient, was being wheeled back to the ward after an appendectomy. One of the attending physicians was called to assist another German patient and as he was returning to the ward the doctor was struck and suffered a facial wound.

A second doctor went to the assistance of the first and with the aid help of guards the patient was overpowered.

The other prisoner-patients were reported on the verge of entering the fracas but that the arrival of more guards prevented them.

Maj.-Gen. C. P. Constantine, officer commanding Military District No. 2, said that the prisoner concerned was believed to be an epileptic case. "The prisoner was one of Germany's parachute troops but its has yet to be determined whether he is an epileptic or not," he added.

The G.O.C. explained that epileptic often overpower their attendant in a fighting mood. He said he had no reason to believe that the proper disciplinary action could not be taken in the hospital itself.

Radio Locator System Invention of Many Men Rather Than One

By RENNIE TAYLOR
Associated Press Staff Writer.

Palo Alto, Calif., June 20 (AP)— The inside story of Britain's radio locator system, which warned of approaching Nazi air raiders, was revealed in part today by men who for years have shared the secret of its development.

Originator of the idea, said these men, is Robert A. Hivell, former Stanford University engineer who pioneered spectacular radio transmitting methods around the world in 1927.

The order did not extend to Italian Consulates, but some diplomatic observers believe Berlin was inclined that it had the Rome end of the deal in mind when it drew up the retaliatory measures as an impressive parallel.

Not only Italian Consular authorities but Italian Nationals here may feel the result of American counteraction.

When a plane enters a wave sector, radio energy in the waves strike it and "bounce," back toward the sender, where it is heard, may be one or more of the radio towers.

Hivell's associates recently detect any wave this reflected. Hence, every time a plane passes through a curtain, a detector registers the presence of the plane and thereby locates the invader.

Hivell's scientific records show Hivell went to England in 1936 and 1937 in connection with building transmitter stations as a part of the British rearmament program.

Hivell confirmed British authorities of the merit of the scheme, saying he had also been experimenting the idea to American government's experts.

Since then Hivell had helped build similar towers at Singapore. A modification of the British system in England indicated hundreds of towers were being erected which would mean towers or similar broadcasting units had been multiplied many times over the original number which reached from Dover to Pelizzotone.

CHAPTER TWENTY-ONE

THINGS WERE not going so well in the Gray Quill cottage. Mrs. Edmonds was by no stretch of the imagination given with housewifely traits. To put it flatly, Mrs. Edmonds couldn't cook and she had no desire to learn.

In a flimsy, frailing crepe and lace hostess gown, she made a pretty play of setting the table. Meanwhile the major, scowling manfully with can-opener and canned food and tired with hungry disappointed eyes the luscious looking steak in the meat tray of the mechanical ice box.

"I'm really not hungry," prattled his wife as she arranged daintily lettuce leaves and dropped on them spoonfuls of diced canned fruit, then heaped over the whole a gob of mayonnaise. "There are some crackers—we'll toast them with cheese—and there's milk—"

"But, honey-bunch, ANYBODY can broil a steak!" pleaded the major, recklessly.

She drew herself up, offended at his tone. He saw her lips quiver, and was certain that there was a tear forming in her eye. Although married less than a week, the major had learned his storm signals.

"But, of course, we'll have the steak tomorrow if you didn't really want it tonight," he began hurriedly.

She set her full mouth in a thin, hard line.

"Oh, yes, you do. And I'll cook it for you—if it kills me," she told him dramatically. "But I don't see why you married ME if it was a cook you wanted. I'VOLD you you I can't cook. How would I ever learn, living in a hotel practically all my life?"

She was making a great to-do with the steak, shoving it quickly from the contact of the red, smooth meat, shuddering a little as her fingers were bloodied by it; shoving it under the flame in the oven and with a little gesture of distaste.

"I don't see how anybody can possibly eat anything that looks so horrid when it's raw!" she protested almost tearfully.

But the major, hungrily eyeing the broiling meat, was for the first time in their brief married life, a little preoccupied in his attempts at peacemaking.

The Flamingo cottage had been assigned to June and Donald Heath. A place of delicate, colors stolen from the plumage of the lovely roseate flamingos whose amazing grace so enchants the tropical visitor. June loved the mother-of-pearl gray, the faint, rosy pinks, the soft blues of the place. She cried about stroking pillows, touching the silvery gray wood-work, while Donald smiled her an unhappy look in his lean, brown face.

"Almost time for you to begin getting ready for a concert, isn't it?" he said teasingly.

She turned to him swiftly, almost pleadingly.

"Darling — please don't remind me," she cried "I never want to think of another concert, or even to see another one as long as I live. I just want to be a human being with—your wife, Donald. And maybe, if God is very good to me, the mother of your children. Oh, please, dearest — please believe me."

Donald's arms closed about her and he rubbed his cheek against hers with a caressing gesture that seemed to melt the very heart in her breast. But his words were still troubled, uneasy.

"I want to believe that, angel," he told her after a moment. "But when I remember all that you've given up, just for a lug like me—"

She put a soft hand over his mouth and said with slightly unsteady gaiety, "Stop it! You can't talk like that about my favorite husband!"

His hand caught hers and he kissed each finger-tip separately. Then he spread her hand out across the palm of his and studied it very closely.

"Darling, I'm not going to ask you to tell me anything you don't want to, but—I've never been sure—I've never asked you—but I'm interested to see another hand that's been trained to be the hands of a great concert musician. Were you—think of your mother—"

"Let's not think of my mother —not just now," June said quietly. "Poor darling, she's terribly glitter. But she'll get over it."

"Will she? I wonder," said Donald. "And I don't know that I can blame her After all, when you've sacrificed everything for 18 years to give someone a career, and then that someone refuses to take the career—"

"But I worked for two years, Don I made a lot of money—and I gave it all to her," June pointed out, her voice shaken so that he knew she, too, had been thinking the same thoughts he was expressing, and that she had worried about the same things that were bothering him. "She has enough to take care of her comfortably as long as she lives. She knows that you and I will not let her want for anything."

"She'd starve in the gutter before she'd accept a crust of bread from me, you know. She said so herself," Donald reminded her a little grimly.

"I know. But she was terribly upset, overwrought. She didn't mean it—" June's voice broke.

"I don't think you ought to kid yourself about that," Donald reminded her curtly. "Your mother is a very determined lady and she didn't strike me as at all likely to change her mind. Especially about me. She thinks I am a good-for-nothing so-and-so, who waited until she had you all groomed to make a hit as a concert star, and then walked in and swiped you for myself. And — she's right, of course.

June drew a long, hard breath and said quietly, "We have to have this out, Don, here and now. Because—if you are going to walk out on me, you'll have to do it before we go any further. I couldn't give you up—"

"That's the way I feel about it, darling. The only thing that tortures me is that sometimes you may be sorry—and then it'll be too late. Maybe if you give up your music, the career you slaved and sacrificed for—you may regret it—"

"I'll never regret it. I love you. All I shall ever want is to be your wife and have your love," said June.

"Bless you for that!" said Donald in a voice that was little more than a ghost of a sound, as his lips found hers.

Night settled down over the island. Night that was silent save for the pounding of the surf on the beach; the countless rustling of the small, unseen creatures hidden in the jungle; and the soft murmur of muffled oars, as a long boat filled with dark shadows pulled in to the mouth of the little creek that fed the marsh. There was the sound of voices, very low, very cautious; the moving of a dozen or more men settling themselves for silent waiting. And then — silence again.

And far out on the ocean a long, rolling black film flattened the waves, an an "oil-slick"—marking the spot where an oil tanker had been scuttled, its hundreds of gallons of oil rushing to the surface, lying black and thick and gummy over the turquoise blue waves, and started its long voyage south, leaving ugliness and grime, and a wreckage that spoke with eloquent tongues of dark deeds done out there in that vast silence between sea and sky.

We were eating breakfast and pop said to ma, To give credit where credit is due, I must say that you are an unusually good grapefruit. If I was a grapefruit this is just the kind I'd like to be, I'd like it to be called the Willyum Potts seedless. pe said.

I know it's unusually sweet and juicy, but I must say I cant look at it with any fursome degree of pleasure, ma said. The man that sold them to me misrepresented the price, and if I don't get my money I cant stand it's dishonesty, especially in these days when the whole world is going to wracken ruin through broken treaties and double face agreements that aren't worth the scrap of paper they're printed on she said, and pushed the grapefruit away.

Do you mean to say he told you the price and charged you another

Well not in so many words, but it amounted to the same thing in principal, ma said. That's just what I mean, pop, the slinky underhandedness of the smooth hippocrit. I think he was some kind of a forriner, and if anybody ever takes the first steps to deport him I'll be mor. tisan pleased to take the 2nd and appear as an eager witness. I imagine he insinuated his unwelcome way into the country in the first place by a combination of clever forgeries and half truths, she said, and pop said, Just how did the leering bounder take you in for Pete sake?

Well, I inquired the price of the grapefruit and he glibly replied, 12 cents apiece or 2 for twenty five, ma said. So in all innocence I bought 2 and paid him a quarter, and it wasn't till some time later that I discovered on me that 2 twelves are only twenty four, and I dont see anything to laugh at, she said, and pop said, Neither do I, frankly, this burst of causeless merriment makes me feel rather silly.

And he had another burst and so did I. ——

IN MEMORIAM

CASSIDY — In memory of a loving husband and father Charles Henry Cassidy, who departed this life June 20th, 1940.
The depth of sorrow we can not tell
Of the loss of the one we loved so well.
And while he sleeps a peaceful sleep His memory we shall ever keep.
God knew that he was suffering
And the bills were hard to climb,
So He closed his gentle eyelids
And whispered peace be thine.
Sadly missed by wife and family. J20

DO YOU TAKE SALTS?

Here's a pinch that is as good as a pound

Kruschen Salts consist of several important mineral salts blended carefully in exactly the right proportions. These salts are highly refined and their quality is the highest obtainable anywhere in the world. Maybe you miss something by giving you the pure mineral salts without adding any flavouring ingredients, but we believe you prefer to have your medicine concentrated in small, compact and easily absorbed dose. That's why you only need take enough Kruschen to cover a dime. It's the economical way of taking salts, too.

Another thing to remember about Kruschen—it doesn't achieve its result by irritating or inflaming the colon. It attracts to the colon the moisture which is absolutely essential if you wish to avoid constipation and achieve easy evacuation. You can get Kruschen from all druggists, 75c, and 25c.

Give the Boys a Smile

Give the boys a smile
Just to lighten up their hearts,
For you, as Kin and Country
They are playing well their parts.
A smile will never break you
But it goes a long, long way
To cheer the lads in khaki
As they travel on their way.
Give the boys a smile
When you meet them on the street,
The navy and the airforce
You'll find them hard to beat.
When you meet the boys brairforce blue,
Remember soon they'll be Leaving home and kinfolk
To sail across the sea.
And when you meet our sailor boys
Remember that they too
Will help to bring us victory
'Tre returning back to you.
So give the boys a smile
Wherever you chance to roam,
A smile will they'll remember
Till they return to home sweet home.
A smile will never break you
But it goes a long, long way
To cheer the sailor, airman
'Tre he travel on his way.

The Daily Sketch offered its plant facilities, and the two papers were to the rival establishment to continue publication. The News Chronicle is a morning paper, the

As to Comebacks Consider Dickey Of N. Y. Yankees

Some People Thought Bill Had Run Down at 33 After 11 Years With Team but Look at This—

By DRLON GRAHAM
Associated Press Sports Writer.

New York, June 20 (AP)—Baseball's No. 1 Comebacker of the year is William Malcolm Dickey.

Many thought that the tall, easy-going New York Yankee catcher's days were numbered as they watched him dragging his heels last year.

Bill looked terrible. He couldn't hit and he looked like a slow freight on the bases. He wound up with a puny .247 average. Just a ball dozen more limply hits by Bill might have won the 1940 pennant for the Yanks, the fourth and final pennant back of Detroit.

Some thought Bill had just run down at 33 after 11 years with New York. Others figured he was worried when his health. Lou Gehrig was Bill's road trips room-mate and when lanky Lou was stricken in his prime the blow struck Dickey harder than any of Lou's other friends.

But there was nothing wrong with Bill. Apparently he realized this and during the off season and determined to get into shape for more good seasons. Lots of golf and hunting around his Arkansas home built up his legs and he came back in fine condition.

And he has been belting the ball from the getaway. He was one of the league's top hitters, with .371 average, as the campaign moved into June.

Per years experts have said that although Ruth and Gehrig and DiMaggio were the mainstays of the real backbone of the Yankees was Dickey. As long as he went well, the club could take slumps by the others.

Yankees have been a hot-and-cold club so far this year but they're still within reaching distance of the league leaders and, if Bill keeps hitting and the others finally come up with a splurge to match his pace, the Yanks may overhaul Cleveland and Chicago.

There are Others

Batting rivals should remember that in Bill's many years with the Yankees he finished under .300 only one time before this year. That was in 1935, when he hit .279, and Bill came back to bang out a .362 average the following year.

Other successful comebackers this year are Roy Cullenbine of the Browns, Joe Cronin of the Red Sox, Jeff Heath of the Indians, Jimmy Wasdell of the Dodgers, Lee Handley of the Pirates and Don Padgett of the Cardinals.

Halloway

Halloway—The community extends their deepest sympathy to Mr. James McMullen in the loss of his brother, Mr. Thomas McMullen of Harold.

Miss Reta Reid spent the week end at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Reid.

On Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Bury Hough entertained, and Mrs. Don Campbell and son, Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Hough and son Francis, Mr. and Mrs. Don Hagerty and family, also Mrs. Percy Kelly and Garry.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Foster called on their daughter, Mrs. Coleman Townsend, on Tuesday.

Flying for The Fleet Air Arm

By A Pilot.

In the London Spectator.

"Aircraft of the Fleet Air Arm . . . have made a torpedo-attack on units of the Italian fleet, have dive-bombed enemy shipping off the Norwegian coast, intercepted and shot down a convoy, sunk a submarine, located a German raider, bombed a port . . ."

The official report is strictly accurate, but it leaves a good deal to be filled in.

The thrill of the wind and the incessant thunder of engines are unheard. Nor is there any sunlit or misty emptiness, seen through a slightly oily windscreen, and a pair of eyes, always searching for the home carrier—the speck on the waste which means warmth, safety, the sparkle of light on a glass, food, drink and sleep. The activities of the Fleet Air Arm make a short story with a lot in the middle. It is not yet time to be written—nor for that matter has a pen been available enough to keep pace with it. But hearing of its exploits, people ashore are aware of a new force.

Not Glamorous

I can recount a minute part of the story, because every day I help to train the aircraft crews upon whose skill — particularly in navigation — the success of the air-branch depends We are no more like the Royal Air Force than the Tank Corps. Our aircraft are different; our men are different; and nine times out of ten our problems are different. As men, we are Jacks of all trades. That two-stripe in the corner of the ward-room is probably as handy with a torpedo from 1,000 yards as he is with a putter from 10 feet, or a machine gun at 100 yards, a pair of binoculars at 10 miles, or with a pencil and a tricky navigation problem at a falling light when he knows he has to locate the carrier or "flitch" himself and his crew.

The aircraft in our hangars are versatile. Even if you could squeeze into the cockpit beside me—which you couldn't because it's a shoe-horn job—you would observe the fore-the-fitter-like that on a Spitfire, the bomb-selector switch like a Wellington, a fuel-tank capacity like an Atalanta; and a few additional extras such as a neat little handle releasing a torpedo and another for an arrestor-hook.

Then if you climbed out again and transferred yourself to the back premises, which are slightly more commodious, and are designed for a crew of two, you would notice a lot more—for instance the row of navigation-instruments whose mathematical world is the first captain food for thought, a machine-gun and two, a big wireless set, a bomb-sight, and near at hand a few trifles such as a rubber boat, flares, emergency rations, first-aid sets and fire extinguishers. Don't think that there is anything very startling or new in any of these things. Their surprise will be that they are all housed in one airplane and that the airplane has only one engine, and—just to make it homely—a folding step.

Not Easy

You ought not to be appreciating that Fleet Air Arm aircraft and their personnel are not like anything else in the world. Nowhere else combine the qualities of the fighting man, the bomber and the reconnaissance machine, and visually they may suggest some such phrase as "flying bricks". I would not have quarrelled with this description a few months ago. But then I was only a civilian pilot with a profound contempt for my biplane which tried to look like flying fortresses. Since then I have flown them in all weathers, and I can assure you that they are the sort of aircraft suitable for teaching your maiden aunts to fly.

I don't only mean that you can grip the stick between your knees and doze, with "hands off", but that you can do such wicked things as climbing turns at a stalled position. I doubt, for instance, whether the maiden aunt could crash such an aircraft as a Fairey Battle. If she tried.

The young men whom I have been flying around during the last few months are mostly youngsters from the universities who have particularly impressed My Lords with their intelligence. In one sense, the problems with which they are faced in the air are not very profound, but when they have to be worked out at a great height by the non-stop racket of an aero engine they assume bigger proportions. No doubt many readers of this paper could successfully answer the following simple question:

"You have a carrier at 10.00 at a speed of 100 kts. with orders to make good a bearing of 180 degrees-niles. The carrier is steering 135 degrees at 25 kts. and the wind is blowing at 20 kts. from 225 degrees. What is the course the pilot must steer to intercept the carrier after he has completed his orders, and how long will it be before he is over again?"

This is the sort of practical problem which arises every day; and which must be solved correctly under the crew are prepared to swim for it. It can, of course, be complicated by the addition of further crews, but the principle remains the same.

Not Dull

The young men who to me are only voices down the speaking-tube become amazingly proficient after a few months. We meet each other in the morning, looking like mummies in our full flying-kit. We put We are levered upwards by a willing crew into our places, and after that they become voices who order me courses to fly. So we take off, and I sit watching my gyro-compass, and then long afterwards the voice will say, "Our position in two minutes time will be directly over the 'carrier' ". It never is. Or, on the other hand, an error of more than a mile is unusual.

When these young men finally leave me, the operational pilots whom they will join are safe in their hands. What is more, the Admiral knows that his fleet has the eyes which he can rely on as completely as the navigator on his own bridge.

"The Lady Eve"

For all we know, those who saw Paramount's new comedy "The Lady Eve", which closes a highly successful engagement at the Belle theatre tonight, are still laughing, for they saw one of the merriest farces in many a season.

Starring Barbara Stanwyck and Henry Fonda, the new film arrival hits a new high in hilarity, under the guidance of Preston Sturges, who wrote and directed it. Going at the pace and brilliance of a pinwheel, Sturges has given us three smash comedy successes, including "The Lady Eve," in about a year. Previously he authored and directed "The Great McGinty" and "Christmas in July."

Included in the great comedy cast of the latest of the shrewd, sly Sturges concoctions is such veterans as Charles Coburn, Eugene Pallette, Eric Blore, William Demarest, Eric Blore, Martha O'Driscoll and Luis Alberni.

"Ziegfeld Girl", the title of an excellent three-reel color fun carnival to be released on the same net proceeds go straight to one of the most vital branches of our war effort—the "Wings for Britain" fund, organized at the request of the British Ministry of Aircraft Production and which exists for the sole purpose of collecting money to buy fighter planes.

Burn your "Wings" — buy one of these new patriotic pins, scarves or set of playing cards. The entire net proceeds go straight to one of the most vital branches of our war effort—the "Wings for Britain" fund, organized at the request of the British Ministry of Aircraft Production and which exists for the sole purpose of collecting money to buy fighter planes.

With twenty-one big flight personalities, opulently spectacular production numbers, 160 of the screen's loveliest girls and Adrian costumes, "Ziegfeld Girl" comes to town as a stellar attraction.

James Stewart, Judy Garland, Hedy Lamarr, Lana Turner and Tony Martin head the all-star cast in a dramatic story by William Anthony McGuire, who was author and director of the original Broadway Ziegfeld's most successful stage production. Producer of "Ziegfeld" Robert Z. Leonard, the director who guided Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's most successful stage musicals, also directed "Ziegfeld Girl."

Production numbers ranging from suthe typical Ziegfeldian "glamour" and a fantasy laid in the tropics, to the finale, featuring the world's largest drum, have settings by Cedric Gibbons aided to a lavish, spectacular note. The numbers include Judy Garland singing Hedy Lamarr, the film shows how glamorous girls prepare for stage life. Edward Everett Horton, ever on the lookout for beauty, picks the girls for Florenz Ziegfeld's production of "Hot Cha!" Lana Turner, Jackie Cooper and Ruth Tobey, in the end, her health marked, dismissed from the Follies, Sheila returns home and reacquires the love of Gil, who substituted bootlegging for truck-driving in order to compete with Sheila's wealthy admirers.

However, it is too late. Sheila dies on the opening night of a new and greater Follies in which little Susan soars to success and carries out her her dad, who with his partner, Al Shean, has base Broadway with their "Gallagher and Shean" routine. Sandra, the beauty, deeply in love with her husband, loses him temporarily when he objects to her role in the Follies. While in the show she meets Frank Morton, played by Tony Martin, the singing star. They become infatuated with each other, but in the end she returns to Frans, and Merton to his wife, Gloria Dickson. Thus the saga of the three beauties is completed.

In the production numbers, written by Nacio Herb Brown, Gus Kahn and Roger Edens, appear the twelve front-line show girls; Georgia Carroll, Louise LaFlancis, Nina Bissell, Virginia Crunon, Alaine Brandels, Patricia Baldwin, Patricia Dane, Irma Wilson, Loraine Gettens, Anya Taranda, Madeline Marlin and Vivien Maeon.

"Prospecting Bears" a color fun cartoon and the Belle's usual short news events completes the program. On Saturday matinee the latest chapter of "Winners of the West" serial will be exhibited. Continuous shows will be presented on Saturday, starting at 1.30 p.m.

Smorgasbord Hoax

The silberish and catchy thing you're hearing on the radio at present is "The Hut Sut Song" and you might as well know something about it, because most every say it's going to be a big hit, ranking in American cultural annals beside such landmarks as "Ja-Da" and "Yes, We Have No Bananas."

If you haven't already heard it, you will—and plenty. The words go like this:

Hut Sut rawlson on the rillerah
Hut Sut rawlson on the rillerah
Hut Sut rawlson on the rillerah
And a hrwls go-o-o.
Now the rawlson is a Swedish town.
The rillerah is a stream.
The hrwls is a boy and girl.
The hut sut is their dream.
Hut Sut rawlson on the rillerah, etc. . . .

A lot of people think it's an adaptation of some Swedish folk-song, because of the reference to a Swedish town and because it is subtitled "a Swedish smorgasbord" but the fact is that it's pure nonsensical double talk concocted by three fellows in Hollywood named Millon, Owens and McMichael.

It is seven weeks old, has sold 150,000 copies (mostly on the west coast) and is expected to exceed Kresge's popularity each record triumphs of tomfoolery as "Three Little Fishes" and "The Music Goes Round and Round."

Don't say we didn't warn you.—Minneapolis Star Journal.

Welchpool, N.B., June 20 (CP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt arrived yesterday to spend two weeks at the Campobello Island cottage where she and President Roosevelt have vacationed frequently in previous summers.

Mrs. Roosevelt arrived by car on the ferry from Lubec, Me., accompanied by a secretary and two Secret Service operatives. Intimates will remain for a Youth Training course to be held at the cottage during July.

Mrs. Roosevelt planned to leave for Washington about the end of June and return here later in the summer.

SUNKEN SUB LOCATED, NO INDICATION OF LIFE

ALLIES OPEN ARTILLERY FIRE ON DAMASCUS

"Two Grapnels" Hooked to Craft, Send Down Divers

U.S. 0-9 in 440 Feet Of Water but Cause Of Sinking is Unknown

RECONDITIONED SHIP

—Portsmouth, N.H., June 21 (AP) —The rescue ship Falcon radioed ashore today that she believed she had definitely located the sunken United States submarine O-9 in 440 feet of water, but continual efforts to communicate with the craft have brought "no indication of life in the submarine." There were 33 officers and men aboard the craft when it disappeared yesterday.

Tender Goes is Scene

Rear Admiral Richard Edwards, aboard the Falcon, said that the rescue vessel had attached "two grapnels" to the submarine and "would attempt to send divers down when the Chewink arrives with equipment" this morning.

The Chewink, a submarine tender, set out from New London, Conn., as soon as the O-9 was reported trapped at the bottom of the ocean.

Edwards said a "large quantity of cork, oil, air and decking was sighted."

"Have made continual efforts to communicate," his terse message read, "but have received no indication of life in submarine."

President Roosevelt, who kept in personal touch with the Navy Department in Washington during the night, was told that the Navy "is not optimistic" about the situation.

Dived Early Yesterday

The 173-foot 0-9—victim in New England's fourth submarine disaster —went into its ill-fated deep trial dive yesterday morning—and the search got under way two hours later when a smoke bomb distress signal came to the surface.

The submersible was reconditioned recently after a decade of idleness.

Officials explained, however, that the bell or the "Momsen lungs", which the crew of victims could carry, could be used only if a line were attached to the wrecked ship.

Tested For 23b Feet

The Hull of the 0-9 was tested to withstand only 250 feet of water pressure and navy officials pointed out that the pressure at the 440-foot point undoubtedly would crush the ship.

First indication that the 23-year-old submarine was doomed came from the Falcon earlier when she reported picking up a jammed buoy which is used as interior-identification for the craft's hull, and deck gratings.

The cork was found in jagged chunks and led one navy official, who asked that his name be withheld, to comment "she must have been smashed like an eggshell."

Dorothy Thompson will speak over the Columbia Broadcasting System Sunday from 2:36 to 3 p.m. (E.D.T.), and will be heard over CFRB and WGR.

"Democracy and Freedom" is to be the subject of Miss Thompson's address, which she is delivering under the auspices of the Ring of Freedom, a group formed at one of her New York meetings whose members have pledged themselves to the ten points of democracy and freedom, she outlined.

HAILE SELASSIE CLEANING HOUSE

Calls to Account Tribal Leaders Who Sold Out to Italian Conquerors

Cairo, June 21 (AP). — Cleaning house in his newly-regained kingdom, Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia is calling to account his tribal leaders who sold out to their Italian conquerors, and the Negus has started the list with his own son-in-law.

Reliable information from Addis Ababa and orders are out for arrest of Ras Haile Selassie Gugsa, who married the emperor's daughter, and Ras Seyoum, hereditary ruler of Tigre Province and father-in-law of Victor Emmanuel's princess.

A third tribal leader, Ras Hailu, former governor of Goljam Province, was reported already in custody.

He had been exiled in 1932 for plotting against the throne, was reconciled with Haile Selassie in 1935 when he joined in the last-ditch defense of Addis Ababa against the Italians, then stayed and made his peace with the Fascists. British sources said, however, he remained as a fifth columnist and betrayed the Italians in April by opening the gates of Debra Markos Fortress, allowing the British forces to catch the Fascist garrison by surprise.

Ras Gugsa married the emperor's daughter but she died in childbirth in 1938. Soon after, Seyoum's daughter was given a puppet kingdom in the northern province of Begemdir, last reported flighting alongside the Duke of Aosta before the Italian viceroy surrendered.

Air Corps Ferry Command Has Job Of Speeding Up Plane Delivery

By J. F. SANDERSON
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Washington, June 21 (CP).—The latest agency adopted by the United States government to implement its policy of all-out aid to Britain is the air ferry command of the army.

Its job is to speed-up delivery of planes to the jumping-off places for the Atlantic hop on shipping centres along the coast. Col. Robert Olds, who is in charge of the ferry command believes it will be an important factor in accelerating the flow of planes and repair parts across the Atlantic.

Pilots of the United States army will take planes from factories to such destinations as Newfoundland and Bermuda where the Ferry Service command, run by the British government will take charge. This service, with headquarters in Montreal, operates under Air Chief Marshal Sir Frederick Bowhill, former commander of the R.A.F. Coastal Command.

The headquarters of the Air Corps Ferry Command is hidden away in a back corridor of the munitions building here in Washington. So far, it exists largely on paper but it has been organized on an extremely wide scale.

The main object is to speed delivery of American-made planes to Britain under the Lease-Lend Act and accelerate production in the factories.

Aircraft manufacturers have been ferrying the planes from the factories to the flying fields, sometimes a month by month, the task has been getting out of hand. With this the army taking over this task, it will provide invaluable training for pilots and navigators.

When it is functioning as it is intended, the Ferry Service will have inspectors in every aircraft, assembling plant or engine factory. It will be their duty to report to Washington the bottlenecks, causes of strikes and delays in the arrival of components.

There is practically no aircraft manufacturer in the United States who makes every part of a plane, from the engines down from one factory, the guns from an arsenal, and other components from a score of different factories. They are merely assembled in the aircraft factories.

The task of the Ferry Corps will be to keep all these components flowing in a steady stream and to chart production so as to maintain a balance between the speed of production and the arrival of components.

It may develop that unfinished planes will be flown from a factory to air corps stations where they can be completed in order to speed up the work. It is expected that this idea has not been worked out in detail yet.

NAZI-HELD FRENCH COAST BLASTED IN HEAVY RAIDS

Docks at Dunkirk and Boulogne Raided—Nazi Patrol Vessel Sunk

BRITAIN QUIET

On the English Southeast Coast June 20 (10:30p.m.)—British planes filled the skies over the channel this afternoon on what apparently was a non-stop daylight offensive against the Nazi-held invasion coastline of northern France. Two German planes were reported shot down with the attack still in progress.

Dunkirk, on the French coast by the 10th straight night, Royal Air Force bombers flew over Gravelines and the Nazi-held French coast "in force" overnight, dropping bombs on the naval base at Kiek-land on docks at Dunkirk and Boulogne, the Air Ministry announced today.

A German naval vessel was sunk by bombing yesterday off Den Helder, The Netherlands.

From these operations one British plane was lost.

(Nazi sources in Berlin admitted high explosive bombs and incendiaries were dropped in two-hour-ten German during the night, with buildings struck and many casualties suffered.)

Nazi air activity over the British Isles was down sharply last night the Air Ministry as scattered and light. No casualties were reported as Britain continued to enjoy the long respite from enemy night raids.

Trying to Cripple Invasion Attempt

It was disclosed yesterday that the purpose behind the unprecedented British night and daylight against Germany's industrial centres and Nazi-held coast bases is to cripple a Nazi attempt at invasion of Britain. It is considered likely that the invasion attempt if it is made will come if Hitler brow-beats Russia into economic demands without a fight.

The British air offensive is operating under a plan divided into two phases.

The first, against the very heart of industrial Germany is aimed at the destruction of supplies and cut the westward transport system from these reservoirs needed for any sustained offensive against the British Isles.

The second, which calls for continuous bombing of coastal bases, is to push back the forward zone of probable embarkation in general to break up the offensive facilities necessary for an attempted invasion.

Daylight Assault

Folkestone, England, June 21 — (CP)—British planes struck across the northern French coast last night in another assault on the Nazi-held coastline, it was apparently in the region of Boulogne.

Two members of the Royal Norwegian Air Force were killed when their bomber crashed into the Ferry Sam McBride on Toronto Bay and then plummetted into the waters of the bay. The bent mast on the ferry is pictured as is also the type of plane flown by the Norwegians.

NO CHANGES CONTEMPLATED IN BRITISH CABINET

Announcement to This Effect Made From 10 Downing Street

McNAUGHTON NAMED

London, June 21 (CP)—It was announced officially today that no change is contemplated in the organization of Britain's eight-man war cabinet.

The announcement from 10 Downing Street denied that Lt.-Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, Commander of the Canadian corps, was to be taken into the cabinet, it said:

"There is no truth in the statement appearing in The Daily Mail that Gen. McNaughton, Commander in Chief of Canadian forces in this country, may later take war cabinet as Minister of Defence, or that any change in the structure of the war cabinet or in the office of Minister of Defence is contemplated."

Prime Minister Churchill, himself, holds the position of Minister of Defence. In the House of Commons there have been suggestions that Mr. Churchill's duties are too many to permit him time for the work of Minister of Defence.

There have been suggestions, too, that the war cabinet be made an Imperial War Cabinet by including representatives of the Dominions. Mr. Churchill rejected this suggestion early this month.

SENATOR GRAVELY ILL

Washington, June 21 (AP).—Hope virtually was abandoned today for recovery of United States Senator Carter Harrison (Dem., Mississippi) gravely ill at hospital. Harrison, president pro tempore of the Senate and chairman of the Finance Committee, has been in a critical condition since an operation Monday for an intestinal obstruction.

YUGOSLAVIAN KING NOW IN ENGLAND TO FORM GOV'T

17-Year-Old King Peter Accompanied by Prime Minister and Other Officials

TRAVEL BY PLANE

London, June 21 (CP)—Accompanied by his prime minister and other ministers, 17-year-old King Peter of Yugoslavia arrived in England at 4.45 a.m. today and it was understood the Yugoslav government would be established in London.

The party, travelling by plane, was greeted by the Duke of Kent.

The youthful monarch, who had been reported in Jerusalem since he fled Yugoslavia in April, before the German army, had assumed his throne in a military coup d'etat on March 27, when the regime which agreed with the Rome-Berlin-Tokyo Axis was ousted.

The coup, led by Gen. Dusan Simovic, ended a regency which had ruled for Peter since the assassination of his father, Alexander I, at Marseille, France, Oct. 9, 1934, but the young king's reign in his own country lasted barely three weeks before the German army forced him to leave.

British sources earlier had reported the Yugoslav government had been re-established somewhere in the Middle East, presumably in Jerusalem, since he later was reported there.

One of his cabinet was said to have been killed during the hazardous flight from Athens to Jerusalem.

The King's party which arrived today included Premier Simovic, Foreign Minister Momchilo Nincic and Court Minister M. Kenavic.

CANADIAN AMONG SURVIVORS

Oporto, Portugal, June 21 (CP Cable)—Wallace Lacouter, 35, described as a Canadian, was among survivors of the 4,970-ton British freighter Diurdura, sunk by a submarine. Rescue of the crew, all of whom were Belgians except Lacouter, was reported yesterday by the Portuguese steamship Malange.

REDS NOT AFRAID OF STRENGTH TEST WITH THE NAZIS

Fighting Showdown Predicted Unless Russia Makes Drastic Economic Concessions

CLASHES REPORTED

Ankara, June 19 (Delayed) (AP) —The military attache here of one of the minor Axis countries today predicted a fighting showdown between German and Soviet Russia in "days, not weeks" unless Russia makes drastic economic concessions.

Tactium Soviet diplomatic sources in Vichy declared meanwhile that Germany's reported demands for control of Russian grain and oil production would be impossible to grant. They added that the Red Army was not afraid of a test of strength with the Nazis.

All along the frontier men with guns are on the march again, repeated reports reaching here indicated.

Axis satellites Rumania, Hungary and Slovakia have been reported brought to a virtual war footing, with demobilized reserves recalled to the colors and frontier and precautionary blackout instructions.

Fighting Reported

Against this gathering weight of men and arms, it was said here, the Red army has been moving into its central defensive lines, fighting in the Ukraine to Minsk, back of the old Russian-Polish frontier.

Authoritative sources declared the Red army also was "strengthening its positions in the Far North on the basis of reports that the Germans might have as many as six divisions near Petsamo, Finland."

(A Reuters News Agency dispatch from Istanbul today said passengers arriving in Turkey from Rumania reported clashes already occurring along the Rumanian-Russian border between Rumanian soldiers and the Red army. Reuters said there was no confirmation of these reports from other sources.

Hastings Oversubscribes Loan Objective by $270,050

The deed is done. Hastings County has stepped up its place in the Blaze of Victory Loan Campaign ranks.

Official figures released by Loan headquarters at 11 o'clock today reveal that $2,120,050 has been subscribed in this predominantly rural county. The city of Belleville reached its objective yesterday and residents rallied and bought bonds sufficient to attain the quota for the district. Officials are confident that by midnight tonight, the closing hour for subscriptions across the Dominion, this amount will be exceeded by a substantial margin.

Officially, Hastings County oversubscribed its original quota up to perhaps morning, by $270,050, or 114.6 per cent of its allotment.

The quota allotted to the county by Dominion headquarters prior to the start of the campaign was $1,850,000 but in view of the fact that during the 1940 campaign Hastings subscribed almost three millions of dollars, local officials felt confident that the 1941 objective this morning, by $270,050, or 114.6 per cent of its allotment.

They felt that historic Hastings, steeped in historical lore, traditions and loyalty would not fall the Empire in her hour of need.

That faith has been justified.

Hastings pushed up its county town, outlying towns, villages and communities like a proud, strong head in conjunction with other Ontario units. They have been tried and not found wanting.

But there are still a few hours to go until the campaign closes and the campaign. Local campaign headquarters at 340 Front Street will remain open until twelve midnight tonight, last minute bond buyers.

General Chairman Judge Charles Cameron speaking for the committee today said: "We are highly gratified at the splendid co-operation and response of the people of the county." He paid special tribute to members of all committees and executives who gave their services voluntarily. Also he commended those who gave their full time and efforts; office staffs who worked long hours; the press for co-operation and those organizations and individuals who by generous and small subscriptions aided in the success of the loan.

He also complimented the press and paid especial tribute to the Intelligencer on its historic Victory subscription list with the magnificent sum of $345,000.

Vichy Drive on British Palestine Faces Encirclement

Gen. Henri Dentz Refuses to Withdraw Troops From Syrian Capital

UNDER STEADY FIRE

London, June 21 (CP)—Counter-attacking Vichy forces were reported today to have been driven south across Syria to Khirbe, within 2½ miles of British Palestine.

But their own Syrian capital—shelled and partly encircled—apparently was under steady British and Free French pressure from its outlying suburbs.

Reuters News Agency quoted a spokesman in Jerusalem as saying the Vichy drive toward the Palestine frontier was the risk of complete encirclement because allied forces were barring escape around the Damascus pincers.

Some allied forces were said to have pushed into the main lines of defence around Damascus yesterday, Jerusalem spokesman, however, described the attackers' positions around Mezze Airport 3½ miles west of the city, as uncertain.

Vichy Troops Counter-Attack

Simultaneously another Vichy troops were reported to have counter-attacked Free French forces to the south in the neighborhood of Jebel El Kich.

A Jerusalem broadcaster told of fierce hand-to-hand fighting between Australian and Vichy troops in houses and streets of Edieda in the Merdjayoun district 40 miles south of Damascus.

British spokesmen said ancient Damascus was shelled yesterday, after the Vichy High Commissioner, Gen. Henri Dentz, refused to withdraw his troops and that Vichy troops fired back.

(Syrian authorities were said to have sent a protest to Baghdad asking the Iraq Government to tell the British to withdraw their armies from the Syrian border. Reuters said there was no confirmation of these reports from other sources.

Victory Loan Reaches $667,969,900 With Today's Total to be Added

Oshawa, June 21 (CP)—Marching on past its original objective the 1941 Victory Loan has now reached a figure of $667,969,900 with today's subscriptions still to be recorded.

National Loan Headquarters today announced subscriptions totalling $36,877,800 came in yesterday, the second last day of the campaign. The total number of individual subscribers has now reached 759,812.

With the town well oversubscribed the Victory Torch which crossed Canada by air may now be forwarded to England where it will be presented to Prime Minister Winston Churchill at No. 10 Downing Street on Dominion Day, July 1.

Today is the time or place of the Torch's takeoff from Oshawa, revealed. But it is learned it will be flown across the Atlantic.

FATE OF PLANE STILL MYSTERY

Port Albert, Ont., June 21 (CP)—Fate of a Royal Air Force training plane and its crew of four remained a mystery today as R.A.F. planes scoured area from this lakeside air base at daylight for the second successive day in a widespread search of the waters of Lake Huron and vicinity.

The fairly-camouflaged training plane vanished near midnight Thursday night during a training flight from the Air Navigation School here. Last word of it a three-minute radio message heard at 11.47 p.m., almost two hours after it had radioed its position as near Port Dover.

Aboard the craft were Sgt. J. G. Jones, pilot; Lac. J. W. Clarkson, Lac. B. C. Evans and Cpl. D. Bradbury, wireless operator. Bradbury is from Cobourg, Ont.; the others are from England.

Thirty American planes from three Michigan army air bases were reported to have joined in the search yesterday following a request from Canadian officials. Planes of the Royal Canadian Air Force also have been engaged in the search, it was said by darkness.

Tore off Blindfold Before Dying in Prison Gas Chamber

Canon City, Colo., June 21 (AP) —Seventy six-year old James (Kansas Jim) Adams tore off his blindfold in a last defiant gesture that might be a moment before he died in the Colorado penitentiary gas chamber for slaying an officer.

Oldest man ever to forfeit his life to the state, the veteran murderer and cowhand waited until the executioner was seated, then slipped his left wrist from a strap and ripped off his blindfold. He threw it to the floor, relaxed his right hand from its strap, and took deep breaths of the deadly gas.

HUGE STRAWBERRY

Let may not have been the grandaddy of all the strawberries, but it came from a family that is noted for its size, flavor and bouquet. The big berry was grown on the farm of Henry Nelson, Gardenville grower, and measured two and one-half inches crosswise and two and one-quarter inches the opposite direction.

The tasty fruit was offered on the market this morning but discerning grocerymen and others lost no time in acquiring the entire stock Nelson brought with him for sale.

"We are always a bit late in production," he said, "but so far the drought has not affected our crop as much as it has others. This statement was substantiated in the size, firmness and color of the berries he offered on the market.

KINGSTON WOMAN ARRESTED WHEN MAKING COMPLAINT

When she walked into the Bellville police station to register a complaint, Mrs. Sara Jane Gobb of Kingston, was arrested and held for Kingston police on a charge of assault, a police circular had been issued from the Kingston police asking for her arrest and charging her with assaulting her daughter, and occasioning her bodily harm. Before the woman could register her complaint at the police station here, Detective Isard placed her under arrest yesterday and immediately notified the Kingston authorities. She was returned to Kingston by car.

DANCE RECITAL PLEASES AUDIENCE

The second evening of the Mary Forster Dance Recital at the McCarthy theatre last evening attracted a large and appreciative audience. The pupils of Miss Forster excelled in their exhibition of the various types of dancing. The program was one to delight everyone and the response of those present to the numerous encores by members was most enthusiastic.

Berries and Eggs Remain Steady

Strawberries and eggs took on a firmer tone on the local produce market this morning. Hot dry weather is rapidly drying up the berry patches in the district according to members who were asking 15c straight for strawberries of good quality, while eggs increased in price from 25c to 27c a dozen, which was last Saturday's quotations in the case of fresh grade "A" large, with 25c being asked for medium.

Prices for other lines of produce on the local market compared with those of last week, however, with butter selling at two pounds for 75c, or 38c a lb. in single cases, straight 33c per pound. Broilers ranged from a low of 60c to 70c per pair to as high as $1.25 and $1.50, with eight of five selling at approximately 25c per pound, $1 to $1.25 being the average price per bird.

Early beets made their first appearance on the market, selling at 5c per bunch of six radishes, onions and rhubarb. Lettuce ranged in price from 5c to 10c per head with cabbage selling at 10c and 15c each. Peas sold at 40c per quart. Early potatoes were 50c per peck, but with last year's "spuds" selling at the usual $1 per bag.

Early Richmond cherries, fully two weeks earlier than usual, were offered at 10c per berry box, while a few boxes of red currants sold at 25c per quart. Gooseberries were 15c per box.

Only two varieties of fish were offered, lake trout selling at 30c, or at 35c per pound, sliced while whitefish brought 23c per pound.

Young porkers were offered in numbers, however, and a brisk trade noticed for the past several weeks in pork prices beginning at 25 and 26 and ranging up to 29 and 30 for good sized shoots.

Board of Education Votes to Retain P. C. MacLaurin as Principal

Revokes Resolution of April 28th and Unanimously Passes New Motion

Mr. P. C. MacLaurin was by the unanimous vote of the Board of Education in Herwin meeting on Friday evening, retained as principal of the Belleville Collegiate and Vocational School.

Towards the close of the meeting, Col. Green moved, seconded by Rev. A. Beauchamp Payne that the rules be suspended for the reinstating of a motion: Unanimous permission was granted and the Rev. W. J. Walker moved seconded by Rev. Mr. Payne that the resolution of April 28, last by which the principalship of Mr. MacLaurin was to be terminated at the end of the present term in June and by which Mr. MacLaurin was to remain to declare teache at the same salary in view of his long service, be revoked.

As this motion was carried Rev. Mr. Walker then moved, seconded by Mr. J. H. Legate that P. C. MacLaurin be retained as principal of the Collegiate. The vote was declared unanimous by the chairman.

The only statement made was that by Rev. Mr. Payne that "after a conference between the Board of Education and Mr. P. C. MacLaurin an amicable settlement was reached and the following telegram was sent to Judge O'Connor at Cobourg". Mr. Payne read the telegram:

"Judge O'Connor, Cobourg.

"The case of Board of Education and P. C. MacLaurin has been amicably settled.

(Signed) "H. B. Petterly, "P. C. MacLaurin."

Judge O'Connor is the chairman of the board of reference which was appointed by the Department of Education to inquire into this matter. The Board met here this week. It was the first Board of Reference case in the province under the Act of 1936.

Last evening's meeting was the last meeting of the term and adjournment was made to the regular meeting in September. Mr. P. C. Cushing was the only member of the Board present, he being unable to be present.

Last evening reports were presented by Asa Ketcheson, and by Dr. M. J. Clarke. The former told of her inspections as truancy officer and the latter of the dental clinic.

Dr. Clarke stated that the people are taking advantage of the dental clinic". He remarked that it was a good sign that there had to be only 22 permanent teeth extracted during the progress of the clinic.

Collegiate Report

The report of Principal P. C. MacLaurin of the Collegiate was read. It pointed out that since Easter a large number of boys and girls had left to engage in war effort and war work. He spoke highly of success of War Savings Stamps campaign as carried on in the school.

The Board decided to make the usual grant as last year to the Navy League of Canada to aid its work.

The offer of a silver cup from the C.L.I. Tanks Sergeants' Mess for competition by the girl cadettes was accepted by the Board who instructed that a letter of appreciation be forwarded to Sergeant Ellerby.

Encouragement to Cadets

Rev. A. B. Payne declared "I would like to see more of the cadets of the collegiate and public school encouraged". He cited the gift by the Sergeants' Mess. "Their action in presenting the cup will encourage the girls in their work. I should like to see similar offers or prizes for cadets' work. If the general public or public-spirited men could find it possible to present cups, it would increase the interest in cadet work and we would have a very desirable effect in building up and training the youth of the city".

A letter from Mr. George Ferguson, director of the War Emergency Classes held at the Collegiate, dealt with the request of the Bristol Aircraft Corporation of Virginia, that they have the opportunity to train a class of about twenty-five young men in the woodworking shop during 7-day and Augist in preparation for the opening of their factory which is to be established here. It was suggested that there be a survey of about one hundred young men under the menial and aptitude tests so as to secure the number required for the class.

The chairman, Mr. Petterly, said that looks like a new opportunity for young men".

The Board on motion of Col. Green decided to allow the use of the wood working under the same conditions of the war emergency clause. It was suggested that Mr. George Beare be instructor.

Canadian Hogs Being Shipped To U.S. Markets

Chicago, June 21—(AP)—Canadian hog producers, watching the steadily advancing prices for swine in the United States, are exporting increasing quantities of hogs to American markets, figures compiled by the Department of Agriculture here disclosed.

From Jan. 1 to June 12 the number of Canadian hogs sent to American livestock centres was 16,768 head. No Canadian hogs were imported in the same period of the previous year, the department said.

That the rate of imports is increasing as prices rise may be seen in weekly statistics. In the seven days ended June 12 the number of Canadian hogs imported was 1,177. This compared with 403 in the preceding seven-day period and 548 in the seven days ended May 29.

During the first four months of this year the excess of American pork exports over imports increased substantially when compared with the like 1940 period. These figures do not reflect probable exports under the lease-lend program. However, as heavy government pork buying did not get under way until late April.

The excess of pork exports over imports totalled 2,102,000 pounds in the four months ended April 30 compared with 63,707,000 pounds in the like 1940 months. In the 1939 period, the excess was 17,549 pounds.

During the week swine prices in Chicago advanced to new highs for the last four years despite the fact that dressed pork in the wholesale market showed a tendency to back down from the seasonal trend established last week-end. The average price was 10 cents higher, or more than $1 above the objective set by the government.

Reed, Douglas. A Prophet at Home. The latest of three books, which began with Insanity Fair and which the course of events forced to produce a sequel, Disgrace Abounding, now turns from European affairs to the picture of England at war. The author, writing with his same caustic and impassioned pen, sees England saved from the extremity of full calamity and believes victory to be within her grasp. He throws the light of his clear reasoning on those things in the English way of life which he thinks likely to imperil the victory or lose the next peace.

Dutjbern, G. J. Quest.

Dissatisfied with the turn of affairs in Germany in 1930, the author sought a Utopia on the high seas and set out on a five years' cruise to New Zealand in a yacht. This story of his adventures, both in Germany and at sea, combines philosophy with adventure.

Lawes, L. E. Meet the Murderer.

Warden Lawes of Sing Sing prison, writes of many cases of murderers he has studied in his many years experience with criminal types. He writes of the lives and personalities that make this condition in the same easy style which made his former books so popular.

Anderson, E. G. Dog-Team Doctor.

With hot summer days ahead, this story of Dr. Romig's life in the frozen north will offer many refreshing moments. Battles for life in the long Arctic nights and bitter days, through the wilderness blizzards in the call of service have made him one of Alaska's most notable inhabitants.

Del Valle, Katharine. Recipes of a Rolling Stone.

This is decidedly not just another cook book but one that will carry the reader to far places and amusing situations. The author accompanied her marine officer husband to far corners of the world and in her travels collected recipes. The collection is flavoured with a spice of many anecdotes.

UNIONIZATION OF CAR INDUSTRY NOW COMPLETE

Ford, Last of Non-Union Firms, Signs Agreement With C.I.O. — United Automobile Workers —

TO GO "ALL THE WAY"

Detroit, June 21 (AP).—Unionization of the United States automotive industry was hailed by labor leaders as complete today with signing of a history-making pact between the Ford Motor Company and the C.I.O.-United Automobile Workers.

Last of the major non-union firms in the industry, the Ford Company, largest family-controlled industrial unit in the world, and the U.A.W.-Congress of Industrial Organizations concluded the agreement yesterday in Washington, providing, among other things, for a union shop and dues check-off.

The contract, most far-reaching ever written in the automotive industry, was signed after a fortnight of negotiations and exactly a month after the union struck at the company early in April, had won a National Labor Relations Board election in the firm's two principal plants here.

The Ford Company holds approximately $150,000,000 in United States defence orders for airplane engines, bomber parts, and army trucks.

Edsel Ford, president of the Ford Motor Company, said the firm had "decided to go all the way" in dealing with the union.

"As the company now views the situation, no halfway measures will be effective," he said. "We cannot work out one scheme of things for some of our workmen and another scheme for the remainder. So we have to go the whole way."

At the same time, the N.L.R.B. in an agreement with the company and union, announced that all charges against the firm would be dismissed. The N.L.R.B. had issued eight orders against the company and three others were in the process of being heard.

The board frequently had held that labor views of Henry Ford, founder of the company, tended to discourage unionism.

Points of Agreement

Other points in the pact, which workers in the two plants here are expected tomorrow to approve unanimously, call for:—

1. All wage increases to be retroactive to the signing of the contract and no reduction in prevailing rates.

2. The company and the union to confer in December on payment of a bonus.

3. Grievances to be handled by a shop steward system with a time sieve and for each 500 workers.

4. Disputes not settled by shop stewards to be handled by special grievance machinery.

5. Time and half for overtime and double time for Sundays and holidays.

6. Workers called in and not put to work to be given two hours call-in pay.

7. Seniority to determine lay-offs and reirring.

8. When a drop in production necessitates lay-offs, no "seniority workers" are to be laid off until the work week drops to 32 hours.

Workers Reinstated

The contract further provides for reinstatement, with back pay, of between 2,000 and 4,000 workers the N.L.R.B. charged were dismissed for union activity. An arbitrator will decide what employees are to receive back pay which some observers estimate will amount to $2,000,000 or more.

Speculation on the amount wage increases would involve ran as high as $30,000,000. Prior to the N.L.R.B. election in the Ford and Lincoln plants, the company announced wage boosts totalling more than $13,000,000 annually. The company has 120,000 employees.

"TWO GRAPNELS"

Will Attempt To Raise Sub.

Washington, June 21 (AP).—United States navy men in the capital said today they were certain an attempt would be made to salvage the sunken submarine O-9, even though the attempt would be at the unprecedented depth of 440 feet where the pressure is approximately 176 pounds per square inch.

The attempt, they said, would be inspired by the desire to recover the bodies of the 33 men and to find, if possible, what caused the submersible to take the plunge to the bottom of Portsmouth, N.H.

Furthermore, they said, navy technicians might gain information on the condition of equipment subjected to the terrific pressure existing at that depth.

So far as navy men could recall today, the greatest depth at which successful salvage operations had been conducted was approximately 200 feet. That was the recovery of the F-4 which went down to a trial run off Hawaii in 1916 with the loss of its crew of 22.

Officers on duty at Portsmouth declared last night, however, that navy divers could descend to 500 feet if necessary.

Raising of the submarine Squalus which went down in June, 1939, near the scene of the O-9 sinking, required about two months, with time lost due to stormy weather.

OURSELVES AND OTHERS . . .

BY

WELL DONE

Canada has shown the Motherland, the Empire and the world that she is ready to spend her resources to redeem the world to peace and security. The faith of the people in the final triumph of their cause never wavers. The Victory War Loan has been a glorious success and has far exceeded the initial objective and is headed for a new high record money-raising for the Dominion. When the final figures are issued the total of the 1941 Victory War Loan will be the cause of great satisfaction.

The people have put their money and their hearts into the campaign and the result is a magnificent demonstration of Canadian resources of wealth and spirit.

ONE YEAR AFTER

The world has before it the sad drama of Marshal Petain who has tried to show that France as ruled from Vichy is better off under the armistice than she was a year ago when the collapse came. How the aged Premier can see improvement when those whom he represents are under the tyrant's power is hard for others to understand. France is not free, her soldiers are prisoners of the Huns and the government has favored collaboration with Germany.

But while Hitler sways the Berlin and tries to dominate Europe there will be no peace. Britain will not accept peace with a Hun in arms. Her resolution has seen her pass through the most trying experiences any people ever had in the months when she stood practically alone and in the months just after the fall of French resistance. Yet those were the days which showed the British people, defended by their spirit and their inadequate equipment of that time, resisting the full power of Germany. In those days it looked to many as if invasion might come across the twenty miles of channel. Then rose the great soul of Prime Minister Churchill who has rallied the Britons in the world of free men. He declared Britain would fight on the beaches, in the streets of the cities and that the last man and last one would never surrender. In the glory of manhood and womanhood Britons then wrote a page of history which will be read thousands of years hence.

At that time Hitler thought the world was his. He believed he had but to give command and receive the homage of the human race. He danced a jig in a French forest in the fanatical madness of the moment and the dictation of some of the Huns of his immediate staff.

Today after these months Britain is stronger than ever in her history. She has as ally a noble army, the Free French, who have sworn to fight on knowing that France can be redeemed and will be redeemed by the Free French and Britons and their Allies. On the other hand it is sad to think that the Vichy Government takes another view that France can only find her way by means of the Hitler new order and through "collaboration." But it is believed that the masses of the French people are still sympathetic to their British ally and that when the time is rife will be with the Allies.

In the months since France has been under the enemy armistice, Britain has fought and frustrated every attempt of Hun airmen to dominate the air, her fliers have punished German industrial targets and the "invasion coast" front with an ever-growing intensity of attack. Her young Sir Galahads of the air have won the golden words of praise of Mr. Churchill who created the phrase, "never in the record of human conflict has so much been owed by so many to so few." That has been the spirit of Britain throughout the year. In the Atlantic the war goes on. A strong ally has come on the scene who will furnish the necessary aid for Britain to finish the struggle victoriously, that is the United States, whose growing strength is the dread of Hitler.

France has had a year of Hitler domination. Britain has gallantly possessed herself in steadfastness and stands stronger than ever. The year has shown her to be able to assume the most gigantic tasks. Britain after a year remains the hope of all democracies.

"It takes John Bull a long time to forget he's a gentleman," remarks the Los Angeles Times and, "but when he does all the gorillas in creation can go take a back seat . . . .

. . . . The indications are now that John Bull, having had his monocle knocked off, his nose punched, his eye blacked, his shirt torn off, his hat thrown in the mud and his seat kicked, is about to abandon Christian charity and go mop up the earth . . . . Unless all signs fail he is chewing up a few 10-penny nails and preparing to boot the everlasting daylights out of the turncoat French in Syria. If so, the real war has begun . . . . So far, John Bull has been too fair. Norway, Holland, Denmark, Greece and Crete . . . . Now comes the chapters entitled North Africa, Cyprus, Asia Minor and Suez. If John Bull isn't really so mad he's got the Hitler staggers, he's sunk. But if he is, Herr Hitler is going to think hell and the Sahara both have blown up in his face at once."

A LITTLE CHILD . . .

He was only a little fellow, some thirteen years of age. He goes to a rural school in a township not far from the city. But he is an energetic little fellow and spent a lot of his spare time in the capacity of janitor, or monitor for the school.

Being a diligent youngster he saved his pennies and as time rolled by he accumulated a tidy sum in the bank, a figure somewhere in the neighborhood of fifty dollars.

Then along came the Victory Loan. A canvasser called at his home .Curious, he listened to what the canvasser had to say. He knew that his relatives and the big brothers of his schoolmates were in the army, navy and airforce—some of them now overseas.

He learned that fifty dollars would buy a Victory Bond, and help Canada to win the war. His eyes sparkled. Here was his chance to do what he could. And when relatives suggested that he save his money for a new bicycle or something, he bravely shook his head. "I want to help," he smiled. Today he is the owner of a Victory Bond.

Belleville may, or may not be over its quota by the time you read this. Last night $30,000 was needed. Don't take the fact for granted that it has been subscribed. There are a few hours left, from now until midnight, to be exact. See your canvasser right away, or telephone Victory Loan headquarters. The number is 3,000. Let's all get together in this last-minute push for the Empire and show the world that Belleville and Hastings County has come through in the drive for Victory and the end of Hitlerism.

NEWSBOY'S TRAIL

(Lena Clendening in Kansas City Star)

I know not what my newsboy's future mission:
If he seeks office as a politician,
I'll vote for him and garner others voting.
For he's a boy of promise, I am noting,
I called, "Don't throw the paper in my garden!"
He smiled and nicely said, "I beg your pardon."
And when the ground with snow was covered o'er,
He left the paper right beside my door.
In sun or rain, 'tis always near at hand,
A courtesy he's willed, or nobly planned;
A youth who rides the world with chivalry
Will find success wherever he may be.

LIVE WELL

Live well and be of none afraid,
Be true and dread no tap at door,
'Tis shame to leave a debt unpaid
And scurry from a creditor.

Be fair of conduct and of speech,
Still tongues leave little to regret.

Enjoy all good within your reach,
But past your means don't try to get.

Live well and be of none afraid,
Be patient, glad to work and wait,
For hardships keep the body fit,
The things may come for service great,
Be sure that you're prepared for it.

Be honest with yourself and all
Who cross your path throughout the day,
Have faith against the griefs that fall,
You'll be respected, come what may.

Canal Bombs began to fall and the wardens were called out. Mickey was given the job of taking an injured man through the "blitz" to the First Aid Centre.

Seven times he was sent out on his bicycle while the air was at its height, for the fire and ambulance services.

Then came a lull. Mickey wiped his forehead, had a cup of tea and a sandwich and sat down.

Before ten minutes had passed the guns were going again, overhead droned the bombers. Suddenly a "bread-basket" spilled its deadly contents on Mickey's street. "Incendiaries!" SUCCESSFUL TREATMENT FOR FACE BLEMISHES

Blemishes by Feeling the Skin

Some weeks ago I listened to a brilliant address by a young man in his thirties. He held the attention of his immense audience of business and professional men for an hour. This man stands, with the top in his chosen profession, which by the way is medicine.

While the applause that greeted the finish of his address was tremendous, my reaction was one of genuine admiration for the courage with which he had climbed to his present height. He had also to conquer acne (pimples), chickenpox or acne (pimples).

In the great majority of cases of acne or other skin blemishes, individual withdraws from publicity in any form, and develops an inferiority complex that spoils his or her life.

For years, methods of correcting the after results of smallpox, acne, and other skin disfigurements have been very successful despite the handicap they may cause the person and the afflicted. It is a source of great satisfaction, therefore, when we read in the Journal of the American Medical Association of the successful treatment of these disfigurements (brown) patches, large freckles and even skin blemishes by Drs. Joseph J. Eller and Shirley Wolff, New York. It is called the skin peeling process.

The cells which form the very outer surface of the skin have come gradually up to the surface from a layer below, become keratinized, and then drop off. By applying chemicals, the dropping off of these cells (peeling) is hastened. These chemicals also have the effect of the skin causing some swelling. When the inflammation and swelling disappear, the outer layer of cells "become crinkled and white-like parchment and dried out". Whether the chemicals, by increasing the activity of the skin cells by drying up the oil glands and sweat glands correct the condition is still unknown.

Drs. Eller and Wolff point out that this peeling of the skin is not new in that early records show that the Egyptians, Assyrian and Babylonians used skin irritants to cause the skin to peel.

I am purposely not mentioning the names of the chemicals used by Drs. Eller and Wolff as their treatment, unless supervised, may not only cause severe skin complications but eye conditions also.

CALICO FROM CALICUT

It was once a serious offence in England to buy, sell or wear calico.

The word "calico" is a corruption of Calicut, the name of a city on the southwestern coast of India.

A simple variety of cotton fabric was produced by native weavers at Calicut on such a large scale for exportation that the name of the place became identified with the product.

England should not be confused with Calcutta, which is a much larger city on the opposite side of the Indian peninsula.

Calico from Calicut was first introduced into England in 1631 by the East India Company.

The silk and wool interests of Britain were bitterly opposed to the use of the fabric from India.

English weavers became greatly alarmed at the new trade and threatened by the weavers of Calicut.

In one English town men employed by the mill owners patrolled the streets and assaulted persons discovered wearing cotton goods of Indian manufacture.

The agitation became so great that numerous riots took place, largely to the influence of the wool and silk weavers. Parliament passed what became known as the Calicut Act.

This act forbade the use of calico in England and provided a fine equivalent to $1,000 for each violation.

Heavy fines were levied on any

Asked for Money Owed Him Eight Days After Marriage

Los Angeles, June 21 (AP)—Adolph Eckstrom testified under cross-examination yesterday that eight days after their marriage, he asked Marion Talley—to pay money she owed him for singing lessons.

The opera singer's lawyer, Isaac Pacht, displaying a photostated cheque Miss Talley had given Eckstrom, asked:

"And at that time you had great love and affection for your wife?"

"She had money," Eckstrom replied....Eckstrom, "and I needed money, so I asked for it."

Before Cross-examination began Eckstrom described their six-year-old daughter, Susan, told him repeatedly that she always wanted to be with him, rather than her mother.

He and Miss Talley each asked custody of Susan. The opera singer also seeks a divorce, charging cruelty and estrangement. The hearing began five weeks ago.

Newspapers Express Hearty Approval of Roosevelt's Message

London, June 21 (CP)—Morning newspapers today gave smash play to President Roosevelt's Robin Moor message and editorial comment expressed hearty approval.

"Clearly the world balance is shaping rapidly under the hands of the United States," the Daily Telegraph said. "As this fateful struggle advances to its climax it is for the words of the President of the United States that the world waits most anxiously. It is in American hands and not those of the dictators that the ultimate issue lies.

"It means that 'the resources of civilization' are still in the keeping of the democracies and not of the totalitarians."

The Daily Sketch said that "even the wildest of Berlin optimists can see the illusion which created the great American nation stands today. Mr. Roosevelt's message to Congress on the sinking of the Robin Moor is in most bitter and his most biting pronouncement.

"History will probably see this solemn warning to Nazidom as the beginning of the end of the gospel of international murder, robbery and treachery."

There was no authoritative comment on Mr. Roosevelt's message.

Little Benny's Note Book

Saturday at breakfist I said to pop, pop, can I go to the movies this afternoon, ma said it would be right if you said so.

I have no present recollection of any such passed sentiments, he said. When did I say that? she said, and I said, I think it was last week.

Then I'll say it's the thing this week, in reverse, pop said, if your mother says it's okay and gives you the money out of her overflowing handbag, I won't lift a finger in protest, he said, and ma said, Children are funny sometimes, and grow modern days. When I was Benny's age I had to make beds and dust and I dont know what all to make even a single 5 cent piece, she said. That goes for me, too, pop said. I had to work for every penny, and I mean really work, he said, and I said, Well G rooseltem, pop, I mean G winchiem, ma, I didn't say I wouldn't work for it. Talk about making beds and things, ma, I tell you what I'll do, I'll go right up to your room and I'll make your bed as good a bed as ever hardly be a bump in it, and then I'll dust every single thing on your dressing table including every one of your valuable ornaments, I will.

Dont you dare touch a thing in my room without my permission now or any other time, ma said, and I said, Then how about if I arrange those boxes up in the store room with pop's old things in them that you're always telling him to arrange so you can throw out the stuff that's not worth arranging?

You'll keep your hands out of those boxes, ma said, I'm warning you good for you, I'll arrange those boxes in due time, pop said.

The result being that both said I could go to the movies as a free gift to keep me from thinking up more work.

Later the bride and groom left on a wedding trip to eastern points, the bride travelling in a tailored suit with white accessories.

Guests were present from Windsor, Toronto, Ottawa, Brockville, and Prince Edward.

BROAD—DAFOE

Madoc, Ontario—Before the altar banked with garden flowers and ferns, and high standards of orchids enhancing the decorative scheme, Trinity United Church, Madoc, was the scene of a pretty wedding yesterday at four o'clock this afternoon, when Clarice Isabel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dafoe, "The Elms" Madoc, became the bride of Lt. Alexander Broad, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Broad, 15 Porter Street, Belleville, Ont. Rev. Alfred Poulter performed the ceremony.

Wedding music was played by Mrs. Leslie Ashley and the soloist was Mrs. J. C. Bateman, Belleville, who sang "Because". The bride who was given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown of white tulle taffeta in princess lines, her long cathedral veil falling from a halo head-dress. She carried Sweetheart roses and bouvardia.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the bride's home. Mrs. Dafoe, mother of the bride, in clover-leaf white printed silk with matching straw hat and corsage of gardenias and Mrs. Broad, mother of the groom, wearing a black crepe jacket dress with jet bead trimming, black and white straw hat and gardenias, assisted in receiving the guests.

After a honor trip, for which the bride donned a beige boucle, fox-trimmed suit with cocoa brown accessories, Mr. and Mrs. Broad will reside in Belleville.

FEELING LOW? Know what will pull you up? A new hat, a new outfit, a new make-up pattern. Doctors say that half the patients who come to them have nothing the matter. Maybe you're one of them. There are few ills that a new hat won't cure. Many a woman has had her life saved by a new rouge pad and lipstick.

The time is gone when a single lipstick will fill the bill. Now many money flinger gets hers by the nail dozen, each one a different shade. Are you a doubting Thomas, believing that one should find the flattering tint and stick to it? And what about those color cards in the beauty shops which run you hay down the law? For dark hair, dark eyes, golden skin, Titian and so on. But blondes there are certain tints. The Titianeds must never use anything but copper red. Well, according to our humble opinion, rules were made to be broken.

Advice to the Lovelorn

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Went Back to Old Boy Friend

Dear Miss Fairfax:

While home for the Christmas holidays I met a girl who was also visiting in the same town. We fell in love and even planned to be married. At that time I could not afford to wed. Now she writes me that she has gone back to her old boy friend with whom she had gone "steady" before she met me. They had quarrelled and broken up before she went visiting.

I just can't understand this girl. The young man has a vile temper and has even struck her when he was angry, not once but several times. If he treats her like this before marriage, what will happen afterwards? I love her more than life itself, and feel that I'll do something desperate if I can't have her.

Jim.

In this world, my dear Dick, you have probably noticed that a certain number of flies are bent on falling into the butter and destroying themselves. Nothing can be done about it. There are women who are like those flies when it comes to planning their future lives.

Women with eyes open marry drunkards, or men who, like the one you mention, treat them cruelly, even before marriage." They marry men utterly lacking in a sense of responsibility. I cannot answer why they do these things; to me it's a lack of good judgment.

If you've appealed to this girl and persuade her to marry a man who abuses her, there's nothing you or anyone else can do about it. If she won't, then she's a girl more worthy of your devotion.

Doesn't Answer Her Letters

Dear Miss Fairfax:

Last September I met a boy who was enrolled at a college in the city where I live. I fell in love with him. He was a year or two younger than I am. He left school after the first term to work in a small town about 500 miles from here. He has written to me only twice, the last letter being received about two weeks ago. I have written him several times, asking him to answer my letters.

Would you advise me to keep on writing without receiving a reply?

Miss A. B.

When a boy doesn't answer girl's letter it means usually that he has become interested in someone else. On the other hand, girls are he may be developing some particular hobby. As you've written him several times and your letters have remained unanswered, I think it would be well to try and take an interest in something else.

Don't mope. There are as many fish in the sea as ever were caught.

In Love With Teacher

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I'm 15 years old and in third term of high school. I have fallen in love with one of the teachers who is about 30 years of age. I've never had him for my instructor, but I see him when I come to high school. He is a very good looking man. He has spoken to me only once. The next time we met, I felt very friendly and flay to get along with. Could you tell me how to strike up a conversation with him? I like him so much.

Desperate.

Better not take this interest in the gentleman too seriously. Almost every girl in high school falls for some dawning romance at that beautiful age of Sweet Sixteen. From what you have written, I can't see that the object of your affection has taken much interest in you.

Do a little mental arithmetic, my dear. When you're 30 and he's in the flush of youth, he will be 43 — seriously, I hope you don't take an interest in someone of more suitable age.

Take Instant Measures to Prevent Infection When Cuts and Bruises Occur

However careful you are to watch your children at camp this summer, they are bound to suffer falls, cuts and bruises. Although these accidents may seem small at the time, if proper attention isn't given to these cuts and abrasions, complications may arise that make them serious.

In the summer you are usually away from your doctor; often you are away from any medical attention at all. Therefore for these injuries devolves upon the mother or father or other adult in charge. Really, for this reason it is important that those adults in charge, learn simple and adhesive tape be taken along on the holiday to take care of these emergencies.

A bruise is the least injury your child might get. Bruises are painful, if severe, and it may be a long time healing, but unless it is unusually severe, there's no need to worry about it. If it happens to be on a knee or elbow or other joint, cold compresses, should be applied to reduce swelling.

If, however, in the course of getting the bruise, the child has scraped off the skin, then the injury should be attended to immediately as the healing won't leave a scar. A few antiseptic and a dose or can often make the difference between a bad disfigurement and a perfect healing.

MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

How to Address Stepmother

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Several of my friends and I have been discussing whether or not it is proper to call a stepmother "Mother", or to call her by her first name — that is, providing she is not very much older.

In my opinion it is proper for a small children to call a stepmother "Mother" or "Mama" but I still cannot see why it is proper for a person in her twenties to do this.

My mother died when I was two, and two years later my father married again. I am a girl twenty-one and it is hard for me to call my stepmother "Mother." Mrs. Beeckman, I just can't bring myself to call another woman "Mother." Will you please tell me what I should do?

You are completely right in everything you say in your letter, and you are completely right in our opinions and preferences concerning using "Mother" to a stepmother, no matter how dear or devoted a mother she was. You are grown-up and therefore it is your right to make this decision about your use of this precious word.

I have talked over this problem of yours with your stepmother and with your father. Most adult parents of grown-up daughters and sons choose to be called by their first names. It is more appropriate to you or to her or to your father, then it might be best to adopt the useful title of "Aunt" before her first name. Very often such is an affectionate name substitution or nickname that can be met her.

Difficult Names

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My name is a difficult one to "catch" when an introduction is being made. When a person mispronounces it, I correct him, but then the mispronunciation?

On the other hand, when I don't get the name of a person being introduced, I feel I should ask the person to repeat the name?

R. R.

J. In general it is not necessary or especially tactful to correct a person when he mispronounces your name. However, on an occasion when it is necessary, make the correction graciously so that the person will not feel a pang of dirt isn't cleaned out before the new skin heals, a permanent dis-

The Stars Say

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Sunday, June 22

Sunday's influences are fairly active one to a workaday sense, but the accent is found on the social, domestic, religious or public affairs, with the emotions under strong stimuli. The tendency to social or sentimental indulgences may spur the impulse to generosity toward the bride or bridegroom.

Those whose birthday it is may be justified in expecting a lively and prosperous year, with much happening that will materialize well as private life. In fact the social, domestic or emotional affairs seem to be the Dre, although public relations should be successful and pleasant. Temptations to extravagance, however, may prompt injudicious use of funds may arise.

A child born on this day should have much efficiency, versatility and ambition and may shine in the public eye.

For Monday, June 23

Monday's astrological forecast is for a moderately active day, with social as well as business affairs fairly successful. However, there is a tendency toward a tense situation or trend, which may prove a menace unless forcefully, directly and positively handled. Beware spells of shrewd penetration and underhanded, deceitful circumstances.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a moderately lively year, with no real serious setbacks or baffling situations. These subtle conditions or influences favorable may best be handled by direct, shrewd and positive action.

A child born on this day should be talented, versatile, with business, executive and social qualities for success, and yet may have conflicts in its makeup difficult to fathom. It will be popular.

Cy McLean Directs Outstanding Seven - Piece Colored Organization

Purveyors of red hot Harlem rhythm, purveyors of sophisticated swing, Cy McLean, one of the outstanding colored organizations in the country, brings his seven-piece band to the Club Avalon halfway between Toronto and Belleville for a one week engagement commencing June 23.

The band specializes in the rough rhythmic jazz so reminiscent of the earlier colored orchestras and of which Count Basie is the foremost exponent. Also specializing in boogie woogie, this is righteous jazz. Cy McLean with his brilliant piano technique, songs and arrangements, Roy Cosker with his natural tenor sax, and Buddy Williams on the traps head this grand band. Roy also warbles the blues in typical Joe Turner style.

Eddie Stroud and his nine-piece band fill the podium at the Avalon. Eddie leaves on Monday for the famous Gaiteneau Club in Ottawa.

FASHION FLASHES

TOP OFF your black sheer with a dressy hat and you have the most informal occasion after dark.

Gently tie a white plque, a sailor bonnet in black velvet at the back, and have it trimmed with green leaves in a cluster centered front and a black veil with chenille dots.

THE COUNTRY CLUB DANCE always brings out an array of pretty frocks. Here are two versions of the same model, one with contrasted bands of white piqué in the bias chevron stitch, the other in plain with wide white piqué hemline and bolero.

OUT FOR DINNER and sure of a good time? Wear a suit of lovely dress. White silk jersey makes a lovely frock with navy sequin closing that extends around the waist. On the shoulder are cutouts of enormous flowers in purple with green leaves. Sunplies closing and cap Sleeves are banded in purple.

NEVER A FAILURE is the color combination of black with pink. A black afternoon frock has a long-sleeved blouse of pale pink silk chiffon and a black chiffon skirt that's all around with pleats stitched low.

KEEP COOL with gingham. Your little summer frock is in tiny red and white-checked gingham with embroidered red bands around the square neck, cuffs and forming an apron panel on the flared skirt.

IT'S YOUR MOVE to look nice. Made to give a lift to simple summer frocks, are the new hats be-ret of white crepe with a printed design of red, black and tan chessmen.

DR. DAFOE'S COLUMN on the Quintuplets and the Care of Your Children

Figuring Mark May be Left.

I knew a young girl whose great worry was a nasty, black scar on the back of her leg. As a child, she scraped her leg in cinders, and the wound was bound up and allowed to heal without sufficient cleaning. The result was an irregular black scar that shows up unmistakably through the sheer silk stockings women wear today.

Don't worry if the cleaning process hurts the child a little. There may be cries and squirming, but you will be wise if you make absolutely sure that the wound is clean. After cleansing, apply iodine to the part, and then cover it with a dry bandage and leave it until it is healed.

Ordinary cuts can be treated in this same way. It must be remembered to be thorough in cleaning the wound. If the cut is deep, then a doctor should be consulted. The reason for this is that cuts often penetrate deeply and may contact with the ground and there is danger of lockjaw. As I have said, cleansing and the application of iodine is effective, but it is difficult for anyone but a doctor to cleanse a deep cut properly.

Another reason for calling a doctor is that in the case of a deep cut, he will be able to fix it up so the healing won't leave a scar. A few stitches by a doctor can often make the difference between a bad disfigurement and a perfect healing.

DELIGHT DIXON SAYS...

A MINIATURE dressing table, complete with ruffled embroidered skirt and make-believe mirror, holds regular-sized bottles of polish and polish remover, a lip brush for making a smooth application of rouge, a roll of cotton, two emery boards and an orangewood stick. Can be kept on your own dressing table.

Nice hands belong to the woman who scrubs them thoroughly, then uses a good lotion over them. A favorite lotion contains a goodly amount of almond which serves as a splendid soothing agent and base for other healing ingredients.

Shampooing the eyebrows is an important good grooming measure. Moisten these eye-framing hairs, rub in a lather and then rinse out all sopp.

You can guard your skin against the drying action of sun and wind and the "cutting" action of dirt with an excellent make-up foundation lotion. A film of this mist-thin lotion, spread over the face and throat and excess wiped off, leaves an invisible veil that gives the illusion of perfection.

A new cologne created for warm weather use has a predominating fragrance of lilac, but its elusiveness makes anyone within smelling distance feel that this fragrance is only a portion of a many-flowered bouquet.

BEAUTY IN Focus

THE next snapshot you have taken might very well be the most important picture of your life. Certainly the odds will be in your favor if you use the new make-up designed for all black and white photography.

A complete make-up box, miniature but as well equipped as any Hollywood set, contains seven sticks of make-up base in a wide range of colors, a large stick of rouge, three boxes of powder, a puff, brow pencil and a brush for putting on lipsrouge. A most thorough book of instructions for using make-up on all types of faces is in the box. These instructions, together with these aids, take all the guesswork out of putting on the right make-up when the lens is focused on you.

Too prominent features are thrown into shadow when a dark base is used on them. But a receding chin, thin cheeks or sunken eyes are made to give the illusion of perfection when a light shade of base is used.

A dark shadow is used for minimizing a prominent feature. A lighter base is used for bringing under-balanced features in focus.

But let's begin at the beginning. Let's go through the steps of a professional make-up for facing the camera. First, the skin must be thoroughly cleansed with whatever method is best suited to it. Shade No. 2 is used if you are a blonde lady. However, for giving any brunette male a photogenic skin, shade No. 5 is used. The remaining shades of bases are used on varying degrees of complexions, as the needs require. The base is smoothed over the face and throat. It should not be rubbed into the skin but blended lightly over it so it will remain on the surface.

The trickiest step of this make-up comes next.-If shading or highlighting is necessary to minimize or eliminate some imperfection of feature-balancing, either a lighter or a darker shade of base is used. An application of No. 6 base, for instance, smoothed over the outer portions of the eyelids, gives close-set eyes better space and makes them appear farther apart. A nose which is too wide or too long is given the illusion of better proportion if No. 5 or No. 6 shadow is used wherever the feature shows off-balance.

By the subtle use of a shadow, either lighter or darker than the over-all base, features can be brought into balance and made photogenic. A prominent feature is covered with a dark shadow, while a receding chin, sunken temples or thin cheeks can be brought into correct focus if a light base is used.

The next step is equally as important as the shading. Before putting on powder it is of the utmost importance that you look over the basic make-up. Be sure that the shading, either light or dark, is blended well into the over-all base and that no sharp outlines or edges of demarcation are visible. This is important and must not be treated lightly or the resultant picture will be a disappointment.

To give the skin the illusion of freshness and no make-up at all, do not use powder. Because of the slight greasiness of the base, it will catch and hold the light and give the skin a radiantly youthful glow without the use of powder.

But to give the skin a dull, mat finish, choose the desired shade of powder and pat it heavily into the face and throat. Do not rub the puff over the foundation, but pat it firmly so that the powder blends into the base. Excess powder is removed with a clean puff and, in doing this, be careful not to rub too hard or the make-up will streak. Make sure that there are no deposits of powder at the corners of the lips or eyes.

The next step is the application of lipsrouge. Take up the brush which is in the make-up box, rub it over No. 7, which is the rouge, and apply the color sparingly. Follow the natural lines of the lips if they are normal, or build them up or minimize their outline if the lips are either too thin, small or too full and wide. Small, full lips will be more photogenic if the full lips are covered and the color extended out at their corners.

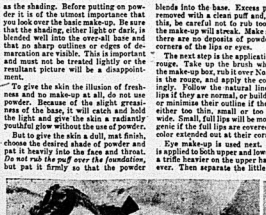
Eye make-up is used next. Mascara is applied to both upper and lower lashes, a trifle heavier on the upper hairs, however. Then separate the little hairs so that the eyes seem delicately framed instead of having the appearance of a dark, heavy outline.

After the lash darkener has dried, all powder should be brushed from the brows and the brow pencil used. Usually the pencil lines should follow the natural brows although it may be necessary to alter the entire brow line in order to give the illusion of width through the temples or to minimize a forehead which is too broad. The clever use of a brow pencil, together with the right application of base and shading, will give the upper-facial region perfect proportion. The lipsrouge, used correctly, does the same trick for the lower-facial region.

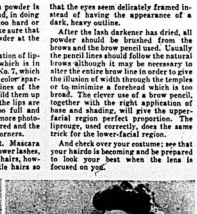
And check over your costume; see that your hairdo is becoming and be prepared to look your best when the lens is focused on you.

The over-all make-up base must be shaded and blended over the skin to make it photogenic.

THE Beauty Bazaar by DELIGHT DIXON



Use powder if you like, or let the base give your skin a radiant glow, then use eye make-up as described on this page.



Use lipsrouge sparingly. A special brush makes a flattering application to the lips.

WHAT ARE YOUR PROBLEMS?

I'M a little over four feet tall and am 15 years old. I buy good clothes but somehow they don't seem to look right on me. I would like your advice. A READER.

You say you are short but you failed to mention the proportions of your body. If your figure is in good proportion you can wear all plain clothes, those with panels down the front or back, and not too-full skirts. Avoid large balloon sleeves, peplums, colorful belts and anything that cuts your figure and tends to make you appear shorter.

● Do you think there is any chance of overcoming knock-knees? If so, please let me know how. I am 21 years old. VONNIE MARIE.

Send a three-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope for my leaflets for overcoming knock-knees. These exercises have proved extremely beneficial.

● I would like your opinion on good make-up foundation. I have been using a lotion, but it makes my skin itch and feel sticky. I have never used any other base and I'm not at all satisfied with my own experience. My skin is medium dry. DOROTHEA K.

I'm sure you will find a foundation suited to your type of skin. There are dozens of splendid products. I suggest that you try a creamy powder foundation. The cream content will give your skin the appearance of smoothness and also hold your make-up intact for hours.

● What can be done for hair which has been overbleached? My hair is in a terrible mess; too many applications of a too strong bleach left me too long have made my hair streaked and weak. Shall I have my hair dyed? If so, how can I bleach my hair later? ETHEL O'M.

I think the solution to your problem is to have your hair dyed about two shades lighter than its natural color. Then, as the hair grows out, it will be a simple matter for you to bleach the new growth close to the scalp. But take my tip and take the guesswork out of your bleaching method. Find the best bleach for your hair and know how long it should remain on.

Joe Dimaggio Has Hit Safely In 33 Straight Contests and May Reach G. Sisler's Record

Needs Only Eight More Games to Tie Record Made in 1922

YANKS GAIN GROUND

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

If New York Yankees never had had their super-teams of superstars—Ruth, Gehrig, Gomez, Lazzeri and the rest—this year's club might be called great.

The Yankees are in second place to be sure, but they have beaten the pace-setting Cleveland Indians seven times in ten games and did not really get rolling until recently.

They have won ten of their last twelve games and looked impressive in doing it. In sixteen consecutive games they have walloped 27 home runs.

Joe Dimaggio has hit safely in 33 straight contests, matching the great streak of Rogers Hornsby in 1922 in the National League, and just eight short of the mark George Sisler set that same season for the American League. Charley (King Kong) Keller has hit a home run in each of the past four games and tops the league in batting in runs batted in.

This was the sort of slugging the Yankees threw at Detroit Tigers yesterday in the 14-4 victory. They amassed 17 hits for 29 bases. Dimaggio collected four hits.

Cleveland was shocked out by the lowly Washington Senators in a loose game that included thirty hits and three errors.

Heath Made Three Hits.

Jeff Heath made four hits for the second straight day and the Indians rallied for three runs in the seventh inning to tie the score, but the Senators pushed across the winning run in their half when George Archie singled, stole second, and raced home on a single.

Boston Red Sox managed to beat St. Louis Browns 4-3 in the only other American League game.

Brooklyn Dodgers improved their position in the National League by clipping Cincinnati Reds 6-5 behind the three-hit pitching of Hugh Casey. Dolph Camilli hit his fifteenth home run in nine on.

New York Giants scored five runs in the eighth inning of a game with St. Louis to beat the Cardinals 6-3 and cut their first-place margin to two games.

Cubs Skipjest Braves.

Lefty Larry French pitched four-hit ball to bring Chicago Cubs a 5-0 shutout over Boston Braves. He fanned seven and hit a single with the bases loaded in the second. Lou Dahlgren and Phil Cavaretta hit homers.

Philadelphia Phillies, who lost a big lead and their ball game to the Cardinals Thursday, pressed on the same trick against Pittsburg Pirates yesterday. A three-run homer by Nick Etten in the seventh gave the Phils a 6-2 lead. But the Pirates scored four runs in their half of the seventh and won 7-6 in the 9th when Frenchy Gustine singled with the bases loaded.

TENNIS STAR DIES

Edgwater, England, June 21 (CP) —Mrs. L. N. C. Hotchkiss, formerly Peggy Saunders, International tennis player, died unexpectedly last night, it was learned today.

Twice co-holder of the British women's championship, jointly with Mrs. Holcroft-Watson, she was a member of the British Wightman Cup team from 1928 to 1932.

An illness from which she had suffered for some time caused death in a hospital. Her husband also was a regular competitor at Wimbledon.

Plans are under way to increase Manchuria's beet sugar acreage by seven per cent. this year and to yield from ten to 15 per cent.

Joe Kuhel (3) of the Chicago White Sox slides safely into second base on an eighth inning steal in New York. Joe Gordon, Yankee second baseman, leaps high in a vain try to spear Buddy Rosar's throw in time. In background is Shortstop Phil Rizzuto. The White Sox won 3-2.

On Monday night at our Jitney, Bill Dougherty, bowling for the second time, scored 39 shots and came in with a win 21 to 3. Stay with it Bill.

Ray Grant is another boy making good. Stick around Ray, there are a lot of us up in years.

We have an invitation from Madoc to send four mixed rinks for a Jitney on Tuesday evening, June 24th. Any member who would like to go, see Cliff, our chairman, 6 games, and he will fix you up.

Next Wednesday we plan to start a series of games to give everyone a chance for three good games, two in the afternoon and one at night. Keep the date open. The club must have your support.

Abe took a team to Madoc on Wednesday and was just nosed out for a two high with. The team was composed of Mrs. Argue and Mr. and Mrs. Womacott.

VIKINGS SCORE 21-10 VICTORY OVER CORBINS

Rita Rabbi Allows But Ten Hits While Her Team-Mates Pound Ball Hard

SNAPPY FIELDING

Paced by the 10-hit hurling effort of Rita Rabbi, and by the offensive clouting of the two Adams sisters, Shirley and Ethel, the Vikings girls' softball nine more than doubled the score over Corbins at the Armouries lawn last evening and won by a decisive 21-10 score.

For five of the nine innings Rita held the opposition hitless as well as keeping them off the score sheet, while her team mates showed up many for the offerings of P. Haslip on the mount for Corbins, and clouted out a total of 23 safeties, including one home run and seven doubles to take a commanding lead during the early innings. Rita struck out eight fresh batters—quite a feat in girls' softball game—limited the opposition to ten safeties and walked only two. The first of Ch. Burhand was kicked plenty by the Vikings' fielders while she struck out two and walked three.

Both teams were guilty of many costly errors but were instrumental in mounting the score, but several times they came through and held off threatening rallies. M. Chambers supplied the feature catch as she raced far in behind the players' bench to pull down a fly off Ch. Burhand bat in the sixth inning for the final out, while N. Maker took M. McCrimmon's fly out at second in the third inning.

The Misses Summers S. Adams had a field day at the plate, connecting for the safeties for every official trips to the plate, getting three doubles and a trio of singles. E. Adams was the only Corbins player to get four safeties with M. Tummon connecting for a double and a round tripper. P. Haslip, for Corbins was the only batter to score any extra base with Rita Rabbit's pitching connecting for three safeties including a home run blow.

Vikings—B. Cook lf, M. Chambers cf, S. Adams 2b, E. Adams 3b, R. Rabbi, M. Scriven rf, P. Haslip p, E. Hall 1b, M. Tummon ss, Rita If, H. Zbrodoff 3b, M. McKenna ss.

DODGER CATCHER IN "DOGHOUSE"

Gaining he was sick, Catcher Babe Phelps of the Brooklyn Dodgers refused to accompany his team to St. Louis. A brace of physicians summoned by Dodger officials said Phelps was okay. So Phelps now stands suspended and has been fined $200. He is shown in New York as he packed to leave for his Maryland home.

MONTREAL FADES FROM CONTENTION IN INT. LEAGUE

Lose Fifth Game in Six Starts and Now in Fourth Place

(By the Associated Press)

If things keep up the way they're going for Montreal Royals, Larry MacPhail better not show his face north of the border for a long time to come.

MacPhail, President of the parent Brooklyn Dodgers, stocked the Royals with all former Major Leaguers and near-Major Leaguers he could spare. It looked as if it might work for a while when Montreal was battling Newark's Bears for the International Baseball League lead, but the wires must have become crossed somewhere along the line for the club is in fourth place today and facing Last night they lost their fifth game in six starts, 8-5, to the Bears. The defeat eased them from third place, which was taken over by Buffalo Bisons, who made it three in a row over Jersey City by a 3-2 score.

Close to Fifth Spot

The Royals are perilously close to fifth place occupied by the fast-shaping Syracuse Chiefs, who won their ninth straight game last night 3-2 at the expense of the last-place Toronto Leafs. A game and a half separates Montreal and Syracuse.

Newark pounded five Montreal pitchers for 11 hits to even the series at one all, while Allen Gettel and Hank Borowy held the Royals to six. Gettel received credit for the win.

Earl Cook and Bob Boken divided the honors at Buffalo in the defeat of the Little Giants. Cook turned in a three-hitter in the fourth victory, while Boken contributed a single, double and triple and drove in three runs.

Bill Nagel's ninth-inning home run with one on base kept alive Syracuse's amazing winning streak and give Sam Burkhart a mound decision over Porter Vaughan at Toronto.

The second-place Rochester Red Wings lost ground, dropping an 8-5 overtime verdict to Baltimore Orioles.

COUNTRY BOY IN THE BRONX

A country boy at heart was this dian mound ace. The play, or maybe baseball fan in Yankee Stadium, it was the weather, was no bar to watching baseball his shoes and beating Bobby Feller, Cleveland In- cooled his feet in this fashion.

CAN CONN CONQUER CUPID?

Heavyweight challenger Billy Conn, pictured in the surf at Ocean City, N.J., with Mary Lou Smith, had troubles before he met Joe Louis. Mary's dad, Jimmy Smith, former baseball player, said he'd "punch the ears" of Conn for planning to elope with her.

CORBYS SCORE FOUR IN 9TH TO BEAT RELIANCE

Cy Barriage's Big Bat Instrumental in Keeping Teams' Undefeated Record

SCORE IS 8-4

Having to score four runs in the ninth inning, the Corby A.C. kept their undefeated record unblemished in the City Softball League by downing the Reliance 8 to 4 at Centennial Park last evening. The game developed into a pitchers' battle between Johnnie Rawden on the Corby mound, and Ray Smith hurling for the Reliance, but it was the heavy clubbing of Cy Barriage that saved the day for the league-leaders.

Barriage (you can't get me out) singled to the bat and left a home run in the fifth an a timely, double with one on in the seventh to score what then proved to be added two singles one of which counted in the Corby's ninth inning rally, that gave them victory.

The clubs batted at even terms with Reliance scoring in the initial frame on St. Denis and Bonne's hits. Elmer and Mauldin coupled singles to even the score in the second for each team and Corby's saved until the top half of the ninth when Rawden found himself safe on an error, Barriage collected his fourth hit and Rixen followed with a single. Stot was then sent to first on a fielder's choice and Rixen scored when Dorsey's ninth inning fly, that gave them victory.

The clubs batted at even terms with Reliance scoring in the initial frame on St. Denis and Bonne's hits. Elmer and Mauldin coupled singles to even the score in the second for each team and Corby's saved until the top half of the ninth when Dorsey

Orphans Romp To 21 to 9 Win Over C. N. 'Railsaw'

Scoring seven runs in the initial frame the Orphans romped home to a 21 to 9 win over the C.N.R. Railsaw in the opening game of the City Industrial Softball League, played at the Collegiate campus on Friday night.

The Orphans pounced on the deserted Railsaw offering, Hallsworth' moundsman, early and scored runs in every frame except the second. The losers did not enter into the scoring sheet until the fifth when their rally came too late.

Ted Fodwell laboured strongly on the hillock for the winners and that was given fine support by his team mates. Semmi Wilkes and Hickey accounted for much of the Railsaw's hitting while the team's losing batting power was equally divided.

The line-ups:

C.N. Railsaw—Finnegan and Tuttle, c; Day, p.; Miller and Murray, 3b.; Young, s.s.; Tufts, 2b.; Martin, 1b.; Hughes and Unity, l.f.; Wilkes, c.f. and McDaid, r.f.

Orphans—Samuels, 2b.; Monteith, c.f.; Wilkes, ss.; H. Fox, c.; T. Fodwell, p.; Page, 3b.; Baldwin and F. Fodwell, 1b.; Fitzgibbon, l.f. and Ridley, r.f.

Score by innings: runs
Railsaw .....0 0 0 0 4 2 3 0— 9

"ZIEGFELD GIRL"

Reviving the golden age of musicals, "Ziegfeld Girl" is acclaimed as topping the imposing list of lavish productions scheduled for 1941—also as being Hollywood's most elaborate spectacle since "The Great Ziegfeld". Opening today at the Belle Theatre for an engagement of four days, the picture combines an all-star cast, spectacular production numbers and magnificent sets, and brings together a galaxy of the most beautiful girls in America.

A strong dramatic story, written by William Anthony McGuire, long a friend of Florenz Ziegfeld and associated with him in many of his productions, is interwoven with the trio of scintillating production numbers. "You Stepped Out of a Dream", "Minnie From Trinidad" and "We Must Be Making Music". The finish unexcelled highlights for the film, produced by Pandro S. Berman, with Robert Z. Leonard, responsible for the success of the first Ziegfeld saga, "The Great Ziegfeld", again directed.

James Stewart plays Gilbert Young, her truck-driver sweetheart, who loses faith in her after the show and fascination of wealthy Geoffrey Colby, played by Jon Hall. Tony Martin, as the singing star of the Follies becomes infatuated with the girl who remains loyal to her husband, Frank (Phillip Don), and who gives up her career as a Follies' beauty for his love.

Jackie Cooper, Canada's young brother; Edward Everett Horton, as Noble Sage, Ziegfeld's press agent; Hedy Wimmington Lamarr, Mischa Auer, Paul Kelly, Eve Arden, Don Dailey Jr., Fay Holden, Felix Bressart and Charles Halton complete the star-studded cast.

Concludes by Adrian, delving into the realm of fantasy, are the most imaginative, elaborate and breath-taking ever to reach the screen. One set by Adrian Lamarr uses 600 yards of tulle, 60,000 rhinestones, and hundreds of thousands sequins and spangles, not to mention clusters of costume pearls.

George Stoll is responsible for the musical direction of the extravaganza, with Martin Herb Brown, Gus Kahn, Roger Edens and others contributing the musical numbers.

"Ziegfeld Girl" is the latest new event to precede the feature attraction.

AT THE McCARTHY

"THE HUMAN MONSTER"

Every moment a theatre patrons who can stand to be bailed out in terror.

The most amazing horror film in screen history, "The Human Monster" opens today at the McCarthy Theatre.

The opening scene, for example, shows a half dozen bodies floating in the Thames River. Then, after that, all is peaceful and serene, but only for a few moments. Then "Jake", half human, half beast, and a whole-knows-what, makes his entrance, literally. Actually, he is a series of blood curdling moments, each more terrifying than the last.

"The Human Monster" is based on Edgar Wallace's gripping novel, "Dark Eyes of London". Bela Lugosi's name alone would be enough to recommend the feature. But add to the presence of Bela Lugosi, world's most accomplished actor in roles that makes "Dracula" look like a stay, and you have a rough idea of what you're in for when you take care.

Lugosi a seen as Dr. Orloff, bloodmad scientist, in his hate for gold and power, traps his unsuspecting victims by means of his insurance racket. After obtaining large policies for his clients, Orloff has them face the fate of his knife-like fingers, with himself the beneficiary. He then proceeds to lure the insurers to the Dearborn Home for the Blind, where they meet horrible deaths at the hands of the way of a new type "House of Horror". Here a number of blind men are made the hapless dupes of Orloff's crimes. Wallace Ford, Hillary Brooke and Edmon Ryan are excellent in leading roles.

"It's a Wonderful World."

Claudette Colbert and Jimmy Stewart in the whirlwind comedy screen, "It's a Wonderful World", also the latest news of the world in pictures, will be presented at the McCarthy the first three days of next week in the feature "The Human Monster". The "glambake" piece given out by the studio will be useful measuring cup, one of the major pieces in the set.

Love's old sweet song is a peppy tune when Judy Garland and Jackie Cooper play it in "Ziegfeld Girl," opulent musical spectacle, now at the Belle Theatre, featuring James Stewart, Hedy Lamarr, Tony Martin and Lana Turner.

Honeymoon Gold

by PEGGY DERN

CHAPTER TWENTY TWO

On the third evening of the multiple honeymoons, Tom and Betsy entertained their guests at dinner. It was a festive occasion.

"All brides like a chance to dress up," Betsy had assured Tom. "And that means the bridegrooms will have to follow suit."

So, in the lovely tropic dusk, the Hacienda glowed with soft light. There were laughing voices and the sound of music, the guitars turned on softly so that it would not disturb the pleasant talk, yet loud enough so that if any new game through, they would not miss it.

Betsy felt she had done herself proud. The Hacienda was gay with flowers brought over from the mainland by the boatman who delivered the daily mail and supplies. The table shone with silver and crystal and beautifully patterned china. And Tom, at the other end of the table, was quite as good looking and as well groomed as any man there —even Simpson, whom Betsy privately had decided was a man of mystery, just as was his beautiful wife.

While the others talked lightly, Betsy had what she called a "breathing spell," and her eyes clung curiously to the girl who said she was Coralie Simpson. Tonight Coralie was superb. She was wearing what Betsy knew the shops called "dinner pajamas" of heavy white crepe, the trousers very wide and pleated from a snugly fitting belt that tied nonchalantly at one side; the shirt had wide, loose sleeves and a gay little sailor collar. It was obviously an expensive outfit, and it was just as obviously the sort of garment a girl who worked in an overall factory would not be able to afford.

"Coralie" looked up as though she felt Betsy's eyes upon her, and for a moment the two girls studied each other almost with a hint of hostility in their eyes; the measuring, sharp glance of two people, women, who are not at all certain that they are going to like each other. Then "Coralie" smiled, an eager, almost pleading little smile, and said warmly, "What an amazing person you are, Mrs. Forman. This delicious dinner so beautifully served—and without a maid."

Betsy felt her faint hostility melting.

"When you've never had a maid, you get used to doing things for yourself," she answered gratefully. "And besides, I've always loved cooking and housekeeping. When I was about seven, I decided that about the only thing in the world worth having was a home of my own—even though it was only a piano box! You see, my family was the moving kind. I once counted up, and from the time I could begin to remember up to the time I was 11, we'd moved 27 times!"

The others laughed a little, though "Coralie" said, "I can understand that. I was practically brought up in a hotel myself." — She caught herself quickly and added casually — "and furnished rooms."

Lucy Littlefield smiled. "And I was born and brought up in the house where my great grandfather was born," she said lightly. "My great-great grandfather built the house for his bride—and the rest of us have just gone on living there."

"I think that must be lovely," said June Heath eagerly. "I'm like Mrs. Simpson. I've lived all my life in apartments and furnished rooms—much to the disgust of the neighbors. I'm afraid, sometimes when my six hours a day of practicing the violin must have bored the poor creatures terribly."

"Oh," said "Coralie" suddenly, her eyes bright, "how I know you. You're June Jacobi. I've heard you play, my dear. You were simply marvelous! I've never heard anything so lovely."

Donald Heath snapped his fingers suddenly and sat erect with such a movement that the others turned to him questioningly. He was staring at "Coralie" with a sharp intentness, and she looked back at him, startled. There was a breathless moment, and then her slim, lovely body seemed to droop a little.

June said anxiously, "What is it dear?"

And Donald, his eyes still meeting "Coralie's" shook his head and said, "Nothing, darling. I just remembered something. It's of no importance whatever."

Tom realized that "Coralie" was trembling, and made some light remark that drew attention away from her. The conversational ball began to roll once more, and the rest of the dinner passed smoothly.

When they had gone into the living room, Betsy said eagerly, "I'm sorry you didn't bring your violin, Mrs. Heath. We'd have loved hearing you play. Or am I committing a social error in suggesting that a great artist would condescend to play privately for a handful of people?"

"I'd like to play for you," said June promptly "I shall never again play publicly—that is, professionally, I mean."

"Oh, you're not going to give up your career!" protested "Coralie". "You have such a great gift. It seems almost wicked—"

"I've given 18 years of my life to my violin," said June with a sort of restrained passion. "And now I want to live like a human being; to know love and happiness and peace and content. I want children and a home and my husband—"

She looked up at Donald, slid her hand in his and said, "I want just what I've got. See how lucky I am?"

"Of course. I'm sorry, I was very stupid," said "Coralie" swiftly, "I understand perfectly, of course."

Donald's hand closed hard about June's and he said gently, "I'll get your fiddle for you, darling. I know they'd all love hearing you play—so would I."

He went out and June's eyes followed him, a look in their lovely depths that made the others feel a little guilty for having seen it. Tory was beside Bill and, as she saw that look, she slid her hand in Bill's, drew close to him and lifted her eyes to his. "Careful, baby," she said under his breath, "if you don't want to be kissed in public."

"Who cares?" said Terry huskily, "I bet everybody would understand."

A war bulletin came over the radio and instantly they were all tense, listening, silent.

Donald, coming swiftly back along the path from the cottage to the Hacienda, saw something move suddenly beyond the reach of the light that spilled out through the open windows of the living room. Instantly he stopped, frozen in his tracks, waiting, watching.

It was a still night, still save for the ceaseless pounding of the surf on the beach, a sound to which Donald had already become so accustomed that he was unconscious of it. The patio colored light flooded the side of the patio, and beyond it was the deep shadow; a moment of straining his eyes across that oblong of light and he saw that the shadow was that of a man. He could see nothing beyond that; just a dark bulk looming up against the shadowy jungle beyond, the dim blur of his face turned toward the lighted windows as he peered in at the room.

Top-Grade Eggs Slightly Easier

Toronto, June 21—Prices of top-grade eggs eased slightly in Friday's trading on the Toronto farm produce market and a slightly easier undertone was evident. The butter market held steady, with a slightly firmer undertone caused by the good demand steadily clearing all offerings.

Though there has been a strong tone to the egg market during the current week, the Friday increase of receipts, which have approximated a million and a half, prevented good demand, buyers assumed a cautious attitude and the premium prices of grades A-large, A-medium and A-pullets eased off ¼ cent a dozen. Most of the receipts were responsible for the strength shown on the egg market this week were the falling off in production, cold-storage people diverting their supplies to storage in order to fill fall export contracts and the Canadian consumers' demand.

There has been a slumber tone to the poultry market this week. Broilers have been plentiful but have met a good demand and any surplus has been packed for storage. Arrivals, however, during the whole volume is lighter, have been sufficient to meet the demand. Light shipments of fowl and broilers have gone forward to Montreal and Montreal. Receipts of fresh dressed spring chickens weighing 2½ pounds have been sufficient to meet the consumers' demand.

UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE TO START JULY 1ST

2,000,000 Workers Will Come Under Plan Says Ottawa Official

BRIEF OUTLINE

By JAMES McCOOK
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Ottawa, June 21 (CP). — Unemployment insurance—by the words of government officials it is "an ordered first line of defence against the evils of unemployment"—goes into effect in Canada on July 1.

More than 2,000,000 workers or 80 per cent. of the Dominion's wage-earners will come under the plan, and unemployment insurance commission officials said today this means production for the needs of people including workers and their dependents.

In addition to provision for payment of benefits to those who lose employment, the Unemployment Insurance Act made possible the "creation of the Unemployment Insurance Service which will help employers to find workers and assist workers to find jobs.

Circulars Issued

First step in starting operation of the plan was the issuance a few weeks ago to employers covering registration card to Canadian employers. The circulars set forth the outline of the purpose of the plan and required the employer to register and declare the number of insurance books required for his employees.

Officials said that latest figures, as of May 31, show that 1,600,000 have had registered, applying for books for 1,372,333 employees, male and female.

The combined contributions of employer and employee will be shown 80 per cent. of the whole. The Dominion Government will pay the remaining 20 per cent. and bears the cost of administration.

Rates Set

Contributions and benefits are made on a graded and basis with a direct relation to a workers' earning rate. The rate is 2 per cent. of the earning the greater the amount he can afford to contribute, and if he becomes unemployed the greater the benefits are in proportion to his contributions.

To bring an equitable balance, the employee receiving a low wage pays less than his employer as the latter contribution to the fund. The worker receiving from $17.40 to $20 a week makes a contribution of 12 cents and the employer 8 cents.

At the other end of the scale, the worker receiving from $26 to $28 a week, or from $2,000 a year, pays 26 cents a week and the employer 17 cents.

A single man receiving from $5.40 to $7.40 a week when he becomes unemployed and has made necessary 30 weekly payments to the insurance fund over a two-year period, will receive $4.08 a week and if he has one or more dependents $5.40.

The employee who receives from $20 to $23.60 a week will collect $12.24 a week in benefits if single and $14.40 a week if he has dependents.

Deducted From Wages

The employer in the first instance pays both employer-employee contributions and deducts the worker's contribution from his wages.

A person who has contributed for five years and then finds he is earning more than $2,000 in a year and wishes to continue insurance, may have the full amount of both contributions credited from his war.

When the worker makes application for benefits he must prove he is unemployed, that he is capable and available for work and is willing to attend any course of training or retraining approved by the Unemployment Insurance Commission which may assist him in getting a job in another line.

The duration of an insured person's benefits will be fixed to the number of his contributions. He may receive benefits for one-fifth the number of days he has made contributions during the preceding five years. He may receive benefits for more days on which he has drawn benefits during the preceding three years.

Full Reparations Demand Expected In Ship's Sinking

Washington, June 21 (AP) — A strong note demanding that Germany make full reparations for the sinking of the City of Flint by German merchantman Robin Moor was expected today to be dispatched to Berlin following President Roosevelt's message to Congress formally declaring "the act of an international outlaw."

It was considered a foregone conclusion that official representations would include a strong warning against any further molestation of American shipping.

Speculation here centred on possible steps the United States might take to police the waters sailed by American ships, from a show of force to convoy duty.

The combined contributions of employer and employee will be shown 80 per cent. of the whole. The Dominion Government will pay the remaining 20 per cent. and bears the cost of administration.

BRIG. L. F. PAGE NAMED HEAD OF FOURTH DIVISION

Commanded the Canadian Troops in Iceland and Then Went to England

OTHER APPOINTMENTS

Ottawa, June 21 (CP)—Brigadier Lionel F. Page, C.B.E., has been appointed General Officer Commanding-in-Chief Canadian Pacific with the rank of Major-General, the Department of National Defence announced today.

General Page commanded the Canadian troops in Iceland last year and then went on to England where he was in command of Canadian base units. His home is at Rothesay, N.B.

The department also announced the appointment of Col. W. G. Hyde, D.S.O., as Commandant of the Royal Canadian Artillery in the 4th Division and of Col. M. M. B. Pentelow of Ottawa to succeed Brigadier Hyde as commandant at Petawawa Camp. He also gets the rank of Brigadier. No successor to Brig. Pentelow as director of the R.C.A. at National Defence headquarters has yet been announced.

Mobilized Now

Ordered to mobilize more than a year ago the units of the 4th Canadian Division are scattered across Canada, from the Maritimes to the west coast.

Recently most of the artillery and technical units originally assigned to the division were transferred to the 1st armored division, which is being shipped into shape at Camp Borden. A considerable number of the 3,000 men now being sought in the recruiting campaign are wanted to bring the division up to strength by filling up new units mobilized with the infantry now in active camp transferred from the 4th to the armored division.

Appointment of a general officer commanding and an artillery commander marks a step in the growth of the division under a central command, possibly with a view to the concentration of the whole division in one point for the first time since after the 3rd Division which is already fully organized moves overseas.

NOVA' SIGNS FOR BOUT

Fred Nova, Belleville boxer, Lou Nova, California collegian, today signed articles to take part in Jacobs to meet Champion Joe Louis in the heavyweight boxing title in September.

The site and date will be announced later. Nova, who selected Nova from a long list of challengers, including Tommy Farr, pointed out that Lou was the only one of the group that had not had a shot at the title.

POLICE BLOTTER

Attempts to enter the Foy and Irwin bottling plant on Pinnacle street, were reported to the police by proprietor, Bruce Bottum, early today. The attempts were made during the year window had been broken in the premises but entrance to the police office has been thwarted as the would-be burglars failed to open a heavy steel door. There was no evidence of similar attempts to enter the premises by the same party earlier in the week.

Lady Bicycle Accident: Reid reported the theft of his bicycle, which was stolen from its parking place on the corner of Bridge and Dundas streets, on Friday night.

Police Court: Toronto lads were apprehended loitering behind a service station on the Kingston road by Provincial Police Constable Reid of Front Street by Belleville police during the early hours of Saturday morning. The quartette was held in custody until this morning when they appeared in police court and on both incidents persons who were charged in the first instance were fined $10 and costs. The boys, who were responsible, but no charges were preferred against the parties responsible were warned to refrain from such disturbances and to go home without further incident.

SHORT CIRCUIT CAUSE OF BLAZE

When a short circuit occured in the electric wiring of a light fixture hanging in the kitchen at the home of Mrs. C. C. Rushnell, 23 Coleman Street, Belleville, and ignited to that address on Friday afternoon, Belleville firemen had a busy place which ensued. Smoke from the destructive fire filled the house and slight smoke damage to the furniture in the dwelling, no appreciable damage resulted.

3 Torontonians Share In Large Estate

St. Louis, June 21—(CP)—Three Torontonians today were awarded an estimated $40,000 apiece as their shares of the $2,000,000 estate of the late Hadwin Hyde (Jr.), who left direct descendants of Robert Campbell, fur trapper. Indian trader and merchant in the frontier days.

The Torontonians are James Herbert Hamilton and Annie and Virginia Hamilton.

There were 161 claimants to the fortune which a Circuit Court Judge divided in $45,000 parcels among 12 persons and half-shares of $22,500 to two others.

Direct Hits Made At Bengasi By RAF

Cairo, June 21—(AP) — Direct hits demolished waterfront buildings in the Libyan port of Bengasi, chief supply base for the Axis armies in the desert, it was announced Wednesay night, the British Air Command announced yesterday.

The undisclosed number of Axis motor transport vehicles also were destroyed by machine-gun fire from Royal Air force planes in offensive patrols on the western desert yesterday.

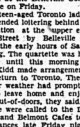
The communique reported the safe return of two pilots of a South African Air Force squadron who failed to return from Bengasi, are credited first with having bagged four Axis planes.

Hepburn Welcomes Editors From U. S.

Toronto, June 21—(CP) — Premier Mitchell Hepburn of Ontario, welcoming a group of United States and the British Empire must work together, in his welcome address to the Canadian Press Association today.

Mr. Hepburn warned the visitors from Indianapolis, Illinois, Kentucky, Michigan, Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York and New Jersey that the plight of French workmen who had refused to produce sufficient tools for France to defend herself, and the pro-war slaves to Nazi domination under which they were groaning, are sure times the material they produce before the invasion.

A DIRECT HIT



The harbor of Tyboron, Denmark, was the locale and a luckless Nazi supply ship was the subject for a spectacularly successful experiment with the new U.S. bomb sight, pictured here. The bomb made a bomb from the plane from which the picture was made, exploded squarely on the stern of the Nazi ship. The bomb was released from 8,000 feet.

British Position In the Atlantic Appears Brighter

(By KIRKE L. SIMPSON.)

Washington, June 21 (AP)—Great Britain's shipping losses totalled only 461,000 tons for May. That figure represented only half of the tonnages claimed by Berlin for the period; but it does not tell all the story.

In addition to the sinking of nearly 100 British vessels or other ships in British war service, enemy action must have put at least 100 vessels for extensive repair work.

Nevertheless, the British have given Britain ground for encouragement. Despite the fact that they were swelled by losses incident to British evacuation of Greece, they show a reduction of 130,000 tons as compared to April.

The obvious conclusion to be drawn is that in the North Atlantic British efforts to limit the Nazi submarine menace are beginning to take some effect in May. That accords with recent statements by British spokesmen, who have claimed they have new and powerful information which might be of value.

That is an unanswerable argument, particularly if the British Navy and Air Force have carried out a new formula for defence of cargo ships and convoys against the U-boat system. May, June and July are the months of greatest menace in the North Atlantic because the weather is best and the hours of visibility longest. A German victory in those three months would be all the more significant for that reason. Nothing stopping from enemy knowledge the exact means by which it was achieved would outweigh even an official decree in London to bolster British morale.

Substantially half a million tons of vitally needed merchant shipping British needs went to the bottom in May. The rate of loss from January to June 1 rises to more than 2,750,000 tons with that disclosure, fully justifying grave fears of the shipping crisis.

No Quick Victory.

Nevertheless, British tonnage losses in May and June, month by month July prospects, so far as they can be discerned, contain nice Axis hopes of victory this year by the submarine action. From now on the nights will be short, favoring allied aircraft and submarines increasingly.

The British Navy reported that in the Atlantic will have much to do with the results of the sea war. United States steps to supplement British cargo tonnage are tending to nullify the immediate effect of losses thus far; and to offer prospects of substantial 1942 replacements.

Those most recent ship loss figures are therefore like British defeats in Greece and Crete. They represent

Curb Fishing For Better Price

Gloucester, Mass (CP)—Fishermen hope have made rules to curtail catches of redfish and mackerel will bring better prices, may continue to get what they consider a reasonable price for the fish.

Fleets of 60 draggers have been ordered to stay within certain areas and limit six to eight days between trips, while mackerel seiners, 22 of them, have been ordered to limit to no more than 40,000 pounds a trip and to remain in port from 34 to 36 hours between trips.

It is the first time since the days when the National Relief Administration tried to establish a maximum catch per trip for mackerel that these fishermen, numbering 90 out of Gloucester, have curtailed catches because of prices.

When the price of mackerel went down to a cent a pound, however, fishermen realized they could not make a living, and voted to establish a maximum catch and order their boats tied up when the trip for Cape Cod canal remain in port 36 hours between trips, while boats landing at Boston and Gloucester, stay home 34 hours between trips. Moment this week the limit per trip are to 9½ sold by radio telephone. Radio calls are sent to the shore parties while on the fishing grounds and the boats have sold their trips before leaving the grounds.

Tons of Sea Food

Buyers of redfish are in even a worse plight. In the past 35 days nearly 15,000,000 pounds have been landed here, or 400,000 to a trip.

Dealers here had agreed to pay $1.85 per hundred pounds and kept to that price until last week, when it was that the price fell to a cent a pound in Boston. Local dealers found they have 1,000,000 pounds in the freezer against 300,000 pounds at this time last year.

Fishermen agreed that all boats will remain in port for eight days or over remain out of redfish for eight days between trips; those who have been out seven days, and those under 70,000 pounds for six days.

They were told that in that redfish catch only they could bring after cod, haddock or any other fish except redfish.

Rev. D. T. McClintock Bid Farewell by Tabernacle Church

The congregation of Tabernacle United Church met last night in the various societies, together with representatives of other United Church churches in the city and district met at Tabernacle Church for a farewell evening in a farewell ceremony and presentation in honor of Rev. D. T. McClintock, who has served from the active ministry but will leave Bowmanville to take up the pastoral supply in a Toronto church.

Short addresses by Mrs. T. G. Bell, member of the Church Session; Mrs. C. F. Lent, Women's Association; Mr. R. J. Goodfellow, Community Council; Mrs. A. H. Fisher, Women's Missionary Society; Mr. A. B. Archibald, Sunday School; Mr. W. J. Wood, Choir, and Mrs. R. Irwin of the Canadian Club, served in glowing terms of the service which Rev. Mr. McClintock has rendered during this term as pastor at Tabernacle Church.

Rev. Mr. C. E. Freeman of the Ministerial Association; Rev. D. J. Wilson, pastor of Bridge Street United Church, and Rev. J. A. Dilts of Trinity United Church, also paid high tribute to Rev. Mr. McClintock.

A musical program consisting of a chorus number by the congregation, Messrs. Jack Green, R. Moorman, and Mrs. Jack Green, a solo rendered by Mrs. F. Houston and Mr. H. Moorman, and piano solo by Mrs. Jack Green, filled the evening hours and added greatly to the enjoyment of the evening.

As a fitting conclusion to the evening's programme Mr. R. J. Goodfellow presented to Rev. Mr. McClintock a beautiful leather travelling bag. Mrs. McClintock was given a lovely bouquet of roses by Mrs. Bell.

Rev. Mr. McClintock by Rev. J. W. Bell, Benediction by Rev. J. W. Bell and the singing of the National Anthem brought the evening to a close.

THE WAR TODAY

By DON GILBERT
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Canadians in Britain and Canada are anxious to end speculation on the Canadian Army overseas being changed. With a new, fierce blow from the enemy expected before many days have passed, there is thought to feel that this is no time for such distractions.

A terse statement from 10 Downing Street, Mr. Mackenzie King's residence, denied a statement printed this morning under a large headline in the Daily Express by Lt.-Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, commander of the Canadian Army, may enter the war cabinet as Minister of Defence, a post now held by the Prime Minister himself.

The statement said that "there is no truth" in the report concerning Gen. McNaughton; nor is there any truth in the report in the statement that a change in the "structure of the Canadian Army, in the office of minister of defence is contemplated."

The Prime Minister on several occasions has expressed appreciation at the repeated raising in parliament of the question of an imperial war cabinet, declaring that at present the Prime Ministe has rejected the idea.

No Official Request

Mr. Churchill told the House of Commons no official request had been made by any Dominion for such an imperial war cabinet and made it clear he does not favor the idea. However, Canadian Ministers who are in London they are invited to participate in the deliberations of the British Cabinet. Prime Minister R. G. Menzies was in London during the conference in the Mediterranean, in which Australian troops participated with distinction, and sat in with the British war leaders at 10 Downing Street. Now Prime Minister Peter Fraser of New Zealand is in London, and he also is attending meetings of the War Cabinet.

Gen. McNaughton many not be first mentioned in political speculation in an article in the Sunday Graphic, June 8, by Beverley Baxter, a Conservative M.P. He was born in Toronto. For years Mr. Baxter was closely associated with Lord Beaverbrook in politics and the Daily Express for a long been an advocate of closer Empire unity.

Mr. Baxter's idea, as expressed in the Sunday Graphic and later was that Gen. McNaughton should be one of the "supreme directorate of strategy for the entire empire".

Trenton and District

Trenton, June 21 — Pleading guilty to a charge of having liquor in his possession, J. H. Bailey, of Trenton, was fined $200 and costs or three months in jail, when he appeared day afternoon. He was given time to pay the fine.

Harry Corby of Northport, was fined $50 and costs or ten days in charge of being drunk. Stanley May was fined five and costs on a charge of careless driving. Edward Levack was given a similar fine for a breach of the Highway Traffic Act.

Two airmen - men from Windsor were given six months suspended sentence by the court yesterday when they appeared before Magistrate Butler. They were Victor Nowak, 20, Windsor, and Milton Burgher, Detroit.

The young boys were charged with having separately after being picked up by the police in a car theft in the town.

Appeal for Cigarettes

Lt.-Col. Howard Graham, officer commanding the Hastings Rifles, now regiment, has made an appeal for cigarettes for his men. He writes that the boys in the camp have very low in cigarettes and would appreciate having some Canadian cigarettes for a change.

Three Enlist in R.C.N.V.R.

Three more Trenton young men have enlisted with the Royal Canadian Naval Volunteer Reserve and are awaiting a call from training headquarters in Hamilton. They are Joe Reid, a member of the Trenton O.H.A. hockey team; Albert Lavery and Robert Derry.

"I Was Young Then"

By GENEVIEVE FOURNIA

A few years ago our Provincial Government established training schools for girls in several centres in Ontario. The project seemed a sound one. Trained girls were needed for domestic service, and many of our girls who had finished school could not afford further development. A good deal of money was spent on the buildings, equipment and excellent instructors were hired to get the training started. Many of these schools, with the exception of the one in Toronto, have been closed and the Toronto school is now being dismantled. Why? The reason given is that girls cannot be applied to take the course which was free, but after they had left element the parents stepped in and refused to let their daughters go, they felt that if their daughters entered domestic service they would be drawn away from it into other lines of work. In other words, domestic service was looked down on.

That this is a silly conclusion was brought home to me when a lovely young girl of twenty-six called to visit me. At first I really didn't look that old, being very fair and having her hair beautifully turned out. She had had a good permanent wave and her make-up was becomingly arranged. Her dress, purse and shoes were plain and in good taste, but I soon noticed from her ready smile that her years were few as well as many of our members marry, her name enjoyed life, and responsibility. And as we give her a chair or a lamp, or something else for her home, she said, "I love girls and homes and housekeepers," said Marion. "You see, Mrs. Fournia, I'm going to be spic and span and the girls know just how I like things done. I never had any money, too. We are proud of that."

When we asked her if she was thinking of getting married, she smiled and said; "Sometime, but not yet. I am too happy and too independent just now. I am. And I have had one or two good chances but I am not ready to give up my freedom yet."

It has been a long time since I have seen any young girl in any walk of life so happy, so attractive, well and happy than Marion, and I have also found that being an expert in household economics was a constant asset for a girl and Marion certainly felt so too.

damaging, but not decisive, blows struck by Germany; and they fall short of insuring the quick victory at which Hitler's strategy has aimed up to now.

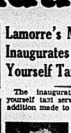
Lamorre's Moira Taxi Inaugurates "Drive Yourself Taxi Service"

The inauguration of a "drive yourself taxi service" in the latest addition made to the Belleville taxi service—by, "Barney" La Morre, the popular young man whose picture is seen in this column and who is the proprietor of Le Morre's Moira Taxi.

Although a comparative newcomer to this city Mr. La Morre's faith in the future of the taxi business in Belleville is evidenced by the fact that his taxi service has recently been augmented by the addition of three new automobiles. The service now comprises seven 1941 model cars, two of which will be used exclusively in the recently inaugurated "drive yourself service."



Barney LaMorre

Mr. LaMorre is a native of the town of Trenton and prior to his entry into the taxi business in Belleville less than two years ago, had an interest with his brother in LaMorre's taxi service of the town. However, his energetic nature, together with a desire to be "out on his own," prompted him to sever connections with the Trenton firm and to establish his own business in Belleville.

Only two cars comprised the LaMorre's Moira Taxi fleet when it was inaugurated in Belleville but the rapidly increasing tempo of business quickly made additional cars necessary until now seven new cars are used, five of which are in operation about the city. A complete twenty-four hour service in quiet, comfortable cars, operated by efficient and courteous drivers, is their by-word. Their slogan, "Anywhere, Anytime" is evidence of their desire to serve, while their new "drive yourself service" will fill a long-felt need in the Belleville district.

The popularity which LaMorre's Moira Taxi has attained in Belleville has been justified by the establishment of a long list of satisfied customers—customers who have confidence in the service offered. It is to these satisfied customers in the Belleville district whose continued loyal support has been instrumental in the success of the business that "Barney" LaMorre expresses his appreciation.

When in need of a taxi Phone 460 for LaMorre's Moira Taxi at 140 Front Street.

Industrial Accidents At All-time High

An all-time high for industrial accidents in the province of Ontario, is pointed out in the current memorandum to Industry from the Industrial Accident Prevention Associations. A total of 9,303 accidents were reported for the month of May to the Workmen's Compensation Board. The figure represents an increase of more than 2,000 accidents for the corresponding period last year. "A safety bulletin, issued for distribution in thousands of Ontario plants, points out that "Men are Valuable — Accidents are Costly," and under a picture of Winston Churchill quotes him as saying: "Let us all strive, without failing in faith on duty."

A cost of more than $838,000 was reported for total awards of compensation and medical aid during the month of May. An analysis of accident figures for the first five months in 1941 compared with the same period shows that while there was a slight increase in the number of accidents, there are many more men at work than a year ago. Fatal accidents show an improvement with the 163 reported this year compared with the 193 fatalities last year.

CIGARETTE SALES RISE DURING MONTH

Ottawa, June 21 — The release of cigarettes showed an increase from 516.5 million in April to 594.3 million in May. The gain however, was less than normal for the season, the adjusted index receding thirteen points to 114. The number made available in May last year was 508.3 million a considerable decline having been indicated.

Cigars made available in May were greater, with two exceptions, than in the same month during the last twenty years. The release numbered 16.4 million against 15.9 million in the preceding month and 15.8 million in May, 1940.

The release of cheroots rose from 3,125.3 million in the first five months of 1940 to 3,143.6 million this year. The advance in cigar releases was from 60.9 million to 1.3 million in the same comparison.

Auto Production Higher Than '40

Production of motor vehicles numbered 26,585 units in May compared with 27,564 in April and 31,297 in May a year ago. This month's total included 2,840 passenger cars and 16,745 trucks.

During the five months ending May 31, Canada produced 127,118 units. Corresponding totals for the first five months in other years were as follows: 1940, 79,264 in 1939 and 87,436 in 1938.

The remarkable thing about the production in the five months was the increase in trucks, chassis, ambulances and similar vehicles from 39,435 a year ago to 70,457 in the first five months of 1941.

May Production Shows Advance

Ottawa, June 21 — The expansion in Canada's war effort was reflected in a further rise in the index of the physical volume of business in May over the preceding month. Measured by partial data, the index rose about 6 points over the standing of 127.3 in April. Providing this standing is confirmed by later information a new maximum was reached, says Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

Most of the indexes indicating the trend of mineral production advanced in May over the preceding month. Gold receipts at the Mint were 443,436 ounces against 385,468 in the preceding month. The level was higher than in the same month of any year in history. A moderate increase was shown in the index of silver shipments.

The increase in the manufacture of sugar in the fifth four-week period of the year was less than normal for the season. The amount was 75.5 million pounds against about 80 million in April. The index, however, receded from 96.7 to 90.0. The index of inspected slaughterings dropped from 139.8 to 128.8. Declines were shown in the slaughterings of cattle and hogs while the index for sheep and lambs was at a higher point.

Hitler's Legions Invade Russia

64 NAZI PLANES DOWNED IN WEEKEND BY RAF

Two of World's Largest Military Machines Battle Along 2,000-Mile Front

Nazis Claim Widespread Air Successes Against Russia as Hitler Tears up Non-aggression Pact With Soviet—News of Land Action Scant—Finland and Rumania Germany's Allies Nazis Assert

DRIVING TOWARD UKRAINE

Berlin, June 23 (AP)—The German high command claimed today its forces have moved ahead "on schedule and successfully" in their first forays against Soviet Russia along the 2,000-mile-long battle line of Europe's new eastern front.

Specific details of German progress were omitted from the communique, however. This, apparently, was in keeping with the high command's customary tight-lipped policy in the opening phases of the campaign.

The war bulletin underscored German sea operations against the Russians in the waters of southern and northern Europe. Four Soviet merchant ships were sunk in German speedboat attacks into Russian coastal waters in the Eastern Baltic, it claimed, and a Russian coastal battery hurled an unsuccessful barrage at German submarine hunters near Constanza in the Black Sea.

The start of Russian offensive action mentioned in the communique was in aerial bombing of Soviet Russia which, the communique claimed, cause "no noteworthy effect."

The Nazi Air Force struck with such success as to make Hitler gave the word in a sudden, bitter declaration at dawn Sunday.

First meagre dispatches from the front claimed smashing air assaults on the Russian Black Sea base of Sebastopol—near the scene of the light brigade's famous charge—and of destruction of at least 40 Soviet bombers attempting to counter-raid German positions.

Supported by vengeful Finland and Rumania, the Nazi army smashed at the Reich's eastern perimeter along a front reaching from the White Sea in the north to the Black Sea in the south—a front which Hitler himself said compares in extent "with the greatest the world's earth has ever seen."

In accord with the policy of the High Command, however, there was no official indication as to the trend of the campaign or whether all fronts were in full action, the purpose of the silence being to camouflage the plan of attack.

Claims 6-Mile Penetrations

(The first communique issued by the Soviet last night acknowledged German communications of penetrations to ten miles, principally in Lithuania and Soviet-occupied eastern Poland. The Russians claimed destruction of 65 Nazi planes during the attacks on Russian cities in which 200 persons were killed or injured in the first hours.

THE WEATHER

Toronto, June 23 (CP)—Thunderstorms have occurred in many parts of the country and it has been more cooler in southern and eastern Ontario today. The weather has been fair and warm over the greater part of the Prairie Provinces with thunder showers in southeast Saskatchewan and in a few districts of Alberta.

Soviet's Strength

London, June 23—(CP)—A Reuters News Agency dispatch from Zurich today quoted the Berlin correspondent of the Swiss newspaper Neue Zuricher Zeitung in this estimate of Soviet forces on Russia's European frontier:

118 Infantry divisions.
30 Cavalry divisions.
40 Armored brigades

Stationed in reserve in European Russia, the dispatch said, are 27 infantry divisions, five cavalry divisions and one armored brigade.

Moscow's Far Eastern army was estimated at 36 infantry divisions, eight cavalry divisions and five armored brigades.

Shannonville Man Found Drowned

Body of Wm. D. Robertson Found Floating in Salmon River by Father

Missing from his home in Shannonville since Friday, the body of 56-year-old William D. Robertson, Shannonville, was found floating in the Salmon River by four small girls on Saturday afternoon. The body was removed from the river and later forwarded to Dr. H. E. Eckhardt, of Shannonville, announced the inquest would be necessary.

The four girls, Bernice, Margaret and Fern Hoxey and Ann Benson, all Shannonville children, were playing along the river, when they noticed a bundle floating along the shore. Further investigations revealed the body and villagers were notified.

Provincial Constables R. S. Patterson and J. McIntosh assisted in the recovery of the body from the water. It was later revealed by Coroner Dr. Eckhart that the late Mr. Robertson had left home on Friday and had wandered away from home late Friday.

Hitler's War on Russia Reveals His Despair of Early Victory

Washington, June 23 (AP)—The Russian army was crowded only by the slimmest chances by military experts today in its fight against the German forces, but considerable doubt prevailed as to the immediate advantages Hitler could read from his grandiose adventure.

The initial reaction of well-informed specialists was that the invasion of Russia constituted the first open acknowledgment of the blitzkrieg's failure—Germany, despairing of the old "lightning" victory she sought, was striking to assure the supply of food and raw materials she needs for a long war.

The sudden thrust into Russia also was regarded as tantamount to an admission Germany still felt unequal to the supreme test with her No. 1 enemy—the invasion of the British Isles.

Three Temporary Results

The fog of war surrounding opening phases of the Nazi drive to the east made it difficult for experts to appraise the full import of progress of the campaign, but they saw at least three temporary results in the general war picture:

1. An easing of German pressure in the North African theatre, for it would be impossible for Hitler to be sending additional armored reinforcements to Libya.

2. A relaxation of the invasion threat against the British Isles;

3. More time for Britain and for the prospective armies of the United States.

It was conceded these results may be shortlived, because of odds the Nazi war machine is believed to have in its favor. However, it was said, every day is precious for Britain and the United States at this critical stage.

Russia, it was believed, was ready to devastate the great food-producing region of the Ukraine and to destroy mines and oil wells before permitting them to fall into German hands. Such a program, even if but 100 per cent. thorough, would make the Nazi drive to the east made it difficult for experts to appraise the full import of progress of the campaign, but they

Soviet Army Gives Way Slowly on Lithuanian Front

Moscow, June 23—(AP)—The Red army, giving way slowly to the first Nazi onslaught of vast masses, of men and guns up into the fight today and called tens of thousands more to arms against Russia's erstwhile non-aggression pact partner.

The army high command said in its first communique since the Sunday dawn attack on a front from the Baltic to the Balkans that the Germans were fought to a standstill up to Sunday noon, but by nightfall they had made some penetrations of six to 10 miles, principally into Lithuania and the section of Poland that now is a part of the U.S.S.R.

Elsewhere, the communique said, the Nazis were repulsed.

The Soviet press published a detailed account of Prime Minister Churchill's speech promising all possible aid against the common enemy to the Russian people defending their native soil.

No comments have been issued, but the space allotted the speech reflects approval.

BRITAIN CHEERED BY DETERMINATION TO HELP RUSSIA

Not Too Much Reliance Placed on Soviet as Potent Brother-in-Arms

CHURCHILL HEARD

London, June 23 —(CP)— Britain cheered today Prime Minister Churchill's determination to help Russia fight Germany, but aloof at placing too much reliance on the Soviet as a potent brother-in-arms.

Reports of Russia's resistance along the lengthy eastern front were watched closely for a hint of the first army's strength or weakness by the press and public, grown wary because of one continental setback after another.

Mr. Churchill's ringing declaration, Britain "has one small aim whatever help we can to Russia and the Russian people" and that any war or state who fights Nazism will have our aid" were seconded warmly by London newspapers.

They advocated a burial of ideological differences between Britain and Communist Russia for the common purpose of crushing Hitler.

NAZI PLANES RAID ALEKSANDRIA

Berlin, June 22 (AP)—The German High Command claimed today that strong German bomber formation caused "considerable destruction in a raid last night on the harbor of Alexandria, Egypt.

(The British account of the raid is not yet available.)

German and Italian planes also attacked British positions in the disputed Tobruk, said the daily war bulletin.

DEATH OF MINERS PROBED

Kirkland Lake, Ont., June 22 (CP)—Deaths of two miners are under investigation here today.

John Henry Coulson, 54, Teck Hughes miner, was killed instantly Saturday night when caught in a rock burst on the 71st. level.

Albert Saunders, a companion, was caught in a burst and injured about the back.

At Lake Shore Mine Saturday night, Cristofer R. Conroy was caught in a sudden rush of water and smothered.

Inquests are being investigated by mine inspectors stationed here.

Canada's Victory Loan Totals $806,834,600

Oshawa, June 23 (CP)—Victory Loan, plus its general war appeal, of $806,834,600 in cash subscriptions and conversions, ranked today as the most successful of all Canadian war loans.

Finance Minister Ilsley himself gave it this rank in a week-end statement in which he thanked Canadians and congratulated them on the success of their loan.

The minimum objective was $600,000,000 and cash subscriptions alone amounted to $710,958,950.

Conversions totalled $95,875,650.

Week-end figures, however, could not be considered final because considerable canvassing remained to be done and it will be late in the week before a final report can be made to include subscriptions mailed up to midnight Saturday, the deadline for such subscriptions.

New figures probably will be available for Wednesday night when Prime Minister Mackenzie King, Mr. Ilsley, and G. W. Spinney, chairman of the National Loan Executive Committee, will thank the Canadian people in a broadcast.

Greatest Loan

In his statement last night Mr. Ilsley said, "The total amount subscribed and converted 1941, greatest of all the Victory Loans of the First Great War when $707,000,000 was subscribed.

The Finance Minister said cash subscriptions and conversions indicated one person in every 12 in Canada had subscribed to the loan. To them I wish to address one message of profound appreciation and cordial thanks," he said.

Loan officials said Saturday's business—the last day of operations in the campaign which began June 2—was "particularly encouraging" in relatively quick, exceeding all expectations.

On Saturday $1,885 individuals completed subscription orders which totalled $20,000,000 and brought the total number of subscribers to more than 1,000 to $31,696.

Freshmen Exceed Quotas

Every province in Canada exceeded its original quotas and drove up the total to the estimate for the largest possible over-subscription.

Mr. Ilsley, pointing to the large number of subscribers, however, it was said it indicated "beyond any doubt" that many people of modest means had made a patriotic sacrifice in buying bonds.

Total subscriptions to the 10-year maturity of the 1941 loan was $631,641,600 and the total of subscriptions to the short-term maturity was $175,193,000.

Average subscription, the committee said, was approximately less than $950. This included corporations and financial institutions who invested in the loan.

New Government Being Formed In Lithuania

Berlin, June 22 —(AP)— The Lithuanian radio claimed the formation of a "new government" today to "fight jointly against the Red Russian occupant."

"The Lithuanian people, with all the means at their disposal, will fight for freedom and independence," declared a broadcast from Kaunas, capital of the independent Lithuanian republic before it was absorbed by the Soviet Union last year.

The radio exhorted the people to take up arms "in order to assist the German army in liberating Lithuania from the Bolshevik occupants" and admonished them to receive the Germans in the "most friendly, helpful manner possible."

(The Russian communique today acknowledged that Nazi divisions were pushing across the northern flank of the long front, had showed about 10 miles into Lithuania.)

Kazys Skirpa, former Lithuanian minister to Berlin, was taken into reins as Premier of the new government, the Kaunas radio said, and announced that Dr. Kazys Grinius, former defence minister, has reassumed that post.

The new anti-Russian cabinet includes eight other Lithuanians, the broadcast reported.

The coup was said to have been engineered by "the Front of Lithuanian Activists," and its members were said to have taken key posts in their own hands.

Others are to raise the Lithuanian flag on official buildings and assure uninterrupted work in Lithuanian industry.

THREE BRITISH BOMBERS DOWNED SAYS BERLIN

Berlin, June 23 (AP)—The Italian High Command claimed today three British Blenheim bombers were shot down in the Mediterranean area, presumably while attacking Italian shipping.

Two of the bombers were said to have been shot down by anti-aircraft fire from torpedo boats and the third by Italian fighters.

(Confirmation from British sources is not available.)

BERSELY'S SHIPS SUNK

Berlin, June 23 (AP)—The German High Command claimed today that nine British merchantmen, totalling 37,500 tons, were sunk in air and submarine operations in the Atlantic.

(Confirmation from British sources not available).

FINLAND WILL REMAIN NEUTRAL: SAY SPOKESMEN

Only Purpose is Self-Defence and at Present Country Free of Any Fighting

DENY RUMORS

Helsinki, June 23 (AP)—The official spokesmen declared today that Finland would maintain neutrality as long as possible in the war between Germany and Russia in spite of Hitler's declaration indicating she would be an active ally of the Reich.

Except for Soviet air raids on Finnish territory, which ceased—and wished between her embattled neighbors, the spokesmen said that Finland declared her only purpose was self-defence and that the Helsinki newspaper Sanomat said "the government's military precautions were taken not a moment too soon."

Soviet bombers were reported by the Finns to have struck at their ports and shipping today and a Russian artist Finland was swept into the war when Hitler listed her as a Nazi ally against the Soviet.

Enemy Rumors Heard

Finnish spokesmen denied emphatically the Soviet contention that Germany was using Finnish bases for attack on Russia. They denied too, that any Finnish forces had crossed the new frontier into the Karelian Isthmus, where the Red Army smashed Finnish defences to end the war of 1939-40.

The frontier was reported quiet early today but to the north Finnish army makers hasty preparations for a fight.

It is then between 18 and 50 were ordered into uniform or labor battalions. Finnish officials said they then relies of the recent fighting in which Finland lost eighteen of her illable territory to the Soviet, were made ready again. Windows were ordered in cities still menaced by bombings of little more than a year ago.

Turks Harbor Bombed

(Halaxar Piyango, Finnish minister in Washington, said yesterday his country "has absolutely no aggressive or provocative intentions" and hopes to remain at peace "as we are attacked," he said, "we will defend ourselves.")

The Finnish high command said Soviet bombers yesterday attacked coastal defences in the Gulf of Finland causing light damage, and dropped bombs on Helsinki, Turku and Hanko harbor on the southwestern coast.

FRANCESCHINI REFUSED

Ottawa, June 23.— (CP)— James Franceschini, wealthy Toronto contractor of Italian birth, has been refused permission to come "on passionate grounds" an official of the Department of Immigration and Colonization said today.

The decision was made from Chrtiste Street Military hospital in Hamilton where Franceschini was taken for treatment when he developed an illness at the civilian internment camp near Petawawa, Ont.

Ukraine, Russia's Richest Region, Possesses Most of What Hitler Needs

(By The Canadian Press)

War between Russia and Germany has been close in the top of Nazi ambition since Hitler came to power.

The simple fact is that Russia possesses what Germany wants.

Russia apparently has failed to give Germany all she requires—and Germany proposes to take by blood what she could not get by suasion.

That, first of all, is the Ukraine which is one of the world's richest regions and a gateway also to Russia's Caucasus oil.

It supplies 80 per cent of all Russian manganese, 70 per cent of the pig iron, half her steel, 60 per cent of her iron ore, 85 per cent of her sugar, two-thirds or more of her agricultural equipment and 85 per cent of her manganese ore.

The great Dnieper River runs through the Ukraine, supplying power for Russian industry. The port of Odessa, on the Black Sea, one of Russia's great outlets for world commerce, is in the Ukraine.

Russia stands second only to the United States in petroleum output. While she is a great wheat, cotton, French and Italian production is infinitesimal by comparison and the flow from Russia's wells is considered important to Germany.

Launch 12th Straight Night On French Coast

Large Fires Started At Nazi Naval Base Of Wilhelmshaven, While Bremen, Bremershaven and Emden Bombed

RAF LOSES 6 PLANES

London, June 23—(CP) — Making an offensive sweep over northern France for the seventh successive day, the Royal Air Force reported the destruction of seven more German fighter planes today, bringing the total for the last three days to 64.

"Less opposition was encountered from German fighters," an authoritative statement said.

British fighters were accompanied by Blenheim bombers, two R.A.F. fighters were missing.

The raid followed up the 12th straight night assault on Germany proper, in which bombers pounded the big naval base at Wilhelmshaven and other targets in the northwest.

Heavy Bombs Heard

Successive waves of R.A.F. planes crossed the channel and from time to time the heavy rumble of bombs echoed back.

The R.A.F. seemed to be attacking targets inland as well as on the coast, with bombing by large formations carried out on a selective basis over a wide area.

Some quarters expressed the opinion that the fliers were striking at Nazi communications in Northern France.

Fighter-escorted bombers sped across the Channel in mid-afternoon and were flying unopposed as soon were heard by watchers on the British southeast coast. The bombers tangled in a spiralled fight with German chasers, then headed home again.

Besides Wilhelmshaven where the Air Ministry said large fires were started, other R.A.F. targets last night included Emden, Bremen, Bremerhaven and Duesseldorf.

Three raids followed upon Sunday's dawn over the Channel and France in which 30 German planes were downed against only nine R.A.F. losses, bringing the Nazi total in two days of aerial clashes to 37 planes. Another German plane was destroyed by one of last night's attacking forces.

Absolute Supremacy Gained

The series of flights and forays dealt by the R.A.F. to Nazi military targets and shipping in the Air Force have won British "absolute supremacy" in the air over Northern Europe, a United States Army Air Corps officer said today.

Lieut.-Colonel Lovett Observer, who has spent the last five weeks with the R.A.F., British officials said, took advantage the opportunity presented by the German diversion against Russia and has hastened because an offensive the like of which the R.A.F. has been preparing before in this war.

VIOLENT DEATHS IN PROVINCE TOTAL THIRTEEN

Automobiles Accused for a Total of Five Lives

FOUR DROWNED

(By The Canadian Press)

Violent deaths numbered a total of five lives and accounted for the majority of the 13 violent deaths reported in Ontario during the week-end. Four persons lost their lives by drowning and two of the victims were caused by lightning, a railway train, a hull and by suicide.

Two of the deaths by car accident occurred when an automobile crashed into a tree between St. Davids and Queenston. Those killed were Americans, Stephen Kokko, 19, of Buffalo, N.Y., and Peter Kokkonen, 20, of Detroit.

George J. Shady and three-year-old Dale Agnew of Sarnia died in the hospital Sunday from injuries suffered in accidents Saturday. Shady received his injuries when the car in which he was riding crashed into a tree on a vacant lot. The boy suffered head injuries when struck by a car in front of his home.

Eth D. Lawler, 19, of Dearborn, Mich., was killed when the automobile in which he was a passenger failed to negotiate a curve on the highway near Leamington and crashed into a pile of gravel.

Two Drownings at Hamilton

Two of the drownings took place at a Hamilton civic beach when Donald Carswell, nine, and Robert Thomson, eight, both of Hamilton, tumbled into ten feet of water when a raft they were playing on capsized.

Charles Thomas Somes, 12, of Sarnia, was drowned in Lake Huron near Sarnia and Allan Parker, 17-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Parker, who reside 6 miles from Simcoe, lost his life when he slipped from an inflated tire inner tube in 12 feet of water.

Lightning took the life of William Pinkun, 16, of Windsor, who was struck while standing on a river front dock. Alfred Chamberlain, 41, was instantly killed when he slipped under a passing freight train.

An attack by a two-year-old bull caused the death of Arthur C. Hedden, 73, prominent Sandwich South township farmer. The infuriated bull is believed to have knocked the aged farmer down and then gored him to death.

MILITARY UNITS TO ENJOY CAMP

Fire hundred strong, under the command of Lieut.-Col. R. C. Bowman, K.C., the 2nd Battalion of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment will leave summer military camp at Connaught Park in Ottawa, some time over the next week-end. A detachment from the Argyll Light Infantry (Tank) battalion ,in Belleville, under the command of Lieut.-Col. A. B. Cribble, is also scheduled to leave for the Capital City and a considerable military training period at the same time.

$454.54 COLLECTED FOR NAVY LEAGUE

Once again Belleville and district residents donated generously to a worthy cause when a sum of $454.54 was collected by taggers of the St. John Ambulance Corps during a tag day for the Ontario division of the Navy League of Canada, which was held on Saturday.

Officials of the St. Julien Chapter take this opportunity of thanking those who so generously donated to the cause, and also to express their appreciation to all who worked for the success of the tag day. Although the amount collected exceeded the expectations of the officials of the Order only for the fact that many of the canvassers were forced by the heat of the afternoon to discontinue tagging, it is felt that the amount raised would have been much greater.

The lodges in attend were Moira Lodge, No. 11, A.F. & A.M., The Belleville Lodge, No. 151, A.F. & A.M., and the Eureka Lodge, No. 360, A.F. & A.M., Corbyn Bros. Chas Brown, Ken Bird and Lieut. Fred Symons as respective Presiding Masters.

Mechanized Convoy Of C.A.S.C. to Visit Belleville Wednesday

As part of a recruiting campaign to enlist recruits for the Royal Canadian Army Service Corps, a demonstration workshop unit of the Corps is scheduled to appear in Belleville on Wednesday evening, giving those residents in the neighbourhood of the evening an army service unit in action.

The demonstration, to be put on by the unit at the armouries town at nine o'clock Wednesday evening, is in two parts, the first part consisting chiefly of the mobile workshop unit, while it is also possible to demonstrate how parts needed for maintenance.

The recruiting survey is leaving Ottawa today and is following a schedule which will take it through Ontario, including stops at Odessa, Napanee, Belleville and Peterboro on Wednesday, while on Thursday morning it will be in Frankford for a short stop, then on to Cobourg and Port Hope the same day.

Tradesmen of almost all the trades called upon by the army, stenographers, butchers, cooks and drivers are needed, it is said by the Canadian Army Service Corps. However, applicants for enlistment in tradesmen to be accepted, it is to be stressed that all that is needed is physical fitness, the Corps having the facilities for training recruits.

Avondale School Awarded Silver Trophy

School Section No. 2 Sidney, Avondale, has been awarded first place in a School Improvement Competition sponsored by the Sidney Farmers Club of Sidney Township, according to results announced today by H. L. Pair, agricultural representative for Hastings County.

The Avondale school will be presented with a handsome silver trophy emblematic of first place in the contest. Other schools participating finished in the following order of merit:—S.S. No. 7 Centre; S.S. No. 13 Wallbridge; S.S. No. 7 Thurlow, and S.S. No. 22 Sidney. The first two named will receive cash prizes of $3 and $2 for second and third places. C. W. Total of Victory Loan in Hastings Goes $402,450 Above Objective

With the inevitable loose ends of the campaign yet to be cleaned up, Hastings County subscriptions to the Victory Loan at ten o'clock today amounted to $2,522,450, or $402,450 above the original quota of $1,850,000. Further subscriptions have yet to come in from the far-flung sections of the county, and these are expected to increase the above total by a substantial figure.

Four thousand, seven hundred and fifty orders for bonds were received by officials from residents of the county, and this in others words reveals that one person out of every twelve of the county's population bought bonds. This is considerably better than the 1918 ratio when one person out of 12.8 became bondholders.

While the campaign officially closed on Saturday midnight, the local campaign headquarters will remain open for the week-end in clearing up the end-of-the-campaign work.

Severe Hailstorm Wreaks Havoc In District East of Napanee

While rains of intestimable value fell over the city and district on Sunday, bringing much needed relief to parched pastures and crops, a hailstorm of wreckage was left with farm and other buildings, crops and shrubbery struck savagely at the district between Napanee and Kingston.

The storm struck an area about six miles in width and left a swath of destruction in its wake. Hailstones almost as large as pigeon eggs fell with terrific force and in many cases shredding blinds and screens and left wreckage in the barrage while grain in the heading stages, potatoes, corn and other plant crops were levelled.

Bay Reid, six miles east of Napanee lost his barn through lightning, cattle and hogs drowned in adjoining buildings were driven into the storm and safety. Another barn north of highway number 3 was burned.

Practically every building in the path of the storm was more or less damaged. The wind of gale-like violence pounded the large hailstones into the sides of buildings.

In Belleville a sharp electrical storm heralded downpour of rain. Practically the entire district felt the benefits of the downpour which in many cases was accompanied by high winds. The wind was exceptionally gusty in the city, blowing down tree branches in various sections.

WEAVER, CAYER SENT TO PRISON

Roy Weaver, Belleville, Given Three Years and Lloyd Cayer, Guelph, – 2½ Years in Same Institution for Theft

Roy Weaver, Belleville, was sentenced to serve three years in the Portsmouth Penitentiary, while Lloyd Cayer, of Guelph, was sentenced to serve two years and six months in the same institution when the pair appeared for sentence before Magistrate K. J. Butler, K.C., here today. Weaver and Cayer had pleaded guilty to charges of entering the home of J. M. Kennedy, 14 Holloway St., in a previous edict and were straighted for sentence today.

Weaver and Cayer were charged with the theft of a large quantity of silverware and jewelry taken from the Kennedy home, but which had been recovered when the pair were apprehended in a stolen motor car at Toronto two weeks ago. Today the pair also pleaded guilty to the theft of cigarettes, tobacco and groceries, stolen from a service station operated by Donald Freeman on Highway No. 2 east of Trenton. Weaver was given three years on both counts here today and Cayer two and a half years on each count, the terms to run concurrently.

Magistrate Butler decreed the penitentiary terms should run concurrently with two-year-less-one-day sentences imposed by Magistrate Butler at Trenton, which will be served in Belleville and from Freeman's service station had been recovered.

Crown Attorney B. C. Donnan, K.C., introduced the previous list of convictions which had been registered against the pair and then asked for the penitentiary term.

John Dunnan was given seven days in the common jail after being convicted of drunk driving.

Obituary

FREDERICK W. MITZ

Friends and relatives in this district will regret to learn of the accidental death of Frederick Wellar Mitz of Albion, Mitch. His death occurred at the General Hospital at Jackson, Mich., on June 12. The result of injuries received in a motor car collision on June 9 previously.

Deceased who was an expert tool and die-maker, was returning to his home at Albion after a four day meeting from work in an industrial plant in Jackson when he struck a dense fog and poor visibility, his car collided with a truck and he received fatal injuries.

The funeral service was held at the Marsh funeral home at Albion, on Sunday afternoon, June 15, and was very largely attended. The service was conducted by Rev. S. Conger Hathaway, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church at Hastings, Mitch., Interment took place in the cemetery at Albion.

He was the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred B. Mitz, formerly of Ivanhoe, Hastings County, Ontario, but now residents at Albion. In addition to his parents, he is survived by his wife and a young daughter, He is also survived by one sister, (Edith), Mrs. Wm. Hathaway of Albion. He was born in Belleville 36 years ago and, after graduation from the high school there, he entered upon an industrial career and became highly proficient in his chosen pursuit. He was very popular in his native city and the tragic end of so promising a life was the occasion of deep sorrow among an unusually wide circle of friends.

MRS. BERNARD MURPHY

WESTPORT— The death occurred of one of the oldest and most highly respected residents of North Crosby in the person of Mrs. Ellen Murphy, widow of the late Bernard Murphy, which occurred on June 22 years ago. Her maiden name was Ellen Bennett, a daughter of the late John Bennett, and his wife, Margaret Keane, and was born at Westport 86 years ago. Since her marriage 63 years ago she lived in the village where after her funeral was held on Thursday to St. Michael's Church, a requiem high mass was chanted by Rev. E. J. McCarthy.

She is survived by three daughters, Mrs. A. Ward and Mrs. D. Goggin of Marysville, Mrs. Terrance McCann of Westport; six sons, Michael, Patrick, Mrs. Ezra Wilfred and Alphonsus Murphy of Westport, Joseph Murphy of Madoc; one sister, Mrs C. Mc-Shane of Cloyne, and three brothers, Michael Bennett of Perth, James Bennett of Westport and Owen Bennett of Smith's Falls.

The large funeral attendance and the many spiritual offerings received testified to the esteem in which she was held. Interment was made in Bedford Cemetery. The pall-bearers were Messrs. J. Donnelly, Patrick McPharland, John McCann, Nicholas Lennon, Patrick Smith and Stanley Hagan.

LATE MRS. WILLIAM E. WAY

(Albury)

The funeral of Mrs. William E. Way, late residence, Albury, took place from the residence of her brother, Mr. Percy Denne, to Christ Church Cemetery, Albury, on Sunday afternoon, June 22nd. The Christ Church service at Albury where an impressive service was conducted by the pastor, the Rev. W. H. Hoomhour, who also conducted the service at the graveside in Albury cemetery.

There was a large attendance. The bearers were Messrs. Charles Babcock, Walter McLeod, John Garbutt, Clifford Bass, Harry Allison and Percy Coulter.

JAMES A. HERRY

(Trenton)

Trenton, June 23 (Special)—The funeral of James A. Harry, who died at the residence of his son, Mr. William S. Harry, 3rd concession of Sidney Township, on June 18th, took place from his late residence on Friday afternoon, June 20th. The service in the home and at the graveside in White's cemetery was conducted by the Rev. Geo. Campbell of Trenton.

The bearers were Messrs. Byron Harder, Douglas Harder, Orville Harry, Edgar Harry, Vernon Harry and Malcolm Nelson.

The floral tributes were numerous and beautiful.

The late Mr. Harry, who was in his 83rd year, was born in Sidney Township, being a son of the late [illegible] and was in his 82nd year. He was born in Stirling, being a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Hough. All his life was passed in this village and vicinity and during his active years he was engaged at various times as a butcher and carriage maker. He was well known in the district and throughout his long life he was held in high esteem by many friends and acquaintances. In religion he was a member of the Pauli United Church and fraternally he was a member of the I.O.O.F. in which society he held the forty year jewel.

Surviving him are one son, Mr. James B. Hough, principal of the school at Stirling; one daughter, Mrs. Miss Hough, principal of the school at Stirling; one sister, Mrs. W. J. Graham, Trenton.

The funeral will take place on Wednesday, June 25, under the auspices of the I.O.O.F.

Fire Brigade Given Busy Two Hours Fighting Grass Fire

Saturday afternoon's rather stiff breeze, together with what appeared to be an ill-disposed person on the part of some west hill youths, combined to give the members of the Belleville Fire Department a busy two hours shortly after the noon hour when dried grass in the old Belleville Fair Grounds became ablaze to threaten valuable trees and fences of the present exhibition park as the flames swept in a southerly direction.

Three lines of hose, exceeding two thousand feet in all, together with the assistance of the reserve tank, were required to subdue the flames which swept rapidly over a four-acre tract of grass before the fire to fence posts along Sidney Street. Continued dry weather has caused grass to become parched and the fire swept with great rapidity as it was fanned by the stiff breeze blowing at the time. Outside of numerous fence posts burned off, fortunately firemen were able to extinguish the blaze before any of any appreciable nature resulted.

A second alarm at the end of Saturday's stiff breeze, caused firemen a run to the city dump at the waterfront where dense columns of smoke rising from the dump were burned fiercely. Here again however, employees of the Public Works Department and firemen succeeded in extinguishing the blaze before it got out of hand.

Fireman Injured In Fall From Roof

Captain Frank Orr of the Belleville Fire Department suffered two fractured ribs and a severe injury to vertebrae as he fell to the ground from the top of a fourteen foot ladder, while engaged in fighting a fire which broke out at a warehouse at the rear of the Front Street premises of the city grocery store early on Sunday morning.

The fire was first caused prematurely as the result of a defective flue, which had been burning in the back yard of the premises, and from which was thought to have been extinguished before retiring for the night by employees of the store for the night. About two o'clock Sunday morning, however, flames were discovered in the roof of the two-storey warehouse and the alarm was turned in.

Captain Orr was first man over the burning roof and when flames were noticed in the attic, Captain Orr climbed a ladder to the roof and with an axe to break off the facade of the eave when it is believed that he either received a shock from nearby electric wires or by some manner missed his footing and fell to the ground below. Orr was taken to the Belleville General Hospital where his condition is reported to be fair.

No damage was caused to grocery stock, which was stored in the warehouse building, but considerable damage to the roof of the building resulted.

Man is Drowned In Bass Lake

Frank Hogan, Millbridge, Believed to Have Suffered Cramp While Swimming

Bancroft, (Special)—Presumably suffering a cramp as he went for a swim in Bass Lake some time after midnight on Saturday night, Frank Hogan, aged 36, of Millbridge, son of the late Michael Hogan, of that village, was drowned, searchers finding the body on Monday morning.

The young man had called at the home of Mrs. Margaret Hamilton about midnight on Sunday inquiring as to the direction of the residence of his brother, Charles Hogan, who had purchased property sumably to his destination. Early this morning a pile of clothes were found on Mr. Joseph Lydall's dock, with the result that Provincial Constable Ed. Palmateer of Bancroft was called to investigate. Searchers later found Mr. Hogan's body about fifteen feet out from the dock in approximately seven feet of water. There will be no inquest into the drowning it was announced.

Text of Churchill's Address to the World

New York, June 23 (AP)— The text of Prime Minister Churchill's address, as transcribed by the National Broadcasting Company, follows:

I have taken occasion to speak to you tonight because we have reached one of the characters of the war. In the first of these intense turning points a year ago, France fell prostrate and the Nazi German hammer and we had to face the storm alone.

The second was when the Royal Air Force beat off the Nazi raiders out of the Channel and thus warded off the Nazi invasion of our island, while we were still disarmed and ill-prepared.

The third turning point was when the President and Congress of the United States passed the lease and lend enactment, devoting nearly two thousand million sterling of the wealth of the United States to help us defend our liberties and their own.

Those were the three climacterics. The fourth is now upon us, the four o'clock this morning. Hitler attacked and invaded Russia. All his usual formalities were observed with scrupulous technique. A non-aggression treaty had been solemnly signed and was in force between the two countries. No complaint had been made by Germany of its non-fulfilment.

Russian Frontiers Violated

Under its cloak of forced confidence, the German armies drew up in immense strength along a line which stretched from the White Sea to the Black Sea, and their air fleets and military division slowly and methodically took up their stations. Then suddenly, without declaration of war, without even an ultimatum, the German bombs rained down from the sky upon the Russian cities. The German troops violated the Russian frontiers and an hour later the German Ambassador, who had tonight before had given assurances of friendship, almost of alliance, to the Russians called upon the Russian Foreign Minister to tell him that a state of war existed between Germany and Russia.

Thus was repeated on a far larger scale the same kind of outrage against good faith, the same breach of signed compact and international faith which we had witnessed in Norway, in Denmark, in Holland, in Belgium, and which Hitler's accomplice Mussolini had meanly and basely imitated in the case of Greece.

All this was no surprise to me. In fact, I gave clear and precise warnings to Stalin of what was coming. I gave him warnings as I have given warnings to others before. I can only hope that these warnings did not fall unheeded. All we know at present is that, now the Russian people are defending their native soil and that their leaders have called upon them to resist to the utmost.

Monster of Wickedness

Hitler is a monster of wickedness, insatiable in his lust for blood and plunder. Not content with having all Europe under his heel he has terrorize into various forms of abject submission, he must now carry his work of butchery and desolation among the vast multitudes of Russia and of Asia. The terrible military machine which we and the rest of the civilized world built up jointly, so supinely, so insensately during the years when we saw it growing up, year by year, from almost nothing—this machine must stand idle lest it rust, or fall to pieces. It must be used in unceasing slaughter grinding up human lives and trampling down the homes and the rights of hundreds of millions of men.

Moreover, it must be fed, not only with flesh, but with blood. So now this blood-drinking apparatus must launch his mechanized armies upon new fields of slaughter, pillage and devastation. Poor as are the Russian peasants, workmen and soldiers, he must steal from them their daily bread. He must devour their harvests. He must rob them of the oil which drives their plows, and thus produce a famine without example in human history, and even the savage and brutish wife in history, should he gain it—he has not gained it yet—will bring upon the Russian people, and in itself be only a stepping-stone to the attempt to plunge the 400 or 500 millions who live in China and the 350 millions who live in India into that bottomless pit of human degradation over which the diabolic emblem of the Swastika flouts itself.

Thousand Millions Menaced.

It is not too much to say here this summer evening that the lives and the happiness of a thousand million additional human beings are now menaced with brutal Nazi violence. This is enough to make us hold our breath. But presently I shall show you something else that is far behind, and something that touches very nearly the life of Britain and the life of the United States.

The Nazi regime is indistinguishable from the worst features of communism. It is devoid of all principle except appetite and racial domination. It excels in all forms of human wickedness, in the efficiency of its cruelty and ruthless aggression. No one has been a more consistent opponent of communism than I have for the last twenty-five years. I will unsay no words that I have spoken about it. But all this fades away before the spectacle which is now unfolding. The past, with its crimes, its follies and its tragedies flashes away.

I see Russian soldiers standing on the threshold of their native land guarding the fields which their fathers have tilled from time immemorial. I see them guarding their homes, where mothers and wives pray. Ah, yes, for there are times, when all pray for the safety of their loved ones, for the return of the bread-winner, of the champion, of their protector. I see the 10,000 villages in Russia where the means of existence is wrung so hardly from the soil, but where there are still primordial human joys, where maidens laugh and children play; I see advancing upon all this the onslaught of the Nazi war machine, with its clanking, heel-clicking, dandified Prussian officers, its crafty expert agents, fresh from the cutting and carving of a dozen countries. I see also the dull, brutish, docile, treacherous masses of the Hun soldiery coming on like a swarm of crawling locusts. I see the German bombers and fighters in the sky, still smarting from many a British whipping, and they are likely to find they believe an easier and safer prey.

Cataract of Horrors

Behind all this storm, I see that small group of venomous men who planned, organized and launched this cataract of horrors upon mankind. Then my mind goes back across the years to the days when the Russian armies were our Allies against the same deadly foe, when they fought with so much valor and constancy and helped to gain a victory, from a share in which, alas, they were through no fault of ours, utterly cut out.

I lived through all this and you will pardon me if I express my feelings and the stir of old memories.

But now I have to declare the decision of His Majesty's Government and I feel sure it is a decision in which the great Dominions will in due course concur. We must speak out now, at once, without a day's delay. I have to declare the Decision

Of the British Empire who fight against Nazism will have our full Ally man or State who marches with Hitler is our foe. We shall give no help whatever to Russia but will go all out to destroy Hitler and his regime. We have not the slightest reserve of qualifings who make themselves the tools and instruments of the Nazi regime against their fellow countrymen, or against the lands or their birth. These general principles as to the leaders themselves if not disposed of by the German military command, which would save trouble, will be settled as a matter of course by the victory to the justice of the allied armies.

That is our policy and that is our declaration. It follows, therefore, that we shall give what help or aid we can to Russia and to the Russian people. We shall appeal to our friends and Allies in every part of the world to act in this same manner and pursue it as we shall, patiently and steadfastly to the end.

We have offered to the Government of Soviet Russia any technical or economic assistance which is in our power and which is likely to be of service. The Russian people have a heather discharge of bombs and every kind of weapon of war, and gulp each month a sharper dose of the miseries they have showered upon mankind.

It is noteworthy that only yesterday the Royal Air Force fighting inland over France current down, with great honour to themselves, twenty-eight Hun fighting machines in the air above the French soil, they invaded, defiled and profaned to them but this is only a beginning. From now hence forward, the main expansion of our air force proceeds with gathering speed. In another six months, the weight of the help we are receiving from the United States in war materials of all kinds, especially in heavy bombers, will begin to tell.

Fortified and Encouraged

This is no class war: this is a war in which the whole British Empire and Commonwealth of Nations is engaged without distinction of race, creed or party. It is not for me to speak of the action of the United States, but I will say if Hitler imagines that his attack on Soviet Russia will cause the slightest diversion of aid or slackening of effort in the great democracies who are resolved upon his doom, he is woefully mistaken. On the contrary, the decision of Russia will be a new incentive to our determination and in our resources.

This is no time to moralize upon the policies of countries and Governments which have allured themselves to be the prey of wicked one, when by unified action they could have saved themselves and saved the world from this catastrophe; but when I spoke a few minutes ago of Hitler's blood lust and hateful appetites which have impelled or lured him on his Italian accessories, I said there was one deeper motive behind this outrage. He wishes to destroy the Russian power because he hopes that if he succeeds in this, he will be able to bring back the main strength of his army and air force from the East and turn upon this island, which he knows he cannot conquer or suffer the penalty of his crimes.

No More Than Pretede

His invasion of Russia is no more than a prelude to an attempt indirect upon the British Isles. He hopes no doubt, that all this may be accomplished before the winter comes, and if he can overwhelm Great Britain before the fleets and air power of the United States might intervene. He hopes that he may once again repeat upon a greater scale than ever before that process of destroying his enemies one by one, by which he has so long thrived and prospered, and that then the scenes will be clear for the final act without which all his conquests would be in vain, namely, the subjugation of the Western Hemisphere to his will and to his system.

The Russian danger is, therefore, our danger and the danger of the United States, just as the cause of any Russian fighting for his hearth and home is the cause of free men and free people in every quarter of the globe. Let us learn the lessons already taught by such cruel experience. Let us redouble our exertions and strike with united strength while life and power remains.

Communist Party In United States Issues Statement

New York, June 23.—(AP)— Leaders of the Communist Party in the United States described the German assault on Soviet Russia last night as an attack not only upon the Russian people but upon the people of the United States and the entire world.

"(Russia) is waging a struggle for the cause of the freedom of all nation and peoples", said a statement issued by William Z. Foster, Party chairman, and Robert Minor, Acting Party Secretary.

Condemning the Nazi-Soviet war also came from Norman Thomas, National chairman of the Socialist Party; the committee to defend America by aiding the Allies and the Executive Committee of the Fight For Freedom Committee.

Thomas asserted the conflict gave "new reason for maintaining the fight to keep America out of war"; the committee to defend America by aiding the Allies called for "immediate and decisive action with Great Britain in our common defence" and the fight for freedom group said the German attack was the United States' supreme danger and supreme opportunity.

Shaw Sure Germany Can't Defeat Russia

London, June 22.—(CP Cable)—Germany hasn't "a dog's chance" against Russia, Britain's playwright George Bernard Shaw.

"Both Germany and Russia were faced with the tremendous task of conquering Hitler—which Russia looking on, smiling", said the playwright. "Today, owing to the unconscientious Nazis, Russia have nothing to do but sit and smile while Germany destroys itself.

"Germany can't take any course and steadfastly to the end.

"I have never been in Government of Soviet Russia any technical or economic assistance which is in our power and which is likely to be of service. The Russian people have a heather discharge of bombs and every kind of weapon of war, and gulp each month a sharper dose of the miseries they have showered upon mankind.

Asking Self Whether History Will Repeat Itself

NOTE NOTED

Berlin, June 23. (AP)—The Berlin press today devoted much attention to a new round of comment on the requested closing of United States consulates in Germany but the man on the street nevertheless was worried and asking whether history would repeat itself.

The other generation, which remembers the effects of United States entry into the first Great War, especially looked toward the future with pessimism and at the very least a abandonment of hope that would be terminated within a reasonable time should the present tension lead to a break in diplomatic relations between the U.S. and Germany and should there be a declaration of war.

While the controlled press this week ignored the most important news occupying the minds of the people, Deutsche Diplomatisch – Politische Korrespondenz, official government piece, contended that American consular officials in Germany after the outbreak of war "adopted an attitude which virtually made them English agents."

No Comment Offered

A German spokesman said last night that President Roosevelt's message to Congress on the Pattie Moor case had been carefully noted but declined comment.

As far as the freeing of German funds in the United States was concerned, Hitler's newspaper, Voelkischer Beobachter, arrived at the conclusion that the Russians had "cut his own flesh". The measure, the paper said, was a violation of rights and treaties.

American assets in the United States have been reduced to 120,000,000 marks ($40,000,000), Beobachter said, while German assets in Germany were estimated at 1,700,000,000 marks ($680,000,000).

It is absolutely clear," the paper commented, "that there is nothing left for us to do but retaliate. The only difference is that American business men will have considerable heavy losses, thanks to Roosevelt's measure".

SubBecomesTomb Of 33-Man Crew

Portsmouth, N.H., June 23—(AP)—Divers reached the side of the sunken United States submarine S-4 today, but early afternoon efforts to salvage the vessel and recover the bodies of her 33-man crew.

Instead, the twenty-three-year-old submersible, which made a trial dive Friday and failed to come to the surface, will become the tomb of her crew.

The Navy ordered funeral services, with all rites for burial at sea, tentatively scheduled.

Announcement of the abandonment came from Rear-Admiral Richard A. Edwards, who said it was impossible for divers to work safely deep in the mud.

"In my opinion," said Admiral Edwards, "the crew of the S-4 died instantly."

From Washington, Admiral Harold R. Stark, Chief of Naval Operations, gave his concurrence.

The decision must be to accept the situation as loss of naval personnel at sea, and that life to provide another final resting-place."

Admiral Edwards said two divers were "right down beside the submarine," although neither touched the hull.

While he recovered from the effects of the tremendous pressure in a decompression chamber in the salvage ship Falcon, Chief Gunner's Mate Claude Conger said he "never thought I'd live". It was seen "something that was crumbled up."

Canada to Build Two Destroyers

Ottawa, June 21 —(CP)— Keels for two destroyers of the "Tribal" class are being laid in Halifax, constituting the first destroyer construction to be undertaken in Canada, Munitions Minister Howe told The Canadian Press today.

Mr. Howe said two cargo vessels of 4,700 tons each are to be built at Saint John, N.B., and that facilities in Saint John are being enlarged.

These two projects will put the Maritime Provinces into the large ship-building picture for the first time since the war started.

Shipbuilding facilities at both ports have been largely occupied with repairs and reconditioning since the outbreak of hostilities.

At Halifax the construction of a new floating dock is approaching completion and it is scheduled to be ready for use by December.

The new "tidal" dock is to be completed at Saint John, and plans are planned to accomodate vessels up to 600 feet in length and 80 feet on the high tide. The great rise and fall of the tide at Saint John makes an enterprise of this kind possible, the Minister said.

U. S. Ambassador Rejects Charges Of Italian Gov't

Rome, June 22 —(AP)—United States ambassador William Phillips delivered to the Italian Government today a note in which Washington rejected the Italian charges that United States Consular officials—whom Italy has demanded be withdrawn—had acted improperly.

In an attempt to obtain relief for Americans in Italy whose bank accounts are blocked, the ambassador also informed the Foreign Ministry of regulations under which Italians may obtain money in the United States.

American Consular officials are planning to leave Italy within a week in accordance with Italian orders for their expulsion.

Foxboro

Foxboro — The June meeting of IDA No. 4 was held on Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. Coulter with nineteen present. The president had charge of the meeting opened by singing of the theme song. The Scripture lesson was read by Mrs. F. Derry. Prayer was offered by Mrs. E. Sills and some business items discussed.

Plans were made to hold a general W. A. meeting during July and August. After a hymn, a splendid report of the Convention at Trenton was given by Mrs. Walter Scott and Mrs. C. Bateman read a very nice paper on "The Diary of a Nurse" and also a beautiful poem. A vote of thanks was extended to Mrs. Scott for the splendid report and after singing a hymn the meeting was dismissed by repeating the Mizpah Benediction.

JAPAN MAINTAINS ALOOF ATTITUDE

Observers Believe Country Will Observe Policy of Watchful Waiting

Tokyo, June 22 (AP)—Premier Fumimaro Konoye conferred today with Emperor Hirohito as Japan, outwardly calm, considered carefully the outbreak of war between Germany and Soviet Russia.

It seemed unlikely, however, no immediate move was expected of Japan by foreign observers.

Prince Konoye postponed a scheduled meeting of Japan's cabinet and military leaders while he talked for six hours with Foreign Minister Matsuoka. Matsuoka had been in conference with German Ambassador Eugen Ott for an hour, obviously concerning the Russian-German conflict.

Observers said the Japanese intention apparently was to maintain a cautious policy of watchful waiting.

The third article of the tripartite pact, providing that the war will be "attacked" in providing that each signer is obligated to aid any other that is attacked by a country not a power not then at war.

Meanwhile Germany declared war on Russia it seemed likely Japan could fulfill all treaty obligations by standing by, observers said.

Press Restrained

The press was reserved. The Jordan Chin-Ching-Pao and Japan Times-Advertiser commented:-

"Before the government determines its attitude it behooves all people to maintain an attitude of reserve, to guard their speech and actions.

"Confidence in the cabinet should be the first reaction. . . . Above all things the sincerity and devotion of Japan are dominant and preliminary principles. Japan by the terms of her treaties with Germany and the Soviet maintains friendship with both.

"This implies neutrality and detachment while the future policy of the nation is being determined."

Most foreigners said this development would end Russian aid to Chungking, meaning that Gen. Chiang Kai-Shek must abandon hope of more United States aid. That would increase the interest of hostilities makes the United States more engaged in the Far East more important than before.

INTERCEPT GERMAN SUPPLY SHIP

London, June 23—(CP)—British patrols have intercepted a 4,000-ton German supply ship Babitonga, the admiralty announced today. It said the Babitonga was intercepted by the Port of Brest in Nazi-occupied France in Atlantic waters.

THINKS DESPERATION CAUSE OF NOVE

Saskatoon, June 23—(CP)—Archduke Otto of Austria, Hapsburg claimant to the throne of ancient Austro-Hungary, now touring the west, said today Germany's attack on Russia that sheer desperation must have driven the Nazi leader into armed conflict with Russia.

Little Benny's Note Book

We were eating breakfast and ma said to pop, Here's a letter from my sister Emma from Detroit.

You must answer it some time, pop said, and ma said, it seems Emma has an unusual request to make, it seems she and her husband have taken a fancy to go off on a trip for a few weeks and she wanted to leave her little boy Herbie with us while they're gone.

Yee gods, pop said. As I remember that Herbie child he's such a spoiled brat that it's impossible to keep him in a refrigerater, he said, and ma said, Well, children change.

Often for the worse, pop said, and ma said, I'll read you Fanny's letter.

Wich she did, being, Dear Pawlecen, Allin and I are planning a mildly extended outing trip in the car to get acquainted with nature & things and we have a problem in little Herbit, who is devoted to us both and as we cannot for a few short blocks of shopping, to say nothing of hundreds of miles of a stretch, so Allin and I thought it would be nice if you would ask him to come to you while we are gone. It will be a month at the longest, and we know how time flies. I assure you Herbit wont be any trouble as soon as you get to know his little ways. By that I mean he is a very original child and for instants is rarely hungry at any stated meal time but will apply ravenous at times of his own choosing & was no picky eater as to odd hours, often waking up in the middle of the night with the most urgent empty feeling. Another peculiarity is a tendency to gloss over facts, and as he is quite bright for his age you can find it a few short blocks of shopping, to say nothing of hundreds of miles of a stretch, so Allin and I thought it would be nice if you would ask him to come to you while we are gone. The result being she is still thinking what to say.

Emphasizing the beauty of Lana Turner, Hedy Lamarr and Judy Garland, the trio of feminine stars seen with James Stewart in "Ziegfeld Girl," was the job of Ray June, one of Hollywood's ace cameramen. Miss Lamarr's black tresses required a stronger light than Judy Garland's bronze locks, while Miss Turner's blonde curls necessitated an even softer light. In addition to the technical requirements of lighting, camera angles and photographic values, June had to grasp the atmosphere-ality of his subjects—an art in itself! At the left Cameraman Ray June is seen before starting the camera rolling on one of her scenes in "Ziegfeld Girl," now at the Belle Theatre.

RIVERSIDE DRIVE

The committee meeting of the City Council has recommended to the City Council that "the Chairman of Regional Planning be authorized to obtain options on property necessary for approaches to the proposed Riverside Drive along the east bank of the Moira River, the City Solicitor to prepare the necessary options and also provide for the property already assigned to the corporation by various property owners properly transferred to the City of Belleville and the same to be properly registered in the Registry Office."

It is the opinion of the Ontario Intelligencer, an opinion which is probably held by a large proportion of the citizens, that the project and even the completion of the Riverside Drive should be undertaken in war time. Now there is nothing but praise to be given the committee on regional planning for what has been accomplished in the way of improvements along the riverside of the Moira in the past few years. It has been a good job, which is serving the community well for the parking of motorcars and for relieving the pressure for space on Front and Bridge Streets. And it is a job which so far has not cost much. It has been taking shape over the past few years.

But the time is ripe for undertaking a more extensive program such as the recommendation seems to imply, it would appear that this can be accomplished only at the outlay of considerable money and it is the opinion that nothing should be done to add to the tax burden in a time when war effort is paramount and has the first demand on the people's attention. For instance the government has advised public bodies that building construction is not advised unless absolute necessity impels. In this instance of the Drive it may be felt that the cost would not be great but in undertaking such job it seems invariably the case that where estimated expenditures are pared down, it will in the completion of the job be found such a project will run into unexpected expenditures and be almost always the inevitable extra costs to come up as the work proceeds.

At this time we believe the city council will and should be cautious in embarking on any project of a large amount that can be expended may seem relatively small.

It is felt such a plan should be delayed until after the war when there will in all probability be slackness which will make necessary certain projects to provide employment. Such an undertaking might well wait completion to that time.

The Ontario Intelligencer is not opposing the construction of the Drive project but feels that in view of the problems of today, no steps should be taken which will mean any considerable outlay of money now and add to the taxes. Under normal conditions some such scheme may have a great deal of merit but under existing conditions it would not appear to be advisable at present.

HITLER WARS ON RUSSIA

The gloating, bulging eyeballs of Hitler have long looked towards Russia's vast resources. Treaties do not trouble him. He built up the usual German "preparations" and on Sunday he struck at Russia.

Suddenly the Russo-German conflict has come. The fast-growing aid of the United States for Britain, the stern fact of British steadfastness and confidence in spite of Nazi aerial attacks and the improved British position in the Middle East, along with the pressing problem of finding work for his war machine to do and metals and oil and food to keep it going may have been factors in his decision to blitz Russia as quickly as possible, but the fact is, Hitler always intended to attack the Soviet because of Russia's vast territory and resources.

Mr. Churchill said in Sunday's broadcast Russia's danger is Britain's danger and the danger of the United States. Hitler now threatens a thousand millions more. Hitler and Nazism must be crushed. "Any man or state who fights against Germany will have Britain's aid." This he said and he also declared there had been no more consistent opponent of communism than himself for the past 25 years.

Then there were eight.

Eight Little' Motorists, young and very deft;
One tried to show such skill—
Seven then were left.

Seven Little Motorists, touring in the style;
One fell to dim his lights—
Then there were six.

Six Little Motorists, very much alive
One did not see a train—
Then there were five.

Five Little Motorists, driving in the rain;
One skidded on a curve—
Four now remain.

Four Little Motorists, coming from a tea;
One faced about to chat—
Then there were three.

Three Little Motorists, this is sad but true;
One slumbered at the wheel—
Then there were but two.

Two Little Motorists, racing just for fun;
One passed upon a crest—
Then there was one.

One Little Motorist, though seldom it is done,
Lit a match to gauge his tank—
Now there is none.

WELL DONE, HASTINGS!

You substantially oversubscribed your share of the nation's Victory Loan Campaign—and you are expected—and you came through gallantly.

You could not fail. The ghostly parade of those heroes of early pioneer days who left farm and home to shoulder a musket when the enemy threatened their very doorstep, smiled approval over the week-end.

You proved by your willingness to once again come, and come generously to the aid of Britain in the same struggle as in 1919, when you subscribed nearly three millions of dollars to the current Victory Loan, was no flash in the pan.

You vindicated the faith placed in you by a proud and confident committee. Two millions of dollars is a lot of money. There are approximately fifty-five thousand people in your far-flung sections.

Farmer, miner, trapper, hunter, agriculturist, business executive, industrial leader, laborer, machinist, mechanic, and the many "white-collared" workers, who go to and to make up your cosmopolitan population, welded themselves into a mode that swept the Loan over the top in a manner that bespoke in no uncertain terms your place in this war.

But perhaps there are a few who do not realize the seriousness of the nation's and Empire's situation. Perhaps there are a few who are content to bask in the safety of the efforts of others. Perhaps they do not realize that the time is at hand when Perhaps they think the god Mammon will be offended if they do not pay tribute to his altar.

And when that great day of Victory dawns, and the whole world bursts forth in a paean of Victory and Peace, when the black menace that now threatens civilization and Christendom, has been relegated to that eternal darkness that inevitably awaits it, a small voice will cry within these persons, "what are you cheering for."

That will be their punishment.

But to the others it will be the interest on the finest investment the civilized world has ever offered. In the midst of the huzzas, the cheering, and that glorious realization that at last the world is freed from the tentacles of the greatest octopus of infamy it has even seen, a small voice will cry within them, "Well done."

That will be their reward.

But regardless of that, Hastings has taken her rightful place among the counties of the country which proudly fly the blue pennant of "oversubscription." That she would do so was never doubted in the minds of her loyal sons. She came through with flying colors, thanks to one of the finest exhibitions of co-operation in her history.

Well done, Hastings.

A deluge of rain interfered with the programme arranged for the observance of Coronation Day yesterday. The parade had to be abandoned and the school children dismissed after staging had to seek shelter from the storm. The corner stone of the new Y. M. C. A. building was laid in the afternoon by Mr. Daniel J. Marwatt, Grand Master of the Masonic Grand Lodge of Canada in the Province of Ontario. As the rain prevented the proposed demonstration in the Court House Terrace, the 15th. CHURCHILL'S ORDERS

Stand firm, says Churchill, 'neath the blow;
No trace of fear or weakness show.

Stand firm, and steady keep the hand
And cool the mind to understand.
Stand firm and watch and clear the road
For those who bear the heavier load.

Stand firm! the order first and last
Until the dangerous days have passed.

And second only for all who dwell
After from shrieking shot and shell

Your country, now in peril, asks
Of every son with all your tasks.
Stand firm! the order number one!

The second order: Carry on.
Unfurled are solid-veiled the skies
Still plant and sow and hoe and prune
And build!

Stand firm, undaunted, unafraid,
Still number Britain's debt unpaid.
Stand firm against the tyrant's sword.

This is the order last and first!
But if at easier posts you toil,
At lathe and forge or loom or soil,
The end, till the foe has gone,
Is just as simple: Carry on!

BRITAIN CHEERED

"Russia need have no fear that we shall weaken our effort here in Britain because Hitler is now striking his treacherous blow," the News Chronicle declared. "Far less, even, will our will to help Russians a common aim—to smash the Nazis."

In Sitting Back

The Daily Mail declared: "There must be no sitting back. If we do not use the lull to the full in preparation may prove to be disastrous. We are helping ourselves."

In his 30-minute broadcast Mr. Churchill also said: "To our friends and Allies" take the same course as Britain in helping in the fight.

"Russia's danger is our danger," he declared, "and the danger of the United States."

He offered "any technical and economic assistance within Britain's power and skill."

"We shall bomb Germany by day as well as by night in ever-increasing measure, casting upon them month by month a heavier discharge of bombs and making the German people taste and gulp each month's agony in the measure inflicted they have showered upon mankind."

Only Stepping Stone

The Prime Minister said the Nazi attack to the east is "only a stepping stone to the attempt to plunge the 400 to 500 millions who live in China and Japan, the 350 millions who live in India into the bottomless pit of human degradation over which the diabolical emblem of the Swastika flaunts to-day."

He had no good to say of Communism in declaring the Soviet system is "indescribably worse."

"No one has been a more consistent opponent of communism than I have for the last 25 years," he asserted bluntly. "I will unsay no words that I have spoken about it."

But he declared as vigorously that "this is no class war" and added that Hitler wishes to destroy the Russian power because he hopes that if he succeeds in this he will be able to bring back the main armies and the German air force from the east and hire it upon this island, which he knows he must conquer or suffer the penalty of final defeat.

ON THE RECORD

By DOROTHY THOMPSON

Blood and Oil

"I see by the papers," said Mrs. Crouse, "that Mr. Schmitz is not corresponding with his brother."

"Mr. Schmitz? Who is Mr. Schmitz?"

"Mr. Schmitz," replied the Grouse in the chairman of the General Aniline and Film Corporation,' and I have been reading a report sent to Congress by the S.E.C. regarding its ownership."

The Grouse passed his cup for some more coffee. "Now, it seems that for four years the S. E. C. has been trying to find out exactly who owns the General Aniline and Film Corporation. It keeps changing its name. First it was called the American I.G., then General Aniline and Film, and then ownership is a Swiss concern called I. G. Chemie. And the government would like to know whether the Swiss firm is any relation to the German I.G. Farben, which is, as you well know, the great chemical and dye trust of Germany, now manufacturing bombs, explosives and hundreds of other very important contributions to the attempt of Herr Hitler to blow up the world and remake it in their own image."

"Well, and can't they find out?" "No, it seems as though they can't out. It seems that the Board of Directors don't know, or bring them. All they know is it's a foreign concern. The S.E.C. asked three of the directors whom they were working for, who the real owners were, and they all said that they just didn't have the remotest idea, on account of the Trading with the Enemy Act. They receive their capitalist secrets, it seems."

"It's all terribly mysterious, nobody has the remotest idea whether the German dye trust, or any General Aniline Company or not. Mr. Schmitz, who is the president Mr. D. A. Schmitz, Amerikan born, and the Board of General Aniline, isn't corresponding with his brother, Something-or-other Schmitz."

"What has that got to do with it?"

"Why, if he were, he could just write over and say, 'Dear Brother: I'm working for you, I or not.'"

"You see, Mr. D. A. Schmitz's brother happens to be the chairman of the board of I. G. Farben, the German dye trust."

"Our Mr. Schmitz is an American citizen; naturalized. His brother is a Nazi citizen, lives here. The two brothers head the two concerns and neither knows anything about it. And do you believe that?"

"I allowed as I didn't think it likely.

"They keep moving directors around," continued the Grouse, "but they seem to keep things in the family when they do. For instance Mr. Ilgner was once a director of this mysterious American firm, and also a banker, and a director of the German firm. The last time he was in the papers was when that was when it was called American I.G.—that German dye trust's board was Walter Duisberg, and his father was the man chosen to be the chairman of the board of the German Dye Trust. But Walter, who was born, I believe, in the United States and has always been Amerikan, I don't know whether his father's firm owns Swiss-recorded American Cyanamid, either. And there's a fellow named von Bath on the board, and he is a distant relative of the member of the German embassy who was shot in Paris.

"You would think that with all these personal relations of friendship, in the Nazi government, or in the German dye trust, these guys could find out whom they're working for, wouldn't you?"

The Grouse shoved back his chair and dove into his newspaper again.

And there's a report from Standard Oil of New Jersey. Standard Oil of New Jersey doesn't know anything either. Really, these boys ought to get around more. Two-twelve years ago, it seems they set up a company called Standard I.G. which, as out of coal according to a process they got from the German dye trust. Standard of New Jersey owned eighty per cent, and the German Dye Trust twenty per cent of the stock until the war came along, and then Standard of New Jersey bought it all. If I understand the legal language. Then they changed the name of this company to 'Standard Oil Co.'

"Along about 1939, American I. G. bought our friend General Aniline —got a very large block of stock in General Aniline. That's pretty much stock, that next to Mr. Rockefeller, it was the largest single stockholder. That, it seems, was part of their fighting spirit against patent. They got the stock well beneath the market price. But since then'... Bombs, explosives and hundreds of other very important contributions to the attempts of Herr Hitler to blow up the world and remake it in their own image.

"Well, and can't they find out?" "No, it seems as though they can't out. It seems that the Board of Directors don't know, or bring them. All they know is it's a foreign concern. The S.E.C. asked three of the directors whom they were working for, who the real owners were, and they all said that they just didn't have the remotest idea, on account of the Trading with the Enemy Act. CANADIANS ASKED TO CONSUME LESS PORK PRODUCTS

Appeal Made by Bacon Board So That Greater Supplies May be Sent to Britain

FOR THREE MONTHS

Ottawa, June 23 — (CP) — A plea was made today for Canadians to eat less pork during the next three months in order to assist in larger supplies available for shipment to Great Britain. The request came from the Canadian Bacon Board which suggested the substitution of lamb, beef, veal, poultry and vegetables for pork products of all kinds, including cheese for a time.

The appeal marked the first positive direction given Canadian consumers in their eating habits with a view to assisting Great Britain. Last winter, when a butter shortage was feared there were suggestions that Canadians eat less oat butter eating but that was purely to meet a domestic situation.

The government, through the Bacon Board, announced in March and April of this year the consumption was up to 54,000 hogs per week. The decrease of about 10,000 hogs per week was the result of the action of the Bacon Board regulating, about five weeks ago, the supply of hogs available for domestic trade to the average weekly consumption of 1940.

"This had the effect of increasing the supply of bacon for Britain but the requirements which the British Ministry desires are not being met. Accordingly the people of Canada are asked to co-operate to the full extent possible.

"It is expected that by next fall the marketing of hogs in Canada will be sufficient in volume to meet British requirements and leave plenty for home consumption in Canada.

"It is felt that this appeal to the people of Canada at this time of the year will be met by acts of all kinds, including bacon and hams, will not entail any hardships as there are abundant supplies of other foods available and which will provide very suitable summer menus."

Babson Posts Canadian Readers On Third-Quarter Outlook in U. S.

Babson Park, Mass., June 22—The National Defence Program comes first in the plans of every United States industry. It is foremost in the mind of every worker and the major factor in every city, town, and hamlet in the country. The third quarter will be building on the greatest all-out defence drive Canada's "Good Neighbor Country" has ever experienced. THE PRODUCTION OF WAR MATERIALS MUST COME FIRST; ANY OTHER ITEM WILL BE SECONDARY. Although the United States Government makes armaments in their plants, they will be allowed to continue their regular production. If they can aid the defence program, they must now do everything in the interest.

Outlook Good

The United States has entered the third quarter with business at the highest level in the history of the nation. I expect to see my Babsonchart Index show a gain of about 20% over the summer of 1940. During May, national defence expenditures passed the 800 million mark. By the end of the summer this should be running close to one and a half billions per month.

There was a huge upswing in practically all industries in April and May. Building, however, faces a sharply as it has in the United States during the past year whole sale prices will rise. This is going naturally tend to show similar rising inclination. Price changes to date are much smaller than those during the early years of the previous period of World War I. Certainly consumers cannot long expect or cannot long expect to see retail prices rise as fast. However, an attempt will be made to avoid inflationary prices but some increase in our ordinary costs of living are inevitable.

Optimism Justified

United States businessmen, manufacturers, merchants and bankers now realize they are in a war period. Their optimism, therefore, is absolutely necessary. "Business as usual" is the slogan. Everyone in the world," munitions and supplies officials said. Yet, I foresee serious hitting power, carrying a bomb load of 4,000 lbs. for some distance, and a load almost twice as great as the present maximum for its class.

With the fire power from its defensive gun positions firing in every direction makes the Martin the best fighting defensive plane in its class. It has a tail turret for rear defence, and a power operated twin gun turret for other defence.

The Martin B26 carries the highest-grade bonds reached peak prices some six years ago and have since gradually eased off since sticks have demonstrated strong resistance to declines in adverse news. The all-over picture in the bond field is encouraging and most heartening. The Dominion of Canada bonds are high in quality, ness and profits and should look forward to a successful conclusion to the present war. Their slogan is, "Let us all cheer-up!"

BOMBER CONTRACT INVOLVES OUTLAY OVER 25 MILLIONS

National Steel Car Company Will Construct Martin B26 Bombers

LATEST U. S. DESIGN

Ottawa, June 22 (CP)—A contract for construction of latest type bombers, involving an outlay of over $25,000,000, was announced by Munitions Minister Howe today. National Steel Car Corporation Limited, Malton, Ont., was given the contract to construct Martin 326 bombers, and the contract cost is exclusive of the cost of engines, propellers and instruments.

"The Martin B26 is the last word in United States design in high powered bomber, combining high speed and great range," Mr. Howe said. "The planes are to be built in the company's plant and the contract provides that H. H. Mc Gregor, president of National Steel Car Co., will be responsible for the management and administration of this plant."

"Flying Torpedo" Bomber

The Martin B26, known as the "flying torpedo", is powered with two Pratt and Whitney 2,000 horsepower engines. The ship weighs some 30 tons and is faster than many pursuit planes now fighting in Europe.

"It is reputed to be the most formidable plane of its type designed to date in America, and probably in the world," munitions and supplies officials said. Yet, I foresee serious hitting power, carrying a bomb load of 4,000 lbs. for some distance, and a load almost twice as great as the present maximum for its class.

With the fire power from its defensive gun positions firing in every direction makes the Martin the best fighting defensive plane in its class. It has a tail turret for rear defence, and a power operated twin gun turret for other defence.

The Martin B26 carries the highest-grade bonds reached peak prices some six years ago and have since gradually eased off since sticks have demonstrated strong resistance to declines in adverse news. The all-over picture in the bond field is encouraging and most heartening. The Dominion of Canada bonds are high in quality, ness and profits and should look forward to a successful conclusion to the present war. Their slogan is, "Let us all cheer-up!"

CANON SCOTT WRITES MESSAGE OF WELCOME TO AMERICAN LEGION.

Quebec, June 23—In a message of thrilling spiritual intensity, Canon Frederick George Scott, C. M. G., D.S.O., V.D., late overseas chaplain of the first Canadian division in France, will welcome members of the American Legion who will visit Toronto during the coming week, staged by the Canadian Corps Association July 4, 5 and 6 Padre Scott, who lives at Gilks, national chaplain of the legion, will also address the Toronto meeting as the representative of the Dominion Command at the International celebration.

Canada's welcome to the American Legion, written in response to messages of goodwill from officials of the body, follows:

Throw wide thy gates, O Canada, throw wide thy doors in gratitude. These men who come to us this Dominion are not strangers by blood, brothers in mind and soul. They fought side by side with us in the last war for the defence of liberty. They faced with us a common danger. They shared with us a common victory. But more than all they come to us now to confront shattered the then prevalent idea that war is the sport of governments. They come to us as the governments of the Hollanders by the Mother country and of the Belgians founded the great English speaking peoples and Monroe from Finland.

Driving into the Ukraine, we have the same face a 1,000 to 2,000 miles from the Rumanian border to Kiev, historic capital of the rich Soviets federated State. To the Germans this represents conquest, to capital, is 300 miles from the border.

Britain, at first glance, seems to be presented with a golden military opportunity. Prime Minister Churchill pledged that "any man or state fighting against Hitler will have our aid".

GUARD RAIL WIRE SAVES CAR FROM TOPPLING INTO BAY

Losing control of the motor car he was driving, an automobile driven by Gerald Redner, Amelia-burg, overturned after toppling into the Bay of Quinte off the bay shore driveway early Sunday morning after the vehicle had struck a parked car and bounded across the roadway where Redner's car rolled over, but was saved from toppling into the bay by the cable wire running along the right-of-way. The vehicle was found submerged in the cable.

Later Redner was arrested by Provincial Constables R. R. Patterson and W. Hendren and held in the Trenton jail pending charges. Redner's car collided with a parked automobile owned by Harry Knight of this city. Fortunately no person sustained serious injury.

Ottawa, June 23 (CP)—Hon. R. B. Hanson, leader of the opposition in the House of Commons and acting head of the Conservative party, will start a tour of western Canada on July 5, it was announced at his office today.

Drag Lake Near Goderich for Missing Plane

Port Albert, Ont., June 23—(CP) —Lake Huron, in the vicinity of Goderich, is the area searched for traces of a Royal Air Force training plane and its four-man crew, which failed to return from a flight on Friday, Flt. Lt. C. Fletcher, adjutant of the R.A.F. Navigation School here, said today.

The plane left the base here about 9 p.m. Thursday night and was expected to have completed its fuel for three to five hours flying. It was last definitely located in a radio message shortly after 10 p.m. as being over Port Dover. At 11.57 p.m. a radio message from the ship was picked up.

It has not been heard from since. The search is continuing in "an area as decided upon after consideration of how long the plane's fuel supply would last," Flt. Lt. Fletcher said. "United States planes are still helping in the search which has been extended."

He would make no comment on a report that a fire had hit the missing sut had been picked up yesterday from Chicago and identified as that of one of the missing fliers.

Allies Continue Advance in Syria

London, June 23—(CP)—British and Free French columns have occupied Semeiria, 30 miles south of the Merdjayoun sector of Syria, it was announced today. Damascus, said today and British troops operating southward captured Kuneitra, have completed occupation of Merdjayoun.

Earlier dispatches said the Allied columns were driving steadily ahead on all fronts in Syria, which has been given new importance by her position as the British four-hundred miles from the Russian-German front.

With the Syrian campaign almost complete, reports here indicated the next major push would be into Iraq, Britain, capital of coastal Lebanon.

Letter To The Editor

Citizen Protests Reckless Driving On City Streets

The Editor,
The Ontario Intelligencer,
Belleville, Ontario.
Dear Sir:—

One of the most striking posters in the current campaign for the Canadian Red Cross Society depicts the face of a child looking upwards to-ward. Below are inscribed words like these are the words "Invest and Protect." This poster particularly has appealed to a great many individuals. It has also set many people thinking—the protection of little children on the streets of our fair city of Belleville.

I, as a humble citizen and the mother of two little children, appeal on behalf of the fathers and mothers of Belleville to the police force and every member of the Police Department to carrying on a campaign along with the citizens, to protect our children. Nothing is less, reckless driving on the part of a few is more dangerous.

One has only to stand on one of our corners and watch the care of the taxi companies, commercial delivery vehicles as well as private cars, to realize that there are many recklessly adult the streets, exceeding the speed limit and even with disregard for our stop street signs. All this is done with utter recklessness on the part of all drivers to be aware of their own responsibilities. If this approach does not bring forth the desired results, can not the police force, Crown attorneys make an example of these people by fining them for the use of our streets as flying runways?

Some day a serious accident will happen. Someone's child will be struck down and left dead or maimed for life. Liability insurance, new working brakes, can never repay the damage done. It will be too late then. Now is the time for this to happen for us all to co-operate. Thanking you in advance for your co-operation, I am,

Yours very truly,
F. H. DEACON.

BLOW-OUT CAUSE OF CAR COLLISION

When the right rear tire of a motor car, driven by Mrs. E. Ellis of Trenton, blew out along Highway No. 2, six miles east of Belleville, late Saturday afternoon, the vehicle swerved across the highway and struck a car travelling west and driven by Edward Johnson of Alnwick. The Johnson car left the highway and crashed into the ditch as the result of the impact.

Mrs. Johnson, a passenger in the vehicle forced off the roadway, was taken to the Belleville General Hospital, where severe lacerations were treated by Dr. R. Anderson. Mrs. Ellis also sustained minor cuts, but was treated in the surgery at Dr. R. Anderson. Provincial Constables R. S. Harrison and J. McKenzie investigated.

Allies Capture Ivan Maisky

London, June 23—(CP)—United States Ambassador John Winant called today on Ivan Maisky, Soviet Ambassador in London, who in turn, visited the Foreign Office to confer with Foreign Secretary Eden.

The United States envoy returned to his post during the week-end and after a visit to Washington, making the trip in a bomber.

Vichy, France, June 23—Soviet Ambassador A. E. Bogomolov confirmed today with United States Ambassador William Leahy in a formal review of relations, resulting from war between Germany and Russia.

U. S. CONDEMNS NAZI TREACHERY AGAINST RUSSIA

Under Secretary of State Welles Makes Statement After Conference With Roosevelt

FORMAL DECLARATION

Washington, June 22—(AP)—The United States condemned Germany's "treacherous attack" on Russia today and declared that "any ruthless force of the power opposing Hitlerism" would rebound to the benefit of United States defence and security.

The statement made by Sumner Welles, Under-Secretary of State, after he had conferred with President Roosevelt, left open the question of whether lease-lend aid would be extended to Russia.

Welles said no communication had been received from the Soviet government as yet and consequently the question had not been decided by the American government.

He said, however, that President Roosevelt, in his statement signing the Lease-Lend Act to furnish aid to any country resisting aggression.

The formal declaration of policy read by Welles at a large press conference declared: "The American issue before the American people and before the world today is not a moral conquest was to be successful, it failed and defeated."

Senator Pepper's View

On the question of Lease-Lend aid to the Soviet, Senator Claude Pepper, (Dem.-Florida), was all for it.

Advocate of "affirmative" action on the Atlantic front, Pepper in a statement: "Who will be so short-sighted as to suggest at this late hour that they would rather Hitler would defeat Stalin than to help Russia stop him?

The Lease-Lend Act forbids British obstacle to Germany's war machine received from the United States to any other power, except with the consent of this government, hence the question of American aid to the Soviet is clear.

However, it was pointed out, this obstacle could be overcome by Presidential release to Russia of British-manufactured armaments.

Russia's Strength

The opinion in diplomatic circles was that the question of aid, in the last analysis, depended on Russia's staying power. Some believed the Soviet army had more than ample military equipment for its demand, and they noted that Mr. Churchill in his broadcast yesterday mentioned only technical and economic assistance when he spoke of aid Britain had offered Russia.

Others thought the smashing victory the Nazis would give Hitler resources for a long war if necessary, it would be left to the United States, subjugation of the British Isles, and it might be that the Axis armada would be played in Siberia, through the Bering Strait from Alaska.

Should Russia be able to resist successfully these blows Germany loosened—Germany would be fighting on two fronts, and Hitler's armies never sought to avoid, and the more they fought the more they would quicker the Nazi decline. They argued that if Germany would be unable to help Italy, as in the past, and with sufficient supplies Britain could engage the entire Mediterranean picture.

French-Canadians Addressed by Prime Minister

Ottawa, June 23 (CP)—French-Canadians as masters of their own traditions of French culture, must be the first to defend Britain, France and the world," premier Minister Mackenzie King declared today in a message to French Canada on the occasion of the annual celebration of St. Jean-Baptiste Day, June 24.

These glorious traditions, Mr. King said, were "culture, beauty, love of work and, above all, love of liberty."

Read by Wallace at a large press conference declared: "Our democracy is the American people whether French, English or any other racial composition was to be successful, it failed and defeated."

Senator Pepper's View

On the question of Lease-Lend aid to the Soviet, Senator Claude Pepper, (Dem.-Florida), was all for it.

Oil and Food Nazi Objectives In War on Soviet

(By EDWARD E. BOMAR)

Washington, June 23 (AP)—The Nazi military machine has started its drive for the Soviet Ukraine, source of the food and oil in Southwest Russia, Germany's leaders have hoped for a long war, but other immediate aims are not less certain.

At the outset of this push probably is the most tremendous military operation in history, but the Germans nevertheless appears to be a likely victor in the campaign.

In Berlin, confidence is expressed that the campaign will require only a month.

The first impact of the vast forces loosed by Hitler will be a severe test of the ability of gauging for the time being.

The Red Army, in the judgment of experts, is probably not in so big a way comparable to the Nazi machine. Outfitted, in numbers of troops actually on the fighting front, may be outnumbered.

May Be Outnumbered

Although Ribbentrop asserted that German armies had threatened by 160 Russian divisions, the entire Red Army including the armies massed across far eastern force was estimated, at will, with 125 divisions at the start of the war. The effectiveness of millions of Russian reservists hinges entirely on the outcome of the fighting by troops already in line, the speed with which reserves can be mobilized, and the quantity and quality of the arms with which they can be equipped.

Using the index of mechanized divisions, the Red Army is credited in neutral military estimates with five or 10 of dubious power to probably twenty that Germany can put into action on the Ukrainian plain.

The actual military strength Russia will be able to bring to bear remains an enigma pending events. The war with Finland in the dead of winter was no more a true measure of the Red Army's power than Hitler's march into Russia was a parallel Napoleon's.

Even more than the first pictures of the Flanders and Balkan campaigns, the course of the newest war drive promises to be obscured at the outset. Until accurate reports begin to piece a double censorship, eyes of diplomats and military men will be directed toward the northern and southern flanks of the 2,000-mile front.

Moscow Ultimate Goal

The view that Moscow, along with Leningrad, is an ultimate objective is shared by military observers who believe that occupation of the Soviet capital would be a blow to the Soviet offensive power as definitely as the fall of Paris was a blow to the fate of France.

The alternative is a campaign of limited objectives, foreign to what the Nazis have undertaken heretofore.

Scattered reports of aerial raids on Russian communications in the occupation of the Ukraine as the campaign progressed.

The geographical scale of the Russian campaign is measured not only by the vast distances involved in the fighting between Japan and Berlin.

From Warsaw to Moscow is some 600 miles, and from Moscow to the government of the Hollanders by the Mother country and of the Belgians founded the great English speaking peoples and Monroe from Finland.

Driving into the Ukraine, we have the same face a 1,000 to 2,000 miles from the Rumanian border to Kiev, historic capital of the rich Soviets federated State. To the Germans this represents conquest, to capital, is 300 miles from the border.

Britain, at first glance, seems to be presented with a golden military opportunity. Prime Minister Churchill pledged that "any man or state fighting against Hitler will have our aid".

They'll Do It Every Time — By Jimmy Hatlo

AT THE CAPITOL

"Charter Pilot"

Streaking over the mountain peaks at five miles a minute—and with engine trouble with poison gas! That's just one of the many dangerous situations in which Captain Lloyd Nolan finds himself during "Charter Pilot," now at the Capitol Theatre.

With Lloyd Nolan starred, this new Columbia picture features lovely Lynn Bari at the head of the cast. Also featured are Glenn Whelan and George Montgomery.

Intrigued with mystery, packed with snappy dialogue, "Charter Pilot" has Nolan as a daredevil pilot who flies by night and star who broadcasts his thrilling adventures by day.

Brought together in Honduras, the cast engages in intrigue, face sabotage in the skies. But in a spine-tingling climax Nolan overcomes all obstacles while flip-crackling Lynn broadcasts the unbelievable action.

"Play Girl"

On the silver screen the amazing exploits of a dangerous duo of bandits' balters and breakers will plot for "Play Girl," the new Kay Francis starrer from RKO Radio.

Miss Francis plays the title role, a woman of the world, veteran of many romantic affairs, unsophisticated young girl who reluctantly agrees to her mother's and their partnership is for the ingenious purpose of preying upon millionaires with a weakness for women.

Kay Francis portrays the reckless adventuress who lures her prey into and wiles, and Mildred Coles is featured as her young protege who, because of financial stress, agrees to combine her youth with the older woman's experience in the sale of many susceptible men and their bankrolls.

James Ellison, featured in the masculine lead, provides the romance that brings about climactic situations in the adventurous leading plans. Nigel Bruce, Margaret Hamilton, Katharine Alexander and George P. Hamilton are important supporting roles.

Included on the same bill is an interesting short, "Stranger Than Fiction."

She has a collection of over 250 cards and members went step by step from Detroit to San Diego with her as many convalescents have done and were as pleased as members were. A vote of thanks was given by Joy Putman, president of the W.A. and heartily joined in on by members.

On Saturday evening, Miss Grace Tucker and Miss Bernice Hall of Queen Victoria School entertained at a delightful shower at the latter's home, 14 Henry Street. The guest of honour was Miss Florence Wallbridge, a popular teacher and bride-to-be. Twenty guests were present. The evening was spent in bridge, games and contests. The many beautiful gifts were placed in a decorated umbrella. The prizes which were War Savings stamps were—Shirley Hall, Gloria Orchid and Mrs. Forbes. Miss Fay Young won the garter prize and Miss Willa Elson the contest. Miss Wallbridge made a suitable reply thanking her friends for the lovely gifts. A delicious lunch served by the hostesses brought the evening to a close.

To Be Beautiful, Look Happy

By HELEN FOLLETT

Let the modern woman worry all day right where she belongs, in mid-Victorian novels. She can't cry on our chests and imagine that she belongs in our beauty parlors. We've heard about the lovely creature whose tears looked like sparkling diamonds? Pooh on that! No woman is pretty when she blubbers. Often she makes positively horrible faces when she bawls.

The modern woman wants to appear poised and self-reliant. If she knows her beauty she will be as happy as she can, because happiness brings radiance and sparkle.

Some women's willies are afraid to be happy. They cherish a silly superstition to the effect that if they are happy today one is likely to be miserable tomorrow. The optimist has a pleasanter, more joyful than the pessimist, no doubt about that. The main business of life, will stay that way.

Weddings

JOBLIN—LIPSETT

Deer Park United Church chapel, Toronto, arranged with tall standards of pink peonies and delphiniums, was the scene of the marriage Saturday afternoon of Miss Mabel Margaret "Pat" Lipsett, daughter of Mrs. Lipsett and late Rev. Hershey Lipsett, Toronto, to Rev. Kingsley John Joblin of Weston, son of Rev. F. G. Joblin, Port Perry, formerly of Stirling. Rev. G. Stanley Russell officiated, assisted by the groom's father. Robert Crosby played the wedding music.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, R. B. Lipsett, wore a gown of blush white slipper satin made on princess lines, the skirt falling into a fan-shaped train. She wore pearls, the gift of the groom and a heart-shaped veil with finger tipped veil. The bride carried a shower of roses and bouvardia.

Bridal attendants were Miss Helen Toll as maid of honour, and Miss Dorothy Joblin, sister of the groom, as bridesmaid. They were similarly gowns of forget-me-not blue sheer with shirred bodices and full skirts. They wore matching mittens and on their heads garlands of forget-me-nots with shoulder veils to match their gowns. Each carried a bouquet of roses and gypsophilia. Rev. Fred H. Joblin, brother of the groom, was best man and the ushers were Rev. D. C. Amos of Brantford and Rev. R. A. Mollard, London.

The reception was held at the home of the bride's mother who wore cameo rose sheer with corsage of shower roses and bouvardia. The groom's mother was in biscay blue Nottingham lace with corsage of pink avery roses and bouvardia. After a motor trip east, the couple will reside on King Street, Weston. The bride travelled in a smart navy sheer with accessories complementary roke, mauve straw hat. Both are graduates of Victoria College, and the groom graduated from Queen's. He is minister of Westminster United Church, Weston.

VAN DAMME—SWAYNE

The wedding was solemnized at Morgan Memorial Chapel, Queen's University, Kingston, on Saturday of Marjorie Helena Swayne, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Swayne, Newburgh, Ontario, to Joseph Van Damme, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Van Damme, Arvida, Quebec. The ceremony for the bride officiated and the wedding music was played by Miss Le'ore Black, Kingston.

Given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. Arthur Swayne, of Newburgh, Ontario, the bride wore a floor length gown of white chiffon over taffeta with a finger tip veil, held in place with a band of seed pearls used in her mother's wedding veil. She carried a bouquet of crimson roses. Her attendant was Miss Margaret Peters, of Toronto, a college friend, who was dressed in floor length gown of Queen's blue chiffon taffeta, with shirred jacket, and carried a dusky pink rose. Mr. John Van Damme, brother of the groom was best man.

At the reception held for the immediate relatives, the bride's mother received in a gown of rose sheer, wearing a corsage of rose and cornflowers. The toast to the bride was proposed by Mr. Swayne. Mr. Kenneth Brenton of Peterboro, Ontario, sang a group of songs and rose plaid shark'skin ensemble with beige accessories.

After a short honymoon, the couple will be graduates of Queen's University in Arts and Science, respectively will reside in Kingston until September, when they will leave for Troy, N.Y., where the groom will take a post graduate course at Rensselaer having been awarded a scholarship in mechanical Aeronautics.

DR. DAFOE'S COLUMN on the Quintuplets and the Care of Your Children

BONE BREAKS MUST RECEIVE IMMEDIATE MEDICAL CARE

Children naturally will climb, and they will have falls; if you are spending the summer out in the country, you would be wise to find out something about how to care for breaks and sprains until medical help arrives.

A doctor usually likes to get a patient with a broken bone or a sprain to where he can have a look at it under the X-ray. Without it one can't always be sure as appears often the case, between sprained by broken bones. When I couldn't get my patients to an X-ray, I simply treated most sprains as though there were breaks too.

Usually, however, when a break occurs in an arm or leg it doesn't require much diagnosis; it is quite apparent what is the matter. There probably is an angle in the normally straight limb. If it is a leg that is broken, the victim can't stand on it. If it is an arm, it cannot be moved. In every case, the jagged ends of the broken bone may be actually protruding through the flesh.

Well, there are broken bones to deal with, the best thing to do is leave the patient where he is until the doctor arrives. If this can't be done, then splints should be placed on the limb to hold it so that movement will be stopped, but see to it that the limb is kept from moving. In every more may aggravate the break, and make the setting more difficult.

Footwear for children today mostly takes the form of oxfords. This style maybe all right during most of the year, but in summer when they are in camp, romping around over rough ground, jumping out of trees and doing a bit of climbing, I advise the old-fashioned high shoe, for it is quite easy under these circumstances, to turn an ankle, particularly if the child is wearing low shoes that give no support to the ankles.

Ordinarily, a sprained ankle occurs when a person steps on something that causes the foot to be turned in suddenly and unexpectedly. The boy isn't ready for the sudden wrench, and it hasn't time to go with the foot. The muscles, tendons and ligaments on the outside are badly stretched or, in the case of bad sprains, torn loose altogether. When this happens, the ankle swells rapidly, and any weight put on the foot causes pain. People who have had both a sprain and a break will tell you that the former is the more painful of the two. I have no reason to doubt them.

First thing to do for a sprained ankle pending the arrival of a doctor, is to bind it securely in adhesive tape, so as to relax the muscles that have been stretched or torn.

Take a strip of half-inch or one-inch adhesive tape, about twenty inches long. Bend one end to the inside of the leg, four to six inches above the foot. Then bring the adhesive down, underneath the instep, around and up the outside of the leg, keeping the foot flat all the time. This should put the ankle to the outside, and relax those strained, injured tendons. Three more strips of adhesive, the same size, should be applied the same way, but the second and third strips should be put around the leg, to bind the long strips and keep them from slipping.

For Tuesday, June 24

THIS DAY may be notable for marked progress, with profit and security attained by breaking away from old methods and inaugurating new, even revolutionary, methods, judging by both lunar and solar aspects. This initiative, with the audacity to cast out routine and traditional ideas and tactics, should come to the attention of influential personages who may bring you in collaboration with these in community or public interest as well as for private advancement and gain. Nevertheless, the ways must be steady and sound rather than impulsive.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year of definite advancement and progress, with public as well as private gain, largely by employing fresh tactics and daring to abandon the traditional, obsolete and routine. Such bold work may prosper for the community or group welfare and gain the co-operation of powerful people or institutions. But these demand soundness, clear plans, and steadiness rather than reckless, impetuous and too aggressive action. Also there will be need for vigilance as to deception.

A child born on this day should have many qualifications for steady and enduring security if he dare abandon worn out ways and means and employ radical measures of collective or public progress as well as private gain.

WOMEN DRESS FOR EACH OTHER, NOT FOR MEN, SAYS FAIRFAX

The question whether women dress to please men or for each other has been definitely settled, it seems, by the long martyrdom they have served to unbecoming hats.

The age-long controversy has been waged for centuries concerning the question of whether or not men were born to charm gentlemen in the sweltering, and thereby assuming milliner's bills for life, or to incite sisterly rivalry.

As long as woman's place was in the home, and it was necessary to anger a man to provide one, or live in the home of a married relative an an unpaid drudge, fashions were created to bewitch the male into offering a permanent alliance. But now that women have got the vote, now that they enter the professions, politics, mild sports and go in for careers, they dress to outdo each other, whether the clothes they wear are becoming or not.

Sarah Bernhardt said, and no one could have been more of a siren than the Divine Sarah, that skirts created mystery and that mystery was woman's chief asset. What would Sarah say to see women wadding along in slacks, their heads done up in handkerchief turbans which suggest the bandage the cook used to tie around her head in the good old days when she gave notice she had a headache and would stand no back-talk?

We hear of a prominent movie star going into a dining room in "formal shorts." Will someone please tell me what are "formal shorts?" But now there is a ray of hope across the dreary horizon of the clothes women buy to outsmart each other. Milo Anderson, a Hollywood stylist and best known for his adaptation of period gowns for the screen, says that for the first time in ten years women's hats have started to be becoming.

Brimmed hats are becoming to almost every type of face; to the young, because they gave a certain piquancy to the features; to older women because they shade telltale wrinkles. Even if Mrs. Jones next door is wearing a sports felt the color of a lime rickey fizzle, if she's wise, will not follow suite. When the older woman falls for something in tomato red, she rises to turn the trick with a vermillion lipstick and scarlet nail polish. Let us hope that her eyes do not reflect her handiwork in her mirror.

Even if a woman has been taught since babyhood to conceal the fact that she has brains, it will be safe in employing them by studying her own type. Transferred to clothes, it's the old adage of what's one man's meat is another man's poison. Since it's the present fashion for every woman to be as thin as Camille, it's well for the thin beauty to not to select style which exaggerate her attenuation. Even women look charming in bouffant skirts that may or may not conceal hoops. But for the love of Mike, let the little fatty beaver of the bouffant! Few that woman is accorded in public life let it be said that she cannot select her own dressing when she selected her clothes to please her current best friend than she does at the present time, when she buys hideously unbecoming things to "show" her neighbor.

BUT IT WAS THE FIRST TIME SHE HAD EVER MADE JAM

Katie proves to Jack how Easy Jellies and Jams are made with CERTO

JACK: If that marvellous jam you made the other day was a first attempt, I'll eat my hat!

KATIE: Then watch me make another batch. You see I happened to read CERTO. It gives sure results. For jam I only need a one-minute to two-minute boil . . . for jelly a half-minute to a minute!

KATIE: There now! You saw how little juice had time to boil away? That means I get about one half more jam or jelly than if I had used old-fashioned methods.

JACK: Quick, easy and economical! Maybe I spoke too soon!

KATIE: I'll say . . . and that sheet boil can't affect the taste or color either. Certo jam or jelly tastes and looks like the fresh fruit.

JACK: Mm-m-m . . . This does taste good . . . looks fine, too . . . it's so easy I could do it myself!

Use CERTO for Jams and Jellies. It saves Time and Work. Gives SURE RESULTS.

Woman, Get Off High Heels!

Alice Faye believes in wearing well-fitted, comfortable shoes.

By HELEN FOLLETT

FOR HER trotters, which carry her from bed to bed, place to place, average woman has no respect at all. She wears shoes that are too small, she hobbles painfully on spiked heels, she will endure any kind of discomfort if she thinks it makes her feet attractive to the eye. And this in an age when women vote, are eating into the arts and industries, flying airplanes, invading what has been man's special realms without batting an eyelash.

The power of Madame Fashion is strong and now that she is offering smart looking boots that are built on sound, sensible principles let us hope that the dearhearts will come back to their levels, get down to earth, and be able to walk like healthy human beings.

WHEN school is over there will be a new army of job hunters. The chance of getting work will depend in a certain degree upon the appearance of the applicant. The prospective boss must judge quickly. Her qualities as a worker, her powers of dependability, efficiency must be taken on faith; time will tell about them. If she has a pleasing set manner, is neither shy nor forward, she will have an excellent start.

Only a foolish girl will fancy that she can land a job by wiles, but her bearing and appearance do like and to act that way. If she has a slip that's showing, make-up, she is likely to come home with it as long as your arm.

A little lipstick, yes, because the lipstick has become an institution, but not too much of it. If the brows must be darkened, use mascara instead of the crayon which is so frequent.

The smartest outfit consists of the well-fitted suit and handbag, a satin blouse.

The hat-fashions is important. Keep it as youthful as you like, but have it in good taste. Remember there is a horror any place, but in shop or office. The girl who thinks it is the belief of this beauty preacher that many girls and women could stand improving in appearance of their heads.

Be dainty. The girl who suffers from excessive perspiration hasn't a chance. She is a nuisance to every girl. There is no excuse for it anymore. Science has made it possible to have any number of preparations that will give relief to even the worst case.

About shoes—short the spiked heels that make a terrible clatter. Wear smart shoes which accentuate heels.

Adoring Wife's Love Is Theme of Letter

Have some women such a gift for luring that almost any fairly tame and amiable man can serve as a doormat for them to spend their love upon?

And are such the fortunate ones, after all? Let's consider the point.

The other day I had rather a strange letter from a girl we'll call Betty. She is 25 and has been married for several years. Recently her husband, Tom, has come East from Seattle to pay her first visit to her daughter's home.

As soon as Tom, the husband, left the house to go to work, Betty knew that her moment had come, the great, emotional moment she had dreamed of, when she and Tom's mother could confess to each other their adoration of Tom. So to Betty, all aglow, began. She told how she loved Tom and how much. It took her a long time.

When she had finished, Mrs. C. sat silent. Betty prodded her with questions.

"Why, yes," Tom's mother said. "Tom is a dear boy. He never gave me any trouble. Tom had a hard time getting through school and he was always timid with the girls. And he's not as bright, I suppose, as his brother Ed, who's made such a success in the automobile business. But Tom is mighty sweet, no matter with Tom."

And that was all she had to say. Betty has been thinking it over ever since. Could Tom's mother, she asked me, be blind to the kind of a man Tom really is? Or was it that the glorious Tom she was so terribly in love with didn't after all exist and her precious husband Tom was after all no more remarkable a person than his own mother believed him to be?

Knowing the poor girl's happiness was in danger, I wrote to her in all sincerity, assuring her that she had love itself was the important thing and that she must cling to it. What did it matter whether Tom was a hero or something less than a hero? Love is the great test of success. That is enough, Let it go at that.

I will add, however, that there are many women who, like Betty, have a gift for loving almost to the extent that they create, in a sense, the husband they are in love with. They meet a man who may be a fairly commonplace specimen at all. Some little way of his takes their fancy and from then on they proceed to idealize him, wreathe him with garlands of their imagination until they see him as worthy of the tremendous love that has been awaiting an object. And the trick is done.

Such girls, of course, in danger of disillusionment. Sometimes that disillusionment is tragic.

should the beloved prove glaringly unworthy. But even then I wonder if it isn't worth while to have had an experience as this big-hearted, understanding love. It's transfigures a woman to love in this large, unselfish way.

Can such love last, under happy conditions? I think it can. I've written it lasts for a lifetime. It is possible to put a man and a girl together, an adoring wife of this type and have not very much more about her husband than she knew at the beginning. His faults are detail. He may have a few that he conceals ever-so notice, He has given her the an excuse for blossoming and bearing fruit. In her case, that has been true. They are both fortunate.

Also if you yourself are in love, don't attempt to gauge your love in the light of what I have said. For if you're not that type, if we do in all sincerity, assuring her that she is not, you'll never know it.

WHAT TO DO FOR POISON IVY SUMMER PLAGUE IN CAMPS

One of the most common afflictions of summer camp, among both children and adults, is poison ivy, and this isn't surprising considering that the plant is found all over North America, though it is virtually unknown elsewhere. Certain localities seem to be free from it, but location of the plant doesn't follow any geographical rule and so wherever you may be this summer, be on the lookout for it. There are persons who claim they aren't sensitive to poison ivy, but I doubt that. Anyway, I urge them not to wear it as a garland.

The poison ivy plant is small, short and green, with leaves growing in clusters of three, bright green and very shiny. This shiny surface is one of the best ways of identifying the plant; there are other plants with three leaves, but few have this typical shiny surface. The leaf is usually about two inches long, with a somewhat notched outline. Poison ivy has no flowers but in the fall the leaves become brightly colored.

I always think the plant's name "ivy" is misleading. I have known people to get the poison by walking in fences and trees, searching for a climbing plant. It is not a climbing ivy, but a trailing, creeping one.

Sometimes, immediately after contact with the plant, the infected part becomes red and blisters appear, but other times the symptoms do not appear for a couple of days. Then they enlarge into a solid break, spreading a clear liquid over the skin. This spread is the real danger. The rash is irritating and itching; scratching it serves only to spread the infection. Scratching breaks the blisters, and if some of the fluid gets on the fingernails, it may spread the infection to other parts of the body.

Like a good many of the conditions I speak of, you can help a boy by poisoning can be very painful and troublesome. I can recall that more than once I have found a child with his face so swollen that his eyelids were almost closed and require a doctor's treatment. I don't know of any way to prevent the rash, so I always attempt to make sure that everyone around will keep the disease from spreading.

Bathing the rash in a solution of soda and water is soothing. If you wash the affected part with alcohol it tends to break up the infection and keep it from spreading. Then apply calamine lotion, then soap and water is good.

UNSUSPECTED PHYSICAL ACCIDENT CAUSES

One of the most disturbing experiences a doctor has to go through is to be called in to see a fine, healthy child who has been badly injured in an accident, and have had this experience many times in my practice, just as most country doctor has, and the more of it I attend, the more I am convinced that there ought to be more punishments for adult negligence.

I suppose nearly every person has a friend or an acquaintance who seems "allergic" to accidents. We know one such man and his continual moan is "Why does everything happen to me?" You know the kind of people I mean; the ones of whom you say: "My, doesn't Jim have the worst luck."

I know that in my practice I get accustomed to having some patient's figure in accident cover and over. Whenever I get an unexplained call to the Jones home, I say to myself as I gather my instruments: "What's poor Johnny done to himself now?" And usually it is Johnny all right, with a broken arm, or a sprained ankle, or a bad cut. Every now and then, some little Johnny's career is cut off because he has not learned to be sure-footed or to watch him up.

Well, I'm convinced that it isn't that bad luck that does these individuals who have all the accidents. I am quite sure I have the trouble is with the individual himself. In fact, he doesn't know he's taking care of himself.

I always think the accident-prone people isn't a good person to have around. In particular such a person is a bad risk to have at the wheel of a car when your are a passenger.

I recall one young fellow who lived next to me. Again and again, passengers in a car would refuse to go with him, because of his record of suffering from injuries. I finally felt it my duty to have a straight talk and told him I thought there was something wrong with his boy. The doctor pooh-poohed me at first, but was sure his son was just full of youthful spirits. Eventually, one of the young fellow in the office and the observations of one sure his eyes were bad. I induced him to go with me to see a specialist who was suffering from a peculiar defect in his sight. The specialist was amazed when he found that the boy drove at all.

Of course, sufferers a series of apparent "accidents", it just isn't coincidence. In fact, it was after every one mishap to tell yourself, "Well, it's done and I guess it can't be helped. It was just an accident." Set it down to bad luck, be very patient and getting to the bottom of it is a good idea. The next one may be fatal. Anyway, you won't want your child to grow up with a handicap.

Of course, every youngster is going to have plenty of mishaps in his life and healthy young bodies do heal quickly, as a rule. Take them. But if your child is continually injuring himself, you have a very little bit of investigating. See what you can do to help him. Maybe it's a case of bad eyesight. Maybe it's a case of bad habits. Anyway, you won't want your child to grow up with a handicap.

GOOD MANNERS

MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

NOTE OF CONGRATULATION MUST BE ANSWERED

When you receive a note of congratulation or good wishes, the chapter of politeness isn't closed until you send a note of appreciation of this thoughtful attention.

Your friend's kind words may be to send your good wishes for your birthday, your graduation, your engagement, your marriage, your wedding anniversary, or for any other of the milestones of your life. They may be words of congratulation on your new business position or promotion, or on how well you sang at a concert, or what a good talk you made at your club meeting, or what fine work you did on a committee, or any other achievement.

It's heart-warming to receive words of approval or best wishes on these occasions from friends. Courtesy demands that we write to tell these thoughtful friends how happy their words of congratulation or approval have made us.

First Mass

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I have been invited by a man and his wife, but I don't know if I may only casually, to attend their son's first Mass, and to attend the reception afterward.

1. Is it necessary to send him a gift?

2. Is it correct to congratulate him? And is it correct to congratulate his parents?

Anne

1. No, it is not necessary for you to send a gift, but you should be expected of you, especially since he and his family are not close friends of yours.

2. You should express sincere words of congratulation to the parents; tell him how honored you were at being invited to this interesting occasion. Also congratulate his mother and father on the fine results of their achievement, and make them feel your understanding of their pride in their son.

Discontinue "Junior"

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

A grandfather, his son, and his grandson all had the same name. The grandson is now a married. What form of name should the grandson use?

P. N.

After the death of the senior John Smith, his son discontinues using Jr. after his name. The man is now John Smith. The grandson becomes John Smith, Jr.

Pattern 4686 By ANNE ADAMS

What are the questions you ask yourself when you decide to make a new frock? Will it be flattering and slenderizing to my figure? Will it require much fitting? Will it be simple to cut out and to sew? Will it be useful? Here's a frock that is a visit YES to all three questions—Pattern 4686 by Anne Adams. It's a one piece model and a dress that looks so simple can do much wonders for your appearance. Every detail is becoming; the square young neckline, the long shaped yokes that hold gathered fullness in front, the tucked darkness above the waist . . . the very slimming all-around gores of the skirt, that don't waste cloth. Could be shown, though a three-quarter version is included. Choose a nearly patterned print!

Pattern 4686 is available in women's size 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48. Size 36 takes 3 3/4 yards 39 inch fabric.

Yankees and Giants Score Important Victories Over Tigers And Cards to Jumble Standings

Yanks Smash Major Home Run Record and Dimaggio Hit Safely in 35 Games

FELLER WINS 15TH

By SID FEDER

(Associated Press Sport Writer)

From the shores of the Harlem to the banks of the Gowanus there was a happy hangover today among the baseball-batty inhabitants of New York city.

The fans were praising Joe DiMaggio and company of Yankee stadium for smashing a Major League home run record Sunday. They were thinking of naming a street after Bill Terry for the way his Giants knocked off St. Louis Cardinals in both ends of a double-header and as for the Dodgers, Larry MacPhail and Leo Durocher could have anything they wished as a reward for the double job the Daffiness Boys did on Cincinnati.

The Yanks were only two games away from Cleveland Indians in the American loop, as a result of a 5-4 decision over Detroit's Tigers. The big thing was that Joe DiMaggio and Red Rolfe snapped a pair of homers during the ball game, and this made it 18 straight tilts in which the Bronx Bombers have homered, thereby wiping out the record of 17 in a row which the Tigers set only a year ago. What's more, DiMaggio's poke marked the 35th straight game in which he has hit safely, leaving him six away from George Sisler's modern Major League record.

With a record Cincinnati crowd of 30,709 on hand, the first game against the Reds Sunday saw the Giants before Brooklyn grabbed it 2-1 on Dixie Walker's squeeze play. Paul Derringer pitched his heart out and his arm off going the route and but they couldn't hit for him. Kirby Higbe found all the holes in the Red bats in the nightcap, served up a three-hitter and won 3-2.

Hubbell Beats Cards

King Carl Hubbell knocked off the Cards for the Giants 4-3 in the first game in St. Louis on the strength of a three-run ninth-inning rally, and young Johny Wittig threw in a five-hitter to take the night-cap 3-2.

Bobby Feller of Cleveland posted his fifth shutout of the season in whipping Washington Senators 6-0, with a seven-hit performance that thereby reaching the halfway mark in his campaign to hit the 30-game-winner bullseye this year.

The White Sox and Philadelphia Athletics traded shutouts, Chicago winning the first 14-0 behind Ted Lyons and the A's taking the second 2-0 back of Phil Marchildon.

Jimmy Foxx's homer led the way to a 7-5 Red Sox victory in the Boston opener, while St. Louis Browns banged out 13 hits for a 12-3 edge in the afterpiece. Chet Laabs hit two homers and drove in nine runs during the afternoon.

Braves Whip Cubs Twice

Boston's Braves whipped Chicago Cubs twice, 6-5 on a two-run ninth-inning rally, and a 3-2 on Alva Javery's six-hit hurling.

Pittsburgh downed the Phillies 4-1 in their opener behind Truett Sewell's steady hurling and Phils took the nightcap 7-4.

In Saturday's games in the National League, Ernie White hurled his second two-hitter in a week, a 5-0 St. Louis shut out of the Giants. Brooklyn succumbed to Cincinnati 4-1, Joe Bowman, ex-Phillty hurled Pittsburgh to a 2-0 triumph over Philadelphia. In Chicago, Boston Braves battled through 10 innings before whipping the Cubs 6-5. Gene Moore's double scored Paul Waner with the winning run in the 10th.

In the American League, shortstop Lou Boudreau's wild throw in bone plate let in the winning run to break up the season's tightest pitching duel—Ken Chase beating Al Milnar—as Washington Senators won a 1-0 15-inning game from the Indians. Chase, who has allowed only one run in his last 22 innings, gave up eight hits. The Yankees beat the Tigers in Detroit. The Bombers hammered three Boston Red Sox hurlers for 16-hits and a 13-9 victory.

BUFFALO BISONS MOVE FROM 4TH TO SECOND PLACE

Buffalo, Montreal and Rochester All Won Twin Bills on Sunday

HEAVY HITTING

(By The Associated Press)

Judging by a quick survey of the standings of the last week, the current era of International League baseball players should be known as the batting era, with ends to enter what is left of vaudeville as quick-change artists.

Since the previous week ago, Buffalo Bisons have climbed from fourth place to second place and a one-game winning streak and Rochester has moved from fifth place into third progress. Montreal Royals, who had been second to Newark Bears all season until they dropped to third a week ago, dropped to fourth and came back to win third in the Jersey City, after a gainful climb into fifth place, couldn't improve on that position even though they ran their winning streak to 11 games before it was shattered. Still they're a threat to the first-division clubs now.

The positions remained unchanged in the first division, as Buffalo and Rochester all won double-headers to remain on the league-leading Newark Bears were the only first-division club to fail, losing a 3-0 battle to Jersey City.

Glenn's ... currently the circuit's hottest team, stretched their own winning streak and ended Syracuse's by whipping the Chiefs 10-1 and 8-2 with strong pitching and heavy hitting.

Fewler Beaten on Two Hits

Montreal let the last-place Toronto Leafs make a good showing but one good enough. The Royals hopped on Vallie Eaves at the start to open up for 7-3 as Vic Sorrell was pitching his first complete game for Montreal, gave only four hits after that period, with fourth-inning home by Jack Graham won the nightcap for Montreal 1-0 as young Dick Fowler gave them only two hits and Steve Gromek allowed the Leafs three.

Rochesters 10 hits, including seven home runs, were too much for Baltimore Orioles, who got off to an early lead in each game but blew it to the Wings' six-and-seven-run rallies. Final scores were 8-6 and 13-5.

Potsee Hurls Two-Hitter

Frank Pearce, veteran Jersey City hurler, was responsible for Newark's downfall. He held the league leaders to two singles, one two of the Jerseys' seven elows, scored one run and batted in the other.

In Saturday's games, Jock Graham drove in five runs with a homer, double and single, to pace Montreal to a 12-3 victory over the Bears. Syracuse made a clean sweep of their four game series with Toronto, beating the Leafs twice, 4-1 and 4-3. Baltimore unlimbered a four-hit, four-run blow in the 11th inning to beat Rochester 9-3. In a night game, Buffalo Bisons edged out Jersey City Little Giants 2-1 to sweep their four-game series.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

(By The Associated Press)

Joe DiMaggio, Yankees: Hit homer and double in 5-4 victory over Tigers.

Johnny Rucker, Giants: Drove in winning run in first game and tripled to send two scores across in nightcap in 4-3 and 3-2 double victory over Cards.

Ted Lyons, White Sox and Phil Marchildon, Athletics: Traded shutouts, former pitching seven-hit opener and latter tossing five-hit nightcap.

Dixie Walker and Kirby Higbe, Dodgers: Former laid down squeeze bunt to send home winning run in 10th inning of opener against the Reds; Higbe tossed three-hitter to make nightcap 3-2.

Bob Feller, Indians: Blanked Senators 6-0 with seven hits.

JIMMY DEMARET AND BEN HOGAN WIN GOLF MATCH

The Two Texans Ripped 42 Strokes Off Par in Seven Rounds

SPLENDID GOLF

Toledo, O., June 23—(AP)—Jimmy Demaret and Ben Hogan were headed home today after, enjoying a profitable week-end of golf in the Inverness invitational four-ball matches.

The two Texans ripped 42 strokes off par in their seven rounds against as many pairs of the nation's top-flight professionals, finished three points ahead of their nearest rival, and pocketed $1,000 each in cash—a matter of $250 a day plus expenses which included board and room.

In second place were P. G. A. Champion Byron Nelson, the host pro, and his partner, long-hitting Jimmy Thomson, who divided $1,200. Lloyd Mangrum and Harold (Jug) McSpaden, were third, garnering $600 each.

Others, in order of the finish: Henry Picard and Johnny Revolta, $700; Horton Smith and Lawson Little, $600; Sam Byrd and Johnny Bulla, $500; Dick Metz and Clayton Heafner, $400, and Ralph Guldahl and E. J. (Dich) Harrison, $300.

Holsted Money Winnings

Hogan, last season's leading money winner, holsted his 1941 earnings to $10,000 with the win. No. 1 spot within $500 of the figure with which he paced the pros a year ago.

The 16 stars in their four-day jaunt around the Inverness layout, attracted about 25,000 gallerytes at better than $1 each, and the customers watched the four golf shotmakers connect with 314 birdies, six eagles and a hole in one. Even the rain, forerunner of Hurricane Gulda which was 37 under par for 72 holes, failed to dampen Mc-Spaden, in third place, had the best single round by knocking 8 strokes off even figures.

The professionals split up $7,000 in prize money, plus all expenses. Masters and McSpaden received $100 extra for the best 18-hole round of 62, for another $300 for the most birdies, 46. Nelson and Thomson tied for the low score of 62 in each individual title.

Ralph Guldahl, who paired with Dick Metz to finish third in the tourney, finished last as Snead dropped out because of a back injury and Harrison was rushed in as a last-minute substitute.

HOCKEY RULES CHANGED

Kansas City, June 23 —(AP)— There will be no sudden death scoring in American Hockey Association games next season. Association governors decided yesterday that all games will be played according to National League rules. Under the old system the first team that scored in the sudden death overtime period won a game tied at the end of regular play.

Next season in the event of a tie at the end of regular playing time, two five minute overtime periods will be played out. If the teams still are tied, the game will be called a tie.

HOW TO RELIEVE PILE TORTURE QUICKLY AND EASILY

If you are troubled with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not delay treatment, and run the risk of letting this condition become chronic. Any itching or soreness or painful passage of stool is nature's warning that proper treatment should be secured at once.

For this purpose get a package of Hem-Roid from J. S. McEwen or any druggist and use as directed. This formula which is used internally is a small, easy to take tablet, and will help relieve the itching and soreness and aid in healing the sore tender spots. Hem-Roid is pleasant to use. It is highly recommended and it seems the height of folly for any one to delay in getting and chronic pile condition when such a fine remedy may be had at such a small cost.

If you try Hem-Roid and are not entirely pleased with the results, your druggist will gladly return your money.

Recipes are mounted on a reel in a new holder and exposed as desired under a transparent window without being touched by the fingers by turning knobs.

POLICE BLOTTER

Two Trenton residents sustained minor injuries when the motorcycle upon which they were, riding was in collision with the rear end of a motor car on West Bridge St. early Sunday evening. The motor bike riders, Gordon and Berry, driver and Mrs. Jean Rose, pillon rider, both of Trenton. Berry received a knee laceration when hurled to the pavement, while Mrs. Rose complained of an arm injury when Constables Ellis and Taylor investigated.

Berry's motorcycle collided with the rear of a motor car driven by Bertie H. Rooth, 64 Everett St., near the intersection of James and West Bridge Sts. shortly before 8.00 o'clock Sunday evening. The motor cycle was thrown into the James Street when struck from the rear by the motorcycle.

City police were informed that a parcel of groceries had been stolen from a parked automobile on the Riverside drive project Saturday night. Later police arrested two teen-aged children on Coleman St. and recovered the articles, which included a quantity of groceries, which were being taken away in a small child's wagon.

A brace of inebriates and another minor accident kept the police busied Saturday night.

THE WAR TODAY

By DON GILBERT

Canadian Press Staff Writer

Britain's first action in the new situation created by war between Germany and Russia will be to travel prolong and intensify the gigantic war offensive that for the past 12 days and nights has hammered at the war industries of western Germany and the ports, shipbuilding facilities and invasion bases along the German and German-occupied coastline.

This air offensive will demand the presence in western Europe of a substantial portion of Germany's best aircraft and best flying personnel if it is to go on its chaos. Hitler will either have to see his allies crumble or to progressively heavier scale or allow the Russian campaign to go on without the maximum support of the first Great War.

The German objective beyond Kiev was mentioned as Kharkov, 200 miles northeast of Kiev, which the Soviets made the capital of the Ukraine for 15 years after the last war because they considered Kiev too vulnerable. Kharkov represents a good jumping off point for a drive on the Caucasus, where the Russian oil industry is centred.

Starring at the McCarthy Theatre in "It's a Wonderful World," Claudette Colbert brings to the screen a rib-tickling, tongue-in cheek characterization, reminiscent of her never-to-be-forgotten role in "It Happened One Night!" popular James Stewart is the leading man in this laugh riot.

CHAPTER TWENTY-THREE

THERE WAS something vaguely sinister in the stranger's utter immobility: in his intent regard that was fixed upon the people in that lighted room, among them Donald's wife. Suddenly an almost unreasoning anger burned deep in Donald as he took a step forward, calling sharply, "Hey, you — what are you doing there?"

Instantly the man straightened, whirled, saw him, and plunged into the jungle. It was pitch dark there and Donald was unarmed. So he made no effort to follow. Instead, he went on into the house, carrying the violin case, inside the living room door, he checked swiftly, saw that there were five men there, just as he had somehow known there would be.

"Did either of you step outside the window there just now?" he demanded.

They looked up, startled, and a chorus of negatives answered him.

"What's up, old man?" demanded Tom, coming swiftly toward him.

"It's probably nothing at all — some prowler," said Donald, and explained what he had seen. "Probably the fellow's hanging around—" he added hurriedly, noting the white, frightened faces of the women.

"Yes, of course," Tom said with the same false heartiness. "There's nothing to be afraid of, people. And now, Mrs. Heath, we are all anticipating a treat."

June took her violin from Donald, but her eyes met his, questioningly. Donald nodded at her and said frankly, "Chances are I was mistaken. I probably didn't see anything at all, it could be that my eyes tricked me. That mango tree out there — could look like an army with banners, if you wanted to look at it a certain way."

"Of course," said June, taking the violin from its case, cradling it beneath her chin, and drawing the bow across the strings.

Instantly the room settled to silence and absorbed attention. June played with an exquisite touch; the strength and fire of an artist, yet with the sensitivity of a woman in love. And while she played, she held that roomful of people in the power of her hand, as she had held crowded concert halls throughout the country and abroad.

Donald, listening, felt his heart contract a little with pain. He was fully aware of her superb artistry, of her great talent that came at near genius. Had he the right to tie her down to life as the wife of an ordinary run-of-the-mill newspaper man? A man who might never be able to give her more than a small, cheap apartment, a grubby little suburban cottage; worries, bills, heartaches, anxiety.

The music stopped for just a moment. Then it began again—soft, delicate, yet somehow gay and laughing and tender; like a small silver brook chuckling away to itself as it tumbles down a mountainside on its way to be swallowed up in the sea. Then, from somehow, the scent of small, secret flowers lighted the dusky places in the woods; the joyous song of birds welcoming the new morn; of a mother to her child—all tangled up in the melody June was playing. When she had finished, the others sat for a moment in complete silence, still gripped by the spell of that lovely melody.

"Thank you, my dear," said Mrs. Edmonds. There were tears in her faded eyes and her gnarled hands in her manner as she put her hand for a moment on the girl's knee, to that gentleman's delighted surprise.

"That was beautiful," said "Corsaile," her voice shaken, "I don't think I've ever heard a bit before. Who wrote it?"

June was flushed, bright-eyed, as she tucked the violin into its case. "For you, darling," she said and clung as she said softly, "I did! And it hasn't a name yet. What do you think of "A Serenade to a Dearly Beloved?"

Donald stood up and walked to her side. He bent his head and kissed her silently. Joyously, as though there were quite alone. And then, with his arm about her, he said to the others, "If you'll excuse us — it's been a lovely evening and a lot of fun!"

Terry and Bill followed and then Lucy and Orwin.

Mrs. Edmonds was down in a moment with Peggy and then turned the moment to speak in a low voice to the major.

"If you have a moment, sir—" he suggested and indicated the terrace that lay outside the window.

The major looked at him keenly and followed him.

"This prowler that Heath saw, Major—what would you make of that?" asked Tom, without wasting time in preliminaries, or in an attempt to lead gracefully up to the subject.

The major looked at him for a moment before he spoke. "You are taking it for granted that Heath really saw somebody — that he wasn't mistaken?" he suggested.

"I'm afraid he wasn't mistaken," admitted Tom, frowning a little. "And yet it seems so cock-eyed. All I have to go on is that a certain very reputable business man wants to buy my share in the island—the controlling interest which was left to me by Mr. Markham on condition that the island be operated as a honeymoon retreat. I feel like a fool suggesting that a man like Morgan Blake might attempt to frighten our guests away in the hope of making me sell. Gosh, Major, what a fool thing to suggest! I'm ashamed of myself. The prowler was a fisherman, or some other harmless party — just curious, that's all—"

The major nodded, though his eyes were narrowed a little.

"I suppose so. The other suggestion is rather fantastic," he agreed. "Wasn't there a clause in the will providing that the island should be a honeymoon retreat for several years—or at least until danger of a threat of invasion to the United States was over? I seem to remember something of the sort—"

"Yes," said Tom. "The newspapers made all sorts of fantastic suggestions and hints and theories about that. But I think the whole truth of the matter was that Mr. Markham was rather sentimental about the island. He had planned it as a honeymoon spot for himself and the girl he loved, but she died on the way to the wedding. I think it was just that he couldn't bear the thought of the island being used for commercial purposes, or winter resort, a gambling casino, and all the rest of it, as Blake had planned it."

"Ah, yes, no doubt that's it," agreed the Major.

The voice of his wife was heard calling, and a moment later they had said good night and gone.

Tom closed the French windows and locked them, while Betsy stood at the front of the stairs, watching him. After a moment she said quietly, "Then there really WAS a prowler?"

"No, I don't think so—"

"Then why are you locking up—for the first time since we came to the island?" she demanded.

Tom had no answer to that. So Betsy went quietly about with him, helping him to lock up. When she reached the kitchen, she paused at the door of the refrigerator and looked startled. The door was partly open—and the box had been all but emptied of its provisions.

She and Tom stood for a long moment, staring at the rifled box, then at each other; and neither of them spoke.

Air Force Calls For Regional Control Men

Ottawa, June 21 (CP)—First call for Canadians to serve overseas as "regional control officers" to route and control planes in bad weather by radio and direct pilots in bomber interception work went out today from Royal Canadian Air Force Headquarters.

Successful applicants for posts as regional control officers will be commissioned as pilot officers on appointment and will have a good chance for promotion after they have completed a course in Canada and overseas.

"Standards are high since the control officer's task is extremely responsible and demands stamina and cool thinking in action," said the Air Force.

"Stationed aground—or below it in control rooms—they will route and control aircraft in bad-weather operations and direct pilots in interception work against enemy bombers."

Age-limits for applicants are 28 to 40 years but men under 22 years and physically fit for full flying duties will not be accepted.

Preferably, the Air Force said, the candidates should have some flying experience. Because they will be in constant radio communication with planes, they must be able to speak clearly through a microphone. Good eyesight is an important qualification. Minimum educational requirement is junior matriculation.

TORONTO STOCKS

Toronto, June 23—(CP)—The war news was a little more to the liking of the Dollar crowd on the four indices advanced, the Gold leading with a gain of .83 and the Industrials following with a gain of .66. Turnover was heavier at 106,000 shares for the two hours.

Strong spots in the Golds involved Wright Hargreaves, Pickle Crow, Preston, Canada Malting, Cockshutt, Aunor and a few others and in the Metal group Noranda went stronger for International Nickel, Consolidated Smelters, Pamour and Steep Rock.

Utilities, Steels, Foods, Papers and Imperial moved higher with gains mainly in small fractions and in the Western Oils, Home was up 10 to 1.90.

WALL STREET

New York, June 23.—(AP)—Financial Markets bounced upward today in one of the fastest and buying sprints for more than a year as the outlook for the Russian-German war was viewed in Wall Street as highly hellish for the democracies.

Stocks swung ahead 2 to 4 points on blocks of 1,000 to 7,700 shares as overnight orders swamped specialists on the floor of the Exchange. Prices were well under the best near the force of the day, however.

Prominent on the forefront buying were U. S. Steel, which climbed late on a 7,000-share trade; Bethlehem, Chrysler, Douglas Aircraft, American Telephone, Western Union, Sante Fe, Standard Oil (N.J.), Anaconda, Dupont and Allied Chemical.

Canadian issues were generally higher Canadian Pacific and Walkers gained 1-8 and Dome 3-8. In the Bond Market Canada 4s went up 5-8.

Top-Grade Eggs Drop One Cent

Toronto — Prices of top-quality eggs dropped an additional cent per dozen in slow trading on the Toronto produce market each week Saturday. The butter market held steady to firm under light offerings and good demand.

An all-out expectancy continued to hover over the egg market Saturday. With prices unsettled by precautious attitude, and buying not so freely, the trend of the market was somewhat easier, and weakness was continued very light, trading was even lighter than a week ago. The large rested at 27 to 27 1-2 cents a dozen. Candled, a medium was 26 to 26 1-2 cents a dozen.

Prices on quality creamery butter solids remained unchanged on a steady market Saturday. There was a good demand and 31 cents a pound, but most of the offerings at this price were quickly taken up at the close of the day's trading.

Montreal Produce

Montreal, June 23 (CP).—Produce market prices here Saturday, as reported by the Dominion Department of Agriculture follow:

Butter: First-grade solids, jobbing price, 32c to 32 1-2c. Receipts for week: 30,825 boxes. Same week last year: 29,218 boxes.

Cheese: Western and Eastern Townships, fancy, Montreal delivery, for current make, 15 5-8c to 16c. Receipts for week: Wholesale price, 16c, which price is approved by the Dominion Government on and after May 26, 1941, for shipment to the United Kingdom. Receipts for week: 59,003 boxes. Same week last year: 54,402 boxes.

Eggs: Graded shipments selling at: A-large, 26 1-2c to 29c; A-medium, 26 1-2c to 27c; A-pullet, 24c to 26 1-2c; C grade, 19c to 19 1-2c. Receipts for week: 19,000 cases. Same week last year: 35,405 cases.

Livestock

Toronto, June 23—(CP)—Cattle trade was very dull on the Live-stock Market up to mid-session today with sales too few to establish prices. Lambs were in keen demand. Veal calves and sheep were steady. Hogs closed unchanged to 10 cents lower.

Receipts reported by the Dominion Marketing Service were: Cattle 1,000; calves 400; lambs 1,000; sheep and lambs 900.

A few butchers were sold at $5-$7, bulls at $5-$7.25, fed calves at $9-$10 and choice veals at $10-$10.50 for choice with a few tops at $11 and common grassers selling downward to $6.

Choice lambs sold at $13-$13.50. Sheep sold at $4 to $5.

Hogs closed unchanged at $13.75-$13.85 dressed weight, with weighed in plants.

Montreal, June 23 (CP)— Cattle 1,127; calves 1,378; hogs 546; sheep and lambs 600.

Good cows $6.75-$7.25, medium $5.50-$6.50 and common $4.75-$5.50. Canners and cutters $3.50-$4.50.

Veales remained $7.50@10, with a few $10.50 and one $11; medium $7-$9.50 and common $7.50-$8.25. Drinkers $3.25-$7, with the average $6.50. Grassers $4-$5.

No hog sales.

Good quality lambs $12 and culls $10-$11. Sheep $2.50-$7, selling mostly in mixed lots $6.

Hog Quotations

Toronto, June 24 (CP)— Dressed weight—Barrow up 10 cents at London and Peterborough and Toronto, others unchanged at above bacon-hog markets reported today.

Live weight—Chatham $9.75.

Dressed weight—Brantford 13.25 plus transportation; Chatham 13.25; Kitchener 9.15 plus transportation; London 13.35 delivered; Peterboro 13.10 plus transportation.

Hull reported dressed weight 13.25 plus transportation early sold; Peterboro, up 25 cents.

Large Crowd Attends Decoration Day Ceremonies at Trenton

Trenton, June 23.—One of the largest decoration days ever held in Trenton took place Sunday at Governor Simcoe Park. Veterans, soldiers and civilians marched in the parade headed by the Hastings & Prince Edward Regimental Band.

Graves of the war veterans in cemeteries in Trenton ceremonially were decorated on Sunday morning by members of the Canadian Legion. Wreaths were placed on each grave by the veterans.

The parade lined up on Marmora Street with the H. & P. E. Band in the lead, followed by the Headquarters Company of the Hastings & P. E. Regiment and bandsmen and the veterans. Shortly after 2.30 o'clock yesterday afternoon the parade moved down Dundas Street to Governor Simcoe Park, where the service was held.

Captain F. B. Hewitt gave the scripture reading from the Bible service and urged that young men join the armed forces as they are greatly needed.

Fox Canning Starts

Canning factories throughout the district are busy these days to operate throughout the Quinte area this week. Many factories started canning green peas during the later part of last week and it is expected that all factories will be in operation now. Although the develops of the pea crop in this district to date has been retarded owing to the cool weather in the early season, it is hoped that the pack of peas will be this year will compare favourably with the output of previous years, it is stated.

Northumberland Reaches Quota

Northumberland County reached its allotment in the Victory Loan Campaign and has oversubscribed. A total subscription of $1,000,000 in bonds, W.—S. Edwards, campaign chairman for the county, stated that several municipalities have reached their quotas, while others still had some way to go.

Death of Pioneer

The funeral of the late James A. Harry, 3rd Concession of Sidney, took place from the family residence this late residence.

The late Mr. Harry was in his 83rd year and was one of the best known residents in the district, having resided in Sidney Township all his life. He was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Harry. He died on the five days before his death.

Public Invited to Inspect Military Training Camps Next Saturday

Camps at Petawawa and Kingston Will Attract Many Local Residents

CALLED 'ARMY DAY'

Saturday, June 28th, is "Army Day" throughout the Dominion, a day when camps, barracks and army training centres across Canada will be open to visitors to give the public an opportunity to see what goes on in army camps during the average training day.

Everything possible will be done to make the day as attractive to wives, children and relatives of the boys in training, and training activities will continue throughout the day to permit visitors seeing as much as possible of methods of training and the equipment available.

The co-operation of the auxiliary services has been promised and canteens units of the Y.M.C.A., Salvation Army, etc., will be on hand to assist in every way possible in serving refreshments to the visitors.

The training centres which will be of most interest to local residents will be Petawawa and Kingston where many thousands of this district are training. The opportunity of going over the camps training day as it actually is, will be one which Belleville and district will avail themselves.

CONSULAR SECTIONS TO STAY

Berlin, June 23.— (AP)—By arrangement with the German government, announced today, the consular sections of the United States Embassy in Berlin and the United States Legation in Athens will continue to function after July 15, but the Berlin Consulate General and such will be closed until all American Consulates in other parts of Germany and the occupied territories.

Maritimes Motor Tour Being Arranged

For those who prefer to travel by motor this year, a very interesting and enjoyable vacation tour is being arranged for July by Thalia Travel Bureau, Montreal.

The party will leave Montreal on the evening of July 12th by one of the new modern motor coaches that are so comfortable to ride in. The journey will be made in easy stages by day, with stop-overs each night in the best available hotels.

There will be a stay of three days in Halifax and another three days will be spent in the Evangeline country around Yarmouth. This is one of most historic and interesting parts of Nova Scotia. There will be lovely drives in the Grand Pre and Annapolis sections and sight seeing in the cities.

Those who have friends in the districts will have an opportunity of meeting them, and if desired, visits may be arranged for the return journey. This party will be personally conducted by Mrs. E. B. Pope, Westmount, Montreal.

Reservations must be made early as the membership in the party is limited and exclusive. For more information write Mrs. Pope c/o Tobin's Travel Bureau.

6 AIRMEN ESCAPE INJURY IN STORM

Plane Forced Down as Gasoline Gives Out — Airmen Destroy Plane, Are Interned

Lisbon, June 23.—(CP Cable) — Six members of the Royal Air Force including a Winnipeg-born flight Sergeant, escaped injury when their two-engined bomber was forced to land near Viana Castelo after using up its gasoline supply, it was learned today.

The airmen were interned today by Portuguese authorities.

The crew destroyed their plane before they surrendered to police and were taken to the "Pensao Hotel" in a nearby village and told them not to leave.

The Winnipeg flier nicknamed "Bob", the only one able to speak French, acted as interpreter between the authorities and the others. He said they were forced to land near Viana Castelo after using up its gasoline supply.

SOVIET ARMY

Moscow, Leningrad and other cities of the Soviet Union of western Russia are blacked out last night.

The Russians claimed 66 Nazi planes destroyed during combats raids on Kiev, capital of the Ukraine, Sevastopol on the Crimean Peninsula, Zhitomir in the Ukraine, and the Lithuanian capital, Kaunas.

300 Russians Killed

More than 300 Russians were killed and injured during the first 24 hours of the invasion.

(Unconfirmed reports reaching Ankara last night said the Nazi air force had lost 1,200 planes. Premier Black Sea port of Odessa on a scale of unprecedented fury and ruthlessness bombings of Rotterdam and Belgrade.

(Although the Russians announced no number recorded reaching Berne said Russian bombing squadrons attacked Finland from Petsamo in the north to harbor in western Finland yesterday. Helsinki reported 40 Russian bombers raided East Prussia.)

The Nazi high command's communique did not mention the Finnish or Prut fronts, indicating that the reports that the Germans, striking from Poland, Prussia apparently in the Lithuanian and Galician sectors, had occupied the village of Kalvaria 16 miles, inside Soviet territory.

Mobbing Army

Called upon by Foreign Commissar Molotov, speaking yesterday in the name of Stalin, to form "an ideal a crushing blow" to Germany, Russia's mobbing army was reported in the capital, headed for the front. Along with Russia's regular army, artillery and anti-aircraft batteries that have been organized in the military zones.

Martial law was imposed in the westernmost Soviet Republics, from the Karelian Peninsula to the Black Sea, ranging from Finland in 1940, south to the Crimea.

Mobilization was ordered in all western military districts as the Red Army rushed to the front its millions of men—from the ages of 22 through 36—and the Soviet Navy reds of thousands already at the front and in the fleet.

Molotov Gives Statement

Speaking for Stalin six hours after the start of the Sunday invasion Molotov, who signed the non-aggression pact with Germany in August, 1939, just before the war began.

Typically, Hitler charged Russia, sia with fomenting the Iron Guard rebellion in Rumania and Premier Antonescu's suppression of it, and the coup d'etat in Yugoslavia by which the government which signed up with the Axis was overthrown.

claimed that the German successes on the first day of the war "can be compared to the biggest victories in the course of this war".)

The first news relayed to the German public by DNB, German propaganda and news agency, was confined to air activity.

Claims Destruction of Hangars

These reports claimed destruction of numerous Russian airports, hangars and barracks all along the line; destruction of unnumbered numbers of Russian planes on the ground, of assault bridges and railway tank column, railroads and munitions stores.

(Unconfirmed reports reaching Ankara, Turkey, said that Nazi bombing of Odessa, important Russian Black Sea port, was carried out in the harbor and in the suburbs. The reports also said that Russian raids on Rotterdam and Belgrade.

Russian air cities reported bombed included Kiev, capital of the Ukraine, Kaunas, and Zhitomir, only.

D. N. B. claimed that in Russian raids on the Reich 32 of 36 bombers in one flight were shot down and 44 of nine Martin bombers in another.

Rumania Joins Battle

A communique issued by the Nazi-Rumanian headquarters in the south claimed the German and Rumanian armies were engaged in battle with the Russians, apparently in Bessarabia and Bukovina, two provinces which Rumania hopes to get back from the Reds.

(Military circles in Vichy said they had information indicating that the main German drive was made on this front ; toward the heart of the Ukraine. A simultaneous drive would be—or had been—launched in the Baltic area in hope of a pincher movement on Moscow.)

There also were reports of fighting at Lwow, Nazi-held capital of the Russian region of Galicia, and the destruction of a 4,000-ton Russian freighter and a flaking boat by Nazi planes in Ukrainian waters. Besides conception, Germany yesterday declared itself at war with Russia and the Black Sea in the war zone.

Very Scant Reports

Scant reports from the land fronts included a communique to reporters at unidentified fronts who told in cautious terms of the encampment of rattling machine guns and the sound of artillery fire —of an infantry advance across the border into a Russian village, the capture of a few prisoners, the racks and the seizure of prisoners.

After Hitler declared Russia an aggressor and an intriguer against Germany in his proclamation, he sent his divisions (an estimated 200 into Russia on a front of 1,500 which compares roughly, in air-line distance, with 600 miles from Brownsville, Texas to Winnipeg.

Three Main Sectors

Military commentators declared troops were deployed in three main sections:

1. The northern segment from the Arctic Ocean to the Finnish flight, covering more than 700 miles. Here, Finnish and German soldiers were reported fighting beside the Russians.

2. The middle sector from Memel to the Carpathian Mountains, where Rumanian border, covering about the same distance, manned only by Germans.

3. The southern section, covering about 500 miles, where Rumanian border from the Carpathians to the mouth of the Danube River, where Rumanians are fighting beside Nazis.

General belief here was that Hitler hoped to crush Russia before the unusual tempo of blitzkrieg in order to prevent the Russian army falling back into the vast spaces and into the Soviet and pulling the Germans deeply with it. Such a step would draw the Germans far from their bases and make difficult the problem of supply.

Claims "Violations" of Frontier

Hitler himself was authority for a German claim that Russia was "violating like 160" divisions on the Russian frontier.

Hitler, in his proclamation broadcast by propaganda minister Goebbels charged the Russians with "constant violations" of the frontier. He said Russian troops had been massed allegedly crossed the border on the night of June 17 and 18 only to be driven back by prolonged firing.

"These violations of frontiers," he was brought us to the hour when it is necessary for us to take steps against them," he declared. The Jewish Anglo-Saxon warmongers and equally the Jewish rulers of the Bolshevik centre in Moscow".

The proclamation was a long and complete about-face for Germany, since she signed a non-aggression treaty with Russia on August 23, 1939, just before the war began.

Typically, Hitler charged Russia sia with fomenting the Iron Guard rebellion in Rumania and Premier Antonescu's suppression of it, and the coup d'etat in Yugoslavia by which the government which signed up with the Axis was overthrown.

Many Charges Made

"The victory of the Axis powers in the Balkans . . . thwarted the plans to involve Germany and Russia in months-long battles in which both countries would eventually be exhausted," he said, "and at the same time steadily completing the alignment of Soviet Russian armies and increasing their readiness for war in order finally, together with England and supported by American supplies anticipated, to crush the German Reich and Italy," Hitler claimed.

Premier Minister Ribbentrop charged the Soviet with a widespread campaign of sabotage and espionage against Germany, massing troops on the borders and attempts to damage German ships.

Although one of Germany's big Jew-hating allies in the Axis—Italy—promptly announced herself at war with Russia, Japan is so far moved with Japan.

Other Axis affiliates also declared themselves. Rumania, of course, was actively in the fight.

"Free your oppressed brothers from the yoke of Bolshevism," Premier Ion Antonescu of Rumania declared, in order to his fighting men riding old Bessarabia, and the woods of Bucovina, your fields of maize-corn, and into the Fatherland."

Slovakia broke off relations with the Soviet and instituted blackouts in Bratislava and other provinces. Croatia said she was prepared to fight with her own revolutionaries. Bulgaria has not disclosed her stand thus far but there were reports that Bulgaria also would break off relations with Russia.

Berlin, June 23—(AP)—Today's Nazi spokesman declared today that Germany's war with Soviet Russia is a crusade part of a "world fight against England."

Dietrich, chief of the Soviet Government were one link in the ring Britain desired to weld around Germany. He said that they are breaking that ring, link after link, beginning with the link in the north of the last one.

Nazi - dominated Rumania was definitely described as an ally of Germany since Finland's participation was said to need definition. "It is fighting on Finland to say how she desires to be fitted into the scheme of things," the spokesman added.

Neither Germany nor Russia, according to this spokesman, knows as yet whom to trust with reprisals against the civilians of the other's territory.

The mystery of neutrals is rapidly dwindling," the Wilhelmstrasse commentator observed.

LAUNCH VAST

In addition, he declared the war of attrition against German fighter strength would be waged with defensive strength "to the point where the British Air Force has a sufficient number German planes which attempt to intercept them."

He also announced a "starting" decrease in the number of Canadian fighting planes in Western Europe, but warned "this does not imply that we are withdrawing entirely, for their Messerschmitt-109 and the new type Messerschmitt 109-F are a considerable bomb load."

The R.A.F. Nazi aircraft flew over Britain during the night. Small alongside and coastal activities were caused in east and southeast England, but London and its area had no alarm since June 14 early today but no planes were reported over the city.

96 in Seven Days

The Air Ministry News Service revealed after the Channel battle that there was slightly less for the fighter command for the last seven days of the week, but against a loss of 19 R.A.F. pilots.

A Canadian sergeant-pilot whose name was withheld destroyed his one Nazi plane yesterday. With three Hurricanes in his tail, he swerved quickly, took aim at them and fired in close with a short burst of machine-gun fire.

Many fighter command pilots, on their return from Channel operations Sunday, spoke of the lack of spirit shown by Nazi pilots. It was considered likely that many German pilots had been shifted to the Russian front.

Wave of Raids Last Night

The Channel raids were carried out by planes manned by Canadian, British, South African, Norwegian, Polish, Czech and Belgian airmen.

On Saturday, British planes, in two waves of 150 each struck at potential invasion bases on the French coast and shot down 12 Nazi aircraft. Thirty Nazi planes were bagged in coastal fights Sunday.

The Air Ministry said Saturday was the fighter command's "most successful day of operations since the Battle of Britain last year and two of the largest ever put over enemy territory since our fighters resumed the offensive." Hangars and stacks of enemy airdromes were bombed.

There was also extensive against the Nazis falls in line with Prime Minister Churchill's statement Saturday that Germany would be bombed day and night.

ALLIES REACH PALMYRA AREA

Heart of Syrian Desert Reached by Allies, Says Vichy Report

Vichy, June 23 (AP)—Allied motorized columns which pushed 150 miles across the desert have reached the outskirts of the important French garrison town of Palmyra (Tadmor), in the heart of the Syrian desert, the French reported today.

Vichy forces were said to have come in contact with the Allied columns as they reached the desert outpost. French airmen harassed the British and slowed their progress considerably, the French asserted.

Naval engagements were reported last night and early today off Beirut, Lebanese capital, between British units and a French light naval division. No details were given immediately.

The British columns reaching Palmyra crossed into Syria from Iraq.

The mechanized units, which advanced separately, were reported to have been bombed near Palmyra, site of an important French air base, about 130 miles due east of the port of Tripoli, and 120 miles northeast of Damascus, the ancient capital which the Vichy French yielded Saturday.

DRIVE AIMED AT SHAVLI

NO CITIES MENTIONED

Moscow, June 24.—(AP)—Russia's huge army, battling German mechanized columns on the far-flung Baltic-to-Black Sea front, declaimed today to have thrust two invading German forces back across the Soviet frontier.

"The thing now," said Pravda, the Communist Party organ, "is to smash the vile Fascist beast which dared to lift its blood-stained paw against our free life."

In the first two days of fighting against its first really powerful opponent, the Red army claimed destruction of 5,000 German prisoners, destruction of 300 German tanks and the shooting down of 127 Nazi planes.

Acknowledged Loss

The Soviet High Command at the same time acknowledged the loss of three frontier towns—Brest-Litovsk, Kolno and Lomza—as well as other positions, into Soviet-held Lithuania and eastern Poland.

Inside Russia the government has taken to frustrate fifth columnists and parachutists, Pravda reported.

It printed a severe warning serving notice plain words that anyone attempting in these tense and hard days to start rumors, alarm or spread panic will be regarded as an enemy of the Soviet State and treated mercilessly to the full extent of wartime law."

Along the vast front, fighting was on buffer territory—the recently-acquired Baltic states, Eastern Poland and Bessarabia—with which Russia extended her frontiers westward since the fall of 1939. Nazi armies must push across 50 to 250 miles of Soviet territory before coming to Russia's old frontiers—the frontiers, her principal defence lines.

The drives the Red Army reported thrusting back "beyond the state frontier" were said to have been aimed toward Siauliai (Shavli), 60 miles northeast from Nazi Prussia into Soviet-held Lithuania, and toward Brest Litovsk, 15 miles across the Soviet frontier from the government general section of Poland.

The action Centered today under her control but did not annex after the 1939 invasion.

Berlin, June 24 (AP)—A communique broadcast said the "Fuehrer's Headquarters" declared today that "in the East operations of the German Army take place in accordance with great successes.

That opening sentence was the only reference in the communique to fighting against Russia, but the D.N.B., German News and Propaganda Agency, reported Nazi forces had broken through a strongest line of Soviet bunkers in the "middle of the Russian front" after hard fighting.

The Agency admitted that Russian air raiders had flown into East Prussia this morning but claimed no definite objectives which had fallen into their hands.

According to the Press, the Nazi Air Force from down to dust dealt blows to Red Army communication and supply and communication centres.

D.N.B., Nazi propaganda and news agency, declared German and Rumanian troops advanced in Bessarabia, recently annexed to Soviet Russia, evidently succeeded in crossing the Prut River, and now are heading towards the former Rumanian-Rumanian border.

Civilian Air Force Now Delivering Aircraft to Britain by Hundreds

By DOUGLAS AMAEON
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)
Somewhere in England, June 24.—(CP) — Commander Gerald D'Erlanger has revealed some new he thinks might be of interest to the enemy.

Speaking to several hundred pilots and groundmen of the Air Transport Auxiliary, the commander-in-charge of operations, with the rank of wing commander, said: "Every day we are delivering thousands of tons of aircraft. To make these deliveries we have flown as many as 100,000 miles in a day."

Crop dusters from the Southern United States, barnstormers from the Middle West, a former Canadian dairyman, the son of a Chinese general, a Spanish youth, Poles, Czechs and scores of British boys serve under this commanding officer.

Primarily, the A.T.A. delivers aircraft from the factories of Great Britain to the R.A.F. squadron stations.

When it came into being, the service was operated from a shack on the edge of a wide field. Now this field, one of several which the A.T.A. men and women operate, is a busy place, with many hangars, messes, billets.

Recently, the rapid expansion is given to Cmdr. D'Erlanger and J. P. Bickell, Canadian mining man who came to Britain to help Lord Beaverbrook as the Ministry of Aircraft production.

Bickell is controller of the A.T.A. and according to officers in the service he does his job with the same enthusiasm he showed when Lord Beaverbrook put praise as Minister of Munitions in charge.

Industrial Targets in Northwestern Germany Attacked for 13th Consecutive Night

CONVOY PROTECTED

London, June 24.—(CP)— Heavy explosions, rolling across the misty channel, suggested that the Royal Air Force was blasting at the Nazi-occupied French coast again today after attacking industrial targets in northwestern Germany for the 13th consecutive night.

The assault first were heard shortly after 7 a.m., hours earlier than R.A.F. generally launches its daylight sallies across the Channel.

The attacks on western Germany last night were not so heavy as those Saturday night, authoritative sources said, but there was nothing to indicate this was due to more precisely strong opposition defences.

The Air Ministry said the main objectives of strong groups of bomber and fighter aircraft overnight were the industrial districts of Cologne and Duesseldorf and the naval base at Kiel. Subsidiary attacks were made on Wilhelmshaven, Emden, Hanover and "at places in occupied territory." It was the second attack on Wilhelmshaven in as many nights.

Hitler's 'Mistake' In Invading Russia 'Removes Spectre of Nazi Victory'—Benes

London, June 24 (AP) — Former President Eduard Benes of Czechoslovakia said in a broadcast to his people tonight that Rudolf Hess' flight to Britain was the result of a six-month dispute among Nazi leaders over what they should do next since, he said, they knew they could not defeat Britain.

Benes pictured the one-time No. 3 Nazi as believing that continuation of the war would lead to German defeat and said that his trip to Scotland May 10 was made with the belief that he could persuade the British to stop hostilities.

Hitler, Benes added, intended to attack Soviet Russia after Britain was defeated. Now, he went on, Hitler's "mistake" in invading Russia has "removed the spectre of Nazi victory and decided the issue of war."

Many Believe Any Defence Against Hitlerism Is to Benefit of U. S.

SUSPICION REMOVED

Washington, June 24 (AP)—A plan for aiding Russia in the fight against Germany gained substantial backing in United States Senate today, but not without a counterblast of opposition from an isolationist Senator Bennett Champ Clark, who declared "Stalin's hand is just as bloody as Hitler's, the Communist system is just as bad as Nazism."

The growing support for active opinion in the Senate appeared to endorse a similar Department declaration that "any defence against Hitlerism is to the benefit of the defence and security of the United States.

The State Department pronouncement yesterday was regarded as a confirmation of reports that the re-orientated American policy toward the Soviet would parallel Britain's. In brief, the United States and Britain, while yielding no ground in their antagonism to Communism, would support Russia as a fighter against a common menace.

Economic Co-operation

The United States, it was said, is in a position to grant the Soviet a certain measure of economic co-operation almost at once if requested. The government could, for example, release frozen Russian assets, and at the same time relax the embargo on exports which now prevented the Russian purchase and export of vital strategic materials.

In the latest move, it was pointed out that the Russo-Nazi conflict has rendered the concept of such supplies reaching the Reich via the Trans-Siberian railroad. The suspicion that some American goods might reach Germany through Russia by way of Japan was one reason for the restrictions in effect before

Military, Economic Missions Combine To Defeat Nazis

Sir Stafford Cripps Will Return to Moscow as British Ambassador to Russia

PRESS OUTSPOKEN

London, June 24 (CP)—Foreign Secretary Eden formally welcomed Soviet Russia as an ally "in our common task, the defeat of Germany," in a speech in the House of Commons today.

Mr. Eden urged the British to look to foreign policy considerations in facing the situation raised by Germany's drive into Russia.

Communism is not the issue, he said, adding "we have always hated the creed."

But, he went on, what counts is that the Russians "are fighting the man who seeks to dominate the world."

"That also is our sole task."

The Soviet government have made it plain to us that in the period of military collaboration which now lies ahead help will be on a mutual and reciprocal basis," said Mr. Eden, "His Majesty's government accept and endorse that view."

Britain's Pledge to Poland

In a review of British-Russian relations before Hitler's armies crossed the Russian frontier Monday, the Foreign Secretary reiterated Britain's pledge of the redemption of Poland.

"Of our intentions our pledges," he said of the nation jointly occupied by Germany and Russia at the opening of the war in 1939.

The Foreign Secretary announced that Russia had formally accepted an offer of British military and economic missions "to co-ordinate the common task of the defeat of the enemy."

The political systems of Great Britain and Russia are diverse", said Mr. Eden, "but this in no way must not obscure the reality which confronts us all."

He said the failure of Britain to make headway with Moscow in trade and political talks before the war did not bear out the Russian fear of offending Hitler. Moscow insisted he asserted, upon strict neutrality and "in fact gave a non-aggression pact with Berlin.

Russia's Point of View Clear

If there were any who questioned the United States attitude, he added, the British Alliance with Russia, Mr. Eden said they should read the declaration by Mr. Sumner Welles in the press this morning".

Sir Stafford Cripps, Labor leader who conferred yesterday with Mr. Eden, sat in the diplomatic gallery throughout the Foreign Secretary's statement.

In order to hear the 20-minute declaration, the House had to postpone a two-hour debate on shipping losses and a discussion on military information and propaganda.

Mr. Eden gave this description of Hitler's "cynical trailing" to his own pledged word and violation of it in the winter, bombs and tanks in the Balkans.

BRITISH ADVANCE TOWARD BEIRUT

City is Menaced by Advances From South and Southeast

Cairo, June 24 (AP)—Allied forces today reported "an important advance" for their columns driving toward Beirut along the Mediterranean coast of Syria and added that "our artillery already is in action against the Vichy position at Damour," south of Beirut.

The communique of the British Middle East command also announced that the Allies had captured Quneitra, 15 miles southwest of Damascus and were advancing toward the Damascus-Beirut Road.

Beirut therefore was menaced by advances both from the south and southeast.

R. A. F. ATTACKS FLYING BOATS

Scores Number of Hits on Flying Craft, Hangar and Docks Area

Cairo, Egypt, June 24 (AP)—Royal Air Force planes made an attack on flying boats in the harbor of Syracuse on the Italian island of Sicily, yesterday and scored a number of hits on flying boats and a hangar and barracks ashore in the Middle East command announced today.

All transport ships near Benghazi, the big base on the Libyan coast were bombed and the harbor at Benghazi also attacked, said the daily communique.

Agaro and Bedelle In Ethiopia Taken By British Forces

Cairo June 24 (AP)—British forces continuing their clean-up operations against Italians in south-western Ethiopia have captured Agaro and Bedelle and Dembidolo provinces, the Middle East Command announced today.

Native patriot forces co-operated in this operation, the communique said, adding that "in all these areas operations are proceeding satisfactorily."

Agaro and Bedelle are some 200 miles southwest of Addis Ababa and in the path of Imperial forces moving across Ethiopia from the Gambela area of the border with the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan.

NEW OIL-BURNING EQUIPMENT BAN IS ESTABLISHED

Order Issued at Ottawa by G. R. Cottrelle, Oil Controller

TO SPREAD BURDEN

Ottawa, June 24.—(CP)—Canadians, warned by Munitions Minister Howe to expect some restriction on non-essential use of gasoline, were barred today from installing any new oil-consuming equipment.

An order to this effect was issued last night by George R. Cottrelle of Toronto, Canadian Oil Controller, who said: "Restriction on distribution or purchase" of fuel oil, tanker and other facilities for burning or motive units "not now remaining in use."

Mrs. E. Lawlor, Picton, Dies at Bowmanville

Bowmanville, Ont., June 24 (CP) Mrs. E. V. Lawlor, Picton, died in hospital here today as a result of injuries received in a motor accident yesterday. She was a passenger in a car driven by Hugh Hannah, Carrying Place, which was wrecked when it was in collision with the trailer of a transport truck. Hannah, suffering from concussion and severe shock, and other injuries.

Mrs. Forsythe, Picton, driver of the truck, has been placed under arrest on a manslaughter charge. The accident occurred on a curve one mile east of Bowmanville.

CALLED TO REROUTE MAN

Columbia, S.C., June 24—(AP)—Police were called upon to reroute a man after he had walked around the same block 15 times without stopping for food.

An allnight filling station operator grew tired of saying "Good morning" every time the man passed and finally at 2 a.m. called police.

DEMONSTRATIONS BY FALANGISTS

Uniformed Spaniards Parade Before German Consulate in Madrid

Madrid, June 24 (AP)—Uniformed Falangists, anniversary demonstrated of Madrid today, demonstrated in front of the German embassy with cries of "on to Moscow," and "Gibraltar for Spain" and heard the Spanish foreign minister declare Spain's fate must be "extraordinary."

The demonstrations came as government leaders sought to unify Spain's course in the Axis struggle against the Soviet Union. The Falangist party and fascist-minded sies were protected against incidents by police guards.

Foreign Minister Ramon Serrano Suner, brother-in-law of Generalissimo Francisco Franco, and leader of our civil war in a brief speech from the balcony of the embassy to a rank of Colonel, and appointment of Lt.-Col. A. Spalding, Royal Canadian Artillery, Toronto, to the General Staff Officer (1st Grade) Branch of the General Staff, with the rank of Lieutenant-Colonel.

Col. Macklin was born near Truro and saw service in France in the First World War. He was attached to the Infantry Battalion in the First World War. He is a graduate of the Staff College, Camberley, England, and in 1936 has been on the General Staff at Defence Headquarters.

FORESEES CLOSER ORGANIZATION OF EMPIRE, U. S.

Grant Dexter Addresses Conference on Canadian-American Affairs

DEFENCE AGREEMENT

Kingston, Ont., June 24 (CP) Under the pressure of events the British Commonwealth and the United States are, "perhaps unconsciously, working out some form of close organization," the fourth biennial conference on Canadian-American affairs was told today by Grant Dexter, veteran member of the Winnipeg press gallery at Ottawa.

Mr. Dexter declared in his address at the closed conference of more than 200 delegates, including leaders from each university professors for both countries, that the permanent joint defence agreement and the agreement on defence bases between Washington and London are manifestations of this new organization.

Differences of Cultures

"From a practical viewpoint Canada's contribution to the defence of this continent is restricted," he said, "because she has not yet conformity in the British and United States defence systems. The fact that the British and United States governments continue to use different calibres of rifles, machine guns and artillery, differing in many cases through the equipment schedule, so long will Canada be prevented from playing her full part in the defence. Canada's war machine is an integral part of Britain's war machine."

He declared however that with this qualification "the Canadian war effort is a very real contribution to North American defence."

MUST HAVE SPECIAL ORDERS

Rome, June 24 (AP)— Italian headquarters announced today that special instruction would be required for departure of Americans desiring to leave Italy under new measures described as "analogous" to those applied to Italians in the United States.

All Employers Warned to Register Under Unemployment Insurance Act Which Becomes Effective July 1st

An employer, even if he has only one employee, is required to register under the Unemployment Insurance Act which becomes effective July 1st, Gerald E. Bickell, member for Hastings South told The Ontario Intelligencer today.

Every employer within the municipality must register, Mr. Stokes pointed out, and failure to do so will make him liable to penalties under the act. Employers must pay the contribution and a card giving information received from the Hon. Norman McLarty, Minister of Labor, employer's name and address made satisfactory registration thus far, but the employers with one employee or a small number, have been slow in making registration cards.

Mr. Stokes urged the necessity of each and every employer conforming with the registration regulations.

"The time is getting extremely short," he said, "and as every employer must secure a licence to purchase insurance stamps from the post office, it is important that registration be concluded as soon as possible."

Application cards have been sent to every employer, it was pointed out, and these should be filled in at once and forwarded or taken to the newly installed temporary Unemployment Insurance office in the Customs offices over the Post Office.

There is a possibility that some employers did not receive these cards, Mr. Stokes pointed out, and in addition to the above mentioned office, from Mr. D. D. Wilson, Unemployment Insurance representative here.

In any event, Mr. Stokes said, it is highly important that these cards be obtained and filled out, so that registration can be completed as quickly as possible.

Germany Must Have Quick Victory Over Russia or Face Disaster

Washington, June 24 (AP)—The Red army in three months must crush the Red Army in three months must crush the disastrous difficulties, according to well-informed opinion here. A smashing German victory within a month, as predicted in Berlin, is considered entirely conceivable, however.

The whole outcome of the Russo-German fighting hinges, it was said, on the Red Army strategy—whether the Russians will follow the Poles' example and remain spread out in an attempt to defend all frontiers, or withdraw intact to interior positions to take advantage of rivers and other natural defenses. Unless a massive retreat succeeds, the Red Army faces 50 per cent of being cut up quickly.

Assuming the Russians decide to the destruction of the Russian forces as an offensive threat, it is believed the Germans may attempt a gigantic pincer movement from the north and south flanks of the 2,000-mile front, using Russia's great interior lines to defend the flanks of the advance.

At the same time, experts expect a direct attack from the Warsaw front toward Moscow, more than 800 miles distant. After proceeding about halfway to Moscow, these forces might swing southward south to join the attempted envelopment. Then the battle of Moscow would begin. Moscow and the Black Sea reached, the rest of the Nazi campaign would probably be merely a mopping-up operation.

The time limit of three months was based on climate and weather conditions. Winter in the Russian transport system. Fall rains would tend to bog down the whole campaign.

HATCHERY MEN ATTEND MEETING

Mr. W. Cainforth, proprietor of the Trent Electric Hatchery, Trenton, with Mr. Heath, Hatchery Manager at Belleville, attended the annual meeting of the Hatchery Approved Association of Ontario held at the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, on Wednesday, June 18th.

Mr. Cainforth had been President of the Association for the past year, and was re-elected at this meeting. It was reported that about twelve million chicks had been produced this season to that date by the Approved Hatcheries of Ontario, and that the outlook for the poultry industry seemed quite promising.

TOY POMERANIAN HELD IN POUND

Pound wandering at large and without the necessary dog tag attended its collar, a female toy Pomeranian dog was taken into custody by Chas. Thorne, constable of the city dog pound on Monday. The canine, which is of fine color, was described as a valuable dog by Mr. Thorne. The animal will be destroyed unless claimed within 24 hours however.

HORSE NOT STOLEN, ONLY EATING GRASS

At first James Babcock, city scavenger residing at 53 Ontario Street, was thoroughly convinced that the old grey horse of his which had returned, when he went to his stable this morning and found his horse missing.

Police were immediately notified, but soon the animal was found grazing upon the tasty green grass of a nearby lawn. The horse had managed to escape from its stall, without the interference of any human aid or the presence of horse thieves and was quite enjoying the richness of the good earth in a breakfast of green tasty grass.

CAR IS DAMAGED WHEN TIRE BLOWS

When a front tire on his motor car blew out the vehicle went out of control and crashed into a hydro pole on Highway No. 2, three miles west of Belleville early today. The vehicle was driven by F. O. Dean Freeman of the R.C.A.F. at Trenton, who escaped injury.

Freeman later told Motorcycle Patrolman J. R. Smith, upon his investigation that after the tire blew out the car became unmanageable. He left the highway and after knocking over a fencing post, boy-post, crashed into the hydro pole, damaging it off at the base. The motor car was badly damaged during the impacts.

BITTEN BY DOG WHILE MOUNTING BIKE

While mounting his bicycle near his home at 41 Meyers Street, last Monday, Donald Taylor was attacked and bitten on the leg by a neighbor's dog. When the cyclist first observed the dog running towards him he paid little heed, as the animal was a youngster that had attacked passersby. Taylor's trousers were torn and the fleshy part of his leg pierced by the dog's sharp teeth. Medical attention was afforded the injured lad, while Chas. Thorne, city dog pound custodian, was notified and immediately ordered the dog tethered for a period of two weeks.

NEWLYWEDS GUESTS OF McCARTHYS'

Upwards of seventy-five Ontario Intelligencer newsboys enjoyed the hospitality of the McCarthy Theatre last night, as guests of the management. The youngsters thronged and chilled alternately at the antics of Bela Lugosi in a supernchiller picture, "The Human Monster" but laughed uproariously at the funny situations of Laurel and Hardy and Jimmy Stewart found themselves in the picture "It's a Wonderful World."

The newsies behaved themselves like little gentlemen and sat through the entire performance, fidlerspersting the pictures with applause whenever they thought the situation demanded it. Later they were offuse in their appreciation of the generous gesture of the theatre in affording them the free show

BUILD LARGE ADDITION TO CANADIAN HOTEL

Extensive alterations and additions are being made to the Canadian Hotel on Dundas Street. A new two-storey addition which will house six bedrooms, a lounge, as well as additions to beverage rooms is now in the process of construction at a cost of $5,000 according to Mr. Paul Ragoli, new owner of the hostelry.

Mr. Ragoli purchased the hotel from Mr. William Day on April 1st this year, and expansion of business and a desire to give the public the best in hotel accommodation has resulted in the alterations to the property. The new wing is expected to be completed in the near future.

BODY OF NORWEGIAN PILOT TO BE CREMATED

The remains of Student-Pilot Tron Mazurik, young Norwegian Naval Air Force airman who met a tragic death last Friday when the plane he was flying with a fellow flyer crashed into a ferry in Toronto harbor, will be cremated and the funeral held in Toronto on Wednesday, according to information received today from an aunt, Mrs. Basie Bletsico, of Kemptville.

The late Norwegian airman spent his Christmas leave in Belleville with his aunt and made many acquaintances during his stay here. Pilot Mazurik is a step-son of Mrs. Jack Clark, member of the firm of Clark and Mabry, Front Street provision merchants.

Besides his aunt, the dead flyer leaves to mourn his loss his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Mazurik, Norway, and six uncle in Canada.

TOURIST INFLUX IS INDICATED

Sale of Fishing Licences Shows Slight Uptrend Already This Season

The influx of American tourists into Canada as evidenced by the sale of fishing licences, shows a slight uptrend as compared to a corresponding date last year, according to Mr. George A. Finch, district game and licence issuer. The actual fishing season for the non-resident American tourist is concerned has not yet opened, however, as it was stated by Mr. Finch, although there was a decided increase in the number licences by persons from across the border since the weeks ago during Memorial Day week-end.

The introduction of a new seventy-two hour fishing licence at a cost of two dollars will meet with the approval of many American tourists in the opinion of Mr. Finch, who states that many potential fishermen from the United States were discouraged from taking out a permit owing to the $5.00 and $10.00 fee for individual and family licences hitherto in effect. The latter class of licences will still be continued but the short term permit will fill a long-felt want, it is stated.

Finance Chairman Gives Report on Sinking Fund

Ald. Clarke Tells Council of Debentures Retired During the Year

OTHER BUSINESS

The City Council is nearing the end of their business for the summer and last night's session was one of the shortest of the season after the regular meeting was concluded. At the conclusion of the session, the members on the invitation of Alderman Jeff Allin enjoyed a sail on the Bay of Quinte in Alderman Allin's fine boat. Alderman H. J. Clarke, chairman of the Executive gave to council a detailed statement of the standing of the Sinking Fund and how many debentures had been retired during the year so far. It was a most gratifying statement of the finances of the city and is herewith given in full.

Belleville, Ont., June 19.
His Worship Mayor Thompson, and members of the City Council, Gentlemen:—

As required under By-law No. 2614, the Sinking Fund Committee begs to report to you as follows:—

(1) On May 15th., Pavement Debentures No. 2319 for $363,644.12 matured. We had a considerable sum in the Sinking Fund, but not sufficient to meet the full amount maturing. Accordingly on April 8, application was made to increase our cash, we sold our holdings of Dominion Bonds with the proceeds of $2,000. R.C. Separate School Bonds which have been in default since 1933 and Tels and Tels at $14,213.92, which brought our cash up to sound value. $100,000. $50,000 of this debenture was cancelled during the year, leaving a net outstanding. Instructions received today from an aunt, Mrs. Basie Bletsico, of Kemptville.

The late Norwegian airman spent his Christmas leave in Belleville with his aunt and made many acquaintances during his stay here. Pilot Mazurik is a step-son of Mr. Jack Clark, member of the firm of Clark and Mabry, Front Street provision merchants.

Besides his aunt, the dead flyer leaves to mourn his loss his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Mazurik, Norway, and six uncle in Canada.

(2) Your Special Committee re-invested $100,000. $50,000 of this debenture was cancelled during the year, leaving a net outstanding. Instructions received today from an aunt, Mrs. Basie Bletsico, of Kemptville.

HITLER THE GUTTERSNIPE

If any playwright or novelist had depicted a character of the type of Hitler, the world probably would have said it was unreal, that no man could be as this fanatic is. But the world knows there is such a monster.

One man has seen through the aggressor Hitler. That man is Prime Minister Winston Churchill who told the world what Hitler was years ago, and warned the people about him. , On Sunday Mr. Churchill spoke in these words:—

"Hitler is a monster of wickedness, insatiable in his lust for power and plunder . . He must now carry his work of butchery and desolation among the vast multitude of Russia and her folk. The terrible military machine which we and the rest of the civilized world so foolishly, so supinely, so insensately allowed the Nazi gangsters to build up, year by year, from mere clothing—this machine cannot stand idle lest it rust, or fall to pieces. It must be in continual motion, grinding up human lives and trampling down the homes and the rights of hundreds of millions of men."

Was ever so biting an indictment uttered against a human being as Mr. Churchill uttered against this German Fuehrer and his gang? Once upon a time the greatest of the Greek orators denounced Philip of Macedon, father of Alexander the Great, in a series of orations known as Philippics. They were scathing and were spoken to rouse the Greeks to the danger of their country twenty-three centuries ago. Mr. Churchill speaks of the Hitler war machine in concrete imagery:—

"Moreover it must be fed, not only with flesh, but with blood. No wine this bloodthirsty gutter-snipe rebel laments his machinated armies upon new fields of slaughter, pillage and desolation."

Then follows the most bitter attack on this modern monster Hitler:—

"Poor as are the Russian peasants, workmen and soldiers, they will not steal from their daily bread. He must devour their harvests. He must rob them of the oil which drives their plows and thus produce a famine without example in human history."

Mr. Churchill goes on with his philippic against the desecrator of Europe when he says that

"Even the carnage and ruin, which his victory should he gain it—he has not gained it yet—will bring upon the Russian people, will in itself be only a stepping stone to the attempt to plunge the 400 or 500 millions who live in China and the 250 millions who live in India into that bottomless pit of human degradation over which the diabolical emblem of the Swastika flouts itself."

These words seem to match in strength of their moral power the sayings of the Hebrew prophets who denounced evil in words which have never been excelled and perhaps never equalled. Mr. Churchill from the moral basis flays the Nazis. In several of the passages of his broadcast his word pictures recall the words of the great Dante in his journey through the Inferno. In one place Dante speaks of the banners of Satan and his cohorts being borne through the depths of hell. When Mr. Churchill spoke of "that bottomless pit of human degradation over which the diabolical standard of the Swastika flouts itself," he may have been thinking of the scene in The Inferno.

A contrast of picture by this great master of the spoken word is that in which Mr. Churchill depicted Russian soldiers defending their homes "and the altars which their fathers have tilled from time immemorial.

"I see them guarding their homes where mothers and wives pray. Ah! yes, for there are times when all pray for the safety of their loved ones, for the return of the breadwinner, of their champion, of their protector. I see the 10,000 villages of Russia, where the means of existence is wrung so hardly from the soil, but there still are primordial human joys, where maidens laugh and children play."

Then the scene changes to Nazi gloom and violence:

"I see advancing upon all this the onslaught of the Nazi war machine, with its clanging, heel-clicking, gesticulating Prussian officers, its crafty expert agents, fresh from the cutting and driving out of a dozen countries. I see also the dull, drilled, docile, lethal masses of the Hun soldiery plodding on like a swarm of crawling locusts. I see the German bomber and fighters in the air, single, smarting from many a British whipping, and they are likely to find, they believe, an easier and safer prey."

Mr. Churchill goes on to say:—

"Behind all this storm, I see that small group of venomous men who planned, organized and launched this cataract of horrors upon mankind. Then my mind goes back across the years to the days when the Russian armies were our allies against the same deadly foe, when they fought with so much valor and constancy and helped to gain a victory, from a share in which alas, they were, through no fault of ours, utterly cut out."

OURSELVES AND OTHERS . . .

WE'LL NEVER LET THE NAZI BY

The cliffs of England's shores will cry
We'll never let the Nazi by,
They'll try to climb them stark and stern
But England's courage will always burn.
Though Hitler and the facts he met
Will never crush blood, tears, and sweat.
And though the country that he's bombed
Will ring up with a joyful song
Of love and courage that shall not die
And though we hear the chalk cliffs cry
WE'LL NEVER LET THE NAZI BY.

And though we die our sons will cry
We'll never let the Nazi by.
Our sons, sons of Canada, and Australia too,
Are fighting for me, are fighting for you
So that England and free countries may survive
And keep the spirit of freedom alive.
And though we hear the chalk cliffs cry
WE'LL NEVER LET THE NAZI BY

Reminiscences of a Sunday Evening Drive

The air was rainwashed. The setting sun reflected on the glistening wetness of the highways. Along ribbon of black, shiny road an endless chain of motors roared, bent on reaching their destination. Intermittent blobs of color, roadside signs flashed their yellows, reds and blues against the green of the fields. From occasional hot-dog stands came the not so appetizing odor of frying frankfurters. Rush and bustle, hurry and worry. A world was moving madly on rubber-tired wheels. The shrill cacophony of horns added to the intermittent roar of passing automobile motors.

Then we turned from the highway. Gravel grated pleasantly beneath the wheels. Along the quiet country road we seemed to be in another world. The car slowed down. There was no hurry, here. No racing motors honking raucously for room. Thick lush grass reached upwards from the roadside. A snake-fence, its upper side wet with the rain, paralelled the gravelly road. The other side of the fence the lighter sheen of wheat bursting into head was a dull golden carpet that bowed with almost stately grandeur as the slight breeze moved it in an undulating rhythm.

On the other side, tall, yellow rye dipped slowly in the evening air. At the next corner a handsome collie dog barked a joyful welcome. On the verandahs of the houses we passed sat against the red of the barns and the greens of the meadows, sedate farmers, resting after the evening chores, waved a cheery greeting as the car moved slowly by. The black and white of Holstein cattle, red and white of the Ayrshire, moved in slow motion in lush pastures. No blatant signboards cluttered the fields or decorated the roadside beauty spots. The refreshing smell of new-mown hay swept through the car windows instead of frying meats and onions.

In the distance the forest-clad hills reached upward through a blue haze. Haycocks checkerboarded the meadows. The colors of red and yellow clover, alfalfa and aisle patterned a beautiful carpet offset by the greens of perennial trees whose trees effervesced along lanes leading to trim, well-kept farmhouses. The bright colors of flowers blobbed in lawns and gardens, while the intermittent white blossoms of the potatoes pricked through the green of the foliage.

The air was fresh and clean. It was a breath of Nature such as city drivers seldom experience on their rush to business or on pleasure trips. In the narrow and little watercourses glistened and gurgled a welcome. The car reached the top of a hill. Below on each side stretched a vista of peace, contentment and plenty. And yet, a scant mile away was the highway and its nerve-wracking, seeming traffic, its shrill noises, signboards and refreshment booths. This was motoring at its best. Here you could loaf along and enjoy Nature leisurely. Here you could find a peace and contentment that is not apparent on the arteries of traffic. And it is just over the hill. If you have an hour or two to spare take the family out in the car and turn up that quiet sideroad. It will open a vista of enjoyment that you dreamed never existed. Yet it is at your very elbow for the asking.

SCORING BASEBALL

Time was in the years that have flattened by
A scorer of baseball games was I.
Now age has taken me out of the game
And given those tasks unto younger hands.
But I'll say that my love of the grand old game
As it was in the past is still the same.

These are names which stick in my mind today:
Sockalexis and Keeler and Lajoie!
And the great Ty Cobb! In the box I see
When first for the Tigers he came to be.
Now scoring the game once more I am,
And it's Greenberg batting for Uncle Sam!

I wish I could name them every one,
All heroes of mine who come and gone.
Will Bill Dickey, Rube Waddell!
What tales of them both the scribes still tell!
Now one memory more with the rest I gram,
And it's "Greenberg batting for Uncle Sam!"

The game goes on and the young grow great,
The fans still rush through the turnstile gate.
The boys in the press box keep the score
For the records which live when the players no more.
So I add this line with a grand salaam:
"Greenberg now batting for Uncle Sam!"

Mechanized Warfare Harder on Soldiers Says Colorado Doctor

Atlantic City, N.J., June 24 (AP) —Mechanized warfare is harder for soldiers than the old-fashioned kind, the American Osteopathic Association was informed. Dr. Harold I. Magoun, of Denver, Colo., said: "Half an hour's ride in a speeding tank or in other kinds of modern war machinery will produce as much wear and tear on a soldier's body framework as a whole day of marching and trench-digging did in the last war."

Many Well Known to Trade

Here are some of the men whose dark blue uniforms are known on the Belleville streets and flying field in the country:

James F. Hewitt of Guelph, Ont., was a fighter pilot before he joined the A.T.A. A veteran airman, he joined the R.A.F. in June, 1929, and fought with the all-Canadian squadron at Dunkirk, shooting down one German plane.

Last September, Howitt, a pilot officer, cracked up and was sent to hospital.Doctors told him he couldn't fly a fighter plane again. He heard he was going to be sent back to Canada.

"I didn't want that," Howitt said. "Any kind of flying is better than none at all, so I volunteered for the A.T.A. and was accepted."

One of the few Canadians in the service, Howitt is continuing his course at the training pool. Soon he will be on operational duty, possibly delivering Hurricans to some of the men with whom he was flying last year.

Gwynne Johns is a former professional parachute jumper who made 52 jumps, broke both legs and his collar bone. He paid 49 an hour for flying lessons at Bournemouth Aero Club. "Now" he laughs, "they're paying me."

Mistaken For Jap

The Chinese, second officer Climo, was in England when war broke out. He joined the A.T.A. because "it seemed like a good idea." He would like permission to wear a gold "China" tab on his shoulder. "Last time I was in London," he explained, "I was mistaken for a Japanese."

Most pilots are in the ferry service, from factory to maintenance unit to flying fields. Still others are in the Atlantic service taking back pilots who fly United States-built bombers to Britain.

Pay for an experienced pilot is between $2,700 and $3,150 a year. The Americans, however, receive about $600 a month, because, as a machines pilot said, "Superintendent Steve Alford said 1,200 illegal slot devices seized and smashed had yielded between 5,000 and 6,000 pounds of metal, principally brass and linum, sufficient to build a military airplane." Alford said he had offered the scrap metal to Britain.

Fitzsimmons Ready for Weekly Pitching Turn and Dodgers' Pennant Prospects Better

Sprained Back Kept Him From Starting Game Until May 26th

CUBS BEAT GIANTS

By GAYLE TALBOT

(Associated Press Sports Writer)

What might prove to be one of the most significant victories of the National League race was scored by Fat Freddie Fitzsimmons yesterday when he licked Phil Weintraub 8-4, in one of the day's two big league games.

The triumph did considerably more than just boost Brooklyn within a half-game of the idle St. Louis Cards. It afforded almost positive proof that Fitzsimmons, the wonder veteran who won 16 and lost only two for a mediocre club last year, is at last ready to begin taking a weekly turn for a team that has pennant fever.

Fitz, the seemingly unbeatable knuckleballer, is expected to supply the one thing Brooklyn has shown signs of seriously needing—relief for Whit Wyatt, Leo Casey and Kirby Higbe.

Fitz, who will turn 40 about a month now, showed no sign yesterday of the sprained back that kept him from starting a game until May 26. The Pirates licked him for seven hits but as many innings before he yielded to a ninth-inning rally. Clearly, he was steady as a rock in the pinches and would have held the Pirates to a single run if second baseman Pete Reiser had not fumbled a grounder in the sixth and opened the way for three scores.

Pinch Homer Clouted

The score was tied yesterday in the eighth, 4-4, when Fitz got his way to the plate. hitter Herman Franks, the young catcher who recently joined the Dodger group from Montreal. Two were on base. Franks belted a home run into the upper right-field stand.

Meantime, out at Chicago, Claude Passeau of the Cubs and Hal Schumacher of the Giants hooked up in one of the season's most brilliant duels, with Passeau the eventual victor, 1-0. Schumacher allowed only four hits, but was forced to be represented by Stan Hack's single and Bill Nicholson's double in the first frame. That beats him, as Passeau held the Giants to three blows.

The American League, after a day's rest, swings back into action today with opportunity staring at the seven first-place Yankees. In the midst of a tremendous hitting streak, Joe DiMaggio and company open a series with the wobbly Browns at Yankee Stadium, while the league-leading Cleveland Indians face the thunder clubs of the third-place Boston Red Sox.

"SAD RUSSIAN" ROOKIE RETURNS TO THE MINORS

Lou Novikoff Sent From the Cubs to Milwaukee Brewers

TRIES TOO HARD

By EARL HILLIGAN

(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Chicago, June 24 (AP)—The sad Russian has gone away—but a lot of Chicago Cubs baseball fans hope he'll be back another day.

Lou Novikoff, who came to the Cubs last spring as the most highly publicized rookie in National League history, will be back in the minors tonight as a member of the Milwaukee Brewers. He failed to meet Major League standards and was sent to the American Association Club for more seasoning. His new boss will be genial Charlie Grimm, who still believes Lou some day will develop into a great hitter.

"I'm going to give Lou the microphone in Milwaukee and let him rip," said Charlie in discussing the strategy by which he, as the Brewers' new manager, hopes to get Novikoff back into the happy mood which had him singing into base speakers and clouting prodigious home runs last season in the Pacific Coast League.

"He's been trying too hard."

Grimm said Lou, he still will develop.

The likable Novikoff made a lot of friends at Wrigley Field despite his .247 batting average. When he failed repeatedly at the plate, the attitude of most Cub fans was "he's trying, let's give him a chance."

In the Coast League last season he batted .362, knocked 41 homers and batted in 164 runs.

As he headed for Milwaukee, Novikoff added a Cub record of 37 hits in 156 times at bat; 14 runs scored; five doubles, one triple, four homers and 20 runs driven in.

WITH THE LAWN BOWLERS

by

GEO. E. WATKIN.

Well the ladies sure did a real job on Friday night, they are to be congratulated. It was a case to see those greens full. Thirty-two teams are a lot of players.

To the few players who did not get in the game, the ladies thank them for their support and assure them they will be in next time.

Over seventy of our own players were in the tournament helps.

We are glad to see Fred and Mrs. Lewis out.

Charlie Doran also put in an appearance along with J. Bothwell, pet. Sec. Treas. of the Provincial and Bill Springer and last but not least Rusty Richards, are these fellows in the pink of society circles. But we sure are glad to welcome them.

The ladies hold their annual tournament on Thursday; let's hope they have a good crowd.

Campbellford is the most progressive club in our district this year to date. Bert Taylor is a real wire.

On Wednesday evening at 6.45 sharp we are running a matched game of men's doubles. Two fifteen end game. Any bowler is welcome, but working until five o'clock will be liable to take this in to keep the date open. This Wednesday!

Colin Ross is doing good work at Madoc. Four of our teams journey there tomorrow night for a game. They have good greens and are good hosts.

Our President is taking a team to Hastings, Wednesday.

Our reason for changing the Wednesday game to a matched game is because the ladies are playing tonight in the Dolan Cup series and their annual tournament on Thursday.

If any member or members of our club know of anyone wishing to come up and join us, they can get us at 1290 please we need at least twenty. Do it now!

I was asking Davie if there were enough Ellsworth members in the club to stack up against those boys from the Kitsmont Club. This answer in brief was he could beat the whole bunch himself. John and Cleo take note.

Harold Cross says he does not want you to hurry paying your dues. And you are hurrying, that is what I call co-operation.

KINGSTON DROPS SECOND GAME OF THE SEASON

Royal Canadians Win to Put Hull B and S in Tie With Combines

JAMIESON HITTING .667

Kingston Combines dropped their second game of the season to Ottawa Royal Canadians in Hull Sunday and Hull B. and S. picked up into a tie with Combines for the Interprovincial Baseball League leadership.

B. and S. lost a chance to move into a first place tie last Wednesday when they dropped a 6-4 decision to their home town rivals Volants. Norm Cecil, Volants playing coach, set B. and S. down with four hits and struck out 14 while his team-mates were collecting 13 hits from two B. and S. hurlers.

Royal Canadians scored a double victory over the week-end. Saturday they journeyed to Smith's Falls and massacred Rainboys 15-5. On Sunday they nosed out Combines 7-6 in seven innings.

A four-run splurge in the fifth inning of a seven-inning game allowed B and B to defeat Rainbrooders 7-5 Sunday and force the first place tie with Combines.

Volants played Buckingham on the latter's home grounds Sunday. The Hull team won a slug-fest 19-9. Leo (Bull) Rousseau who has been catching around Ottawa for the past 25 years joined Royal Canadians last week and was back of the plate Sunday when Canadiens turned on the hitting.

Latest league statistics which include games played up to June 18 show Jamieson of Combines leading the league in batting with an average of .667. Leo Giroux of Volants is next with an average of .500 and Leo Groulx of B. and B. Jim Maddoon of Smiths Falls, and Anderson of Canadiens share the third spot with averages of .300.

Ki-Y League

Juvenile League

	W.	L.	Pts.
Orioles	4	1	8
Fighting Irish	4	1	8
Big Shots	1	4	2

With only two more games left in this league the Orioles and Fighting Irish are tied for the lead and the contest on Tuesday next means that the winner will be the champions in the Ki-Y League this year. In their previous encounters the Orioles defeated the Fighting Irish by a 17-10 count, which has been the only setback suffered by the latter. The Orioles have came at the hands of the Big Shots by a 12-11 score in a seesaw game. The other game this week brings together the two tailenders on Friday the 27th, also at Queen Victoria School grounds. Naturally neither team wishes to finish in the cellar and it should be a battle royal. The public is invited to come out and lend moral support to their favorite team.

Midget League

	W.	L.	Pts.
Sluggers	4	0	8
Orange Boys	2	1	4
St. Mikes	1	2	2
Terries	0	4	0

In this league the Sluggers are leading the Orange Boys, and St. Mikes by a slim 2 points. On Monday, the 23rd, they league with St. Mikes and if they win out they will be league champions. However a St. Mikes victory would put them in the lead by virtue of having only one loss as compared with the Sluggers two. The Orange Boys could tie St. Mikes in such an event by defeating the Terriers the following Thursday, but such a win would be to no avail as the Sluggers win out. The two aforementioned games conclude the schedule except for one postponed game which is between the two second placers. The winner of this if it is the Orange Boys could tie the Sluggers for the pennant pursuing that they defeat the St. Mikes and the Orange Boys win over the Terriers. It's going to be thrilly; The Sluggers must win or they are out and the Orange Boys and St. Mikes must win both their remaining games to be in the running. The Sluggers have actually won all four of their games but they must win two more to be sure with the Orange Boys for using an ineligible player. The other games have not been played because there are not enough players on either team to play a game.

Bantam League

	W.	L.	Pts.
Wildcats	3	0	6
British Bulldogs	3	2	6
Y. Pups	1	2	2
Sluggers Jrs.	0	3	0

This is the only league in which the championship is already decided. With each team having one game to play the Wildcats cannot be beaten. On Monday they will attempt to make a clean sweep of all their league games against the Y. Pups. The following Thursday the British Bulldogs and the Sluggers Jrs. meet. These games will be played at Queen Alexandra School Grounds.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

ESQUIRE KIDS TIE FOR SECOND IN TAKING SACOS

Mike Powers Hurls Three-Hit Ball to Win Contest by 9-1

GUAY LEADS HITTERS

With Mike Powers hurling three-hit ball and his team mates collecting 11 safe blows while striking out willow at the bat, Red Townsend's Esquire Juniors climbed back into a tie for second place in the City Softball League by virtue of a 9 to 1 win over the SACO nine at Coleman Plaza last night.

Powers retired the SACOS in order for four consecutive frames before Thompson dropped a Texas League behind second in the fifth. It was not until the sixth, however, that the SACOS scored their one consolation by bobbling Jones' grounder and the latter scampered home from second on Holmes' single. Jim Hunter got the other SACO safety.

Carson Pitches

"Lum" Carson, former Belleville softball hurler now with the 3-47th Battery, ascended the mound for the SACOS by mutual consent of Skipper Townsend. Carson gave up six hits and four runs in the five innings he was replaced by Jim Hunter in the fourth after Whiting, Guay, Cook and Reid all had crossed the platter. Manager Townsend welcomed Hunter with a single and five runs were scored that inning. The Juniors' remaining counter came in the seventh as the result of Guay's triple.

Guay's run, a single, double and triple led the Esquire on the attack, Whiting and Mansfield getting a trio of hits also. Powers whiffed 10 SACO batters and only walked one in his best mound effort of the year. The game was interspersed with a few good fielding on the part of both squads.

Record Entry List For U. S. Public Golf Championship

New York, June 24—(AP)—Golfers will have their fill of golf if there's no lack of interest in the United States Public Links Championship, on a pay-as-you-go basis.

The entry list for the 1941 championship, once the neglected step-child of United States Golf Association championships, has reached a well above 1,000 players mark. That figure surpasses any other major golf event in the world and is well above last year's 2,601.

By comparison, the United States open championship, golf's big one, has only about 1,000 entries while last year's Professional Golfers' event had only 755.

This year's large entry list will be whittled down to 192 starters in the 30th Public Links tournament, with the finals to be played on the Canyon Course, Spokane, Wash., July 14-19. The 192 qualifiers include those who entered—Charles Ferrera of Los Angeles, Calif., and Ben Mandell of Atlanta, Ga., "Al Leach of Cleveland, Andrew Szwedko of Wilmington, and Robert Sweeney of St. Paul, the defending champion—were automatically exempted from the sectional rounds. The rest will compete for 187 places in sectional rounds at 33 locations.

The interest in the championship has won last year by Sam Francisco. The three low scorers from a city or district will qualify for the finals. The individual championship form that style will be used in the section which wishes to compete or a team, the scores from the sectional contest to wni his place.

Sports Roundup

By Hugh S. Fullerton, Jr.)

(Pinch-Hitting For Eddie Reiser)

(Associated Press Sports Writer)

New York, June 24.—(AP)—The Yankees are going to have a fight tonight? The Cuban battler, whose comeback in 1938 failed miserably, the Toronto fighter to the canvas in two minutes and 37 seconds.

When the Esquire kids wound up last night's game 9 to 1, twelve of the 24 games in the league schedule had been completed. Each club has now played their home and home games and we find Carboy's A.C. still undefeated at eight wins and no losses as yet. Red Townsend's kids moved into a tie for second place with Hull B. and S. along with Bubby Gaulin's "Combines." The remaining member of the schedule is a single meeting between the clubs, which is unofficial agreement all future gate receipts are to be donated to charity, the consisting clubs, that is until league play-offs get under way. The remaining ten games to see a little more timely interest shown with regard to the final positions, as Carby's can't be counted out at first place regardless. With the league ruling the first place winner will have a bye in the first round of the play-offs, which gives the fourth-placed squad, ordinarily the fifth team, a chance and even the Reliance are going to strive to stay out of that fourth slot, which is the only feature that keeps the league alive today.

Our "Lum" Carson of the 3-47th Battery who pitched softball for the old Corby A.C. before joining the artillery nearly a year ago, was permitted to go to the mound for the SACO versus Hull Townsend Esquire kids last night. Lum found out the local junior "muralliers" are a strenuous nine when he and Steve Hook were the only pitching strength of the ragged softball team in Belleville. As his team mates garnered in 14 hits and downed the SACO 9 to 1 last night, Mike Powers turned in a creditable mound chore for the Townsend kids, but he let the SACOS down with three one-hit blows and an unearned run. Mike whiffed 10 SACO batters and one while his team mates drove Carson to shelter in the fourth, Jim Hunter finishing for the courageous SACO nine.

Walter Gerow, who is guiding the destinies of the Tobern Beavers in the Northern Ontario baseball circles, has his club in a tie for first place for the league leadership. The Beavers beat Wright-Hargreaves 5 to 3 yesterday, as Skipper Gerow's nine seems to have struck their stride. Other results in the league are Lakeshore and Macassa, Walker Gerow, Ferrosilicon and Nipissing awarded a ball manager and coach, took over the Tobern club two years ago and has steadily strengthened the team since going to the helm.

Between Innings

GOSSIP AND COMMENT

We have a letter from Bdr. Cecil (Sammy) Cook, former Belleville athlete, now with the 34th Battery in far Eastern Canada, which we are passing along to his friends and relatives. Cec writes:

Dear Ken,—

"Am writing you a line or two as the boys here like to think they have friends who are wondering how we are getting along.

"We have seen quite a bit of the Eastern part of Canada, but give me good old Ontario every day.

"However, if you want some good trout fishing there are some streams down this way where you have to hide behind a tree to bait your hook and when the salmon are running you have to walk across the river without getting your feet wet. (Of course, that's stretching it a bit, but the fishing here is really good when one can find the time).

"The mosquitoes are as plentiful as the fish and bite just as hard. We know, because we're camping out just now and they're really grand.

"The boys are all well and getting along fine and wish to send their regards from the old 34th, to all our friends and relatives up Belleville way.

"Let the boys want to know if you are still calling the wide ones strikes and if George Cay still laying it on Wa Hoo?

"We all wish to thank The Ontario Intelligencer for sending copies of your paper as we appreciate each one, as it helps to keep us in touch with the old town."

With all conventional salutations Cec closes off. He made some references to Sunday's victory Lambdrive urging us at home to do our bit thinking that the Canadian corner appreciates such letters from the boys in uniform and will gladly publish them upon receipt, as the folks at home are equally as anxious to hear from their loved ones in uniform, as no doubt the boys are.

Cec, we're calling him just as bad as ever, Cec.)

Some men are born hitters, others learn the art. Constant practise drilling under expert coaches, and study often seem to rub off on it from their teammates. Harry Gumbert hit .195 for the Giants last year, batting .214 in 28 games. Cardinals last month, Curry Foran was batting .000 and Hines has taken over the new Johnstown, Ohio, entry in the American Association baseball circuit..... Ching Johnson, veteran Ranger defenseman, is going to be talking hockey along the main stem right here in town..... Ching's entry into baseball in the local league, so they're saying an all-star team from the R.C.A.F. at the Flats on Thursday ..... And who IS Mr. Bar.

ZEBEDEE—ARCHER

The home of Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Smith, 104 Metra Street, West, was the scene of a very interesting event on Saturday evening, June 21, when in the presence of a few chosen witnesses, Mr. William Wellington Zebedee, son of Mr. and Mr. Gilbert and the late Mrs. Zebedee of Herkimer Street, and Miss Irene Nora Archer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Archer, Lewis Street, were united in holy bonds of matrimony. Rev. J. D. F. Rose officiated.

Mr. and Mrs. Zebedee will continue to reside in Belleville.

CHENEY—GILROY

Wednesday afternoon, June 4, at 2.30 o'clock, Miss Alice Gilroy of New York City, became the bride of Richard E. Cheney in a ceremony read in the home of the bridegroom's parents, Mrs. A. E. Cheney of 217 St. James Street. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Archie M. Gilroy of Belleville, Ontario, Canada, and Mr. Cheney is the son of Mrs. Pearl Cheney of St. James Street.

For the ceremony, performed by Rev. S. S. Hardy, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, the bridal party stood before an improvised altar of mixed garden flowers. Mrs. Cheney's only attendant was Miss Adele Herrington, and Arthur Cheney served his brother as best man.

The bride, given in marriage by William Hunter, was attired in a blue and white printed crepe dress with white accessories, and wore a yellow flowers in her hair. Her jewelry was a single strand of pearls, the gift of her father, and her flowers, arranged in a Colonial bouquet, were yellow roses.

The maid of honour wore a crepe dress in a deep yellow shade, with white accessories, and an arrangement of yellow roses in her hair. Her Colonial bouquet held yellow roses and blue delphinium.

The bridegroom's mother wore a flowered printed sheer costume with dark accessories, and Mrs. A. E. Cheney was in a midnight blue sheer gown with matching accessories. Both wore corsages of mixed spring flowers.

Following the ceremony there was a small reception. Later when Mr. Cheney and his bride departed on a wedding trip, the bride wore a brown suit with matching accessories. After June 16, they will be at home in New York City.

The new Mrs. Cheney is a graduate of the Bellevile High School and the Toronto University School of Nursing. She is associated with the Manhattan Eye, Ear and Throat hospital in New York City.

Mr. Cheney is a graduate of Harding High School and Ohio State University, and is a member of Phi Delta Theta social fraternity, and of Beta Gamma Sigma, commerce honorary fraternity. He has been associated with Dun and Bradstreet in New York City for the last three years.

Mr. and Mrs. James R. Smith of 303 Franklin Street, are celebrating twenty guests at a buffet supper on Thursday evening in the pleasure of Mr. Cheney and his fiancee.—The Star, Marion, Ohio.

GADKE—WALKER

Thomasburg — A quiet but pretty wedding of unusual interest took place at the United Church parsonage, Thomasburg, on Saturday evening, June 21st at 8 o'clock when Miss Myrtle Annie Elizabeth, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Walker, became the bride of Mr. Melvin John Gadke, second son of Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Gadke of Clifford, Bruce County, Ont.

The bride was becomingly attired in a street length dress of light blue crepe with white accessories and carried a bouquet of white and pink spring flowers with a white lace and long gardenia.

Miss Irene Walker of Trenton, was her sister's attendant, wearing a floral printed frock with white accessories, while Mr. Royal Herson of Trenton acted as best man.

Rev. A. S. Doggett, pastor of the United Church, performed the ceremony. Only immediate relatives of the bride were in attendance.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, about seventy friends and relatives being present. A buffet luncheon was served, the tables centred with Miss Marion and Evelyn Bathman, Ana Morrison and Mrs. Isabel Bathman, Mrs. Ida Taggart and Betty Vance.

The bride and groom will reside on the groom's farm at Clifford, Ont. They received many useful gifts, including lines and bedding showing the esteem in which the bride was held in this community.

The Stars Say

For Wednesday, June 25

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

ACCORDING to the lunar and mutual aspects this day should be a pleasant and profitable one, with surprising angles, developing in both favorable and adverse ventures. In fact things may be exciting and thrilling, especially in all concerning the young and romantic, with possible sudden engagements, even platonic friendships may prove dramatic or exceptional. An expansive vibration favors new and audacious activity.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a profitable, happy and thrilling year, with many ardent desires reaching long cherished fulfillment. The romantic, social and financial status are under progressive and expansive rule, with the young and ambitious especially flourishing, probably by change, travel, or high enterprise having novelty and originality, the dramatic elements figuring conspicuously and enduringly.

A child born on this day should have much versatility, originality and ambition, probably in unique or audacious fields. It should be powerful and happy in all its aspirations and efforts, with much change and excitement.

Advice to the Lovelorn

Remember Father Every Day in the Year

Now that Father's Day has come and gone, let's give some real constructive thought to father himself. Dad was teased when he got his gifts — handkerchiefs, stockings, slippers, neckties, cufflinks, whatever they were.

But it's not of presents, poetry or practical suggestions that this column would reminisce about, but father's state of health.

Dr. Edgar V. Allen of the famous Mayo Clinic, in Rochester, Minnesota, says that the tired business man of fiction and cartoon is really a myth; that in real life he's worn out before his time, and that the tag is too superficial a characterization.

Naturally, Dr. Allen's medical experience has presumably been with business men who only enjoy income in the high brackets. This column is more concerned with those patient plodders who go 'round and 'round their own circlepaths in an effort to make both ends meet and keep the family going.

Let the millionaires pass up this sympathy and suggestions; at this time being it's the less privileged father with whom we are concerned. Every woman who is not an only-and-not spoiled child is interested in trying to help her husband attain those constitutional rights known as "health, wealth and the pursuit of happiness."

Wealth is a question of thrift, circumstance and a gift of the gods. It's the church and charity for any suggestion from this humble scribe. If a man has a job and provides the bacon, certainly his wife should be able to cook and put it on the table appetisingly.

Some women are absolutely dumb when it comes to cooking. They can't follow a recipe, have to palate when it comes to seasoning, and are ignorant as to whether a dish is a failure or not. I know one man who never could tell whether water was actually boiling or what it wasn't.

These days, if a woman is a poor cook, there is hardly any excuse. So many free cooking schools are open to us.

Well, here's a present you can give the "tired business man" every day in the year — peace. If he's close-fisted, drinks too much, is grouchy, don't nag him about these things at mealtime. Even the gentlest animal becomes unmanageable if he's tormented when he eats.

A normal man is likely to respond to a decent home where meals are good, and he's not nagged at meals and is encouraged to indulge in a few pet hobbies. Let him have his cronies in for a game of poker. Make them welcome. Provide simple refreshments. Laugh at him if he's a "collector." Little oddments collected as hobbies have sometimes turned into fortunes. If he's either a game of golf, tennis or bowling, don't raise Cain if he's late to meals.

Women who are obliged to scrimp and perform miracles on small incomes, and at the same time do an unbelievable amount of drudgery to keep the home going and send the children to school in a presentable condition, have just as hard a time as father. But women live longer than the "tired business man" as the statistics of life insurance companies prove.

WHO ISSUES WEDDING INVITATIONS AND ANNOUNCEMENTS?

Wedding invitations and announcements are sent out in the name of the bride's parents, if possible, even though this is the proper procedure, even when the bride's mother and father live at a distance, and cannot be present at the wedding; or when either the mother or the father is dead and cannot be present.

If only one parent of the bride is living, the invitations and announcements are issued in that parent's name. As for example, the mother is a widow, the form is:

Mrs. Wilbur Jones
requests the honour of your presence at the marriage of her daughter
Florence
etc.

If the bride's parents are divorced, the invitations and announcements are, if possible, sent out in the name of her mother, or her father — a brother, a grandfather, an uncle or some one of his relatives included, if he has one. If this is not possible, the sister (preferably a married sister) or an aunt may issue the invitations and announcements, with the name of her husband, if one.

If, for example, a brother and his wife are the sponsors:

Mr. and Mrs. Jones Allen request the honour of your presence at the marriage of their sister
Florence
etc.

If the bride's parents are divorced, the invitations and announcements are, wherever possible, sent out by the mother of the bride. If the bride's mother has not remarried, she uses the form of name adopted by the decree nisi, combination of her maiden surname and her married name. Mrs. Smith Robinson.

Mrs. Smith Robinson
requests the honour of your presence
at the marriage of her daughter Mary
etc.

If the bride's father is living and her mother has remarried, the bride's stepfather's name is omitted in the wedding invitation:

Mrs. John Ross Jones requests the honor of your
at the marriage of her daughter Mary Smith
etc.

If the reception is to be held at the house of the bride's mother and stepfather, the reception invitation is worded:

Mr. and Mrs. George Smith Brown request the pleasure of your presence
at the marriage of their daughter
Joan Clark
etc.

(When the bride's surname differs from that of the person or persons issuing the invitation, both her first name and surname should be given.)

The Second Marriage

If a young woman is married for the second time, the marriage is announced by her parents. The bride's full name is used:

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Brown Foster have the honour of announcing the marriage of their daughter Mary Foster Allen
etc.

When a woman of maturer years is married, the married couple usually make the announcement:

Doctor John Pirke Lee and
Mrs. James Hamilton announce their marriage on Tuesday, the tenth of June
Nineteen hundred and forty - one
San Antonio, Texas

If the bride prefers not to use her first husband's first name, this is the only instance when the form "Mrs. Mary Smith Hamilton" is permissible. But the formal name is Mrs. James Hamilton for a widow, and Mrs. Smith Robinson for a divorcee... in better taste.

Summertime means time to look your prettiest carefree — no matter what your age, type or size may be! Anne Adams had this important fact in mind when she designed Pattern 4789. For though its style is as youthful as your own daughter's clothes, carefully placed softness and simple but deft touches give it mature-figure flattery. You will like the smartness and the sewing convenience of the front yoke that each form one piece with a bodice panel. Your new Fall loveliness is held in by gathering under the yokes and the long vertical lap may either let the neck fold back into rolling revers or tie in a round, high-buttoned style. The simple skirt flares in soft folds down the front. Be sure to keep the flowing fullness at your elbow!

Pattern 4789 is available in women's sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48. Size 36 requires 3½ yards 35 inch fabric.

DR. DAFOE'S COLUMN on the Quintuplets and the Care of Your Children

SUMMER CAMPS OFFERING BOTH WORK AND PLAY RECOMMENDED TO PARENTS

This is the time when many parents are giving attention to summer camps for their children, and I am glad to suggest that some good camps which provide work as well as recreation.

Work is an acquired habit and children need to learn to work just as they must learn to read and write, and one is just as vital a part of their education as the other, but the former is being neglected in a great many homes.

Many schools are trying to remedy this, and an increasing number of summer camps are recognizing the need for a certain work-play program. They have taken over farms or handcraft shops, have arranged for children to have most of the service jobs or attend to the daily chores around the camp. Some provide working scholarships, while others require the work as part of the camp fee.

With so many men having to be called into the army or attracted into war industries, there are opportunities for boys to get farm work in many parts of the country to employ their spare time and be well paid for it. I know of one New York high school that is arranging to place its students as workers on farms and is encouraging them to take the jobs for the experience and the recreational opportunities.

A great many parents do not intend to rear their children to be lazy, irresponsible wastrels and parasites, but they do because they fail to make workers of them. Some, who live in modern homes with so many conveniences, find it hard to provide daily chores for their children that will develop responsibility, dependability and thoroughness; or they are impatient instructors who'd "rather do the job themselves than take the bother and mess of it." Others have the proud but foolish idea that if their children have to do any work that it is somehow a reflection on them, and they deliberately encourage their children's laziness.

The Dionne Quintuplets have a rather large amount of money put away for them, but it is not wished to it that they learn to work. For we want them to be able to take care of themselves, and we want them to have this self-confidence and sense of responsibility that the working habit gives growing children.

Physical laziness is usually accompanied by mental laziness. So the child allowed to grow up without learning how to work is often also a poor scholar. For this his parents blame his teachers, and they probably shift him from one school to another. When they finally succeed him through a graduation, they have to find a job for him, and perhaps two or three jobs before he finds an employer to whom he is of little use until he learns how to work — something scholarships, alone, never learned in childhood.

Learning to take care of himself and to work is easier for a child in a camp than in a home, because supervisors deal with him in a more detached way than his parents do. They will place his work on a competitive basis, the sports of one of 50 or 100 in a group of his own age, there is more incentive to him to learn things than will make parents want to excel and stand out as an individual. He will be unselfconscious not to appear as a weakling or an incompetent. And wise camp supervisors will see to it that he is not overworked and is given a chance to excel in something.

Music Pupils Of Miss L. Riggs Heard in Recital

In the ladies' parlour of Bridge Street United Church last evening the pupils of Miss Lena Mae Riggs presented a program of piano solos and small music heard with keen pleasure by an audience of relatives and friends present, introducing many who will make a distinguished place for themselves in the field of music.

The vocal numbers chosen for presentation were especially appealing and the interpretation of the singers, the clear enunciation and the charm of manner they displayed, was delightful indeed. Each of the young ladies heard has a special had the gift of a lovely voice, the development and training of which was a tribute to the skill of their teacher. Miss Riggs acted as accompanist for the numbers which included several arias from well known operas and ballads, specially appealing to the soloists.

Miss Elinor Pinkie was heard in a group of piano selections which demonstrated the remarkable talent of this young performer. Miss Pinkie gave a fine performance of even the most difficult compositions and appreciative and well-deserved applause greeted her numbers. The program follows:

Sonata, Opus 49, No. 2, Beethoven, Allegro, Minuet — Elinor Pinkie.

Still Wie Die Nacht, Bohm. When Love is Kind, Arr. A. L. Pinsuti — Soprano, Marcello—Mary Alice Rogers.

Air Varie, Arr. Hartzog, Aubade, Gay of Allendale, Arr. H. Lane Wilson, Spring's Song, Grieg—Helen Cook, Tu Jo Sai, Tonelli, Nocturne, Pearl Curran, Valley of Laughter, Sanderson — Lena Brown.

The 23rd Psalm, Albert Hay Malotte, Clouds, Ernest Charles, A Little Song of Life, Albert Hay Malotte—Mrs. R. G. Kennedy.

Nocturne, Opus 9, No. 2, Chopin—Elinor Pinkie.

I Dunno, John Barnes Wells, Chinese Mother Goose Rhymes, The Sandman, Lady is Sleeping, Bainbridge Crist, Don't Come in Sir, Please (from the Chinese), Cyril Scott—Mary Alice Rogers.

A Spirit Flower, Campbell-Tolton, My Lover is a Fisherman, Lily Strickland, Lotus Land, Cyril Scott, Morning, Oley Speaks—Doris Houston.

Fantasia, Handel—Elinor Pinkie. Aria, Depuis le Jour, from "Louise"—Charpentier—Mrs. E. G. Kennedy.

Minuet in G, Paderewski—Elinor Pinkie.

Aria, Mon coeur s'ouvre a ta voix from "Samson et Dalila," Saint Saens—Doris Houston.

Lana Turner and James Stewart in romantic musical, the screen has yet and Hedy Lamarr, now on the Bella Theatre screen.

Dr. Blakslee Gives Address to Rotary On Causes of Deformities in Children

Members of the Belleville Rotary Club had a "double" opportunity of seeing the results of the work being done by their Crippled Children's Committee at their regular luncheon yesterday when three small children, proteges of the club were their guests, Little Misses Geraldine Kerry and Shirley Henry, and Master Bruce Ferguson, together with their mothers, enjoyed the luncheon with the latter expressing individually their heartfelt appreciation of the Club's work in affording the pleasure of their children.

Geraldine Kerry, a wigsome miss, walked up and down the luncheon room without the aid of crutches or braces, showing tremendous improvement over a few years ago when she was badly crippled. Introduced by Chairman Charles Symons, the little lady smiled her thanks. She is expected to be a one hundred per cent cure. Shirley Henry, who had to be carried on a cushion by her parents prior to operations and treatment now gets along with the aid of crutches, goes to school and is showing remarkable progress. Bruce Ferguson, whose eyes were crossed at birth, has since undergone several operations, and now enjoys almost unimpaired sight.

Rotarian Dr. Van Blakslee, in a brief address, outlined the general causes of deformities in children. These were, he said, social diseases, infectious diseases, improper foods, injuries and now in Britain, bombs.

Social diseases, syphilis, etc, resulted in malformities, and often blindness as well as bone disease in children. Have been cut down greatly within the past few years due to the stringency of the law and regulations governing the source. Infectious diseases, such as tuberculosis, diphtheria, measles, infantile paralysis were responsible for many cases of deformities. The latter disease was responsible for 15 per cent of crippling of children between the ages of 6 to 10 years. Up to a few years ago, 7,000 Canadians died yearly of tuberculosis.

Infectious diseases had been cut down, he said, due to the use of pasteurized milk, toxoids given at school, vaccination and early T. B. x-rays. Deformities due to improper diets had been reduced 85 per cent, due to food clinics which prescribe diets to prospective mothers. Due to this there has been a great reduction in cases of rickets and other bone diseases.

The responsibility to the crippled child, Dr. Blakslee said, was to develop him that he is not crippled but temporarily disabled. He should be taught to shoulder responsibility rather than to lay too much stress on his defects. He put a fine tribute to the work of Chairman Charles Symons and his Crippled Children Committee.

Chairman Symons, in a brief address pointed out that the work could not have been accomplished without the assistance of Drs. Arthur Locke and Blakslee. He pointed out that it was just twenty years ago that the first crippled child case was undertaken by the Club and since then it has been working in the city. Since that time 85 such children have been benefitted.

Among the luncheon guests were Messrs. Clark Kinnear and Donald Lee, Victory Loan campaign organizers here, Dr. R. Jones, West Virginia and J. Brintnell of London England.

Use Leisure to Build Beauty

Joan Rogers spends her leisure time cultivating her garden.

By HELEN FOLLETT

ASK THE average, busy woman what she does with her leisure time, and she is confounded. She hasn't any leisure. But she could have, if she arranged her life to include it. That old-fashioned notion that the day should be divided into three parts, eight hours for sleep and eight hours for play, was born in the mind of a philosopher. Without recreation of some sort, one is not qualified to do one's work well.

Without eight hours of sleep the human engine can't chug up the energy it needs. Cylinders start misfiring. Fatigue is stamped upon the face and then the beauty shop can't help much if the physical state is not what it should be.

Fun for Beauty

If the days are monotonous because of a treadmill of duties, a woman may get pepped up by going to a theatre or night club, and having some fun. But if her days are strenuous and exciting, as happens with many that hold down jobs, they'll be better off if the evenings offer quiet pleasures, like reading, interesting friends, a delightful book, or pleasant loafing beside the radio.

Spring brings outdoor sports which are the best form of recreation. Sniff in the fresh air and get plain carnation in your cheeks. Tramp in the woods and work off excess weight that may be bothering you.

Some women have never known how to play. They do not realize that being serious all the time is one way of being silly.

Invest your leisure well and it will bring you beauty riches. Get away from the squirrel cage of continuous activity. Devote recreations that are wholesome and youthifying. Cast your lines in pleasant places and the lines of age will never beset you because you'll always be young.

IT'S LOVELY, this afternoon frock of printed silk in lipstick red with fat little cupids in black and white. Arrows are used for the buttons on the draped bodice and the belt clasp is a pair of white enamel wings.

KEEP COOL AND COMFY in gingham. A nicely tailored gingham suit in red and white plaid with a blue shadow line has a white piqué collar and cuffs. Blouse collar is worn outside the double-breasted jacket.

CHATTERTON W. I.

A meeting of the Chatterton W. I. was held at the home of Miss Aletia Hinton with 11 members and 1 visitor present. The meeting opened with the Institute Ode followed by the Lord's prayer in unison and the roll call was an exchange of plants or shrubs. After the business part of the meeting, current events were given in the form of a discussion, after which everyone enjoyed some community singing. Readings on Agriculture were given by Mrs. Pinkle, Mrs. Irvine. Lozo Prest, Aletia Morton and Mrs. Harry Reid. Eileen Mitts then favored with a solo. Mrs. C. Frederick gave a reading "Our Blooming Province" and the meeting closed with the Mispah Benediction. The hostess then served a very dainty lunch which everyone enjoyed.

Hiking for Beauty is Fun

By HELEN FOLLETT

Ann Sheridan enjoys a brisk walk every day.

NO NICER time of the year for going places. We don't mean going to the bridge party or on a shopping binge, but facing forth for a brisk walk. Doesn't interest Shame on you, little one. If we dared, we might say that maybe you are lazy, prefer to jump into the family car and chug along with the gasoline breeze.

Walking is one of the most health-giving exercises. It stimulates the appetite, aids digestion, trims down plump leglets. When the body is held gallantly and splendidly it develops the bust, expands the chest, aids to the vitality of the lungs, speeds up circulation and saves on the expenditure for rouge compacts.

Hiking for Beauty

It's fun to go on a long hike through wooded places, get a girl's eye view of the sky, sniff in the sweet smells, woo a fatigue that brings restful sleep. Suppose you consider this idea and act upon it.

Dress properly. Wear a short sport jacket or sweater. Bind up your curly locks, cover your hands with gloves so wind and sun won't discolor them. Put on wide, low heeled sports shoes. Then march! Walk with your head high, chin up if you were window shopping. Continue at a fair clip.

This manner of walking will make the flesh all over your body moist and glowing and the cheeks will brighten.

If you can't conveniently get to country lanes save along the boulevard. Anyhow, do get out of doors and feel it. If you are a housekeeper do not fancy that vou are all the exercise you need with the pan-sweeping and the floor mop. That's work and there is no fun in it. Every day you must have your hours in the sunshine, your walk even, mamas need 'em.

Get in the parade for the sake of your health, your figure and your dispositon.

Fashion Flashes

GOING BIG are smart little dinner hats. A new model is a bonnet in black felt with a heart-shaped brim trimmed with flaxes of black lace. Mallne veiling ties under the chin.

IT'S POPULAR, the three-tiered skirt and it is about the prettiest wear too. This silhouette is used for a dance dress in pale blue organdie dotted and bound in white organdie that extends the scalloped tiers of the skirt. Crushed white organdie shoulder scarf.

TOP OFF a dark costume with a white hat. Just right for smart occasions is a tailor of white felt with a pleated brim, a cluster of red camellias and a black dotted veil in back.

W. I., Madoc, to Assist Project for Making Jam for Overseas Soldiers

Madoc—The Madoc branch of the Women's Institute held their June meeting at the home of Mrs. Robert Bristol on Friday. The president, Mrs. G. C. Moon presided. Community singing opened the meeting followed by the Institute Ode. Roll call of members showed a good number present. During the business period many letters were received from Madoc boys overseas thanking the Institute for the parcel of socks, smokes and etc. that they had received quite recently. Thanks to the flower committee were given by members, receiving flowers during illness. Communication from the Department regarding the jam project for sending over seas were discussed. It was decided to send the price of 100 lbs of sugar to the department to be forwarded to a canning centre to be used for jam making also the members unanimously agreed to fill jam cans in Madoc community and anyone wishing to obtain cans to fill may get them from Mrs. R. B. Tanner, Mr. Markle of the Madoc Bread and Yarn Co. of Toronto interviewed the meeting. It was decided to leave this business with the convener of War Work, Mrs. A. Hall.

Canadians Industries, was the topic for the meeting with Mrs. Will Keller, convener, in charge. She gave a most interesting paper on Nominion and a short note on the use of skim milk. Report of the district annual convention held in Madoc was reviewed by Mrs. Corrigal. A piano solo "Romance" by Mrs. Ray Bell was enjoyed by Miss Eleanor Aylesworth. A poem from Victory Scrap Book was very capably read by Mrs. W. Hart. A most interesting meeting was closed by singing of God Save the King, following which there with a social time lunch was served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. S. S. Ashley, Mrs. Hulin, Mrs. Whytock.

Tuesday evening friends and neighbors numbering about one hundred gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Foley of the O'Hara neighborhood to do honor to Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Wilson (nee Ethel McCoy). The evening was spent in cards and dancing. Before lunch Mr. Ben Keller acting as chairman called for order and Miss Prudence MacKinnon read an address to the young couple and Misses Jas. Miller and Chas. Stinson presented them with a studio couch and matching chairs. Short addresses were given by several neighbors.A bounteous lunch was served to the guests and remainder of the evening spent in dancing. Mrs. Wilson was also presented with a cold pack canner by the O'Hara Red Cross Unit of which she was a member.

Observe 25th Anniversary of Their Wedding

Wooler—An interesting event took place on Sunday afternoon, June 8, when about thirty guests assembled at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Caleb Cole to honor them on the occasion of their twenty fifth wedding anniversary.

American Beauty Roses, blue and cream tris in the living room made a pretty setting where Mr. and Mrs. Cole received their friends. Over the turn tendered the bridal couple of twenty-five Years, felicitations, wishing them many more years of conjugality.

A silver rose bowl centred the tea table containing Talisman roses and baby's breath. Mrs. D. R. Hennessy poured tea while Mrs. P. Westphal of Toronto served punch.

Especially interesting of note was the presence of the couple's mothers, Mrs. R. Stimers, 82 years of age, who resides with Mr. and Mrs. C. Cole- aged 86, mother of Mr. Cole. Other guests were L. Westphal, M. Argue, the Misses Nadine, Mildred and Virginia Cole all of Toronto, Miss Lou Cole, Mr. Grant Cole, C. D. Cole, their daughter Hurt, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Nelson, Mrs. Simon McLaughlin, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Morrow and Mrs. N. Hazelwood and son Robert. The gifts were many and beautiful to behold, showing the esteem in which the couple are held.

The newlyweds, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stimers returned home from their wedding trip on Tuesday, when they were surprised by a large gathering of young people.

Mrs. Arthur Goodwin entertained her brother Corp. Keith Ruckstuhl of Peterboro recently.

Sorry to report that Marie Sharpe is confined to bed owing to tonsilitis.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Pilcher, Morganston, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Sharpe on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Hedley Ireland enjoyed a motor trip to Toronto one Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Morgan were visited by Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Morgan of Nova Scotia recently.

AS A CHANGE from usual summer fashions, the shops are promoting the wearing of the fish navy satin. A typical model has cap sleeves and jeweled buttons on its shirtwaist type bodice.

Beauty ON THE BEACH

The basic laws for protecting a good appearance from exposure are the same for old or young bathers

BEACHTIME and PLAYTIME! Time to get out and let the warm sun and cooling breezes caress your body. Time to look at the world through colored glasses and reap the most of this summertime harvest.

Put the summer and all of its beauty-making elements to work for you. Whether one is two years old, or old enough to be a great-grandmother, the basic laws for protecting one's appearance against exposure are the same.

Five protective items will be sufficient to see anybody, young or old, male or female, through this summertime-beachtime-playtime season. For good measure, and especially for the ladies and children, I've included a skin smoothing agent so that any roughness that threatens the skin can be smoothed away at once.

First, let's consider a good skin protective aid against sun and windburn. A splendid non-oily suntan lotion which was originally developed in Sweden for snowburn is a most desirable companion on any outing. The screening properties of this lotion promote a slow, gradual tan while holding back the rays that do the burning. This means that beneficial, health and beauty-giving rays are let through the application, while the damaging rays that burn, blister and freckle the skin are screened out.

The screening properties of a time-honored sunburn lotion promote a slow, gradual tan while holding back the rays that do the burning. Also use it on young skins, which are more sensitive.

Doctors agree that the tannic acid derivative contained in this lotion is one of the finest sunburn preventives obtainable. It is equally efficacious on youthful skins as that of adults. Certain types of blonde complexions, because they are as sensitive as a baby's, never build up a complete protection but must rely upon a protective agent every minute during exposure. This non-oily, antiseptic sunburn lotion seems to me to be just the thing for every member of the family.

Don't make the mistake of thinking that one application of this or any other sunburn preventive will protect the skin through hours of exposure. Because water and perspiration wash away much of the protective coating, it is important that the lotion be applied frequently. If you like to loll on the beach, you will like this splendid non-oily lotion especially well. It isn't the least bit oily or greasy and its application won't attract particles of sand to the skin. This is of special interest to youngsters and fastidious adult lolicrs.

Here is an extra tip to mothers: Youthful skin is much more sensitive to outside conditions than adults' and it must be treated more kindly. It is subject to irritations, such as prickly heat, which older skin usually escapes, and it burns more quickly in the sun because it turns red faster and forms protective pigment, or tan, more slowly.

The companion to this sunburn lotion is a lipstick which may be had colorless, or in light, medium and dark shades. The special tannic acid derivative in these sticks relieves sunburn as well as protects the lips against burning, drying, swelling and peeling. The colorless pomade is especially suggested for children and men, as well as for girls who like to use their pet liprouge first, then an application of this protective coating. The colorful rouges referred to here, however, contain the same basic skin-protective ingredients found in the sunburn lotion.

Peeling lips, red, blistered or flaking skin, and faded, streaked hair are all signs of carelessness during exposure. Whether your hair is black, brown, blonde, gray or red, it should be protected against dryness and changing color caused by exposure to the sun's rays. An excellent liquid, designed for the purpose of guarding the hair, should be the third protective item on today's outing. A sturdy metal atomizer with a silk-covered bulb accompanies the bottle of hair protective liquid. Use the atomizer for making a mist-like application of protection to the hair. Spray it over the full length of hair in order to protect delicate dry ends. The mist-like coating forms a sheath that screens out the burning, damaging rays of the skin. Mothers will find this an ideal protective aid for their barebacked youngsters who toss hats and sunbonnets aside the moment they are out of sight.

A non-sticky lotion, originally designed as a soothing aid to rough, chapped hands, is especially desirable for use while on the beach. It has a true gardenia scent and does not leave the skin sticky or greasy and therefore does not attract sand. Adults as well as children will find this a beauty tip worth remembering if they want to reap their full share of this summertime harvest. Rub a little of this lotion over neck and shoulders, legs and arms, and be especially generous with its application over hands, elbows and wherever and whenever the skin appears weathered.

Good sunglasses are vitally important to the comfort and well-being of every member of the family. Adult glasses with special lenses (these were originally developed to protect workers' eyes against the burning heat rays from furnaces and torches) serve as perfect protection against eyestrain during exposure. These same glasses are now specified by the United States army air corps as the standard to protect fliers' eyes. These glasses have been developed to "tune out" excess infra-red and ultra-violet rays, the two elements that create strain and burning sensation in the eyes. The chemical ingredients of these glasses absorb the infra-red heat rays and give an actual cooling sensation to the eyes. The scientifically-determined soft green tint of the lenses permit ample light so that color values are not changed.

Special glasses for children are equally important if youthful eyes are to be shielded against damaging elements. An extra protection is given children's eyes by the use of laminated lens in junior sunglasses. This lens consists of two pieces of glass having sandwiched between them a layer of film similar to that used in safety glass. As a result of this, these glasses have excellent shatter-proof resistant properties and can take a lot of punishment from youthful handling. Make sure that the glasses you or your children wear are especially constructed to bring greater comfort and less eyestrain.

Hair protection is a beach essential, regardless of the color of the hair. The liquid forms a sheath to protect every hair. Protection is also needed by the eyes against exposure to sun.

The companion of the sunburn lotion is pomade, either colorless or colorful, for every member of the family. Young lips also need protection. A gardenia-scented lotion will make or keep the skin smooth, and it is a lotion which won't leave stickiness to attract sand.

MISS DIXON will be happy to answer questions on beauty upon receipt of a three-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope for reply, sent to her in care of this newspaper.

Delight Dixon Says:

THE most important aid in keeping toenails well groomed is a pair of sturdy nail nippers. Good nippers are superior to scissors or files because they nip off long and uneven nails with a simple clip and leave the nail edge smooth. One pair of nippers available is made of tempered steel and ground to lasting sharpness.

The watchword for beauty is vigilance! Take preventive measures to ward off the least damage to your appearance. If these steps are not taken in time, by all means be quick as a flash to other pages course and use corrective measures before the damage is too great.

With small hats, or no hat at all, and hair so much in evidence, and what with summer's sun drying out the natural oils of the hair and giving it a harsh look, it's time to do something about the tresses. A light application of a special hair and scalp ointment massaged over the scalp acts as a normalizing agent. It gets to the root of the disturbance and checks as it overcomes dry scalp that leads to dry hair. When used correctly this ointment will not give the hair and scalp an oily appearance but will leave the hair clean, bright and lustrous.

Know the shade of liprouge you need and the remaining five make-up aids packed in a special box are in perfect accord. This special make-up kit makes the perfect gift to any feminine friend or member of the family. What a thrill for the lucky one to know she need no longer fuss and fume over matching her basic make-up to her shade of lip-rouge.

YOUR PROBLEMS

HOW can I get rid of a small mustache and not have it grow back again? I'll appreciate your help very much.
E. C.

Have the hair removed by a competent electrolysis operator. This is the only method by which the growth can be permanently removed. Unless the mustache is very noticeable, however, I suggest that you bleach the hairs to make them less conspicuous. I'll be very happy to send you my formula for making a splendid bleaching agent upon receipt of a three-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope.

My three-year-old daughter's forehead is very low. The hair grows in a straight line about one inch and one half above her eyebrows. Is it possible for me to raise this hairline and at the same time make it more attractive?
MRS. B. DELANEY.

I believe you can raise the natural hairline and give it better line, but this will require patience. Brush the hair in correct direction every morning, noon and night. Use a brush with soft bristles in order not to irritate the skin, and brush gently.

I find it impossible to do the reducing exercises which are supposed to be beneficial in reducing hips and abdomen. Perhaps you can tell me of another exercise I might do for the purpose.
JESSIE.

Kicking exercises would prove extremely beneficial in reducing hips and abdomen. Send along a three-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope and I'll forward my leaflets of exercises to you at once. I'm sorry I haven't space in these columns to print the desired exercises.

I have a terrible habit of picking at my cuticle and biting my nails. I'm 18 years old. Do you think it possible for me to overcome this habit at my age?
MURIEL C.

This is unusual. Most young ladies your age take such pride in their nails that nothing could make them spoil their well-groomed appearance. Use will power, lots of it, and keep the little rough edges trimmed off so the temptation won't be so great.

My complexion is rather nice although I have a number of little blackheads far back on my cheeks, along the hairline close to my ears and temples. Please let me know how I can get rid of them and prevent their recurrence.
M. E. A.

First, use a lathered complexion brush and scrub the blackhead area thoroughly. Then rinse off all soap. Next, hold four or five hot compresses over the region, dry the skin, then very carefully press out the pore impurities. Use the complexion brush every day in order to eliminate the smaller blackheads as well as to prevent their recurrence.

I've been using a sunburn preventive all season in an effort to prevent tanning, but I find that my skin is getting quite brown. I put on a lot of lotion before going out-of-doors and two or three hours later my skin is red.
LIBBY F.

I'm afraid you are not using the preventive often enough. Use the aid liberally, to be sure, but make frequent applications of it during your period of exposure. If this frequent and liberal application does not prove satisfactory with the lotion you are now using, send me a three-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope and I'll forward you names of others.

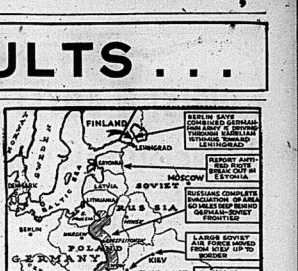
Attack on Russia Changes Aspect Of Whole War

(Wade Werner, veteran of The Associated Press foreign staff, has had unusual opportunities to see the powers involved in the European conflict at close hand. He spent seven years in Germany and Austria, mostly during the Hitler rise to power, was for a year chief of The Associated Press bureau in Moscow and went from there to Finland to cover the Finnish-Russian War of 1939-40.)

(By WADE WERNER)

New York, June 24 (AP)—To call Germany's sudden thrust against Russia a surprise was stiff. Parker got would be an inadequate description of the military-political upheaval



A few hours after Germany launched its campaign against Russia, Hitler's drive towards the east caused the situation as described by the boxed captions on the above map. Russia, throwing the full might of the Red army against the invaders, has also won reserves and predicted that Hitler would suffer the same fate as Napoleon.*

THE WAR TODAY

By DON GILBERT
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Germany's main push in her war with Russia appeared today to be developing in the Northeastern Polish Provinces, Brest-Litovsk, the town east of Warsaw where in the First Great War the Germans made a separate peace with Bolshevist leaders, is in German hands, together with two other railroad towns, according to Moscow advices.

This represents an insignificant gain in relation to the distances to be covered if the heart of Russia is to be reached. But with the German advance appears to be headed in the general direction of Minsk, which served as Napoleon's headquarters early in his Russian campaign.

This surmise is supported by the emphasis placed by Nazi propagandists on "popular uprisings" and other manifestations of independence in the Baltic States of Lithuania, Latvia and Estonia, which were absorbed by the Soviet Union a year ago. Anti-Soviet leaders from these countries fled to Germany at that time and now it appears they are to be sponsored by the Germans of puppet regimes as soon as the German forces can occupy this territory.

It is unlikely that the Red army will devote much of its strength to defending these frontiers improvised by the Russo-German agreement of last year. Its own defences, said to be in great depth and adapted to fight in mechanized warfare on the old frontiers, and were developed over the long period of Nazi-Soviet tension before the 1936 Non-Aggression Pact.

As the progress of this Baltic drive apparently hinges the action of the German army known to be in Finland. Finns are now stressing their inability to fight and denying that German forces are in Finland awaiting the signal to launch an attack co-ordinated with the forces advancing northeastward.

Cannes, France, June 24 —(AP)— James Gentry, deputy consul marshal, received a letter this day stating: A stray dog that had four pups in the basement of an old school gathered food for them from door to door. Shortly after the pups were weaned, she left one at each of these four homes.

WANTS MORE TIME

London, June 24 —(CP)— Prime Minister Churchill told the House of Commons today that he would like time before reviewing the war in the Middle East, but not too much. He said, a la topic "we discussed so fully a fortnight ago."

Honeymoon Gold

by PEGGY DERN

THE FOLLOWING afternoon they were on the beach, the entire island population of 12. The major and Mrs. Edmonds sat beside Tom and Betsy, who were sitting after a swim. Natalie and Brooks were swimming with the skill and ease of those long accustomed to salt water, while Lucy and Orwin were paddling in the shallow water close at hand. Bill lay half asleep, a disreputable looking hat tilted across his nose.

Terry, in a yellow laster bathing suit that consisted of shorts and a bra, was picking up seashells, paddling happily along the beach, her hands already filled so that when she found a new treasure she had to throw away one of those she already had. Absorbed in her pursuits, she rounded the beach and was out of sight of the others.

It was Bill who missed her when she had been gone 10 or 15 minutes. He sat up and asked for her; the others hadn't seen her since she had vanished around a curve in the beach. Nobody was at all concerned, but Bill heaved himself to his feet, grinned sheepishly, and said casually he thought he'd go see what had become of her.

And it was then that she came in sight at the upper end of the beach. There was something odd about the way she walked—stumbling a little, her hands outstretched like one suddenly blinded who feels his way amid chaos, the very sight of her struck terror to Bill's heart, and he raced to meet her.

The others were on their feet now, and close behind Bill when Terry stumbled into his arms, a Terry who was deathly white behind her sunburn, whose eyes were sick with horror, and whose young body shook with a violent chill. Her voice was a mumbling, incoherent babble of sounds. Bill shook her hard, holding her a little away from him as she tried to crowd her shaking body into his arms as though for the sheer creature comfort of his physical warmth and nearness.

"I—stepped 'on him, Bill," she said at last. "And he's—he's dead. There's—there's a hole right between his eyes, and he's lying there, all still and—and—sort of peaceful looking—"

"Oh, my God!" said Bill under his breath. He caught her close, and she began to cry in great, gulping sobs that shook her body and tortured her throat as they tore their way upward.

Tom had raced for a stimulant. Bill held the glass to Terry's lips and her teeth rattled against the rim of it as she tried to swallow. After a moment she said shakily, "He's there—just around the curve in the beach—up a little creek. I thought maybe there might be orchids—I'm a fool about orchids!—and then I s-stepped right on his face."

Bill lifted her in his arms and carried her swiftly toward their cottage, while Betsy followed him, anxious to do what she could.

Tom said crisply, "Major, if you'll be kind enough to stay here with the ladies—"

"I'd rather go along. If you don't mind," said the major in what must have been his military manner. "Perhaps Mr. Littlefield wouldn't mind staying here?"

"No, of course not. Anything at all that I can do—" said Orwin, and shuddered.

"Then let's get going, fellows," Brooks said.

Natalie, Mrs. Edmonds, Lucy and June stood in a little uncertain huddle beside Orwin while the others men went at a dog-trot along the beach, around the curve, and out of sight.

Tom led the way. In the days of getting the island ready for its guests, he and Betsy had explored every inch of the place except for the cypress swamp. Opposite the cottages, there was a small creek that flowed out of the swamp and lost itself in the turquoise blue waters of the ocean. The creek was narrow, but much deeper, as they were to find later, than it looked. On one side the bank was impenetrable green reeds and marsh growth, starred with the rosy, improbable beauty of mallow-pinks and rank vines touched with white blossoms that gave off a startling unpleasant scent. On the other side of the creek, there was a narrow, spongy brown bank, created by the closely woven roots of the cypress and other trees that grew here and caught the centuries-old accumulation of debris, that in time formed a fairly solid mass.

Along this bank, walking warily lest they come unexpectedly on one of the poisonous snakes or alligators known to infest such spots, the group of men advanced. Suddenly Tom stopped so abruptly that the others trod on his heels.

He stood looking down at the man who lay there. A man who must have been in his early thirties, dark, swarthy, and like a seaman, the dark face upturned lightly to the sun. And as nearly as though it had been bored by some expert, there was a small round hole between the man's eyes.

Despite the cleanliness of his clothes, there was something almost majestic in the man's position, so still, so quiet, his arms neatly folded across his breast.

The major polished his glasses and then bent low above him.

"We mustn't touch him, of course, until the police arrive," stated the major, breaking the silence that held them all.

"The police?" Brooks was plainly startled.

"But of course," said the major instantly. "It's obviously a question for the police to solve. Who is he? What's he doing here? And—most important of all—who put him here?"

Tom nodded. "One of us will have to stay on guard, I suppose," he said quietly, "while we send for the police—"

"I'll stay," said Donald. "Looks like this might make a swell story for my paper—even if I am on vacation."

Brooks scowled and Donald did not miss the change in his expression.

"Right!" said Tom briskly. "I don't need to warn you, Hazlitt, about being careful of disturbing any clues."

TORONTO STOCKS

Toronto, June 24 (CP)—Industrials improved their price position on Toronto exchange today while other groups held steady in the early hours of trading. The volume of turnover was smaller at 64,000 shares, 14,000 fewer than in yesterday's market.

Utilities, including Bell Telephone and Shawinigan, were unchanged to an eighth higher in other groups gains appeared for Massey Ferguson, Imperial Oil, Ford A and General Steel Wares.

Wright-Hargreaves moved ahead cents to 4.45, a new low for the year and prices were a bit soft for Pickle Crow, Hollinger, Noranda, MacLeod-Cockshutt, Preston first, set at $3. In the base metals, Falconbridge, Steep Rock and Nickel had insignificant losses.

Western oils recorded no changes.

WALL STREET

New York, June 24—(AP)—Prices of stock market leaders generally were cut moderately today as war buying inspiration appeared to have largely evaporated. Fractional losses were widespread.

Among the wavering issues were U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, American Telephone, Anaconda, Westinghouse, Montgomery Ward, Sperry, Douglas, Curtiss-Wright and International Harvester.

Up occasionally were Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Timken Roller, U. S. Rubber, Youngstown Sheet and American Tobacco.

Universal Pictures preferred, on the "war boom" list, showed a strong performer, seemingly reflecting the announcement the film company had negotiated a loan agreement, with banks making available $2,000,000 for production and general corporate purposes up to $5,800,000. Canadian issues were irregular. International Nickel lost 1-4 and Aluminum Ltd. 1-8, while Canadian Pacific gained 1-8. In the Bond Market Canada 4s were unquoted.

MARY PICKFORD IN HOSPITAL

Cleveland, June 24—(AP)—Mary Pickford, star of the silent films, is under observation in Cleveland Clinic and will remain most of this week, Dr. Charles F. Stewart said today. Clinic officials emphasized she was not seriously ill.

Top-Grade Eggs Ease, Butter Firm

Toronto, — Top-grade egg prices declined 1-2 cent in trading on the Toronto open produce market today, while butter market firmed slightly as prices on first grade creamery butter solids advanced 1-4 cent per pound.

Though fresh receipts on the egg market continued on the light side, demand was limited and trade said prices on top grades slipped 1-2 cent a dozen. Though recent prices in Toronto and Montreal have been higher than at any similar time since 1930, the trade reported that it has been slipping steadily during the past few weeks. Today's price for grade A-large rested at 27 cents a dozen yesterday as compared to the 1930 high of 28 cents a dozen.

Butter prices advanced slightly on a steady demand from retail trade. Receipts were extremely light and trade said that a fair amount of grades.

For the sixth successive week the Dominion Department of Agriculture has reported a gain in Canadian cheese production, seeking for Ontario and Quebec were up 18.39 per cent over the 1940 for the week ending June 21. Production was said to be 65,000 boxes compared with 55,070 for the same period last year.

Produce Market Produce

Montreal, June 24.— (CP)—Produce marketed here today, as reported by the Dominion Department of Agriculture, was:

Butter—First grade solids, jobbing price, 32-32 1-2c.

Eggs—Actual shipments selling at A-large, 27 1-2-28; A-medium 25-25 1-2; B-grade, 24 1-2-25; C-at 24 1-2; grade, 19 1-2 to 20. Receipts, 1,787 cases.

Livestock

Toronto, June 24 (CP)—Cattle trade was very dull up to mid-session on the Toronto market here today with prices generally 26 cents lower for the week except on fat calves. Veal prices were firm. Lambs and sheep were steady. No price was established for hogs. The cattle holdover from yesterday was 1,000.

Receipts reported by the Dominion Livestock Branch, Ottawa, were the 900, calves 720, hogs 1000, sheep and lambs 300.

Sheep ranged from $3.50-7.

NO BARE LEGS IN ORDER

Manchester, June 24 — (CP) — "Under no circumstances whatever must any of the female staff appear on-duty with bare legs," was the reply of the staff of a Manchester branch to a petition from girl staff members to come to work without stockings.

NAMED DIRECTOR OF SHIPBUILDING

Desmond A. Clarke, of Clarke Steamship Company, to Administer War Industry

Ottawa, June 24.—(CP)—Munitions Minister Howe today announced appointment of Desmond A. Clarke of Montreal as Director General of Shipbuilding in the Department of Munitions and Supply.

Mr. Clarke will serve without remuneration and succeeds F. A. Wilson, who has been called back to his post as chairman of the Board of Steamship Inspection.

The new official is president of the Clarke Steamship Company of Montreal, which operates a line of vessels operating in the St. Lawrence River and along East coast. He has headed the company since its establishment and also administered the firms subsidiary shipping and other companies.

Mr. Clarke was the president of Quebec Airways (Training) Limited and Quebec Airways (Observers) Limited. These companies are engaged in the training of flying personnel for the Canadian Air Force, at Cap-de-la-Madeleine and Dorval airfield near Montreal. Captain Stanley Clarke, is attached to the Royal Canadian Army Ordnance Corps on Active Service.

War Record Outstanding

The new official will administer Canada's expanding war shipbuilding programme. The first large cargo vessel program being carried out under the direction of Canada Steamship Shipping Limited, a Crown company, with Mr. Clarke as president, as director general of shipbuilding, Mr. Clarke was assistant to the president of the company. He will take up his duties at Ottawa immediately.

"Mr. Clarke is a Steamship Line executive with a British and Canadian background which will prove immensely valuable to the government", said Mr. Howe.

PLAN FOR AIDING

the war's spread to the east.

Aid Will Be Given

The sealing of the trans-Siberian route, officials noted in part, has pointed out that substantial supplies which Germany was receiving from the Far East, particularly Japan and cloves the last big door to cheap supplies seeking to return home from the Western Hemisphere and Britain's British blockade.

Necessary purchases were restricted the Soviet was a heavy buyer of defence machine tools, and machinery for making rubber, for arms production, and some raw materials. Although limited exports recently have now must be considered first, it was disclosed today, and cannot be expected to purchase whatever supplies Russia may offer.

For the present, the question of Russian aid is largely academic, officials theirial.

The undercurrent of thought in Hitler and Stalin's minds that until such aid is requested, the American government is withholding a decision on the matter.

Clark Opposed

Clark, Missouri Democrat, in attacking lease-lend assistance, told the Senate today:

"I am absolutely against giving Russia one dime. We don't have enough defence equipment for our own army and navy. Negotiations with Communism would do inestimable damage to our political institutions. The Communist party encourages Communism in this country."

The Senate also heard Tom Connally, Senator Frederick Van Nuys (Democrat, Indiana) speak in favour of extending aid to Russia.

"I think Russia can make it a good fight," he declared. "In the end Hitler, Mussolini and Stalin will be exterminated."

Van Nuys said Hitler's threatened encampment "is the beginning of the end of Hitler."

Hitler, he said, has no naval and land forces so thin. He finished: "Hitler is the enemy of democracy."

Press Senator Tom Connally (Dem.-Texas), high-ranking foreign relations committeeman, made a statement that "I think we might send Russia some raw materials if we can spare them, but the problem of transportation may be difficult."

Order-in-Council On Cheese Production

The Federal Government made known last night that any cheese made in Canada in the manufacture of any order of the Dairy Products Board will not be subject to any export tax or export premiums. The announcement was made in an order-in-council published in an extra edition of the Canada Gazette.

The move was directed at ensuring that as much cheese as possible is exported to Britain under the agreement between the Dairy Products Board to fill Canada's commitments to the United Kingdom.

Under the provisions of top-grade cheese, the Dominion Government announced today, will be paid on 94 score and one cent on 93 score cheese. Under the Dairy Board orders, all cheddar cheese may be exported to Britain.

Basic price of cheese at Montreal is 16 cents the pound.

Fairgrmen can add the two-cent Ontario bonus on all cheese produced, those in Quebec two cents on all first grade cheese and the provincial government is considering the total price for first grade cheese to 20 cents at Montreal on its way to the United Kingdom.

ADMIT OF LOSS

Destroyed by Artillery Fire

In the Neal drive toward Staulial, the Russian communique said, about 300 enemy tanks were destroyed by artillery fire."

Fierce Nazi raids were acknowledged in the central and northern central sectors of the battle front, the communique said the enemy took Brest-Litovsk, 10 miles across the Russian border from Poland, and Kolno and Lomza, 10 and 18 miles into Soviet territory from East Prussia.

The Russians said the Nazi forces "met with no success" in other principal fronts which crossed the Soviet frontier in the directions of Kaunas, capital of Lithuania, Grodno and Volkovysk (Volkovisk), beyond captured Kolno and Lomza; and Kobryn, northeast of Brest-Litovsk.

Finland Make Claim

The Russian communique made no mention of the situation in Finnish front, or the southern, Bessarabian front.

(A Finnish communique last night claimed Russian artillery had fired on a Finnish trawler, and Soviet soldiers attacked Finnish patrols at one place along the border. There was no indication of an outbreak of general fighting.)

(Nazi reports claiming continued destructive raids into Baltic and Black Sea Soviet plans attacked German territory but caused little damage.)

The Russians said they shot down 1,200 Nazi planes in the first three days and 51 yesterday, besides forcing down and capturing another Nazi aircraft on Russian soil.

NAZIS CLAIM

Menace from Centre

Reports from Bucharest said Gen. Ion Antonescue, Rumanian Premier, and Commander-in-Chief of the Rumanian and Nazi forces making push into the Soviet Bessarabian province.

Advices from the centre command — stretching along the Russian-German front from a point nearer Prussia than those telling of progress on the northern front.

Nazi war correspondents, however, gave descriptions of assaults on cancaves of Soviet forts on the Bug River. They claimed that after the Germans "softened" such positions by an hour "of hellish bombardment," the forts were easily overcome by powerful "storm boats" or rubber rafts.

No Word from Finland

No word from Finland or Nazi or Finnish divisions in Finland was available in the German capital and Berlin dispatches said said troops of the two countries were "in contact" and apparently mutually protecting Finnish soil.

The communique also said, that the Finns had protested to Moscow against Russian bombardment of Finnish territory, indicating the Finns were "not yet at war with Russia."

The Nazi Air Force made sallies on Black Sea shipping, including D.N.B. said. Since, during the first 24 hours of the campaign against Sevastopol was mentioned as an air objective, there was considerable belief the Crimean port again was under fire. Warsaw, previously, and claimed considerable damage was done to docks.

Fuhrer Names Mentioned

All writers have held to the strict military rule that they may not name place where they are with troops or from headquarters nearby, but the main public must wait until the High Command has given permission details.

The home front reflects signs of the new campaign.

Dancing had been forbidden; the army's small service has come to a temporary halt; some Russian citizens have been expelled from Berlin, and some White Russians, of whom there are considerable number in Germany since the Bolshevik revolution, have had to report their whereabouts to the police.

Japanese Attitude Clearer in Manifestation Of Sympathy for Axis

New York, June 24 (AP)—Donnel, Japanese News Agency, said in a broadcast from Tokyo that today's manifestation by the Japanese people "are much clearer in their manifestations of sympathy for the Axis powers and in indicating the future course of Japan's policy."

The Agency, which has government connections, quoted this comment by Premier Konoye Konmin:—

"The line of (Japan's) policy has been laid down in principle. It is natural that Japan, in the spirit of the three-powers pact, is cooperating with Germany and Italy, which are waging a war for a reconstruction of Europe.

"This cooperation is aimed at destroying the systems of Anglo-American influence in Europe and the Far East. Japan already has freed herself from dependence on England and the United States and adopted the only possible attitude toward England and America as countries of a hostile character.

"Japan is aware of the feelings toward Mexico, which is cooperating with Germany and Italy. Mexican-American loans, can not remain unaffected."

ACE AVIATRIX PILOTS BOMBER TO BRITAIN

Jacqueline Cochran, ace aviatrix of the United States, is shown SHOONED by admirers after she landed a bomber in England. She is the first woman to fly a bombing plane across the Atlantic. Miss Cochran said she hoped it would be the first of many such flights.

GERMANY MUST

The Nazi High Command, it was noted, does not know when the crops of the Ukraine are green and difficult to destroy by fire. Later in the season grain fields might be burned by the Russians to prevent the Nazis from gaining any immediate increase in their food supply from that region.

Should the Nazi invasion succeed in its north, it was believed that time might remain for an all-out attempt to conquer Britain this year.

Whatever the speed of a German triumph in Russia, it was estimated that at least six months would be needed to repair the ravages of fighting.

In Poland it was noted the German army has carefully to spare roads, bridges, factories and other useful facilities wherever possible. Whether they can follow this policy in Russia depends on the resistance encountered.

HITLER'S OBJECT TO RULE WORLD

Prime Minister King Says Time Calls for Strength-ened Unity of Opinion

Ottawa, June 24 (CP)—Germany's fight against Britain is "not only to make Prime Minister Mackenzie King, but to destroy him," Premier declared, if any yet remained, speaking in the House of Commons tonight. "Hitler's purpose of dominate the world."

The Prime Minister said it con-tained a fresh call to arms throughout the British Commonwealth, "calls to the call to arms" to declare that Canada regarded Russia as an ally, he added, "everyone who engages our enemy advances our cause."

Mr. King, in his statement issued yesterday night, at the direction of German forces on the eastern front should enable British and American forces to open a fresh front. But it was not a time for less effort on the part of her democracies. Rather it was a time for more.

"It is not a time either for any division of opinion but for strengthened unity of purpose," he declared.

Mr. King said he saw in the German move an attempt to "divide and conquer" the people of Britain and the United States into thinking Hitler could defeat a crusade against Bolshevism.

Victor Mackinnon, Consul-General, talking to The Canadian Press, said the latest German move was the "desperate act of men who see the cold gate going against him."

"It marks the greatest day since the start of the war," he declared. "It is significant of at least two things—that invasion of the British Isles has proved too tough a proposition for Hitler and that something must be wrong in Germany to provoke so rash an action."

Many of 45 Rescued Need Medical Care

Norfolk, Va., June 24.—(AP)—Thirty-seven survivors from the liner and which rescued 45 persons from two sinking ships in the mid-Atlantic on June 15, reached the Hampton roads today awaiting permission to land those saved, many of whom are injured.

Capt. E. Nordstrom of the 1,350-ton Hammerfest and his ship picked up 32 crew members and two passengers from the torpedoed Belgian ship Mercier and on the same day saved five crew members of the Netherlands vessel Yselhaven.

Survivors of those saved need medical attention", he added. Details of the rescues were not available".

Attacks on Britain Light

Nazi attacks on Britain during the night were said by the government to have been directed mainly over East Anglia and the southeast of England. Bombers were dropped on some places. However, Nazi bombers" did launch a heavy attack on a large British convoy off the southeast coast. Observers said no ships was hit or damaged.

Guns on the Nazi-occupied coast opened up last night, it was reported, abruptly after British planes crossed the shore line.

Twenty-one German planes were shot down in operations yesterday and last night while the R.A.F. lost five.

The majority of Nazi planes destroyed were during daylight dogfights over the English Channel while British bombers made forays against Nazi gun emplacements on the French coast.

The 21st, was reported shot down over British Airspace during the night, its long being reported after the regular morning list. Further details also appeared with a claimed bag of 20 for the day-night operations.

Thirteen Destroyed

The Air Ministry announced early today that 13 Nazi fighter planes were destroyed in the daylight operations over northern France and the channel coast, bringing the total of the last eight days to 118. During the same period 37 British planes have been lost in day and night operations.

This overwhelming superiority of the British aircraft and crews tended to bear out a statement made last night by a United States army observer that Britain has "undisputed supremacy" in the air over Western Europe.

Another informed observer termed Britain's latest offensive against the Nazis—and said to be the greatest of the war—as "tremendous". He asserted that the daylight flights over enemy territory are "far beyond the proportions of any non-familiar sweeps" which extend, for an entire length of the war, from Dunkirk to Brest.

Britain has been kept fully informed of the negotiations leading up to the Anglo-Soviet-Iranian-Turkish agreement, Mr. Eden said, in a speech in the House of Lords yesterday but he preferred if no such treaty had been concluded.

Not a attack on Russia, he said, was a return to Hitler's Mein Kampf, which stripped bare a clear indication that "Hitler hopes to break the Russian colossus by the end of this year in order to free his eastern flank for the attack on the British Island."

The ultimate Nazi target, he said, is the British Empire, which Hitler "rightly regards as the chief obstacle in his path to world domination."

Finland Gives Assurance

It was reported, too, that the Finnish Government, to which Hitler twisted as his ally in war on Russia, has assured the British Government, Finland's attitude is and will be "non-belligerent."

This source said Britain's economic aid to the Soviet Government in Russia would be on a mutual and reciprocal basis.

In a broadcast speech Sunday, Prime Minister Churchill proffered Britain's only material and immediate assistance—not military aid.

It was learned in Ankara last night that British specialists from the Middle East Supply Centre had been assigned to duties with the Soviet Union. Also that British artillery and Air Force officers was expected to come to the Russian front-line within a week.)

The Press was outspoken in saying that there were no unpredictables in connection with the Russian-German war, although it would be folly for Britons to say: "We told you so" when the Germany and Russia fight it out."

Must Not Slacken Production

"We should be on the road to disaster if we allowed this event to slackened off in the production of the implements of war", the Daily said the News Chronicle.

The daily sketch called the Nazi attack "the biggest mission at its nakedest yet" and advised the United States, Britain to "take a lesson and an opportunity for rejoicing."

"If and when her (America's) turn comes, aggression will be naked and even further point," the paper declared. "If she takes the lesson to heart she will not wait for another victim of the one-by-one technique of the dictators—the Russians, she can depress the Germans—perhaps to a decisive degree."

No Change in Relationship

Finland's position in the face of Nazi-Red hostilities was the cause of much comment in Britain. The attitude here, however, appeared to be that Finland would be virtually in alliance with Germany and there was no change in relationship between London and Helsinki.

Japanese circles in London would remain neutral.

(A Japanese Government spokesman in Tokyo gave an affirmative answer to the question whether Japan planned to fulfil her obligations under the Japan-Russian treaty with Russia and her tripartite alliance with Germany.)

One source here said that "the Turkish Government made it plain in the last 24 hours that the Anglo-Turkish Treaty stands intact—that it stands first and foremost in her engagements."

(Turkey, a non-belligerent ally of Britain, on June 18 signed a non-aggression accord with Germany).

Two Airmen With Walton Before Crash

Ottawa, June 24—(CP)—A coroner's jury heard evidence last night that two unidentified airmen both French-speaking, were with Leading Aircraftsman Walton when he was killed in the crash of Mr. Walton, 20-year-old Toronto boy, when it crashed and burned in a ditch, early on May 5, the day Mr. Walton graduated. The body was recovered from the Ottawa River two weeks later. Bobby Walton, former Niagara Falls hockey player, is a son.

Two other witnesses summoned by the Crown were heard last night.

Provincial Constable Ernest Southam, of Rockland, said he was driving east of Ottawa, related interviews he had with Albert Boyer, a taxi driver of Rockland, near where the car crash occurred, and Mrs. Matilda Gendron, of the same village 12 miles from Rockland.

He said he was given a description of two airmen who were seen shortly after the car was wrecked. One had torn clothes and the other had the uniform of a sergeant pilot.

Constable said that Boyer told him that he had driven from Rockland in a taxi.

Told of Interview

The constable told of an interview with Mrs. Dominic McGinnis in Ottawa who told him two airmen entered her house the morning of May 4 and asked for their clothes to clean and press. She had said there was blood on the trousers and tunics.

Doubtless said drops of blood were found on the wreck of Walton's car.

Mrs. Albert Comtois of Orient told the jury she saw two airmen walking on the highway shortly after the time of the car crash and Dominic McGinnis, who testified that he was on his way to a cheese factory when he saw the car crash, came on the two airmen walking along the highway.

Both men spoke in French and told him their plane had crashed in the bush. They were walking to return to Rockland and he took them as far as the cheese factory.

NEW OIL-BURNING

Mr. Ostrelle's order replaced a previous order dated Sept. 16, 1940, in that it specifically differentiates between the two, the Oil Controller said: "The new order applies whether or not the oil is produced in or imported into Canada, or whether or not it is derived from crude petroleum found in or imported into Canada. The previous order did not extend to domestic products'.

To Spread Burden

The new order was promulgated because it was felt it would spread the burden more evenly among all Canadians, he said.

Also, the previous order did not cover installation of equipment using not more than 4,000 Imperial gallons a year.

The Government or it' departments and any manufacturer who has equipment exempted from the requirements of the new order must register fuel oil for equipment used in processing products made at government owner are exempt from the new ruling. Likewise provincial governments and their departments are exempt.

Special supplementary orders may be issued bok only in the case of emergency, Commissioner said. Any replacement of oil-burning equipment must ensure no increase in consumption.

Assurances About Turkey

When debate followed his address there was some question as to his assurances about Turkey, "our friend and ally".

Although Mr. Eden said Ankara had given assurances that the last 24 hours that our treaty stands intact" despite the new Turkish-Germany accord some members sought "clarification".

Foreign War Secretary Leslie Hore-Belisha argued that "by vigorous action, and real initiative" Turkey and added "it is urgent to take military measures in the treasure heart".

Mr. Hore-Belisha suggested that the Nazi invasion of Russia would be the signality of France, Spain and Rumania and "perhaps" Finland by "the specious appeal"

"If we do not assist Turkey that country will be used as an avenue for achievement of Germany's ambitions", he added.

Decision Stated

Prime Minister Churchill halted the discussion when Earl Winterton, Conservative, remarked that "people are later" Turkey have to declare which side she is on".

"It would not be in the public interest for the discussion to continue along these lines", said Mr. Churchill.

"This really is's case of the least said the soonest mended."

It was announced at the same time that Sir Stafford Cripps, who has been in London since June 11 after leaving his Moscow headquarters, would return to his post as British Ambassador.

Authoritative sources denied there ever had been any "Hitler" Stalin" deal between the Russians and Germany as claimed by Hitler following the start of the army across the frontier against Soviet Russia.

In denying that Britain and Russia ever came to a secret understanding on action against Germany, these sources said they were reported "that at every stage in the recent history of Anglo-Soviet relations the British have acted under by attention paid by the Soviet to the agreement of the 20 years from Dunkirk to Brest.

It was also said that offensive has carried the front line of the air from the sky over the British Isles to the skies over the enemy occupied territory.

The American observer told newsmen he had seen photographs which showed that Wednesday, the R.A.F. in Germany apparently had destroyed more than 100 planes in the Nazi attacks of last fall. Observers noted that these attacks included Nazi raids on the Crimean land."

The ultimate Nazi target, he said, is the British Empire, which Hitler "rightly regards as the chief obstacle in his path to world domination."

ALLIED COLUMNS CONVERGING ON ANCIENT PALMYRA

Damascus Taken With Only Two Civilian Deaths Says British Officer

HEAVY FIGHTING

(By J. REILLY O'SULLIVAN)
Associated Press Staff Writer

Jerusalem, June 24 (AP)—Two Allied columns are converging on ancient Palmyra through the Syrian Desert from the east and one has penetrated the outskirts of the old caravan stop, a British military spokesman said today.

The column which reached the outskirts of the town, 150 miles northeast of Damascus, was reported subjected to considerable bombing from planes at a Vichy air base there. The second column was said to be approaching Palmyra across the sandy wastes. Its location was not disclosed.

The spokesman said Vichy forces which withdrew from Damascus, taken over by British and Free French forces, had occupied positions from Barze, ten miles north of the city, to the heights of the Jebel El Charbi range, fifty miles to the northeast.

Damascus was taken with only two civilian deaths, the spokesman said.

Holdout Near Mezze

Vichy forces were reported holding out near Mezze, southeast of Damascus, and near Kataneh, 10 miles to the southwest, where the spokesman said there was "a good deal of scrapping" and Allied troops were under artillery fire.

In Lebanon, Australians have entrenched east of Merdjayoun were being attacked from the south but results of the fighting there were inconclusive, the spokesman said.

Australian troops pushing northward along the Lebanese coast were said to have penetrated three more fortified posts—Jye, Bazsir and Belchfaya—in the night south toward Beirut.

British bombers attacking Beirut harbor were reported here to have scored a direct hit on a Vichy destroyer, which was believed to have sunk, and to have set a merchant ship afire.

Beirut, Lebanon, June 24 (AP)—The port of Beirut was bombed by British aircraft this morning while at dawn the British fleet bombarded the coast.

In one raid the Royal Air Force loosed tons of explosives on the Rayak Station, northeast of Beirut, damaging installations there.

The Beirut damage was confined to commercial sections of the port.

Imperial War Conference is Desired; 2 Premiers Unable to Attend Soon

London, June 24 (CP Cable)—The Prime Ministers of Canada and South Africa, W. L. Mackenzie King and Gen. J. C. Smuts, have found it impossible to come to London in the near future to attend an Imperial War Conference, Prime Minister Churchill announced today.

Answering a House of Commons questioner, Mr. Churchill said, "As I have told the House, we very much desire such a conference and had hoped the end of July or the beginning of August might be a suitable occasion."

"I have now received replies to inquiries I have made," Mr. Churchill added. "Both Gen. Smuts and Mr. Mackenzie King have the exigencies of their work in their respective countries make it impossible for them to come here in the near future.

"Mr. Menzies has only just returned to Australia. Although I hope we shall see him here again before very long, Mr. Fraser, the Prime Minister of New Zealand, arrived last Saturday and is sitting with us constantly in our councils. He would not, however, be able to attend the conference.

"The House will readily understand that these Prime Ministers of important and powerful governments, with the Legislature and the whole war effort of their peoples to guide, find great difficulties in meeting here simultaneously.

"I hope that these difficulties may be resolved some time in the future, but for the present I feel it is impossible to fix a date."

Says Japan to Fulfil Obligation to Nazis And to Soviets

Tokyo, June 24 (AP) — Premier Fumimaro Konoye was received by Emperor Hirohito today and reported on the results of an important cabinet meeting earlier in the day, presumably dealing with the German-Soviet war.

In other rapid-fire diplomatic conferences, Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka conferred separately with Italian Ambassador Mario Indelli and Soviet Ambassador Constantin Smetona.

The Japanese cabinet spokesman Koh Ishii told foreign newspapermen today Japan intended to fulfill her obligations to Germany, under her Axis pact membership, and to Soviet Russia, under her recent treaty of friendship.

The spokesman declined to elaborate that statement, which he made in answer to a question.

Kokumin, the Japanese newspaper, said sometimes reflecting Japanese army sentiments, said Japan faces "an unprecedented crisis" as a result of the war developments.

"It is inevitable that the United States in an effort to help reorganize and to Britain should extend relations on Japan," Kokumin said on "With Germany and Soviet Russia fighting it is also natural that their exports to Japan should be closed."

Journalist Institute Makes Protest

London, June 24 (CP)—The Institute of Journalists protested today to Harold Nicolson, Parliamentary Secretary of the Ministry of Information, against "deliberate discrimination against newspapers in favor of the British Broadcasting Corporation" by the Government in busing important news.

The Institute, an organization of prominent British newspapermen, asked for a "fair chance against a monopolistic undertaking which would be no less effective in its own sphere if the need of common justice were given more weight."

This action by the institute followed a similar resolution presented to the government June 6 by the Empire Press Union.

United States correspondents also have delivered a series of protests, some of them in writing, others orally to Information Minister Alfred Duff Cooper. The correspondents told Mr. Cooper that the BBC in some instances had received incorrect stories before they were released generally.

Vice-President Of Union Held For Investigation

Toronto, June 24.— (CP)—O. S. Jackson, vice-president of the United Electrical Workers Union (C.I.O.) was apprehended yesterday at Malton near Toronto by R.C.M.P. and City Police Officers and is being held for investigation under Defence of Canada regulations.

Jackson had originally been summoned to appear in police court here today on a charge of inciting workers of the Canadian General Electric Company plants here to strike, the charges following the recent strike at the local plants. He will not appear in court however.

Fourteen employees of the C.G.E. were charge with illegally striking and five of these are also charged with inciting to strike. Jackson is not an employee of the company.

BODY OF WOMAN FOUND FLOATING IN LAKE

Beamsville, Ont., June 24 —(CP)—The body of Mrs. Alice Miller, 76, of Clinton, Ont., was found floating in Lake Ontario about two miles north of Beamsville today by William Seth and his son Amos.

Coroner Dr. Warren Peart says the body was found the shore is very rocky and says it would police believe that if the aged woman, who was blind might have slipped and tumbled into the water.

VICHY TRANSPORTS DESTROYED

Canberra, June 24—(AP)—Planes of the Royal Australian Air Force Torpedo-bomber squadron in the Middle East achieved one of the most important victories of the Syrian campaign when they recently destroyed or badly damaged 100 Vichy motor transports on the main road to Damascus, Air Minister McEwen said today.

The attack was sudden and "devastating" accurate, he said. Two later said. Three Australian planes were slightly damaged.

RUSSIANS REPORTED IN CERNAUTI

London, June 24 (CP)—Reuters News Agency quoted dispatches from Bucharest today as saying the Lyon Radio had reported that Rumanian troops had occupied Cernauti in the Province of Northern Bucovina.

The Province was taken from Rumania by Soviet Russia under ultimatum more than a year ago.

NEWSAGENCYSAYS MINSK IS FIRST NAZI OBJECTIVE

German Spearhead Penetrates 125 Miles Through Brest-Litovsk, Says Report

EMPLOY NEW TACTICS

London, June 24— (CP)—Reuters News Agency, in a dispatch based on Vichy News Agency reports from the "German Russian front", today said one German spearhead has penetrated 125 miles into Russian territory in a drive through Brest-Litovsk that has Minsk as its next objective.

"The offensive from the north has Kaunas (capital of Lithuania) as its objective, where the German command apparently is counting on support from part of the Lithuanian population", Reuters quoted the Vichy Agency as saying.

"Russian resistance, however, appears to be energetic in this sector".

A third offensive is developing in one direction toward the Brody railway station on a line between Lwow and Lovisk, 66 miles north of the Brody station, the dispatch said.

"Germans here are aiming at the creation of a salient between Brest Lwow to the south and Kowel, important railway junction to the north", the Vichy report added.

The German high command was said to regard the Lithuanian-Polish front as the principal theatre of the war.

Mobilizing Steely

The Russians were said to be mobilizing slowly and German troops were continued only by those troops massed at the front before the war started.

The Vichy dispatch added a report from Bucharest quoting an Axis military expert as saying the Germans were employing "brusquerie tactics" in an attempt to isolate and destroy large bodies of Russian troops.

The German troops advancing from Lublin (Poland), for instance, were described as driving along the railway to Kiev in an attempt to meet another column advancing from Bucovina' toward Cernauti, Berdichev and Kiev. If this element succeeds the Germans expect to cut off in this triangle some 30 Russian divisions.

The dispatch added a report that the Germans have organized a White Russian terrorist band at Nitra, in Slovakia, and that former Czarist officers in Slovakia had been formed into the nucleus of a "Czarist general staff."

QUICK OCCUPATION OF SYRIA OBJECT

British Middle East Command to be Guided by 'Military Considerations Alone'

London, June 24 — (CP) — To speed the occupation of Syria, Britain's Middle East Command has been told to "be guided by military considerations alone," it was reported authoritatively today.

Sir Sir Maitland Wilson was said to have been given full authority to take whatever measures he considers necessary, Reuters Agency said.

The Allied forces already have pushed a desert column to the outskirts of Palmyra, captured the Syrian capital of Damascus, and are astride the road from Damascus to the Lebanon capital, Beirut, it was reported here.

That, it was said, made the cutting off and capture of the Vichy French general staff and large forces of Vichy troops "entirely probable."

Work Stoppage Launched at Plant

Hamilton, June 24—(CP)—About 500 men at the main plant of the Otis-Fenson Manufacturing Company here launched a work stoppage today and picketing positions were taken up outside the plant. The plant was running, but only at 25 to 35 p. c. reduced rate.

The workers called a meeting in Gibbons Woodstock Park early in the day, and were told by the Union to return to their homes and report back at the plant at three o'clock this afternoon when the next shift is due.

The decision of the workers to stop work came after the management refused the right to organize under the Montreal Workers Union. The company said it would deal with its own employees.

Overnight developments led the Union, which had signed up a number of the 4,000 employees at the plant, to call the work stoppage.

VICTORIA CROSSES ARE PRESENTED

Parents of Dead Sailor, Soldier and Airman Are Invested at Buckingham Palace

London, June 24 (CP Cable)—The King presented three Victoria Crosses at a recent investiture in Buckingham Palace, it was disclosed today. The recipients were Mr. and Mrs. Mantle, parents of the late Seaman Jack Mantle, Mr. Cristock, father of the late CSM. Geo. Gristock, and Mr. and Mrs. Gray, parents of the late Sgt. Thomas Gray, Royal Air Force.

Russian Guards 'Fighting Like Lions' Along Frontier

Moscow, June 24 (AP)—First detailed accounts of Soviet-German fighting by Russian correspondents today described the Russian frontier guards as "fighting like lions" against hordes of the Nazi attack.

They "fought hand-to-hand," these accounts said, "and the enemy was unable to advance an inch except over their dead bodies."

Thousands Leaving N. German Cities Because of Raids

London, June 24—(CP)—Norwegian sources in London reported today a large-scale exodus of German officials and civilians from North Germany to the interior owing because of devastation wrought by British bombing.

Reports current in Oslo were that 30,000 Germans were arriving before June 30, including Hamburg city officials, these sources said.

CHURCHILL TO ACCEPT TORCH

Toronto, June 24—(CP) — Remarks by Prime Minister Winston Churchill on the occasion of the presentation of Canada's Victory Torch in London, July 1, Dominion Day, will be carried over the National network of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation. The C. B.C. announced the program for 10.30 p.m. EDT July 1.

BRITISH BOMB SYRACUSE, SICILY

Rome, June 24—(AP)—The Italian High Command said today three British planes bombed the Sicilian city of Syracuse from a low altitude yesterday.

Difficulties Face Nazis if Russid Defeated

By E. C. Daniel
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Berne, Switzerland, June 24. — (AP)—Even if Germany in the two months winter campaign in the conquered territory, was foreseen today by some military observers in this Central European Observation Post.

All comments on the struggle were tempered by a vague knowledge of Russia's military casualties, but it was the general opinion that in the final analysis the Red Army, despite the masses of manpower, would be unable to withstand the onslaught of experienced German troops.

Recalling the speed with which the Nazis overran Poland, the low countries and the Balkans, one military man remarked "the Germans have always said the Russian army was a six-to-eight-week job."

Country Ideal for Mechanized Warfare

Another military source said the terrain into which the Germans were moving was suited perfectly for the German type of swift, slashing, encircling attack.

One neutral army officer, who has made a study of Russia for his government, declared the Russians have 250 divisions of trained and equipped troops, averaging 18,000 to a division, plus 15 mechanized brigades and as many armored units as the Germans. The Russian armored divisions were deemed poorer in quality and less efficient-ly organized.

The Red Air Force was presumed here to be long on quantity but short on quality.

It was believed here that the Germans would make every finish off the Russians and consolidate gains before they are threatened seriously by any resurgence of Britain and her allies.

Soviet Air Force Holding Its Own States Communique

London, June 24—(CP)—Reuters News Agency in a dispatch from Ankara today told of unconfirmed reports that Russian cruisers, destroyers and submarines were battling German aircraft off the Bulgarian coast of the Black Sea.

These reports, said to have come from the Bulgarian port of Varna, indicated the Germans had mined the Bulgarian and Rumanian coasts leaving a narrow channel leading to Constanta and the Black sea British Straits linking the Black Sea to the Mediterranean.

Russian sources in Ankara were quoted as saying the Soviet air force was holding its own in heavy air fighting on all fronts.

German sources in the Turkish capital were said to have heard that the Russians in Bucovina, which they took from Rumania last year were leading the offensive and giving the Germans "very strong opposition."

ADMIT DAMAGE

Berlin, June 24 (CP)—The German High Command admitted today that British aircraft penetrated to northwestern Germany last night but did not mention any damage other than hits on apartment houses.

It said that high explosive and incendiary bombs were dropped with "several" people being killed.

According to Nazi propaganda headquarters in Berlin, this picture radioed to New York, shows a German machine-gun crew in position on the eastern frontier. The picture was allegedly taken after the Nazis launched their offensive against the Soviet.

BAN TO AFFECT SOME IN CITY

Regulation Prohibits New Installations of Oil-Burning Equipment

Quite a number of Belleville home owners who have been contemplating installing oil-heating equipment in their homes will be affected by the new regulations concerning the cutting down of oil consumption and which will not permit the installation of new oil burning equipment, according to local oil distributors. Under the new regulations orders for new oil burning equipment made after midnight on Friday, June 20th, will not be filled.

Local dealers of such equipment, although not affected by the ruling, will install units that were on order prior to the deadline of last Friday, several stating this morning that they were making preparations for installation of units that have arrived since the deadline and orders went into effect. The ban announced today covers only oil burners. It does not affect coal supplies of oil will be permitted for units already installed or ordered before the deadline.

STRIKE COMES TO END

Owen Sound, Ont., June 24—(CP)—Company officials said today that the 25-day strike at the Circle Bar Textile Company here has come to an end. They said that more than 50 workers have resumed work in the plant, accepting a three-cent-per-hour pay increase.

The workers went on strike when the company refused a 10-per cent wage increase demand.

P. G. O'Donovan, representative of the Canadian Congress of Industrial Labor, said that 75 per cent of the male technicians in the full fashion department, and 50 per cent of the girl workers in the general department have secured jobs in other Ontario hosiery plants but attempts at conciliation have failed.

REDS LEAVE WARSAW, CONSTANTA IN FLAMES

BRITISH FIGHTERS GAIN AIR MASTERY OVER FRANCE

Russian Air Fleet Trading Blow for Blow With Nazis

Communique Claims 381 Nazi Planes Destroyed Against 374 Of Its Own Aircraft

FIERCE FIGHTING

Moscow, June 25 —(AP)— Trading blow for blow with the German air force, the Red air fleet reported today it had left Warsaw and Constanta in flames, raided Danzig and East Prussia, and destroyed 381 Nazi planes against a loss of 374 of its own aircraft since war began last Sunday.

Along the troop-banked battle-front, a Soviet communique declared, the Red army was fighting fiercely to check Nazi drives into the Baltic States and old northeastern Poland, and was holding German and Rumanian forces to a standstill on the banks of the Prut river.

The headlong clash of the two largest armies in Europe was reported heavy in casualties and destruction, with big guns in action and powerful motorized and mechanized drives following up the first shock of advance units.

Nazi parachutists were in operations-smashing details have been dropped behind the Russian lines in the Soviet communique said. It claimed they were "the uniform of Soviet militiamen" and said they would be mopped up by special units experienced in such hide-and-the-lines patrolling.

RUSSIAN CAVALRY CHARGES, ROUTS TANK-LED HUNS

Horsemen Dash Against Nazis After Soviet Planes Pound Enemy

HUNS SLAUGHTERED

Moscow, June 25—(AP)—In a modern charge of a light brigade, Russian cavalry, supported by Soviet planes, last week hacked a tank-led attack and won a victory on the Prut River front, a Russian war correspondent said today.

The story from the correspondent for Izvestia, Soviet government organ, was the first from the Rumanian front and told the attack against Soviet territory developed from the Rumanian capital of Bucharest.

"The enemy crossed the river", the correspondent reported. "Our border guards defended the frontier with heroism, but the numerical superiority assured the enemy advance.

"Soviet bombers and destroyers appeared in the sky with lightning speed, attacking the army infantry and tanks and pouring down dive-bombing fire.

"The enemy losses were tremendous and the enemy, shaken, stopped in confusion.

"Then our cavalry charged with indescribable courage crying 'for the Fatherland! For Stalin!'"

The dispatch said the fight brought into Rumanian territory the Soviet forces occupied Pakhna.

Russian Officer, Years Ago, Gave Hints on How to Invade the Soviet

By THOMAS HAWKINS
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Berne, Switzerland, June 25 — (AP)—"Russia may not have considered it, but an unidentified Russian officer as long ago as 1938 provided a readymade blue print of the ways and means he thought the Soviet could be invaded successfully.

In a French language publication, "The Red Army—Military Forces of the Soviet," the officer predicted a war on Russia would be the cue of movement and included the part Rumania could play in invasion.

(It was reported after Germany's successful Low Countries campaign that Nazi military men took more than a few hints from a book by Gen. Charles de Gaulle, now Free French leader, explaining how potent tanks could be in modern warfare.)

The Russian officer said it would be impossible for the Red army to "remain in the rear" of a German front." If Rumania were to join in any anti-Russian coalition or if the kingdom were occupied by an enemy, he said, the enemy would possess the same facility as Rumania enjoys as the Russian army.

"The adversary would be in a position to undertake an independent operation against the Ukraine while protecting flanks of the offensive to the north by way of Poland and to the south by way of the Black Sea, he said.

Success Depends on Taking Moscow

Success of an invasion of Russia "over and the deepest" by Baltic victories, he said, but by operations directed at the capital, now Pres

Lease-Lend Cargoes In "Enormous Amount" Moving into Red Sea

Washington, June 25 (AP)— Lease-lend cargoes in "enormous amount" are moving into the Red Sea—presumably for the British during testimony before the Senate Commerce Committee yesterday on a House-approved bill that would put virtually all merchant ships operating from the United States under the Maritime Commission's control as to cargo, destination and operations.

Want "Iced Compensation"

Rep. Cooper appeared to request that provisions for "just compensation" be included. Now operating voluntarily under the commission's direction, they cited their present services to support iron compensation pies.

This one line reported that a large part of its 32-ship fleet had been used in carrying "lease-lend cargo to the Red Sea." Another reported three ships now there, three more going, with other vessels in a fleet of 23 carrying supplies to the Near East. A third fleet found ships sent to the Red Sea, one to Bombay and others supporting the defence program on other routes.

During the course of testimony, John Mann, Maritime Commission Attorney spoke of the "enormous amount of cargo" going to the Red Sea area, but did not describe it. Later, Capt. Leon Herbault, former Standard Steamship Line official, told the committee this was lease-lend cargo.

Two "Ice Cruisers" Have Narrow Escape From Exte Have

Ankara, June 23 (Delayed) (AP) Two United States newspaper correspondents arrived in Turkey by train here from Syria saying they had been threatened with execution as spies.

Robert Low of Liberty Magazine, and Kennety Downs of International News Service, accredited to the British Middle East Command, had run a gauntlet of machine-gun fire at the gates of Damascus and said they were ambushed and captured by Vichy French, who treated them as spies.

The journalists said they and the driver were the only men in a truckload of 12 newspaper correspondents who survived the ambush unharmed. Nine were killed and two were hurt seriously.

The truck was careening along a suburban Damascus road last Friday, they said, when it was fired on. The Americans said bullets cracked over their head as they flung themselves on the ground and a tank was brought up to fire at them at close range. Then they were asked to surrender.

The Americans said they were turned over to Vichy civil authorities in Syria and were imprisoned with a possible death penalty mentioned. They were released Saturday in Beirut, where the United States Consul interceded and won their freedom on condition that they leave Syria immediately.

9,179-ton German Motorship Raider Reported Sunk

New York, June 25 (AP)—The German motorship raider Kulmerland, 9,179-tons, which slipped out of Kobe, Japan, on April 9 to reportedly to raid shipping, has been attacked by a British fleet plane in the North Atlantic and probably sunk, maritime sources said today.

They said the attack took place about 900 miles northwest of the Cape Verde Islands and 1,200 miles west of Villa Cisneros, Rio De Oro, West Africa.

The beautiful and fast Elbe was built in 1929 and was used by the Hamburg-American line prior to the pre-sent German-Japan service.

Big Russian Guns Pound at Targets To West of Hango

Helsinki, June 25 —(AP)— Reports said today that big Russian guns at the naval base of Hango on the west were firing at targets to the west.

This would indicate action against German naval or air units in the northern Baltic Sea, which Finland's southwest coast, was reported in Russia to be treaty ceding the Russian-Finnish war of 1939-40.

MINE EXPLOSION KILLS ONE, TRAPS THREE AT CALGARY

Rescue Worker, Going to Aid of Entombed Men, Dies From Gas Poisoning

NO HOPE FOR OTHERS

Drumheller, Alta., June 25—(CP)— Terrific explosion in the Provincial American Colliers mine at East Coulee, 18 miles east of Drumheller, entombed three miners last night, and a rescue worker going to their aid died shortly after from monoxide poisoning.

The dead:

Harry Crowder, 34, of Drumheller, manager of the Atlas Mine.

Entombed were Jack Watters, 60, married, with no family; Robert (Bob) Taylor, whose wife and family are believed to be living in Calgary, and Chris Bizums, bachelor of East Coulee.

Officials expressed little hope the men would be rescued alive, although rescue workers said they would not cease until the men are found.

Crowder collapsed from gas after being brought to the surface.

As far as officials know, only the three trapped men were working in the section of the mine where explosion occurred. They were entombed by a mass of debris caused by the blast.

Miners were called from all mines in the Drumheller and East Coulee areas and formed into rescue squads.

The rescuers, working in gas masks and carrying oxygen tanks, could stay only 20 minutes in the gas-charged interior of the mine. A constant stream of rescue workers continued up and down the shaft during the night.

RED-INSPIRED STRIKES TO END STATE OFFICIALS

Communist Leaders Must Conceive Their Interests Lie With Opponents of Germany

CHANGE WITH TIMES

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Washington, June 25 (AP)—Defence officials predicted today that one by-product of the Russo-Nazi war would be an end to Communist-inspired strikes in United States defence industries.

Communist leaders, these officials said, must now conceive their interests to lie with the opponents of Germany, whereas until the Nazi drive into Russia last week-end the reverse was true.

One authority forecast that not only would Communists cease strike activities but that they would go to the other extreme to speed up production of armaments. "They undoubtedly would be ordered to," he said, "that workers unwilling to put in 48 hours a week are unpatriotic and Fascistic."

Violently Anti-Nazi

It was recalled that prior to the now defunct Russo-German Non-Aggression Pact, Communist party policy in the United States was violently anti-Nazi.

ALLIES STEP-UP AERIAL OFFENSIVE AGAINST SYRIA

British Surround Palmyra And Recapture Merdjayoun From Vichy Forces

POSITIONS IMPROVED

BY J. REILLY O'SULLIVAN
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Jerusalem, June 25 —(AP)— Behind the stepped-up aerial offensive Allied forces have surrounded the Syrian Desert town of Palmyra, recaptured Merdjayoun from the Vichy French and were attacking Damascus within 12 miles of Beirut, Lebanon's capital.

The air offensive was the biggest the Allies have sprung yet in the campaign to break the Vichy government's control in the Levant States.

Vichy airdromes at Baalbek, Rayak, Talia and Quasir were raided and the Allies reported destroying eight planes on the ground, shooting down two others, and damaging many more.

Allied troops improved their positions around captured Damascus, but Vichy forces were said to have established defensive lines southeast of the Capital.

Capture Quaiana

Hail and staccato ..... Quaiana, on the hills nearby ..... Merdjayoun, Lebanon, which has been in Allied hands several times in the fighting, was said to have been cleared of Vichy troops. Allied forces reported, withdrew to Mastaye, eight miles northwest. Merdjayoun is forty miles southwest of Damascus.

British sources here expressed belief that Gen. Henri Dentz, Vichy High Commissioner for Syria and Lebanon, would make his next stand in defence of Beirut at Djezzine, in the hills patrol, either to the north-east of the Lebanese capital.

Australian troops were last said to be

Tentative Agreement In Strike Reached

Kitchener, Ont., June 25—(CP)— Tentative agreement in the four weeks' strike at the Dominion Rubber factories was reached last night.

The 300 strikers voted to return to work tomorrow morning, pending ratification by the executive from the manufacturers to be submitted tonight.

The three companies, Dominion Rubber Manufacturers Ltd., Kitchener Buttons, Ltd. and Mitchell Rubber Co. Ltd., offered increased wages and better working conditions.

They declined, however, to grant union recognition.

Meanwhile, Canadian Congress of Labor organizer, urged the employees to accept the offer. C. C. Jeannette, of the Provincial Labor Board, said he intended to be bringing about the settlement of the dispute that started May 26.

Only one strike remains to be settled here. At the R. Boschman and Bro. Ltd. of Waterloo, a small group of workers are still on strike.

Intends No Neutrality Proclamation For U. S. in Russo-German War

Washington, June 25. — (AP) — President Roosevelt does not intend to proclaim neutrality proclamation in the Russian-German war, Acting Secretary of State Welles, announced today, American ships thus will be permitted to carry arms to Russia's Pacific port of Vladivostok.

The United States thereby will take the same position with reference to the Russian-German war as it has maintained during the war that has been waged in Europe.

Welles noted that under the neutrality Act, a proclamation by the president is called for when the President or Congress "shall find that there exists a state of war between foreign states and that it is necessary to promote or preserve the peace relations of the United States or to protect the lives of citizens of the United States".

The Acting Secretary then stated that President Roosevelt had authorized him to announce that inasmuch as he finds that a proclamation is not necessary in the present instance to promote the peace of the United States or protect American citizens the President has no intention of issuing such a proclamation.

Ammunition Train Blown Up and Two Rail Bridges Hit

Seven Nazi Planes Shot Down in R.A.F. Daylight Foray Over French Coast

BIG BOMBERS USED

London, June 25 —(CP)— The heaviest bombing of the war on German planes were shot down today in a new Royal Air Force foray over the French coast.

These, adding to 131 destroyed in the past nine days of intensive air sweeps across the channel, were shot down as British bombers blew up an ammunition train in a raid on the railroad yards at Hazebrouck, in occupied France, and scored direct hits on two railroad bridges, east of which they collapsed.

Based on Early Reports

The estimate of seven planes destroyed was based on "reports so far received," the air ministry said in a communique issued at 2 o'clock this morning.

The Hazebrouck foray followed a brief cross-channel raid in the morning and followed the 14th successive night assault on western Germany.

Used Heavy Bombers

The R.A.F. was believed to have used giant Stirling, Halifax and Manchester bombing planes, said to have been in use for some time but of which only a few types have been seen.

Two of these planes this said to be partly responsible for the ability of the R.A.F. to keep a steady toll of bombers on Germany in the last two weeks than during the entire month of April.

Informed sources said that between 200 and 400 bombers were used in night attacks on the Ruhr.

While the main bomber formations swung across into France, R.A.F. fighter planes darted into the air in patrol, often flying right away from their units to engage Nazi planes.

Twice, long bursts of aerial cannon fire could be heard—two dog fights miles overhead.

Strong fighter squadrons also screened the big bombers when they launched the morning attack.

The big German industrial centres across the Sit Lawrence River about 35 miles west of here.

GIVEN FIVE YEARS

Cornwall, Ont., June 25—(CP)— Nichols Minille, 34, of Otiawa, longtime employee of the Canada Iron Corporation in Buckingham, Que., was given five years in penitentiary on eight charges of automobile theft, breaking, entering and theft, and being in possession of burglar tools. Minille pleaded guilty to the charges.

He was sentenced to five years on each charge and the sentences will run concurrently.

JAPAN'S LEADERS DEBATE EMPIRE'S COURSE IN WAR

Premier Konoye Lays Results Before Emperor Hirohito

REACH DECISION

Tokyo, June 26.— (AP)—Japan's leaders debated today the Empire's course in the situation arising from the German invasion of Russia and Premier Fumimaro Konoye later laid the results before Emperor Hirohito.

In some informed quarters it was believed a decision was reached—important was attached to the fact that after his audience with the Sovereign Prince Konoye saw Marquis Kido, Lord Privy Seal, to whom would be communicated any major matters of state.

Today's conferences consisted of a joint session of the Imperial Army Command and the cabinet, an unusual procedure, and a later cabinet meeting which lasted three hours.

Similar ..... was held in the war between her partner the three-power pact and Soviet Union, with whom she has a neutrality treaty.

Newspaper Comment

(Domei, Japanese News Agency, in a broadcast from Tokyo, reported several press discussion of the possible consequences to Japan of the United States promise of aid for Russia.

(Domei said the widely circulated Newspaper Yomiuri reported Washington's friendly policy toward Russia as "the result not only of the President's anti-German feeling but also of an effort to gain a foothold against Japan and thus complete the latter's encirclement in the Pacific.")

(The newspaper Hochi was quoted to the effect that the "military menace to Japan" in the new situation which would develop from the line Alaska-Aleutian Islands-Vladivostok".

(The Tokyo Press", Domei concluded, "advises the government to devote its first attention to such possibilities of the German-Russian war and the American-Russian rapprochement.")

Defies Prediction

Gen. Ekai Toyo, war minister, told a meeting of army officers today that the Japanese army "is making full preparations for placing the country in a position of perfect security by coping efficiently with the ever-changing international situation". But he failed to indicate what course it would pursue. He said he had to decide between Germany and Russia.

The future attitude of the United States, he said, defies prediction". He urged the munitions workers to seek greater skill and efficiency so "readers be even freer of munitions by conducting research and improving technique".

MAYOR THOMPSON TO VISIT TORONTO

His Worship Mayor Glen E. Thompson, left the city today for Toronto where he will be absent for the next few days on business. During the mayor's absence, Alderman H. J. Hall, chairman of Finance, will fill the office of Acting Mayor.

CANADA TO HONOR CHINESE ALLIES

Canada will pay tribute to her gallant Chinese Ally from July 1st to July 13, which has been officially designated as "China Week."

Mayor Glen Thompson is in receipt of a communication from Mayor Fred J. Conboy, Toronto, asking that citizens of Belleville cooperate during that period in making Canada China-conscious.

Religious organizations of every clime will be asked to make China Week of maximum educational value. In order to make residents to understand more fully the importance of the part of democracy of China's resistance and that a deeper sympathy may develop between the great Eastern democracy and Canada.

In Toronto the week will culminate with the well-known "Hoe Down" concert. The project has received the full approval of Premier Hepburn and the Lieutenant-Governor.

ROOF DAMAGED BY HOT PIPE

When fire, presumably resulting from an over-heated smokestack, ignited the roof, firemen were called to the Superior Chicken plant on North Front Street shortly before midnight on Tuesday. Damage was held to a minimum however, and only a small section burned in the roof adjacent to the smokestack as the brigade quickly extinguished the flames.

88TH A.-A. BATTERY PAUSES IN CITY

In transit to Point Petre in Prince Edward County by engaged in machine gun practice along with other military manoeuvres, a troop of the 88th A.-A. Battery stopped over in Belleville for an hour or so yesterday afternoon to enjoy a short respite before continuing their journey across the bay. Motoring from Petawawa where the unit is stationed, the troop halted on Station Street near the upper bridge where the men enjoyed the cooling breeze from the river. They will be at Point Petre until further word is received by return to their base at Petawawa.

JAMES TWIDDY, 16, INJURED WHEN THROWN FROM HORSE

James Twiddy, aged 16, son of Mr. Harry Twiddy, Bloomfield, was thrown from a horse he was riding. The injured youth was rushed to the Belleville General Hospital where it was determined that his injuries were not of a serious nature. Dr. R. M. Anderson is in attendance.

TWO ANGLERS CHARGED WITH HAVING BASS

District anglers are preparing for the opening of the bass season on Saturday. Through the facilities of the Ontario Department of Game and Fisheries, the bass season opening date was advanced to June 28th, thus giving those seeking the finny black beauties of the lakes and bays of Ontario an additional three days of fishing.

However, it seems certain anglers were a little hasty in their quest for bass yesterday, but the urge proved their undoing when Game Warden Herb McCabe apprehended two Belleville anglers in possession of black bass along the bay bridge approach. Charges of violations of the Game and Fishing laws will be preferred against the pair, Inspector McCabe revealed today.

Whether or not the magistrate of the province would appreciate this move and refrain from fining the guilty pair prior to the opening date, which is only days off, warned Inspector McCabe today.

SOVEREIGN PRIORITY TO MEET IN CITY

According to announcements made today, the Sovereign Great Priory, Knights Templar of Canada, will hold their annual convention in Belleville on August 4th, 5th and 6th. Between two hundred and fifty and three hundred Knights are expected to be in attendance. Many representatives coming from all parts of the Dominion including Halifax and Vancouver. Wives and families of many of the Knights are expected to accompany them.

The convention will be held in the main part in Albert College, and an elaborate program is being prepared for the visitors.

'Kid-Kar" Derby Entrants Given Final Instructions

Last-minute instructions to the entrants for the sixth annual Kinsmen-sponsored Soap Box Derby were issued today by General Chairman Kin. James Fraser, who announced that only two more entries were being sought to bring the list up to 70 drivers. Already the entry has been accepted as conforming with the rules and regulations of the world's greatest amateur racing event, which will be held on Derby Hill in Belleville on Monday next under the auspices of The Ontario Intelligencer.

All cars must be in the hands of the racing committee and delivered at the Merchants' Building at the Fair Grounds before 4.00 p.m. tonight, Chairman Fraser added that the required painting of numbers on the cars for identification would be completed and the cars returned to their owners for service directly after school hours on Monday.

Arrangements for service and oiling the bearings of the axles of the individual cars at the pits atop of Derby Hill have been completed, thus assuring the faithful Wilbur-Shaws of the Belleville race ample time in which to make a nose-to-racing machines.

This year's race marks the sixth consecutive year in which the Kinsmen Soap Box Derby has been recognized as the all-Canada race, with the boys from each local race being eligible for the all-American event at Akron, Ohio, in August.

Frankford Resident Injured When Car Crashes into Culvert

Miss Rita Jordan, Frankford, suffered head lacerations and a fractured arm when the automobile in which she was a passenger crashed into a culvert and turned over on the Cannifton Road north of Belleville early yesterday morning. P. L. Golden, of Roblin, driver of the motor car and another passenger, Mr. A. Forbes, escaped with minor injuries, however.

Mr. Golden told Provincial Constable R. S. Patterson, who investigated, that he had apparently fallen asleep while driving over into the ditch, causing the accident. Speeding was not a factor, driving was preferred against Golden.

POLICE BLOTTER

Claiming he was forced off the road by an oncoming truck, an automobile driven by Pte.-Sergt. J. Lloyd Read, R.A.M.C., of Trenton, crashed into the guard rail on Dundas St. early this morning shortly after one o'clock this morning, snapping off two of the guard rail posts. Pte. Read reported the incident to Sergeant Arthur Hannah at the Barracks. Officers report a description of the truck was also afforded the police. The driver fortunately escaped without serious injury.

Bike Reported Stolen

James Watson, 13 Green Street, reported the theft of his bicycle to the police. The bike was stolen from in front of the City Hall. Belleville police today revealed that four bicycles have been found abandoned in Belleville of late and were being held at the police station awaiting ownership.

Clayton Fuller, Thurlow, parked his bicycle at the upper end of Front Street last night and during his absence the bike was struck by a motor car resulting in damage amounting to $3.75. The matter was subsequently amicably settled between the driver of the car and Fuller.

Police Seek Whereabouts of Woman

Belleville and Provincial Police were asked to assist in the possible locating of Minerva Eastcott, 45 of Frankford, who has been missing from her home since Tuesday.

Conducts Test

Sergeant J. Hunter, of the District Highway Motorcycle Patrol, personally conducted the American Press "Goodwill Tour" bus through the Belleville area today, travelling as an escort through the Provincial Police Motor Patrol automobile from Kingston to Peterborough.

WESTINGHOUSE WORKERS BACK ,

Hamilton, June 25 (CP)—All employees were back at work in the Canadian Westinghouse plant here today after the one-day stoppage.

The group of employees went out yesterday morning in protest against the interment of C. S. Jackson, Vice-President of the United Electrical Workers Union (CLIO), who was suspended by Royal Canadian Mounted Police at Malton Airport Monday evening.

Jackson had been scheduled to appear in court yesterday on a charge of inciting workers of the Canadian General Electric Company in Toronto to strike, but did not appear in court.

The Union sent a cablegram of protest to Prime Minister Churchill and to authorities at Ottawa against Jackson's internment.

Successful Attacks Made by Air in Syria

Cairo, June 25.—(AP)—The British Air Command announced today successful attacks on Beirut, Rayak and Soueida in Syria in "offensive operations" by Royal Air Force and Australian p'anes and British naval planes.

At Rayak, north of Damascus, the airport and fillers were attacked and hits scored on buildings and sidings. Several direct hits were made on the citadel at Soueida, near the southern border.

Enemy destroyers were bombed by naval planes in the harbor at Beirut, where hits were observed on the 1,000 ton automatic recording device employed by a Flag-ard scientist measured the speed of light at 186,272 miles a second, 12 miles a second faster than previously recorded.

Final Returns on Victory Loan May Show $500,000 Oversubscription

Belated returns keep filtering in to the Victory Loan headquarters here with the result that the total subscription is steadily mounting. Yesterday, approximately $25,000 found its way to the local coffers, bringing the total amount subscribed in the county to $2,922,200, or $472,200 over the original quota.

The city of Belleville total has now reached $550,000 or $50,000 above its quota.

The headquarters office will remain open until Saturday when the final returns will be rung in and on one of the most successful Victory Loan campaigns in the Dominion.

If returns keep coming in to the local office during the remainder of the week end, the same rate of speed that characterized the first two days, officials feel confident that Hastings county will reach the half-million mark.

Recruiting Campaign to be Pressed By Officers in No. 3 Military District

An extensive recruiting campaign is being planned in Military District No. 3 to enlist men for the Canadian Army, according to Lieut.-Col. A. B. Cunningham, D.S.O., Infantry, who states that the enlistment will be confined for men.

The military district has been divided into committee areas with a unit located at Brockville, Cornwall, Belleville, Cobourg, Lindsay, Peterborough, Millbrook, Appleton and Ottawa. The officers attached to the different units in these centres are entrusted with the duties of promoting recruiting in their respective areas.

The exact program which will be followed in the Belleville district has not yet been decided, according to Lieut.-Col. Gribble, but it is expected to put on programs of various kinds, make contacts with men who want to enlist, arrange for bands to visit the different centres and in fact do everything in its power to show young men that their country needs them at this time. The officers will be empowered to sign up the recruits.

In addition to the officers' committees five recruiting officers will travel from place to place. They are Maj. G. H. Pree, Kingston; Lt.-Col. A. H. Bennett, Kingston; Lieut. R. A. Purvis, Prescott; Lieut. F. Garnet, D.C.M., Cornwall and Capt. R. J. Greene, Ottawa.

This evening a mobile demonstration consisting of one motor section or more vehicles of the Royal Canadian Army Service Corps will put on a demonstration at the armouries in Belleville. Recruiting will be staged as part of a recruiting campaign to enlist men for the R.C.A.S.C.

Trenton and District

Trenton (Special), June 26 — George Cobley donated $15 to the Police Department yesterday for the purchase of a second section of the two-way radio station. Chief Constable Wm. Bain stated today that the Trenton Radio Police station is equipped with a two-way, radio-equipped car. "There is no use going to have a station like that from the station but it will be of more value when the officer in the car can talk to the station without getting out of his car."

Trenton citizens are interested in keeping their police force modern in every way in order to have their town policed efficiently. Donations are now being received for the purchase of the sending set for the radio car.

Sells Grocery Store

Mr. J. Parish of Brampton Riley, who has served on the municipal councils in the town for many years and has run a grocery business on the corner of Sidney and Francis Street for over 30 years.

The battle of the Century and the Can was fought at Bayside Park on Saturday afternoon when the Continental Cans defeated the Century Graham by a score of 10 to 9 to capture the league leadership in the Trenton Softball League.

The Centuries took a decided lead during the first four frames when they put on a batting bee that the Cans came back in the fifth and sixth innings to tie the score but the Cans gradually moved to victory.

Slim Stacey, on the mound for the Centuries was touched for an almost tossed the game away in the fourth inning when he allowed five hits and four runs to cross the plate. From there in, Stacey settled down to give up only four hits, three being in the fifth when the Centuries pushed across their two runs.

Coughlin, hurling for the Centuries, kept the Cans well tied until the fifth, when Dwn Pogue got to score five runs.

Hagley and Mccoull were the best at bat for the winners, each collecting three safeties out of six times at bat. Coughlin and Stacey efforts with four out of six for the losers. The batting:

Cans:	Inglis,	McColl,	Henry,
Stacey,	Hagley,	Anderson,	Lalonde,
Morre and Rultan.

Century: Riley, Morin, C. Ellis, Long, S. Ellis, Cook, Watson, Davis and Coughlin.

Line score:			runs

Kiwanis Club Takes Over Project

The Belleville Kiwanis Club, through the medium of its Public Affairs Committee under the chairmanship of Kiwanian Lieut. Lyle Butler, has assumed the responsibility of operating a Boys' Band in the city during the coming harvest season, according to an announcement made late yesterday afternoon by Lieut. Hall, of the Farm Service Branch of the Ontario Department of Labor.

Under the scheme young men and women, professional, business and industrial lads and students will be given the opportunity to assist farmers in the district during the harvest or at other seasons. It would be an ideal way to spend a vacation or part of a vacation and at same time receive remuneration for work done.

Plans will be laid down in the immediate future and the aims of the scheme placed before the public.

The scheme is intended to alleviate the seeming shortage of farm labor at a time when it is most needed. Mr. Hall explained in detail the project before members of the Kiwanis Club at their weekly meeting on Tuesday.

INCREASE ALCOHOL PRODUCTION

Canberra, June 25.—(AP)—A plan for the annual production of 50 million trails of 22,000,000 gallons of power alcohol from wheat as a substitute for gasoline was announced here today by Senator J. A. McBride, Minister of Supply.

The new distilleries would cost $1,100,000 (about $3,838,000), he said.

Zamzam Survivor Tells Experiences With Raider

The first account of life aboard a German raider by a survivor of a Nazi-sunk ship is recorded in the letters of James P. McKnight of Aldtown, Pa., a representative of the United Presbyterian Church, to his family. Mr. McKnight was aboard the Egyptian motorship Zamzam when it was attacked in the South Atlantic on April 17. Excerpts from his letters, written in his 29 days aboard the raider and its supply ship, appear below.

May 4, 1941—At 5:15 Thursday morning, April 17, Mr. Frank E. Cowboy got up and dressed. I looked at my watch by flashlight, and was just doing off again when there was a great "wham" close by. I thought something had fallen on the deck overhead and immediately there was a second "wham," also close by. Mr. Cowboy came rushing in and said, "what is it?" He said, "a raider." I said, "oh, no, maybe it is a collision." He said, "why, you can see it." "Wham!" Cowboy said "God, are they going to sink us without warning?"

In this time I had been putting on my trousers and shirt over my P.J.S. Mr. (Rev. Dr. Ralph D.) Hutt came from the bathroom and was dressing, too. I said, "don't forget your passport," and got the key and unlocked the Gladstone for mine.

Leader Wounded

Then from the hall I heard, "my God, Vic, is it you?" With what I had on my feet I stepped into the hall, and there was the ambulance unit leader lying shot through both legs at the entrance. But for this fill was just leaving him and was saying to the other, "the shelling is all over now," and to me, "if you can find the ship's doctor send him here."

Women and children were already in the hall. Some one said, "use the rear stairs, the other is blocked." I went back into my room and lights still burning in our section and I found Mrs. Hutt there as I stepped onto the rear deck it was almost dawn, our course put us but light enough to see, and away in the distance was the dark form of a ship. I put my flashlight flash from it. Our station was one deck up and I hurried there. No signal had been given and no officer was on hand as yet. Others were arriving. "do we get into the boats?" The chief engineer came by and I asked him if he didn't reply. Sailors were lowering our boat from the deck above us to get in.

Mr. Hutt and I helped in Mrs. (Elmer R.) Partington and her six children, Mrs. (Walter A.) Ohman, Dr. (Dudley) Wright (75) and his wife, Mrs. (Dr. Ralph) Cowboy, and her daughter and we men got in. "Lower away," and "Stop!" "Lower!" ...The sailors cried, "No move, no move!" Then we were away in the water. They unhooked the rope and at the second time the boat began to take water.

Two sailors and a petty officer came down from the deck on a rope. I wanted them to hook on the rope and go back up, but he said, "we will bail it with our hands," and the others did with their hats and with the bucket." The sailors got out the oars and pulled toward the stern of the Zamzam, which by this boat was half full of water and we bailed. "Get out, get out, you wein ei gerad." It was hopeless from the start.

Boat Full

By the time we reached the stern of the boat and in less time than it takes to tell it, the boat was full. I said to Mr. Ohman, "in a minute this will all be out in the water." He said, "I can't swim, can you?" by me. And with that we all jumped into the water.

I remember going under and of calling to Mrs. Hutt to get out of the water Then my head was out and my hand on the edge of the upside-down boat. The sailors were astride it and I climbed up with them. Others of the boat were clinging to the rope loops on the sides of the boat. The boat would not remain long as we were. Would we not get into the boat? The sailors were saying, "Ya Zamzam, ya Zamzam," and then as the raider drew near, "Ya Zamzam, ya captain," though they couldn't be heard.

Now it appeared that as we drifted the bow of the other boat would collide at the intersection, but the raider had power on and turned in front of us, and we also drifted right along its hull. In the Toronto it was one of the other medical colleges many students are making their own way to pay for courses and that by the middle of term would be difficult for them. Delegates from the various provincial divisions heard a suggestion that is might be feasible to provide loans at reasonable rates to students wishing to continue their studies during the war. No vote was taken on the proposal.

Hospital trustees were urged to exercise caution in permitting non-urgent surgical operations by doctors not specially trained in surgery.

Myrna Loy and William Powell, the screen's favorite husband and wife, meet up with Spencer Tracy, the axe-loving hit, in "Love You Again." Ralph Byrd in "Drums of the Desert" is the added feature.

Picton and District

Picton, June 25—The officers of the R.A.P. entertained at a very enjoyable dance in Picton Armouries on Monday evening. The guests were received by Group Captain C. Mace Wing Commander Fairgrieve W. Lowe-Holmes, Pilot Officers Bruce Fletcher, Smith and Thursday evening the airmen will entertain at a dance at the same place with some of the members of the Hospitality Club of Belleville among the guests.

Pens Being Canned

Peas are now being canned in Picton and Bloomfield. This, be fact of rain the pods are not very well filled and the stalks are short.

The Honorable Mrs. Brian Lewis and Mrs. F. W. Lowe-Holmes entertained at a delightful party at "The Willows," the guests including the officers and their wives and a few civilians. Peonies decorated the lovely home.

Mr. and Mrs. Roland Herring-ton of Rockton, Ill., are guests of his parents, Dr. and Mrs. E. M. Herrington.

Convention Held Over

The convention of the association of Managers of Homes for the Aged and Infirm in Ontario is being held in Picton. There are 150 in attendance. Sessions opened Tuesday and continue until Thursday. Tuesday the president's address was given by Miss M. Harris, Superintendent of the Hamilton City Home, while M. G. Young of Wentworth County, gave the treasurer's report. James Jardine of Simcoe County led a discussion. In the evening the county provided a cruise of the Bay of Quinte and lunch and entertainment at the Yacht Club. National Licensing Authority for Canada Defeated by Doctors

Winnipeg, June 26 (CP)—The Canadian Medical Association in its annual meeting here defeated a proposal for a National Licensing Authority which would permit doctors to practice in any province.

The joint relations council at the 72nd annual convention, yesterday heard representatives from the Manitoba Division, C.M.A., declare themselves in favor of the proposal while most doctors from other provinces were in opposition.

Delegates in opposition said that while in the present time provincial licensing authorities had been satisfactory and had served a useful function in control of medical practice.

About 50 representatives of medical schools, licensing authorities, the Canadian Hospital Council and the profession at large, attended the session.

Colleges to Open Earlier

Consideration of training medical students to meet enlarging military and civilian needs came before business sessions yesterday. Delegates were told that the Colleges of Medicine in Edmonton and London, Ont., are opening in July and in Toronto in August, while other medical colleges many students are making their own way to pay for courses and that by the middle of term would be difficult for them. Delegates from the various provincial divisions heard a suggestion that is might be feasible to provide loans at reasonable rates to students wishing to continue their studies during the war. No vote was taken on the proposal.

Hospital trustees were urged to exercise caution in permitting non-urgent surgical operations by doctors not specially trained in Surgery.

Equally Obliged To Furnish Men Says Villeneuve

Quebec, June 24.—(CP)—Cardinal Villeneuve, Archbishop of Quebec, said yesterday that "we have not the right to wash our hands of what is happening in the rest of the world", because "we are but a part of an effort that is larger than we are".

Speaking before religious, civic and provincial officials after officiating at a special St. Jean de Baptiste service, the Cardinal said that "it would be dangerous to believe that we are the only ones on earth, the only ones in this country, and free from the exterior relations.

"We are at war by a legitimate decision of authorities, elected or elected voluntarily and we are obliged to fight. Our civilization, our religion and all that is dear to us are at stake and it is against a serious giant that we have to fight".

As far as the war is concerned, he said, "no land money is not sufficient but we are equally obliged to furnish men".

A certain group, the Cardinal said, were trying to build walls around the French-Canadian nationality. Among the groups, he said, were those who evince not patriotic obligations and those who try to sow discord.

BRITISH PROTEST AGAINST RIOT

Several Hundred Agitators Damage Embassy at Madrid

London, June 25 (CP)—The British government is protesting against a riot outside the British Embassy in Madrid, it was announced today.

Authoritative quarters declared the disturbance involving between 300 and 400 men wearing Falangist uniforms "was carefully organized and staged by Germans."

"The aim was to provoke bad relations between Great Britain and Spain," these quarters said, adding that British Ambassador Sir Samuel Hoare had taken up the matter with the Spanish government while Foreign Secretary Eden protested to the Duke of Alba, Spanish Ambassador in London.

The Embassy windows were accompanied by German photographers and movie cameramen and "a number of vehicles containing bricks and other missiles." It was said.

Most of the windows of the Embassy were broken and several cars on the property were damaged, it was said.

"Trained agitators" were said to have been in the crowd and attempted to incite the demonstrators to "renewed destruction when it became apparent that the disturbance was slackening."

The disturbance was quelled, it was said, by Spanish police.

Ontario farmers NEED YOU and will PAY YOU to help them during this harvest.

10,000 young men and women are lending Ontario farmers a hand in their gigantic task of producing food for victory! Thousands more are needed!

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Glad to Get Up

The liver should pour out two pounds of bile juice into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Poisons from it are then absorbed into your blood. You get constipated. Your poisons go into the body, and you feel sour, sick, weak and the world looks gruesome.

A mere bowel movement doesn't always get rid of this bile. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless and gentle, they never gripe or upset you. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Refuse substitutes. Only 25c at all druggists. Insist on them. Russia May Surprise World Says Former U. S. Ambassador

Chicago, June 25.— (AP)—Joseph E. Davies, United States Ambassador to Russia from 1936 to 1938, said yesterday that "in a matter of good judgment that we should take a course during the Russo-Soviet fighting".

Speaking and answering questions before the Women's Academy of Chicago, Davies, now special assistant to the Secretary of State, added:

"It is my opinion that the world will be surprised at the extent to which Russia will resist. It is my opinion that Germany will break through in the Ukraine, but it is one thing to get into a country and another to maintain communications lines of 1,800 miles".

The Russian organized resistance breaks down, he said, "we can expect guerrilla warfare by local Russians".

Davies quoted Hitler as saying to a British diplomat in 1937 that the Russians had the best army on the European continent outside of Germany.

On the basis of his "latest information", Davies estimated the total strength of the Russian military forces at 18,000,000, divided this way: present front-line troops, 5,000,000; 2,000,000 trained reserves with three years in the army, 5,000,000 reserves of infantry age with some training. 7,000,000.

One interesting aspect, here is a fifth column in Russia and Davies replied: "No, there is none in any totalitarian state; they shoot them".

Zamzam Survivor Tells Experiences With Raider

The first account of life aboard a German raider by a survivor of a Nazi-sunk ship is recorded in the letters of James P. McKnight of Aldtown, Pa., a representative of the United Presbyterian Church, to his family. Mr. McKnight was aboard the Egyptian motorship Zamzam when it was attacked in the South Atlantic on April 17. Excerpts from his letters, written in his 29 days aboard the raider and its supply ship, appear below.

May 4, 1941—At 5:15 Thursday morning, April 17, Mr. Frank E. Cowboy got up and dressed. I looked at my watch by flashlight, and was just doing off again when there was a great "wham" close by. I thought something had fallen on the deck overhead and immediately there was a second "wham," also close by. Mr. Cowboy came rushing in and said, "what is it?" He said, "a raider." I said, "oh, no, maybe it is a collision." He said, "why, you can see it." "Wham!" Cowboy said "God, are they going to sink us without warning?"

In this time I had been putting on my trousers and shirt over my P.J.S. Mr. (Rev. Dr. Ralph D.) Hutt came from the bathroom and was dressing, too. I said, "don't forget your passport," and got the key and unlocked the Gladstone for mine.

Leader Wounded

Then from the hall I heard, "my God, Vic, is it you?" With what I had on my feet I stepped into the hall, and there was the ambulance unit leader lying shot through both legs at the entrance. But for this fill was just leaving him and was saying to the other, "the shelling is all over now," and to me, "if you can find the ship's doctor send him here."

Women and children were already in the hall. Some one said, "use the rear stairs, the other is blocked." I went back into my room and lights still burning in our section and I found Mrs. Hutt there as I stepped onto the rear deck it was almost dawn, our course put us but light enough to see, and away in the distance was the dark form of a ship. I put my flashlight flash from it. Our station was one deck up and I hurried there. No signal had been given and no officer was on hand as yet. Others were arriving. "do we get into the boats?" The chief engineer came by and I asked him if he didn't reply. Sailors were lowering our boat from the deck above us to get in.

Mr. Hutt and I helped in Mrs. (Elmer R.) Partington and her six children, Mrs. (Walter A.) Ohman, Dr. (Dudley) Wright (75) and his wife, Mrs. (Dr. Ralph) Cowboy, and her daughter and we men got in. "Lower away," and "Stop!" "Lower!" ...The sailors cried, "No move, no move!" Then we were away in the water. They unhooked the rope and at the second time the boat began to take water.

Two sailors and a petty officer came down from the deck on a rope. I wanted them to hook on the rope and go back up, but he said, "we will bail it with our hands," and the others did with their hats and with the bucket." The sailors got out the oars and pulled toward the stern of the Zamzam, which by this boat was half full of water and we bailed. "Get out, get out, you wein ei gerad." It was hopeless from the start.

Boat Full

By the time we reached the stern of the boat and in less time than it takes to tell it, the boat was full. I said to Mr. Ohman, "in a minute this will all be out in the water." He said, "I can't swim, can you?" by me. And with that we all jumped into the water.

I remember going under and of calling to Mrs. Hutt to get out of the water Then my head was out and my hand on the edge of the upside-down boat. The sailors were astride it and I climbed up with them. Others of the boat were clinging to the rope loops on the sides of the boat. The boat would not remain long as we were. Would we not get into the boat? The sailors were saying, "Ya Zamzam, ya Zamzam," and then as the raider drew near, "Ya Zamzam, ya captain," though they couldn't be heard.

Now it appeared that as we drifted the bow of the other boat would collide at the intersection, but the raider had power on and turned in front of us, and we also drifted right along its hull. In the Toronto it was one of the other medical colleges many students are making their own way to pay for courses and that by the middle of term would be difficult for them. Delegates from the various provincial divisions heard a suggestion that is might be feasible to provide loans at reasonable rates to students wishing to continue their studies during the war. No vote was taken on the proposal.

Hospital trustees were urged to exercise caution in permitting non-urgent surgical operations by doctors not specially trained in Surgery.

A HYMN FOR TODAY

The following overseas version of a hymn has been sent to the Ontario Intelligencer from London, Eng. It is by Rev. A. Thomas Tiplady, Hon. C. F., Supt. of the Lambeth Mission, London, S.E.1., whose church—"The Ideal"—has been wrecked by bombs. The hymn has met a need and over 130,000 copies have been sold within a few months to churches of all denominations. This version has been written in appreciation of the warm sympathy and gallant help, which, in ever increasing measure, the overseas members of the British Commonwealth of Nations are bringing to the Mother Country in her grim struggle against the forces of paganism for mankind the democratic way of life, says the accompanying note.

The writer is also the author of "The Cross at the Front," "Hymns for the Times," "Hymns for the Present Age," and "Hymns for Today."

Ere we take our homeward way,
For our Commonwealth we pray:
Guard and guide our land and Queen
Down the days that lie unseen.

To our statesmen wisdom lend;
On Thy arm of might they depend:
Guard our sailors out at sea,
From all dangers keep them free.

Shield our airmen in the sky;
Guarding Freedom for our land:
Bless our airmen in the sky.
Be as angels near them fly.

On the railroad be as light
To the engine driver's sight
May no danger meet our foes;
Thine own hand upon the wheel.

Every nurse and doctor bless
In the hour of stress and strain;
To our wounded, o'er the foam,
Come as dawn, across the sea.

Lord, whom stars and tides obey,
Bring our nation 'neath Thy sway;
May it seek the light divine,
And obey no will but Thine.

Amen.

OLD CITIES RELIVE IN INTEREST

'Ages long apart are brought together in war. A few months ago no one would have thought of Tyre, Sidon and Nineveh, mighty cities of the older world. Yet today they appear in the news with all the implications of reality. Tyre and Sidon are real again. Nineveh of old, is said to have been on the site of modern Mosul, the city of oil in Iraq.

Nineveh was the ancient capital of the 'Assyrian Empire . It occupied a site of about 1800 acres. It is believed to have been founded by Nimrod three years after the flood, along with other ancient heroes. It is mentioned about 2285 B.C. It was not a very fine place when Sennacherib came on the scene but he built a great palace and six arsenals, laid out a park as hunting and pleasure ground and erected a magnificent 'triumphal way' 62 cubits broad. He brought water from the hills by eighteen canals and made Nineveh his court residence. After the destruction of Babylon it was possibly the finest and richest city of the east. Many centuries later it was taken by the Medes in 606 B.C. Sidon, on the Mediterranean coast, was famous of old for its purple dyes, glass and wines. Today it numbers but 14,000 persons.

Tyre was the principal seaport of the Phoenicians. It was sacked by Alexander in 322 B.C., and lost its former importance. Unfter the early Roman emperors it flourished again as a port. In the Middle Ages it attained importance as the stronghold of the Crusaders. After the fall of Acre the Christians deserted the place and it was destroyed by the Moslems.

When Rudyard Kipling wrote "Recessional" he spoke of Nineveh and Tyre as of the pomp of many centuries ago. Yet today those cities revive as the war interest centres on the east. Just the other day Sidon was mentioned in the news and Damascus has been associated with the Syrian situation. Damascus is a city of great importance and of 200,000 inhabitants, mostly Moslem, the world's oldest city.

In the speed of the present day places are sometimes passed over after a few generations of change, but the old cities which saw the development of civilization heading toward the west revive as they are brought to light.

At the eastern end of the Mediterranean there was that great development which has moulded history and in the turmoil of modern events, old cities live again.

THE DOGS OF WAR

(The War Office has invited dog-owners to lend dogs of suitable breeds (which are specified) to the Army. For service purposes they will be trained at "the War Dog Training School, Willems Barracks, Aldershot, to which offers of dogs should be made by letter.")

Just listen, by golly! Your Airedale or Collie,
Your Lurcher, Retriever or such,
Can now join the Forces and swell the resources
That fight against Adolf his clutch.
Yes, Willems will take 'em and presently make 'em
Perform at the word of command;
For there it is written—the dogs of old Britain
Shall leap in defence of their land.

Apply, though, by letter, for that will be better;
Don't post the dog off (with a bone),
For the War Office notion of dogs for promotion
May not be the same as your own.
Its risk is of meeting some folk who are hoping
This stunt as a jolly good rag.
And I wouldn't mind betting 'twill yet be found getting
Some very odd dogs in its bag.

—Lucio, in the Manchester Guardian.

The other day an irate customer, in language that was scarcely what could be called drawing room style, berated the manager of a clothing store for the non-appearance of his summer suit. It appears the order had been placed for some time and the customer was impatient for its arrival. The manager tried to explain that a lack of goods on the part of the tailoring firm was responsible for the tardiness in arrival, but the customer would have none of it. He flounced out of the store in high dudgeon swearing by all his gods that no more orders would be placed therein. •

All of which may sound perfectly fearful from the customer's point of view. Men, like their boots, have to be. In the most cases are proud of their appearance and any unforeseen setback is the occasion for a flare-up of temper. But, listen brothers, have a heart. Sometimes, and in the majority of cases in these hectic days when production in every form of industry is paramount, the middleman is not altogether to blame. He takes the brunt, but what about the 10. Mr. Manufacturer cannot produce the goods, neither can the store manager.

The following doggerel received by a Montreal firm from a New York manufacturer, after the former had complained of tardiness in filling an order perhaps explains the situation, in part, anyway.

THAT OLD BACK ORDER

"Keep your temper, gentle sir,
Writes the manufacturer,
That your goods are overdue,
For a month or maybe two,
Hurts me worse than it does you.
Don't help it, no, by heck!
'Cause I'm in a helluva fix.
A man can't get yarns, can't get dyes,
Don't matter a darn how hard he tries.
Labor's scarce, my hours aren't black,
They're busy weaving Army Duck.
(Just looks like we're out of luck.)
Harry's drafted, so is Bill.
Can't get Boy Scouts to run the mill.
So, your order, I'm afraid
May be still a bit delayed!
But, you'll get it, don't be vexed,
Maybe this month, maybe next.
Just keep hoping, don't say die—
I'll fill your order,
Bye and bye......"

NO COME-BACK

The bride-to-be was showing her friend a list of guests to be invited to the wedding.

After her friend had read the names she looked puzzled.

"What's the matter?" asked the bride-to-be.

"Isn't this rather strange?" queried the friend. "You have only put down the names of married couples."

"Yes, that was Jack's idea. Don't you think it's rather clever? He says that if we invite only married people the presents will be all clear profit."

EPILOG

There was a smile upon his calm, still face,
A gentle, joyous look we'd often seen;
The way he had death couldn't quite erase,
The glad expression of a faith serene!

We'd watched that smile light moments dark with doubt!
No fear, no scorn, no bitterness was there!

Still glowed the spark death couldn't quite put out!
Still strong the faith refusing to despair!

And as he left us for that little while
Which keeps the living in this vale of breath
We think he tried to tell us by that smile
Who keeps the faith can even smile at death.

II Duce Losing Hold on Italy

By Walter Tschuppik

The following account of the causes which have led to a breach between Marshal Badoglio and Mussolini and finally to the Marshal's retention of the supreme military circles and may probably be termed back to Marshal Badoglio himself.

When Britain declared war on Germany in September, 1939, Hitler called upon Il Duce to take his place at the side of Germany's Axis and to declare war upon Great Britain. On September 1, 1939, Mussolini waited upon the King of Italy to extract from him the declaration which Hitler demanded. The King, however, refused, pointing out that he must first consult Marshal Badoglio, who was well aware of the shortcomings of the Italian army, was on this occasion accused by the King of having lost the point of yielding, in order, as he said, "to avoid a civil war." Marshal Badoglio, who had been summoned by the King, declared that he could not rescue. Seeing the King in difficulties, Badoglio drew his revolver, and, pointing it at Mussolini, said: "I'll fritti o ti ferisco!" (withdraw or I'll fire) Mussolini withdrew in haste.

Equally significant of the personal relationship between the two is the fact that people in Italy are now passing from one to another extracts from a speech made by Benito Mussolini, under his own name, in a moment of anger at the break of the last war. This forotold that Italy would intervene on the side of the Allies, but also that he has not yet finally abandoned his personal power simply artificial Socialist creed of his younger days.

In the Guido Podrecca, managing director of the Socialist weekly journal, called "Asino," issued a number of publications under the collective title "Martyrs of Freedom." One of these was a book of 139 pages on John Huss, the author being Benito Mussolini. Here is what the later despot wrote in his preface: "This little book is published in the hope that it may inspire every reader with a hatred for tyranny, for every dictatorship, or secular, theocratic or Jacobin."

Mussolini has also written not only the abuses of the Catholic Church at the end of the Middle Ages, but also Catholicism of today. "Two centuries after Huss," wrote Mussolini at that time, "Catholic priesthood remains unchanged."

1941

Describing the medieval conditions in Huss' day, Mussolini says: "In the Catholic countries of that epoch the Church had become an enormous political and economical and secular business, the former serving as a cloak for the latter. The firm's head office was in Rome and it had branches all over Europe. At the time of Huss' appeal upon whose blood and sweat the concerns was built, there was an abysmal ignorance. Exploited to the bone, they were dirt-poor and to fire and slaughter as soon as they showed the least sign of revolt.

Much was the indictment brought by twenty-eight years ago by the Italian Mediaeval Church by the very man who has himself done everything possible to keep the Italian people in ignorance and subjection and to deliver them, in his own words, to "fire and slaughter."

All his life Mussolini has been a demagogue possessed by unbridled ambition. Innumerable socialist leaders and writers from all over the world who have "betrayed socialism for the revolutionary "doctrines" and "ideas" in what are in fact the worst forms of brutal tyranny and spoliation. Every word written or uttered by Mussolini is a lie, a distortion, a pudiation of his former beliefs. Unfortunately the world has a short memory. On September 18, 1935, in a speech made at Milan, he leapt to Hitler's assistance in the latter's attack on Czechoslovakia and, with his cry of "plebiscite," helped destroy a country whose government was a pattern of enlightened democracy.

"This, O Trieste, and people of Trieste," are the words of one emotional strain — "is the solution to the controversy which at this moment agitates Europe. It has only one name — the plebiscite. Preclusion to all nationalities that demand them, for all nationalities that were forced into the Empire which wished to be great Czechoslovakia, a great nation, not because about a solution, but may well lead to a fatal solution."

This man of violence, who fell upon Abyssinians and Albanians without mercy, and who has ever tried to bring Greece beneath his sway, talked of "national self-determination." We can imagine the feelings of the Czechs at hearing from him lying lips "lecture on political justice." Mussolini's favourite phrase, "Truth will prevail," which became the motto of the Czechoslovak Republic, finds fulfilment in Mussolini's case. The days of this despicable Caphicaro of our times are numbered. That hatred of all tyranny, ever preached by the young demagogue, now turns against the arrogant tyrant himself.

Hindsight on the Hess Affair

I believe that the turning point of the war occurred in the week-end and when Hitler made the most colossal political blunder of his life. Furthermore, I suspect that he knows it since Churchill's speech Sunday afternoon, and the reactions in Washington.

Again, he has totally misread British psychology. And it is possible that he has been encouraged to misread it, and that he, who set so many traps for others, has fallen into one himself.

The immediate effect is to diminish a terrific nightmare. That nightmare was the union of the Nazi and Communist revolutions which, in every country was producing the most dangerous situation. The Communist revolution has not been a real menace anywhere in all the years that it has passed since its inception. But a Communist-Nazi revolution under a Russian revolution's appeal to masses and the German revolution's appeal to classes—Russian revolutionary technique plus German military efficiency—this would have been a most senseless game it is now the less dangerous, though no more dangerous than armed nihilism, like the Gestapo plus the Spanish Communist cells plus Nazi secret agents, the Red Army plus the Brown one.

Such a combination looked suspiciously like the "Wave of the Future" to a great many people. Now, the combination is split irrevocably.

It is my belief that Hitler was making a tremendous gamble on Britain getting out of the war, as a result of this development.

Were the political and British ruling England that ruled it up until two years ago, Churchill would have happened. The two enemies and the two bogeys of Europe and the West, would have been encouraged to eat each other up, and Hitler would have stepped into the role of the White Knight saving the world from Communism, which is the act he wants to put on in the week-end. Now all the other dramas in "The Ring" would like to close with "Parsifal".

But there are brains in Washington, and there are brains in Washington, and the movie is too transparent.

At this date, we can have, perhaps, a little insight on the Hess affair. There are always conversations between foreign offices the world as it is today; there are few secrets and phenomena, and the dramatic descent of Hess on the soil of Britain, by Hamilton, certainly has been engineered by something to be developed over this week-end.

Hess also has his eyes on the United States. Perhaps he has a few. We are very powerful, but Hitler entertains no illusions about the American conduct has baffled him. First of all, he was certain that America was a nation of money-grubbers who would do nothing except for profit. His own patterns in his paranoic mind —and the Lend-Lease Bill, the spectacle of a great "have" nation ruled by "have-nots" giving away things for no quid pro quo, shook all his pre-conceived notions. Politically, the Lend-Lease Bill was the most brilliant move the President has made in the war of nerves.

The early German comments on the Hess flight said that Hess had had several interviews with Duke Hamilton. The British denied this. Has Rudolph Hess at experienced politician and it seems highly unlikely to me that he would have gone to Scotland unless he had been offered some sort of bait.

The proposition that he had to make was, I think, the old one of asking for peace while dangling the bogey of Russia. Hess was known to be bitterly anti-Russian. I think he told the British that (1) if Britain would call off the war, Germany would attack Russia; and that (2) otherwise Germany would make a hard and fast alliance with Russia and go out with her against the British Empire in the Middle East, Iran and India.

The mediator between Churchill and Hess was Frederick Kirkpatrick, former Counsellor of the British Embassy in Berlin, a man who was acquainted with Hess, and who knows Germany.

A small item in the press announced that Churchill, while here negotiating with Eire on conscripted a conference of the Dominion premiers and the Governments in Exile which issued a manifesto declaring in more or less effect that no peace would be made with Germany until the European countries had been freed.

But immediately, another small item announced that Frederick Kirkpatrick had flown to Ireland. Why Ireland? And why by Sir Frederick? Could it be, perhaps, because the German embassy in Ireland? Who did the Nazi leaders see in Ireland? And if, he got in touch with them, what could he tell them?

Could it tell them, perhaps, to disregard the Churchill resolution? Could it tell them, perhaps, to believe that the Churchill government might fall, and another government might be formed with the Nazis against Russia?

Between the Nazis and Russia and Mr. Churchill's speech, there must have been a terrific battle in Berlin. What joy there would have been had Churchill announced that he was going to make a pact with Russia's chestnuts out of the fire.

Hitler's mistake, I think, was a man, who knows exactly who the British are. He made the strongest attack on Hitler in his entire career.

There is nothing Hitler can get from Russia by war that he could not have gotten much better by peace.

The fate of Russia now lies in the hands of Democracy. Instead of the fate of the Democracies in the hands of Russia. Russia also happens to be a matter of immediate military importance. Why in the world, under such circumstances, should we fear Russia?

Perhaps a small time there is a chance of an evolution in Russia which will help Democracy!

The Wave of the Future has passed into the hands of Mr. Churchill and Mr. Roosevelt, who alone among the statesmen of the world have been absolutely essentially right. Wendell Willkie's prophecy made in his inaugurative address, has a chance to come true: The future belongs to us.

POOR MAN'S COAL

Disruption of transportation, and a coal shortage caused by the war are increasing the use of peat as a domestic and industrial fuel in many parts of the world.

Ireland, the largest producer, normally uses about 6,000,000 tons of air-dried peat a year.

The word "peat" seems to be of Gaelic origin and nobody knows what its derivation is.

Peat is partly decayed aquatic vegetable matter, such as reeds, sedges, aquatic grasses and mosses, which has been partially carbonized under pressure of water in bogs and marshes.

In a sense, peat is merely coal in its first stage of formation.

With increased compression peat would become first lignite and finally coal.

A similar product intermediate between peat and lignite is known as peat coal.

A place from which peat is dug is called a peatery, a peat bog, a peat bank or a peat moor.

Peat varies widely in its consistency. It may be a pale yellow or brown fibrous substance resembling turf or compressed hay, or a compact brown material resembling lignite or dark clay.

Peat is used not only for fuel in industry and the home, but also for packing, mulching, potting choice plants, fertilizer, bedding litter, and as the source of gas, charcoal and various minerals.

In Germany and Sweden peat is now excavated and prepared for use with machinery.

Peat abounds in northern Europe, the British Isles, Iceland, the United States and in fact in most parts of the temperate zone.

Some of the peat bogs in Ireland range from five to 50 feet in thickness.

Peat for fuel purposes is now sometimes pressed in the form of briquettes.

In normal times peat does not contend seriously with coal because of its bulk and low power and ash content.

From the United States, which has an abundance of coal, petroleum, wood, electricity and other sources of fuel and power, is beginning to look into the possibility of making use of its peat deposits.

Before the war the United States imported 1,200,000 worth of peat moss from Germany and the Low Countries and now there is a shortage of this commodity in America.

HELP PREVENT CONSTIPATION

Due to Lack of Bulk in the Diet

THE WAR TODAY

BY DON GILMERT
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

The War Cabinet has sent out a hurry-up call to the Middle East command to finish up the Syrian campaign without further delay. Instructions dispatched yesterday to the Allied Commanders said operations must henceforth be governed entirely by military considerations, that further effort to win over French officers and men by negotiations must be abandoned.

The German invasion of Russia has given Gen. Sir Archibald Wavell a golden opportunity to consolidate his position in the Middle East before Autumn brings back weather more suitable for large-scale desert fighting than the intense heat of Summer. With good luck, the Commander in Chief will be able to parry the entire Levant and finish off the last group of Italians holding out in the Ethiopian bush country. French Somaliland, still loyal to Vichy, must deal with.

Operations will have to be made along the northern frontier of Iraq which borders the Soviet Caucasus, as a precaution against the possibility of German penetration. Plans will have to be worked out with the High Command in India to correlate military policy with respect to Persia, Iraq of Iraq, and Afghanistan, directly west of northwestern India, both of which might be endangered if the German invasion of Russia goes according to Nazi plan.

Formulate New Plans

Finally the German Africa corps in Libya is awaiting the opportune moment to attack western Egypt. If Gen. Wavell is true to his reputation, he will seek to get the jump on Lt.-Gen. Erich Rommel, the German Commander, and launch an offensive of his own. The reconnaissance in force carried out by the army of the Nile early this month obtained for Gen. Wavell valuable information regarding the strength and disposition of the enemy forces, and his several staff doubtless are busy formulating new plans in the light of this intelligence.

Germany's attack on Russia also has given British diplomacy a new chance to score in Turkey. Sir Hughe Knatchbull-Hugessen, the British Ambassador, has hurried back to Ankara from a holiday and promptly won assurance that Turkish-German economic negotiations have been adjourned on account of the new situation.

Vichy reports say Turkish troops are concentrated on the Syrian frontier. This might mean that Turkey will co-operate in cleaning up the Vichy French in the Northern sector in return for a bit of territory in that area, which has a sizable Turkish minority and formerly belonged to Turkey. On the other hand, the reported troop concentrations might be designed to prevent the Vichy French troops if they retreat toward the frontier as the Allied offensive gathers momentum in the south.

Little Benny's Note Book

My ant Fanny wanls ma to keep little Herbil for her while she take a trip with Uncle Albil, and after supper ma said to pop, I've answered Fanny's letter, Wilbrum.

Good, I hope you told her definitely and absolutely and unequivocally nothing doing, pop said, and ma said, Well yes, in a mild way, I mean I could hardly send her a flat refusal, so I had to write her firmly between the lines. Here's the letter; I haven't sent it yet, I'll read it to you, she said.

Wich she did, being, Dear Fanny, It was so nice to hear from you about your projected trip in the car, and I appreciate your confidence in me in asking me to take care of little Herbil while you are away. However, much as I am inclined toorls a pellmell rush to say Yes, I think I had better tell you a few thoughts that have occurred to me. You say that little Herbil doesn't like to ride in the car, even for a block or 2. Well, Fanny, perhaps that is the very reason. I mean just as people dont learn to swim until they are actually supposed to deep water, Herbil's little constitution will probably never be able to digest the action of a car until he has had a full meal of it, and for the first few hundred miles it will be a simple matter to stop the car, every 20 minutes or so and put him down to regain his equilibrium, and in that case the slenderishness should be a thing of the past before he gets what a privilege it will be for him to learn geometry by being laid out flat cross wise so afterwards in his memory all the beautiful spots that are now only names will be places. Do let me hear from you, Fanny, Ever affectionately Pawleen. Dont you think she'll read between the lines. Wilbrum? ma said.

Anybody els would, but if I know your sister Fanny she's been bored to tween them, pop said.

Well anyway, we're waiting for Ant Fanny's answer to find out.

BRITISH CONVOY NOT DAMAGED

Bombs Crashed into Sea Around Vessels but None Hit

A southeast coast town in England, June 26 (CP)—Nazi bombers attacked a large British convoy off this coast during the night and though bombs crashed in the sea all around the convoy no ship was hit or damaged.

The convoy, flying barrage balloons and accompanied by a strong naval escort, was abreast this coastal town when the attack came and developed into a fight a mile offshore.

Escort vessels fired heavily, filling the sky with shell bursts and streams of tracer bullets.

Watchers said the sea-air battle continued for "a considerable time" and German long-range guns on the French coast took up the fight.

After two guns in the Boulogne area fired several shells across the Channel British planes were heard racing eastward and the gunfire ceased as heavy explosions like bursting bombs were heard.

German anti-aircraft guns then opened fire and, after a brief hill, a heavy force of British bombers swept to the attack along the invasion coast.

Steamer Kingston Heavily Damaged

Kingston, Ont., June 26 (CP)—Pounded by heavy seas as it lay helpless on a bar in the St. Lawrence River, four miles west of Brockville, the steamer Kingston is feared to have suffered heavier damage than at first thought.

After a week, tugs have temporarily abandoned efforts to free the Kingston. The apparatus is being used now to free the freighter Birchton, aground near Morrisburg.

Company officials said yesterday the Hull of the Kingston may be damaged from the rough seas which prevailed earlier in the week. The vessel grounded in a fog while en route to Prescott.

The freighter Birchton will remain the attention of the tugs that worked unsuccessfully on the Kingston, if the former vessel is shifted from the bar the entire salvage equipment will be moved back to the Kingston for a re-doubled effort.

AT THE CAPITOL

"The Sheriff of Tombstone"

The ever popular Roy Rogers returns to Melighi Belleville action this week in "Sheriff of Tombstone," his latest action film on his Republic screen, which has been booked in to the Capitol Theatre next.

Roy meets the law in Bert Starr, an upright young lawyer who journeys to Tombstone for a reunion with his brothers only to learn that the easier town is a hotbed of crooked intrigue.

Learning that each of his brothers was murdered by a criminal element, led under cover by the powerful outright Mayor Keeler, Roy adopts the character of "Shotgun Cassidy," for whom he is mistaken, hoping thus to uncover facts which will bring the guilty party to justice.

George "Gabby" Hayes figures prominently in the cast, and Elyse Knox leads her beauty and charm to the feminine lead.

Sally Payne portrays her customary role as Roy's fiancee, and the supporting cast includes Zeffie Tilbury, Hal Taliaferro, Addison Richards, Harry Woods, Jay Novello, Jack Ingram, Herb Gibson, Payne Johnson and others.

"Boys of the City"

When the "East Side Kids," now playing in "Boys of the City," which opens next at the Capitol Theatre, try peaceful country life, they also fight their way to excitement, danger and even murder.

Composed of Hollywood's toughest kids, the gang goes right to bat to clear their pal, Knuckles, of a murder charge, although in order to do this, they have to capture a dangerous killer. Among the kids are two well-known "Dead Enders," Bobby Jordan and Leo Gorcey.

In order to escape a court sentence for malicious mischief the "East Side Kids" consent to visit wealthy Alzy Wilke's summer camp in the Adirondacks, but they only get as far as Judge Parker's chambers when car trouble forces them to spend the night there.

Things are settled when Louise, Parker's ward is jerked away silently into a secret panel which opens during the time and shortly after Judge Parker is found strangled in his room.

It takes the kids to find Louise and the man who murdered Parker.

The same program includes the latest news and the eleventh chapter of Zane Grey's "King of the Royal Mounted."

AT THE BELLE

"That Uncertain Feeling"

Merle Oberon and Melvyn Douglas are co-starred as the blissfully happy couple who discover they have no right to be happy in "That Uncertain Feeling," showing at the Belle Theatre.

"That Uncertain Feeling," which will be preseched next at the Belle Theatre.

"That Uncertain Feeling" is Mr. Lubitsch's first production as an independent producer and it is also his first in seventeen years of Hollywood picture-making in which he focuses on the American scene. As a matter of fact, "That Uncertain Feeling" is as American as the alarm clock, seen in one of the sequences and as modern as the psychoanalyst who almost succeeds in breaking up a perfectly delightful marriage. The mood of the picture is sprightly and gay; if it is sometimes daffy, it nevertheless presents the kind of human comedy in which Lubitsch is never at a loss for the unexpected twist.

Supporting Miss Oberon and Melvyn Douglas, who last came under the Lubitsch baton in "Ninotchka," are Burgess Meredith, who plays a wild-haired pianist with a leaning toward surrealist art; Alan Mowbray, as the perchoanalyst who does his level best to convince lovely Merle that her marriage is not as bright as it seems; Eve Arden, as Sally, an unconventional private secretary; and Sir Rumann seen as a prosperous Hungarian mattress merchant.

Miss Oberon is seen in fourteen different costumes, all of which were designed by Irene, Hollywood's leading stylist. The accent in all of these lovely gowns is on smartness rather than on sophistication in keeping with the mood of the picture. There are three suits in the wardrobe, all very feminine and softly tailored.

Lovely Merle also displays several unusual evening gowns. One of them, worn in a scene at home is of black marquisette in black over nude color. A black velvet design is appliqued through the waistline.

"The Penalty," Thrilling

Starring Edward Arnold and Lionel Barrymore for the first time since their hit together in "You Can't Take It With You," and providing Gene Reynolds, boy actor of "Edison, The Man," "Gallant Sons" and "Boys' Town" was his most important role to date. "The Penalty," filmization of a Martin Berkeley stage hit is the added thrill bill.

"You Can't Pool a Camera," in the title of an entertaining screen novelty to be presented on the same program.

"Ziegfeld Girl," is now closing a highly successful engagement at the Belle Theatre.

DOLAN THE DRUGGIST

AT THE McCARTHY

"I Love You Again"

Laughs, long and hearty, will be the order of the day when the new comedy, "I Love You Again," now starring William Powell and Myrna Loy, reaches the McCarthy theatre as the next attraction. Never in the careers of these two favorites have they appeared in a more hilarious film. From beginning to end, the picture gales laugh upon laugh in a series of the maddest situations ever conceived by a group of authors.

The story, in brief, deals with the plight of a man who, through an accidental crack on the head, suddenly recovers from an attack of amnesia which has lasted over a period of eight years. It is a delightful shock to him when he learns that during this eight years time he has acquired not only a charming wife who is about to divorce him, but a spotless reputation as a civic leader in the community of Habersville, a fair-sized bank account, and the manager's berth in a large pottery factory. Adding humor to the situation is the fact that in his pre-amnesia days he was a confidence man of no mean abilities. His attempts to return to Habersville and ply his former trade behind his snow-white reputation makes for the tops in comedy, reiterated by W. C. Van Dyke II.

They'll Do It Every Time — By Jimmy Hatlo

Built For Fowell

Not in some time has Powell been handed a role tailor made to his abilities. Myrna Loy gets a brief vacation from her characterizations as the "perfect wife," a vacation long enough for her to glance at a pile of scrambled eggs over the head of her spouse. The supporting cast includes Frank McHugh as Powell's buddy, "Doc" Ryan, Edmund Lowe as a slick promoter, Donald Douglas as Miss Loy's model boy-friend, Nella Walker as her mother, Carl "Alfalfa" Switzer of the "Our Gang" comedies, Pierre Watkin, Paul Stanton, Morgan Wallace and Charles Arnt. The pictures was directed by W. S. Van Dyke II.

PERSONALS

ENGAGEMENT NOTICE

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Burtt, Shannonville, wish to announce the engagement of their eldest daughter, Edna Marie, to James, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. James Robinson, St. Catharines. The marriage to take place in Shannonville, at three-thirty p.m., June twenty-eighth.

George Dawkins Jr., has left to join the navy.

Mrs. George Evans, 31 Sinclair Street, has returned to her home after spending the week-end with her daughter, Mrs. S. C. Andrus, in Hamilton.

Lieut. F. J. Bradley, headquarters staff, Camp Borden, has been seriously ill at the Military Hospital there. His condition is improving slowly.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Greatrix, Thurlow, entertained the members of the cast of the play "Always To-Morrow" on Thursday evening. This was one of the plays put on by members of the Wellington Y.P.U. and the play which won first place in the competition between the Y.P. Societies in this district. During the evening Mr. and Mrs. D. T. McClintock were presented with two pictures by the members of the cast in appreciation for their leadership and assistance.

About one hundred airmen from Trenton R.C.A.F. station were entertained at a delightful informal dance held last evening at the Country Club by the Hospitality Club of this city. Dancing was enjoyed from eight until twelve o'clock; a splendid program being supplied by the R.C.A.P. orchestra. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses.

The Stars Say

For Thursday, June 26

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

A PARTICULARLY lively day, with much stirring of a thrilling and surprising character materializing in both the private and business life, forebears the stars. Unforeseen profit as well as pleasure, with all affairs moving under unusually high pressure and constructively. However this must be carried to excess may result in some features here and there of jealousy. But generally there is stability, with increased possessions and finances, enhanced popularity in business as well as social prestige.

Those whose birthday it is may be assured of a year of much initiative and tension, with much enterprise and energy resulting in unexpected profits and productiveness. Increased real possessions as well as finances are to be the reward for aggressive and well-directed attack, though caution must be carried to excess as there are hints of jealousy and enmity. Be guided by the intuitions and aspirations as well as hopes and this warning, expanding and happy influence will pervade the social, romantic and domestic life also.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

By James W. Barton, M.D

The Treatment of Symptoms Resembling Heart Disease

An old physician, giving advice to a girl suffering from heart trouble, says: "Always give your patient some medicine for every symptom he complains of, or he will think you haven't found out what's the matter with his symptoms. The very fact that he has some medicine to relieve his symptoms may actually give relief from the symptoms."

"What about a patient who thinks he has heart disease, an examination shows no heart disease present should he be given medicine for his heart?"

"If he has no heart disease, do not give medicine for heart disease, but as the symptoms which made him think he had heart disease may be due to some stomach or intestinal disturbance or to nervousness, give him some medicine for these conditions."

As stated before, any simple statements made by a physician regarding the heart can cause a patient more than a stronger statement regarding any other organ in the body.

Dr. Emmett Field Horine, in Journal of the Indiana Medical Association emphasizes the importance of the proper handling of patients who think they have heart disease even when told, after a thorough examination, that no heart disease is present. The cause of the symptoms resembling symptoms of heart disease must be carefully examined. Generally, patients who changed from otherwise normal persons to low spirited, prone to fear and anxiety concerning heart disease, should not be given drugs because the taking of medicine would serve as a reminder of the illness". Also the apparent need for drugs suggests to the patient that perhaps the illness is more serious than the physician had told him

If he tells you to forget about your heart, you should do so.

Advice to the Lovelorn

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Misunderstood Daughters Respond To Humane Parental Treatment.

Mothers and fathers sometimes write me asking about their "incorrigible" daughters in institutions. Frequently one of these cases which was publicized a week or two ago, I discovered, that the daughter's "unmanageable" conduct was little worse than going to the movies or somewhere else without asking.

Occasionally the girl stopped for supper, not always with a boy, often with sister-in-law or her mother in the same place. One night the mother, who is of the possessive type and never realized that her daughter had grown up, followed her to the "hot shoppe", where not even drinks were served, made a scene, boxed the girl's ears and fairly dragged her out of the place. The daughter had always paid her board at home, giving her mother a two-thirds of her wages; but the next day she left home and could not be induced to return. The mother appealed to the law and tried to compel the girl to return, but as the daughter was of age the law was helpless to interfere. The girl is now living a very long way from the parental roof.

Unbelievable as it is, many girls — self-supporting and of legal age — write me for advice concerning unlike this one. As jailers, fathers are sometimes more humiliated and have been known to beat their daughters for the same offense as having a boy call at the house, or meeting him at a friend's house when conditions at home are too unpleasant. Such parents seem to feel that they have a friend-death hold over their daughters.

At the same time, some of this type of father is not using every possible indulgence. Boys drink, are unmannerly, immorally, and have never amounted to much. Yet they are the pampered darlings of the domestic circle. Mothers dote on them; fathers condone their faults; agree with them slavishly. These young men make things more difficult for their sisters by ogling parents on to stricter measures where girls are concerned.

Do such parents ever stop to think? Their daughters are human as well as their sons, and as susceptible to humane treatment. To refuse to let a girl have a young man call at her home means failure; she's an utterly spineless creature, that she will meet him somewhere else and take the most unfavorable circumstances. Parents should be delighted to have an opportunity of knowing their daughters' friends.

I've had dozens of mothers write me that their daughters would marry at all, seeing the trouble I've had with her father. I tell them that I'm not saying you'll not let a child learn how to swim because you're afraid she'll be drowned who was drowned.

This is the humiliation of a girl who, before a room full of people, was publicly punished and forcibly made to return home. Her parents thought they had her safely down deep she will always remain in their minds as a person who was publicly shamed.

BRIDE'S PROBLEM: DUPLICATE GIFTS

Many brides are returning from their wedding trips and are now taking stock of their wedding presents.

Perhaps fourteen dozens of afternoon coffee cups — three sets of tea-cups. Perhaps ten silver trays (six of them unnecessary) — and nary a vegetable dish. Perhaps eight sugar bowls, three pairs of silver serving-pieces that would be so conventional in the dining room of an apartment is furnished in the sleekest of modern furniture lines that have four over-stuffed lamps with fussy shades, and wonders what to do. A bride with a small apartment despairs as she contemplates the fine stocks that must be stored.

What's to be done? Nowadays most of us have attics and cellars; space is so priceless that we can't spare room to them to pack away articles that probably never will be used. The bride of taste, although deeply appreciating the sentiment of the relatives and friends who sent gifts, is embarrassed when she thinks of marring the perfect harmony of the decoration she has planned so lovingly by gifts that are considerably out of place.

Many readers are complaining to me that they are hurt when a bride even considers exchanging the present that they have sent.

This is perhaps an unfriendly and unwarranted point of view. Of course they sent the wedding gift with a sincere desire to please. But if it doesn't give them pleasure to the bride that they hoped it would give, the giver should be grateful, not annoyed, that there is a practical solution of having an unwanted article exchanged for a desired one. With this point of view, the giver's sincere desire to please is fulfilled, and the bride's happiness is not marred by the gift. No article chosen by the bride. No sentiment is intended, and it is unfriendly of the givers to interfere with this discovery of the sentiment.

With an understanding of the problem that many brides must face, many thoughtful people now ask the bride to send a note saying that the gift may be exchanged. This is a good idea, but if it happens to be a duplicate or if it doesn't fit in with the decorative plans. This makes it easy for the bride to write a note to the monogrammed gifts, if several of these have been received, and in these today's practical point of view, many thoughtful brides prefer to go to the aid of the perplexed bride and make arrangements for sending silver and linen gifts unmarked. With the gift sent in note saying that the gift may either be exchanged, in case it is a duplicate, or that the monograms have been made at So-and-So's store, the bride may select with the style of marking to the bride's own taste.

This friendly and practical point of view removes the sting and, in reality, takes nothing away from the sentiment.

However, there is one thing that a bride must not do: she must not exchange presents given her by her own family or the bridegroom's family without first having volunteered given her permission to do so.

Dr. Dafoe's Column on the Quintuplets and the Care of Your Children

Tips on Finding Good Summer Camps for Your Children

June is a good time for you or your child to have a complete physical checkup, particularly if there are plans in the family for a vacation tour, a summer camp for the children or other unusual activities. Even when there are no particular changes in our mode of life, summer makes extra demands upon us physically, and besides that parents tend to overdo things during the warm months. Your doctor may have some valuable advice for you after he has had an opportunity to examine you or your child.

Health considerations are of first importance in choice of a summer camp for the child. Particularly if the child is away from home for his first weeks away from home he may be apt to get homesick and therefore easily upset. He may think he is all alone and for his parents. Usually all that's wrong, of course, is that he misses being babied. If the camp lets him sleep at the camp, as they should, he will find others who are going through the same throes, and his feelings and theirs will draw them into companionship and friendments and they will get over their loneliness. If parents have had the child examined by the family doctor before sending him to camp, they won't need to worry over this first vacation he has away from home for the first time.

Regardless of the type of camp parents choose for the child, they should choose one with the supervision that it has these basic requirements for the maintenance of good health:

1. A well-drained site where mosquitoes and flies are not a major problem. It shouldn't be in woods so dense that it doesn't get plenty of sunlight in the daytime, and it should be cool at night.

2. An adequate supply of safe drinking water. Facilities other than a beach for baths, with hot water available, as hot water is essential to keep children clean.

3. Adequate toilets, none of which are open-air privies and proper facilities for disposal of kitchen waste. The toilets should provide some measure of privacy to the child.

4. Heating facilities, when camp are located where the temperature dips low at times, and a warm, covered building where children can congregate on rainy days.

5. Weather-proof, properly ventilated and screened sleeping quarters. Beds should be at least six feet apart. If tents are used, they should be on raised wooden platforms.

6. Proper medical care, that is, a graduate physician in residence or in easy reach, and a full time registered nurse in attendance.

7. Perhaps most important of all, good and sufficient food. All milk should be pasteurized, and there should be plenty of it, fresh green vegetables and fruit. All food handlers should be known to be free from communicable disease. Kitchen facilities should include refrigerators and sterilizers for eating utensils.

There are so many good summer camps for children, at reasonable prices that there is no excuse for any parents to take a chance; and it is recommended that they visit a camp before deciding to send their children to it.

TAXIMAN ADMITS PICKING UP TWO AIRMEN AT HOUSE

Says One of the Airmen Had Hand Cut on Thumb Knuckle

HAD MUDDY BOOTS

Ottawa, June 25.—(CP)—Provincial Police Constable Ernest Sherriere of Rockland Ont., about 60 miles east of Ottawa, last night told a coroner's jury that he had been informed one of two airmen sought in connection with the death of Charles G. Walton called his companion "Sigga".

Mr. Walton, 33-year-old Ottawa business man, disappeared May 5 and his body was recovered from the Ottawa River two weeks later. On the morning of his disappearance his automobile was discovered in a ditch near Rockland following the inquest so far has brought out that two airmen were picked up here and that they had informed one of two airmen sought in connection with the death of Charles G. Walton called his companion "Sigga".

Rodolphe St. Jean, former Ottawa taxi driver who is on remand on a charge of concealing information in connection with the Walton case, was the main witness.

Picked up at Home

He said that on May 5 he picked up two Air Force men in his car at a boarding house. One of them was cut on the thumb knuckle. The men wanted to be driven to a room in a private home, where they could rest and have their uniforms pressed in the meantime. St. Jean said he drove them to his own home and when he returned that evening she/men, who had appeared tired and worn muddy boots, had left.

St. Jean admitted in reply to questioning, that he had made the correct statement to Constable Soublière but said he did not know at the time that he was talking to a police officer. As soon as he learned Soublière's identity he got the correct version.

Mr. Lamoureux, also charged with withholding information, said he was upstairs with his sick wife when the two airmen came to the Cumberland Street House, where he was living. Questioned as to why he told police he never saw any airmen when his wife was ill, he was nervous and did not understand the officer.

social time both enjoyed.

Mr. Smith then gave a very instructive talk on the work which is done both here and overseas by the Salvation Army canteens, are in operation and 50,000 women are assisting in war work. In conclusion he said, "There will be a great work for all to do in re-establishing a new world when the war is over, like the rebuilding of the great wall of Nehemiah in Jerusalem," and stressed "Faith in God."

Mrs. Harry Grills moved a vote of thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Smith. All responded by hearty clapp of hands.

The business then proceeded, with Mrs. Mitchell in the chair and Mrs. Haight at the piano. The Ode was sung followed by all repeating Lord's prayer in unison.

Mrs. Greatrix read a letter from overseas regarding garden seeds sent expressing appreciation of same, also a letter from a lady overseas telling some of the incidents of bombing and etc. A quilt made and quilted by Mrs. Mitchell and Lois was presented to Mr. and Mrs. Smith for Salvation Army war work. A very interesting event was the drawing of the ticket for the quilt, donated to Aid by Mrs. W. Gray, $4.30 worth of tickets were sold. A prize was given for the one selling the most tickets, Mrs. Gray being first with 212 and Mr. Gray selling 100. Mrs. Smith drew the ticket from the hat of Mr. M. Cockins, Roslin, was the lucky one. Mrs. J. Donaldson, convener of the Red Cross sewing, gave out some articles to be made. Mrs. H. Grills, convener for Reid Shield, spoke of work she handed in. A quilt which she has been quilted was taken home by Mrs. J. Craig to finish and to be given Red Shield on completion. Surprise Party Held At Tweed for Mr. and Mrs. E. Rath

Tweed—A surprise party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Rath on Thursday evening prior to their departure for Sulphide where they will in future reside, and where Mr. Rath is employed with the Nichols Chemical Co. The affair was held primarily in honor of Mr. Ed Rath by some of the members of the County group of the Women's Association of the United Church of which she has been the popular leader.

During the past winter several members of the group staged a successful play "At Hopper's Corners". It was the members of the cast who gathered at Mrs. Rath's home on this occasion. She was quite taken by surprise as her friends presented her with a kitchen towel shower. Lunch was served following a delightful evening. Mr. and Mrs. Rath invited their friends to visit them in their new home.

Mr. A. J. Maynes has disposed of his grocery and meat business to Mr. Curry, manager of Quinn and Quinn store at Stirling. Mr. Curry will take possession on July 1st. Mr. Maynes will continue to reside in Tweed and will operate his stores in Madoc, and Marmora as at present.

SEARCH PARTY SEEKS BOY

St. Hilaire, Que., June 24—(CP)—Sixty men, led by Provincial Police officials, combed the slopes of Sugar Loaf Crest today in search of eight-year-old Paul Courtaville, believed lying injured in one of the ravines of the mountain.

The boy plunged from a rocky ledge into a ravine while herry-picking with two young Canadians late yesterday. His brother and another three-year-old boy became frightened when "Paul stayed awhile still", climbed the slope and hurried home to tell their parents, but were unable to lead search parties back to the spot where Paul had fallen.

Soft Spot in Schedule Gives Fast-Moving Yankees Chance To Take Loop Lead by July 1

New Yorkers Tackle the Senators and A's, While Indians Battle Boston and White Sox

CARDS STILL ON TOP

(Associated Press Sports Writer)

New York, June 27—Not only are sizzling, they also have reached a soft spot in the schedule that may enable them to slip into first place in the American Baseball League on or before the fourth of July, when pennant winners are supposed to become apparent.

Right now the Yanks are facing the last-place St. Louis Browns for two more games and after they finish this series will move into four contests with the almost equally-feeble Philadelphia Athletics and Washington Senators.

In the same period "the league-leading Cleveland Indians must tackle the robust Boston Red Sox twice add the cheery Chicago White Sox three times.

Implications of this schedule came to the fore yesterday as the Yankees slaughtered the Browns 9-1 while the Indians were being massacred 13-2 at Boston, reducing the margin between the two top clubs to a single game.

Yanks Look Powerful

The Yanks looked powerful with a booming 10-hit attack that included home runs by Babe Ruth, Joe Gordon and Tom Henrich, and with Lefty Vernon Gomez pitching five-hit ball for a shutout until the ninth.

The homers, each with one on, extended the Yankee record string of circuit clouts to 18 straight games and Joe Dimaggio staged to stretch his personal hitting streak to 36 consecutive games, five short of George Sisler's record.

In contrast, Cleveland made only two runs off its foes as Archie Weber forsook a mound effectively in the pinches for his fourth victory in a row. His slugging teammates collected three Indian pitchers for 18 hits including home runs by Hal Trosky, Bob Doerr and Joen Dimaggio.

Washington Senators moved out of the cellar with a 6-3 triumph over the White Sox on the effective, eight-hit hurling of Dutch Leonard.

Tigers Nudge Ost A's

Detroit Tigers moved out the Athletics 2-1 in a night game at Philadelphia when they made a ninth inning run on two singles and a fly. John Gorsica pitched nine-hit ball and batted in Detroit's first run in the third.

In the National League St. Louis Cardinals and Brooklyn Dodgers continued virtually neck and neck. The Cards crushed Boston Braves 12-1 in the afternoon with a six-hit offensive and a four-hit pitching performance by Lon Warneke.

The Dodgers took a 5-0 victory over the Pirates in a night skirmish at Pittsburgh to keep within a half-game of the leaders. Curt Davis held the Pittsburgh batters to five hits for his second victory of the season.

New York Giants whipped Chicago Cubs 3-1 and also cost the Bruins the services of outfielder Hank Leiber, who was benched for the second time in the series. Ons Carl Hubbell pitches struck him on the head and sent him to hospital for a brief doctor said would be several days, at least. In 1937 while with the Giants he was hit by Bob Feller in a spring exhibition with Cleveland and missed half the season.

Cincinnati Reds downed the Phillies 5-1 with Johnny Vander Meer ning five-hit ball and knocking in two runs with a double.

Letter To The Editor

BASEBALL

The Sports Editor,
Intelligencer:
Dear Sir,—

On Friday evening last I witnessed, for the first time, the competition of our young lady ball teams and every since I saw them for the first time my amusement has been increasing and I have finally reached the stage where I really feel that the female of the species is more deadly than the male, really means, as then I realized fully that the baseball players of both sex are all else, are ahead of the male of the species.

I pictured our young men in the game as more or less effeminate, laughing and carrying on, fishing for compliments from the audience, playing to the gallery to speak in contrast with the dignified and quiet determination of the young lady players of the game doing their very best, without even a smile or their rapt mind no thought or consideration for the audience; their mind and heart and soul and energies centred wholly on the game which they were playing to perfection.

Yes, indeed—the female of the species is more deadly than the male—and I wish to tell our young men that if there is a spark of real manhood in their make-up they will treat all our young women, whom no other country can equal, with the profound respect and admiration.

These ball games teach us what constitutes real womanhood and our Canadian girls can demonstrate it to perfection.

Yours truly,
D. H. ACKERILL, V.S.
206 John St., Belleville.

NICE PIVOT, LOU

As Washington's right fielder, Buddy Lewis slid under him into second base, Lou Boudreau, Cleveland shortstop, leaped into the air and whipped a throw to first to complete a twin killing as Washington defeated the Indians 1-0.

BUFFALO BISONS 2 GAMES BEHIND NEWARK BEARS

Bisons Win 2-1 Decision From Rochester While Royals Drop Game to Leafs

3-HITTER TOSSED

(By The Associated Press)

Buffalo Bisons are back in the runner-up spot in the International League today as the Bisons split two games behind the leading Newark Bears.

After spending 24 hours in third place, the Bisons regained second last night with a 2-1 victory over Rochester Red Wings, displacing Montreal Royals who dropped a 5-1 decision to Toronto. The Bears held their ground at the top by turning back Jersey City Giants 2-1.

Hal Haid, Buffalo Bisons back on their stride again, yielding seven hits and scoring the winning run himself in the 10th inning.

Newark collected two in the second inning on a walk, and singles by Gerry Sherlin, George Scharein and Leo Mountain. Ted Beard and Feidman, young Jersey hurler, for his only victory in the three-game series.

Porter Vaughan snapped an eight-game losing streak of Toronto Leafs, trimming Montreal with three hits. He struck out 10 and walked only one. Scepter his fifth triumph of the year. The Leafs shutout four Royal hurlers for 11 hits, starting with Meal Brown who was charged with the loss.

Baltimore Orioles made it two straight over Syracuse Chiefs, 4-2.

STEADY HURLING DEFEATS ZELLERS IN GIRLS' LOOP

'Fanny' Stead Leads the Stewart Warner Girls to Victory by 17-4 Count

MANY HOMERS HIT

Coupling strong hitting and good pitching, Stewart Warner Girls defeat in any ball game when fundamentals count, on the same club. Ken Watt's SWACO gals handed Chuck Bannister's Big-Z ladies their first defeat in the City Girls' Softball League at the Armouries last evening when the "east-enders" won a decisive 17 to 4 victory over the latter champions.

The SWACO lassies started out early to count one run and scored five in the initial frame, from whence they were never headed, as "Fanny" Stead, the former London hurler and star of the SWACO nine, saved her own game with some fine pitching. Only in the fourth when the Zeller lassies filled the base with none out, but could only two runs, as Stead was steady.

Four Homers

Norma Cornsel, veteran outfielder for the SWACO nine, got a run in the initial frame, when the winners scored five runs and connected for four circuit clouts. Leftknock in the second. Twila Langman hit for the circuit in the fourth and Peg Rowbotham added another circuit blow in the fifth. ners' cause in the seventh, as the others were collected 11 hits and drove Bessie Doolittle, the Big-Z starting pitcher, from the mound in favor of Smith. Douglas, the Zeller pitching centre fielder and Helen Carrow paced the losers with two hits each.

Teams Now Tied

It was the league champion Zellers's first reverse of the season while in winning the SWACOS moved into a tie for first place along with the Big-Z, each having three wins and a loss to their credit.

During the game the public was invited to see the demonstration of a military exhibition to be presented on Dominion Day afternoon evening by a unit of the Army Service Corps of the C.A.S.F.

New York, June 25—(AP)— A barber shop in Hollis, L.I., — for a free shave and haircut to any citizen who will lend ear and eye listening to the broadcast of the Dodgers' game when Leo Durocher hit a homer. . . . Wisconsin's summer don't mind "Deacon" of the "Cheese Champs." They took a lot of first-pound samples of Wisconsin cheese to Chicago's cookery for the United States intercollegiate track and handed them out in the other boathouses.

Consumer's research:

Paul Maher of Darlington, Tex., repeals his prediction that the Indians can't become be regular until they have to depend on Bobby Feller for 40 per cent of their victories, which would mean at least 28 wins for Master Robert this season.

Bill Prayne, of the Winnipeg Tribune, writes in with the latest lunch tale of Don Godfreson, who pitched for Winnipeg Maroons. Godfreson tossed a 15-inning scoreless tie against Fargo on June 16, 1940, and a year later to the minute the curfew rule pitched him after 13 innings against Eau Claire with the score tied at 3-3.

GOSSIP OF THE DIAMOND

A newly-promoted colonel gave a dinner to his regiment. Addressing the men, he said jovially: "Now fall upon the food without mercy. Treat it as if it were the enemy."

At the end of the dinner he noticed a sergeant sneaking away with two bottles of wine.

"What are you doing?" he asked.

"Obeying orders, sir," was the reply. "When you don't kill the enemy you take them prisoners!"

Get out your uniforms boys, or elsewise.

Yesterday a press dispatch from Ottawa told of Bill Boucher, former with the Montreal Canadiens in the National Hockey League, being fined $5.00 and costs in police court for failing to attend parades as a member of the Princess Louise Dragoon Guards Reserve Army Regiment.

Although Ken Watt's SWACO girls were blitzing with a vengeance last night, four roundtrippers and a double being collected by the "east-enders", it was "Fanny" Stead's steady mound effort that kept the 1940 Big Z hits silenced, as Skipper Watt had his charges believing if they can stop Helen Garrow's big bat from booming, they can beat the Bacon-tied crowd, Mike Stead came in the occasion when the league champions threatened in the eighth and pitched himself out of a difficult hole, after allowing three consecutive singles and filling the bases with none out. Relieved even, had the former London slab artist left three stranded and halted the rally in splendid control effort. Norma Cornsel, Peg Rowbotham and Twila Langman all hit home runs. Norma getting two as the "east-enders" pulled away with the honors in winning. Incidentally Chuck Bannister's Big Z girls are playing a mean team in Kingston this evening, switching batteries. The proceeds are for the charity.

Do you remember when former world heavyweight boxing champion Jack Sharkey started his comeback campaign five years ago with a 10-round decision over Phil Brubaker at Boston? His comeback campaign five years ago later when he was knocked out by Joe Louis at New York in three rounds, however.

Allegiance is somewhat split at Wrigley Field when the Cubs clash out their "Chicago battery" against the Cubs. The receiving end, rosy-cheeked Gabby Hartnett, though a Rhode Islander by birth, has been a Windy City resident since he first joined the Bruins in 1922. The pitcher, bespectacled Bob Logan, is a Chi native and owns a seat in the Chicago Stock Exchange which he uses all winter as a thriving junior partner.

All entries are in for the sixth annual Kinsmen Club Soap Box Derby, according to General Chairman Jim Fraser today. For the past six years the Ontario-Intelligencer has sponsored these non-sniper "Kid Kar" races down North Front Street hill under the auspices of the Kinsmen's Club of Belleville. This year the Kinsmen are holding a street carnival directly following their Soap Box Derby next Monday, the proceeds of which are to be divided between the club's Eye Clinic for under-privileged children and their war service obligations. Of course the main object of the youthful entries in the Soap Box Derby is to win the local race, which is recognized as the Canadian championship and gives the local winner the right to compete in the All-American and International races at Akron, Ohio, in August. Last year the race was won by Donald McGowan, of Stirling, a surprise winner if there ever was one. Of course it's the unexpected that happens on the attract crowds of 5,000 and upwards, but this year its purpose is somewhat more serious indeed.

Carl Hubbell, one of the National League's all-time greats of the pitching mound, thinks that hard work on the farm with his hands in the hood was a big help in developing his pitching muscles.

It was always crazy about playing ball as a kid," remembers Carl. "I never thought I would be a big leaguer, I just liked to play.

"There are lots of things a boy does on a farm that probably help him to develop himself as a ball player, milking cows, riding cows, working in the fields—plowing, cultivating and things of that sort. They strengthen his arms and legs and wrists. The healthy outdoor life also gives a boy stamina that's of great value in his later career."

Two of the world's outstanding baseball players of another era will clash all golf over the Commonwealth Country Club near Boston today when Babe Ruth and Ty Cobb, two of the best major league ball players of their time, will play before a gallery with all proceeds going to British War Victims fund charities. Cobb paid his own fare from his home in California to play Ruth two years ago for the fund, one over Commonwealth course and the other 18 holes at New York later this week. Both are left-handers, as they were cleaning baseballs a decade ago or more. Perhaps Ruth and Cobb aren't quite as handy on Craig Wadsworth, but these two reckless diamond warriors will command a greater gallery than any pair of golfers in the country. Yesterday Cobb clicked for a 78 in a practice round and reported to be deadly on the greens. Ruth depends on his drives for distance, while Cobb plays his irons with deadly dexterity in which he ran rings in days gone by.

SPORT SPICE—The Red Sox walloped the Indians 13 to 2 yesterday and the Yankees beat the Browns 9 to 1, so today we find the Yankees just one game behind the Indians..... Joe Di Maggio hit safely in 36th consecutive game squeezing out a single in the eighth inning..... Bolly, Rowbotham, Gordon his homers to mark the Big Z's 11 hits off Stead in the Bronx Bombers have counted round-trippers and now they've set a new record for this consecutive home run business, shadowing the "Sultan of Swat" and Lou Gehrig..... At 38 Clint Brown, Indian relief pitcher just learned how to throw a slider; proving—it's never too late to learn..... The Zeller lassies are playing "Bingo" baseball "B-A" men's senior softball team at Kingston tonight. Jordan originally came from Trenton..... The Cardinals and Dodgers are staging a staggering battle for the National League honors..... It's the upkeep that hurts.

SAMMY ANGOTT EASILY DEFEATS MONTREAL BOY

Lightweight Champion Carried Too Much Experience for Harry Hurst

CRAFTY IN-FIGHTER

Toronto, June 25 (CP)—Harry Hurst, determined Montreal featherweight contender, lost his first professional fight last night but it was a fine one for the beaten boy to lose him.

The husky Montrealer lost a 10-round decision in a non- title bout with Sammy Angott, recognized by the National Boxing Association as world's lightweight champion, but he took good in losing and his stock rose immensely by his showing.

The Canadian was undefeated in all his 21 professional fights until last night but Angott's experience and fine guard proved too much for him. Hurst stood up well considering it is his fourth as a pro less than two years. Only recently Hurst drew with Dave Castillion, the Canadian lightweight titleholder.

The two judges voted in Angott's favor and referee Tommy Bland, a Sergeant in the Royal Canadian Air Force and well-known Canadian boxer, declared the match a draw.

Angott weighed in at 127 pounds; Hurst, 127 1-2.

During the opening rounds of the bout, neither boy showed outstanding lead in points and it was not until the later stages that Hurst began to show his own and force the fight.

In the Semi-Final In-Fighter

The crafty Angott showed expert in-fighting ability but he was decided edge in the close quarter exchanges.

Both fighters were cautious and most of the action was in the infighting. Neither boy was marked up at the end of the bout, witnessed by slightly more than 2,000 fans. There were no knockdowns.

Hurst tried unsuccessfully out of the ring in the seventh during a shorting clinch but both retained uninjured immediately.

In the semi-final bout, Eddie Pertin, Canadian bantamweight titleholder, retained his championship with an unanimous 10-round decision over Nela Broadhead of Plainfield and Guelph, Ont.

Pertin, fighting most of the time from a crouch, scored the only knockdown of the fight, sending the challenger to the canvas for a nine count in the third round and again in the 10th.

Melvyn Douglas shares stellar honors with lovely Merle Oberon in Emeric Pressburger's "The Uncertain Feeling," light-hearted comedy romance, coming to the Belle, with "The Penalty," as the added thrill hit.

IN BRITAIN WITH H IS DOG AND "CAT"

"Babe" Thompson, of North Bay, is shown driving his caterpillar tractor on construction of a new road in England while his dog "Butch" perches beside him. These Canadian soldier-roadmakers are doing a remarkable job in carving out new roads in Britain and repairing old roads blasted in air raids.

SOVIET-GERMAN WAR FRONT AT A GLANCE

This map shows the huge Nazi-Russian war front, 1,700 miles from the Baltic to the Black Sea. The arrow pointing to No. 1 is aimed at the Ukraine, past Bessarabia and on past Odessa, leading Black Sea port. No. 2 shows the former Baltic states of Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania, now part of the U.S.S.R. No. 3 shows the Karelian Isthmus, which is another point of attack.

Soviet Denies Cernauti Taken

Ankara, Turkey, June 24 (Delayed)—(AP)—Soviet sources here claimed today that German and Rumanian troops have occupied Cernauti and Chisinau, capitals respectively of the provinces of Bucovina and Bessarabia which Soviet Russia obtained from Rumania a year ago.

(Today's Soviet communique denied Cernauti had been captured. It did not mention Chisinau.)

The Ankara sources claimed the forces which took Chisinau were within 10 miles of the Dniester River, boundary line between Bessarabia and the Russian Ukraine, and expressed belief they were attempting to break through in the direction of the Soviet Black Sea port of Odessa, which is about 10 miles north of the mouth of the Dniester.

Rumanian circles in Istanbul claimed combined German-Rumanian forces are meeting "almost no opposition" in Bessarabia, and should "complete occupation of the whole province within a week."

(This claim contrasts with yesterday's claim, credited to "foreign military attaches" in Berlin, That the Germans had thrust 120 miles into the Ukraine itself.)

There was no confirmation of rumors Monday of an air-naval battle off the Rumanian coast in which German planes and small torpedo boats against Soviet warships.

German-Russian hostilities, however, have brought maritime commerce in Istanbul to an absolute standstill.

Kingston Service Station Robbed

Kingston, Ont., June 25 (CP)—Three youths, two of whom carried revolvers, robbed a service station attendant here of $78 in cash early this morning. The attendant, Charles Horning, said the trio drove into the station at the corner of Princess and Division Streets at three o'clock. One youth remained in the car while the gas tank was being filled and the other two played a game of ball machine in the station.

When Horning walked in the office after filling the tank, the youths whipped revolvers out of their pockets and demanded the money in the cash register.

Police have found no trace of the bandits.

Honeymoon Gold

by PEGGY DERN

CHAPTER TWENTY-FIVE

"Thanks for not doing it, anyway," said Donald, and grinned cheerfully.

The others were thankful to make their escape from the spot that seemed strangely charged with evil, because of that still body with that beautifully precise small hole between its eyes.

Back on the beach the women were waiting in a little uneasy huddle, and one look at the faces of the men who came toward them answered their queries. Mrs. Edmonds gave a little shriek and wavered toward the major, her hands outstretched in a dramatic plea for reassurance.

The major, for once, did not leap gallantly to her aid. Instead, he said sternly, "Pull yourself together, Gladys. This is not the time for hysterics, my dear."

Mrs. Edmonds looked startled, but she made no more hysterical threats.

"What is it, darling?" asked Natalie swiftly of Brooks;

"The man is dead," said Brooks, quickly. "It's obviously murder — and of course, Forman's calling the police."

Natalie Drew a hard breath when Brooks said it was murder.

"The police, of course," she said quietly. Her hand slid into Brooks', which closed hard over it, and she gave him a little smile.

"Sorry [illegible] can't CALL the police," Tom said, "but of course you all know that there are no telephone connection on the island. I'll have to take the speedboat to the mainland. Or, if you prefer, we'll draw lots to see who goes—"

"Not at all, old fellow," said the major. "You are in charge here. Naturally, you are the one to report this most regrettable occurrence."

Tom nodded and turned toward the small boathouse at the end of the pier. "I'll make it as fast as I can," he called over his shoulder, and went running down the pier.

The others watched him as he bent to the door of the boathouse. He shoved open the door and then stood still for a moment, staring into the depths of the boathouse before he turned and motioned to them.

"Now what—" said Brooks under his breath as they ran down the pier to where Tom was standing.

"The boat's gone," said Tom. "There was a power, startled expression on his face. "The lock has been forced—"

"Then that means we have no way of getting to the mainland—of communicating with the police?" said the major.

"That's right," said Tom.

"But surely we could rig up a signal," said Brooks sharply.

"Such as, for instance?" suggested Tom.

"Well—a white flag — upside down, perhaps. Isn't that usually the recognized signal for distress?" demanded Brooks.

"Unfortunately, it'll be dark in another half hour—much too dark for such a signal to be seen," Tom pointed out. "And we are outside the usual steamer lanes—that is, the island is isolated to an amazing degree. It's not likely, even if it was daylight, that anyone would notice a white flag of distress—"

"Then a bonfire on the beach. They always do that in the movies, I remember," Donald said Natalie, trying hard to sound gay and cheerful.

"If anyone saw a bonfire on the beach here, they'd think the honeymooners were having a wiener roast. You'll find half a dozen bonfires all up and down the mainland beach any night, for that purpose," said Tom.

"Then — what you're trying to say is that there is nothing for us to do but just sit here," said Brooks.

"I'm afraid I can't see anything else that we can do."

"Of course, the obvious fact is that someone has a reason for wanting to keep us here. Is that the way you look at it, Forman?" suggested the major.

Tom shot him a swift, silencing glance that was lost in the rapidly gathering gloom. "Why no, Major, I don't think so. I think merely that we have been victims of a clever thief who needed a boat and supplies."

"Supplies? Then you've missed supplies, too?" Lucy cut in interspectingly.

Tom turned to her, startled. "Too?" he repeated, frowning a little.

"When we got home last night from your place, our ice box had been looted of practically everything; only the canned stuff in the pantry, locked up inside the house, was left," answered Lucy.

Tom's heart sank.

"That man last night at the window—and now the dead man—and the theft of the boat and supplies" mused the major, obviously thinking aloud. "It all adds up—perhaps a couple of fugitives from the law—an argument, a fight, one of them dead, the other making his escape by means of the boat. That is all adds up."

Through the growing dusk he and Tom exchanged significant glances and Tom took his cue from the older man.

"I'm afraid you're right, Major," he said then. "Well, we've nothing to gain by standing here in the dark. We must let Heath know what's happened, and then—I don't suppose there's anything to do but to make ourselves as comfortable as we can for the night. In the morning we'll have to rig up some sort of message to the mainland."

"Quite," said the major crisply. "And I don't want to alarm you ladies, but I'd feel much more comfortable about you if you were all inside the Hacienda. This darkness isn't exactly the safest place, I'd say—"

They all turned toward the Hacienda, stumbling a little in the darkness. As they reached the low green gate that opened into the patio, Tom said, "I'll go and tell Heath what's happened, Major, will you look after things here?"

"I will, with pleasure," said Brooks in a tone that would accept no denial, "if you don't mind, I think it would be as well if we went about two by two, or more, until morning."

"That's a very good idea," said the major. "And with your permission, Forman, I'm going to ask Mrs. Forman and the young Mackays to come over to the Hacienda. I think we'd all be more comfortable if we were together tonight.

Tom nodded his agreement. He and Brooks set off, armed with a flashlight, to bring Donald Heath back with them. As they walked, Brooks said curiously, "What do you make of all this, Forman? Not simple robbery and murder, eh? Something more evil behind it all?"

"I don't know. What do you think?"

Brooks hesitated. "Well, I went for a walk this morning rather early— and alone, I walked down the beach in the other direction— you know how the beach juts out there, and there are some twisted pines that grow with their roots in the water at high tide? Well, I noticed halfway up the trunks of those trees a thick, gummy black substance—and I made sure that it was oil."

Tom stared at him, puzzled.

"And what would that mean?" he asked, because he didn't want to accept the explanation that instantly occurred to him.

"The only explanation I can offer is that there has been a disaster at sea, not too far off this coast. An oil tanker has gone down, or else a ship that burns Diesel oil," said Brooks.

"And you think it's possible that these two men — obviously, there were two of them, because one is dead, yet our boat and our supplies are gone—were survivors from this wrecked ship?" asked Tom.

Brooks hesitated. "Well —that's one explanation, of course— plausible, too, except that if the men were really survivors from the ship, would have a perfect right to come to us and ask for food and to be put ashore on the mainland. They wouldn't steal the things they needed—"

Donald had joined them now, admitting frankly his relief at the end of his lonely vigil beside the dead man. The three stood together on the beach in sight of the Hacienda, aglow now with lights completely bewildered.

CHAPTER TWENTY-SIX

Tom and Brooks told Donald what had happened since they had left him here. Donald was as bewildered as they were.

Brooks made a little sound deep in his throat and said, ashamed that he had waited so long to speak. "Hang it, fellows, there's something I've got to tell you. I should be kicked for waiting this long to spill it —only—well, I haven't been able to figure out, you are really not Johnny and Coralie Simpson—but Brooks Marchbank and the former Natalie Schuyler?" asked Donald quietly.

Brooks stared at him through the warm, tropical darkness.

"Oh—then you know?"

"Since last night," said Donald. "You see, a newspaper man has a memory pretty well trained. I've seen your wife before, of course. Neutrally, covering your wedding was a little out of my line—but I knew the moment I set eyes on you two, that I'd seen her before, last night at dinner, I remembered."

Brooks nodded. "I suppose the whole thing was pretty screwy," he agreed, frankly embarrassed. "My wife got the idea when we were en route to Miami to sail aboard her yacht for a Caribbean cruise that is supposed to mean for honolulu eventually. We ran into an accident in Virginia. A couple of kids who were on their way to the island—the real Johnny and Coralie, of course. My wife got interested in them — and the whole upshot of the whole thing was that we treated honeymoons. And here we are. Now I'm wondering if there could possibly be any connection between the crazy things that are happening here—and the fact that the former Natalie Schuyler is here, and that there are no armed bodyguards to protect her."

Donald and Tom said in a sort of Greek chorus effect, "Protect her? Protect her from what?"

"Kidnapers," Brooks replied harshly.

"Good Lord!" said Tom, to whom the thought had not, of course, occurred.

"My sainted aunt!" said Donald half under his breath. His eyes gleaming a little with the newspaper man's sharp interest in something that begins to smell like a story.

"You see," Brooks went on after a moment, "my wife told me a day or two after our wedding that she had established a trust fund for me of one million dollars."

The other two men very carefully did not look at him and Brooks went on set hard.

"I don't know whether the fact is generally known," he went on grimly. "But if it is, any kidnaper would know that I'd hand over the last dime of it before I'd let one small hair of her head be damaged. So—I'm wondering if this whole set-up is due to our presence here."

Tom said savagely, "It was a pretty cheap trick, it seems to me to-morrow morning in on what was obviously meant — as a plan to help people who couldn't afford anything special in the way of honeymoons. And if it's any satisfaction to you, you've probably brought all the women in this party into some proof grave danger."

"Go ahead," Brooks told him grimly. "You can't possibly think of anything satisfactory enough to say to make me feel worse than I do. But of course, I hope I needn't point out to you that neither Natalie nor I ever for a moment stopped to think of any such possibility as this when we horned in."

"The principle of the poor little rich girl aching for the underdog-love of the world all around the corner," said Donald, and grinned wryly. "Well, I'm not going to do any good for us to stand here bearing tucks at each other. The enormously wealthy Mr. and Mrs. Marchbanks are among us, and I have lots to say about the fact. And undoubtedly by morning the others are having confidential fists about us. They'll be sure some dire fate has befallen us."

ONE-CENT DECLINE IN TOP-GRADE EGGS

Toronto — Spot prices on top-quality eggs registered a further decline of 1 cent a dozen in trading on the Toronto open produce market yesterday. Other prices are unchanged slightly on a firm market.

The egg market assumed a quieter tone reflecting overtime trading. Night receipts proved sufficient to meet fair demand. Top-grade eggs showed decline of 1 cent a dozen. With egg prices above recent levels, large eggs are at present, dealers are not storing their supplies to any extent and hence receipts on the local market are becoming slightly heavier. Buying on a cash basis is the previous attitude looking for a further downward correction is evident following are the egg quotations established by dealers yesterday: grade A-large 26 cents a dozen, grade A-medium 25 cents, grade A-pullets 21 cents, grade B 22 cents and grade C 19 cents a dozen.

First grade butter was reported to have sold at 31 1-2 cents a pound in the country yesterday but that price later advanced to 31 3-4 cents. Supplies are found difficult to get rid of a few of the smaller dairies have jobs at this price.

600 RECRUITS JOINING DAILY

Present Rate is Equivalent of Complete Infantry Battalion Every Two Days

Ottawa, June 25 (CP)—Recruits now enter the Canadian Active Army at the rate of 600 a day or the equivalent of a complete infantry battalion every two days, the central recruiting committee at National Defence Headquarters said today.

In all military districts recruiting figures show a steady increase. The present rate of enlistment represents an increase of 200 per cent over the rate for the first two weeks of the present recruiting campaign which started May 13th and which seeks 21,000 men. Officials express confidence the increase will be maintained.

Necessarily many volunteers must be turned down because of the army's rigid medical standards.

Russian Defenders Die at Their Guns Says Nazi Reporter

Berlin, June 25 (AP)—Dispatches from German soldier-reporters on the Russian front stated today that in some places the Russian defenders are crying at their machine guns, neither setting quarter nor thinking of retreat.

One reporter, Joachim Fischer, found the Knights and Kalmuk soldiers especially fanatical fighters.

In the undisclosed region from which Fischer reported the attacking German infantry found the Russian positions courageously defended.

"The first encounters were terrific beyond description," he wrote. "The Asiatics fought until they collapsed over their guns."

He described it as "cross-country warfare" marked by German infantry and mechanized charges across dry fields. "It is useless to look for roads," he said, "for those which are to be found are simply small ribbons of dust."

In some places there was a fight for every group of farm buildings or patch of woods.

'Gas', Diesel Oil Are Produced From 'Tar Sands'

Edmonton, June 25—(CP)—Max W. Ball, president of Asasand Oils, Limited, in a prepared statement today said gasoline, Diesel fuel and other refined products already are being produced commercially from the "tar sands" of the McMurray area, 240 miles north of Edmonton.

First delivery of refined products was a consignment of Diesel fuel May 15 to Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company, the statement said. The plant near McMurray has been in operation since May 1.

Ball said that output from the first stills has reached the product from the huge oil-bearing sands of the area was at the rate of 400 a day at the outset but it has already climbed to more than 200 and for short periods production climbed to more than 400 barrels a day.

In addition to Diesel fuel, the plant is making motor gasoline, light fuel oil, benzol, coal tar, coke, the statement added. Production of road oil and asphalt was expected to start in the near future.

Would Take Year to Get Oil if Nazis Won Quick Victory Over the Russians

London, June 25—(CP) — German-probably will not be able to benefit from this year's harvest, the many's attempt to obtain Russian oil and wheat would not be productive for a year even if she won a quick victory, a Russian authority on Soviet economics declared today.

He expressed belief that the primary purpose of the German invasion may not be economic, but military and political, and pointed out that the eastern war had closed the Vladivostok "lend-lease" route through which British authorities say Germany has been "importing fats and oils at the rate of 400,000 tons a year" for months.

Likewise, the moment they launched the invasion, the Germans were cut off from purely Russian supplies. Even though they may be able to occupy the Ukraine and the Caucasus they would be able to draw little from them for months.

Destruction of farming equipment could also destroy or carry away their existing stocks of wheat and make the existing equipment useless, he pointed out. The Germans did not have enough equipment of their own to restore the Caucasian oil fields in a year if the Russians destroyed the machinery there, he thought.

Discussing possibilities of farming the Ukraine, the expert estimated the Nazis would have to import between 100,000 and 250,000 tons of agricultural machinery. In addition they would have to bring in a full complement of machinery since collectivized agriculture depends on mechanization.

United States Considering Loan To British Gov't

Washington, June 25 — (AP)— Jesse Jones, Federal Loan Administrator, announced today he is "considering a loan to the British Government."

Jones said in a formal statement that the loan is being studied by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation under an act authorizing such a loan and added that "the purpose of the loan would be to provide the British with dollar exchange to pay for war supplies in this country, without having to sell their American securities and investments at forced sale."

He gave no amount of the proposed loan, which has been reported at some quarters at as "several hundred million dollars."

R.F.C. officials, however, hinted that a smaller figure was contemplated in the loan.

Jones said the collateral for the proposed loan would include "the direct investments and a wide diversification of the stocks and bonds of corporations in this country."

NEWSMAN GIVEN POST

Otawa, June 25 (CP)—Air Minister Howard Kennedy announced the appointment of Roger Irwin as Assistant Director of Public Relations for the Air Ministry.

He succeeds L. Norman Smith of Ottawa who returned recently to the Ottawa Journal as assistant managing director and secretary-treasurer.

TWO SPEAKERS AT KIWANIS CLUB

Recent Blackout in Toronto Fully Explained to the Members

A member of the Toronto "K" Legion of Frontiersmen and a member of the Departm...t of Labor, Toronto, addressed the Kiwanis luncheon on Tuesday at the Queens Hotel on two widely varied subjects and each was received enthusiastically by the members. Jim Barclay presided at the luncheon with C. Marshall as sergeant-at-arms. Clarence Level had a Kiwanis birthday and he was introduced by Jack McIntosh and the prize donated by this popular Kiwanian was won by Herb Fox.

Mr. A. R. Payne was the first speaker and was introduced by Harold Seldon. Mr. Payne a member of Toronto Kiwanis Club for the past 31 years brought greetings from his home club and explained how members of his club feeling that many were too old to get in the actual fighting, formed the "K" squadron of the Legion of Frontiersmen, by courtesy of the Toronto Club joining the squadron. He explained that the Legion was the organization of A.R.P. work and the lecturing on the subject to different groups in Toronto, who are assisting in this work. He stated that information received from England has shown that if the British had known as much about Air Raid Precaution work at the first of the war as they do now, 75 per cent of the damage done to London could have been forestalled. The speaker told of the recent blackout in Toronto stating it was excellent in every respect.

Kiwanian Ormonde Butler introduced E. R. Hall of the Department of Labor at Toronto, who explained the part time employment needed to garner the crops of this Province during the coming summer and fall. The speaker stated that food must be conserved and farmers must be helped if a full crop is to be harvested. He told his listeners that Canada had pledged herself to supply 450,000,000 pounds of bacon, 100 million pounds of cheese and 120 million pounds of condensed milk and at the present time the Dominion was 10 to 12 per cent behind the quotas set. The Kiwanis club at Toronto had 21 operators in this project.

51st Casualty List Of R.C.A.F. Issued

Ottawa, June 25—(CP)— The Royal Canadian Air Force's 51st casualty list of the war today reported death of four airmen in Canada and seven others whose were listed as missing after operations. Eight others were reported fatal air force dead and missing reported since war began, to 327.

Of the 11 airmen whose fate was listed as killed in a flying accident overseas, six were killed and two drowned in Canada, one died as a result of an accident and two were killed in an automobile accident.

Today's list also included the names of two men, one in Canada and one overseas, previously reported missing and now presumed dead. Two others were previously reported presumed dead and are now presumed dead for official purposes.

One man was reported dangerously ill and seven seriously injured, both in Canada.

Army Trades School Officially Opened

Hamilton, June 25 —(CP)— Defence Minister Ralston today officially opened the huge new Canadian Army Trades School here and told the men in training the present-day war is a mechanized war, avoid depletion of workmen from vital war industries and keep their maintenance men for a mechanized army.

Mr. Ralston was accompanied by Brig. Kenneth Stuart, Deputy Chief of the General Staff; Brig. Victor Sifton, Master General of the Ordnance, and Brig. Charles Gibson, which eventually will house approximately 2,000 men.

The school is equipped to train every kind of mechanical and mechanical specialist needed to keep a highly-mechanized, modern army rolling. It has also been so constructed, providing facilities for men to work, eat, sleep and play.

There are eight main departments in the school for training draftsmen, blacksmiths, welders, sheet metal workers, motor workers, machinist-fitters, electricians and automobile mechanics.

Work on Pipe Line To Start in a Week

Ottawa, June 24 (CP)—Construction of the $25,000,000 oil pipe line from Portland, Me., to Montreal, is expected to start the last week in June— at Gorham, N.H., and work both ends of the line, J. P. Meghaughlin, an official of the Montreal Pipe Line Co., Ltd., said here today.

This company was organized by the Standard Oil Development Company (New Jersey) to build the Canadian section of the line while another standard subsidiary, Portland Pipe Line Co., is to build the American section.

It is designed to save oil tanker ocean tonnage by carrying crude oil which was formerly brought around the coast and up the St. Lawrence River by ship.

The 236-mile line will be completed by Oct. 1.

SURVEY STARTS TO DETERMINE AID FOR SOVIET ARMY

The Treasury Department Orders Release of $100,000,000 in Russian Assets in United States

GIVE EXPORT LICENCES

By LLOYD LEHRBAS

Associated Press Staff Writer.

Washington, June 26, (AP)— In line with President Roosevelt's pledge of all possible assistance to the Red Army, United States Defence officials today instituted a quick survey to determine what immediate and effective aid could be provided for Russia.

The expedition was that soviet overtures for help would not be long in materializing after Mr. Roosevelt's voluntary statement at his press conference yesterday whether whatever aid could be given.

When he made the promise, the President emphasized the Soviet had not made any request for help.

The President's pledge was immediately impumented in one field when the Treasury Department ordered the release of between 450,000,000 and $100,000,000 in Russian assets here which were "frozen" on June 14 along with the holdings of Germany, Italy and other continental European nations.

Given Export Licences

Mr. Roosevelt likewise indicated that henceforth the Soviet would have no difficulty in obtaining export licences for all war munitions and supplies which can be spared. The question was what could be spared. The outlook was dubious and beset with difficulties.

Officials pointed out that Russian requirements probably world parallel those of Britain, China and the other American Republics, and the United States itself. Hence, the survey was necessary to determine what supplies can be allocated.

Since the beginning of the war the Soviet has been a heavy purchaser of oil, copper, machine tools, leather, cotton, oil drilling machinery, iron and steel products, and a wide variety of machinery. Soviet purchases here in 1940 totalled $86,943,000 and were exceeded only by British and French purchases of war supplies.

Requirements Will Increase

With the war in progress, the scope of Russian requirements was expected to increase. It was thought likely that the Soviet soon would be seeking warplanes to make up for combat losses. Last November, the present American production is still insufficient to fill requirements made to Britain and China, or to meet the demands of the expanding U.S. army.

High test aviation gasoline likewise may be exported if Russia can permit, but its shipment calls for tankers. Britain's heavy tanker losses and the American shortage of tankers for transporting supplies to Britain made it extremely unlikely that ships of this type would be released for service on the run to Vladivostok.

A comparable scarcity of cargo vessels confronts the Soviet with a similar problem in getting goods of any variety across the Pacific.

ADMIT RAIDS ON CONSTANTA

Berlin, June 25—(AP)—Russian air raids have been made on the Rumanian cities of Constanta, Sulina and Galati, D.N.B., German news agency, said today, quoting a Bucharest communique from the German-Rumanian front.

Although the raids were admittedly minor, it was claimed no severe damage was caused.

Close Partnership Between Britain, U.S. Necessary if Right is to Triumph

Equal Opportunity

Kingston, Ont., June 25.—(CP)— Hon. Malcolm MacDonald, declared today that "close partnership" between Great Britain and the United States is necessary to save human civilization from disaster.

"Let them join their influence and use it unselfishly", the British High Commissioner urged.

Mr. MacDonald spoke at a special convocation of Queen's University where he received the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws. Hon. J. Pierrepont Moffatt, United States Minister to Canada, and Adolf A. Berle, jr., Assistant Secretary of State, also received honorary degrees.

The special convocation interrupted sessions at the third day of the fourth biennial conference on Canadian-American affairs which was presided over by Hon. Charles Dunning, Minister of Finance and former Dominion Finance Minister.

The British High Commissioner said "we face the stark fact today" that collaboration between Britain and the United States is essential if "the grizzly world war triumph which has already claimed so many victims is not to end in the triumph of good and defeat of evil."

"But their co-operation will be equally necessary after the war", he warned. "There will be some horrible problems then, and are little hope for a steady and sound world recovery unless Great Britain and the United States of America are partners together and give a lead to the baffled races of men".

That co-operation was growing but there were bound to be difficulties. And in solving these problems, Canada—"a country of British traditions in an American environment"—could play a great part.

Equal Opportunity

"In that capacity, as well as in others, this young nation can play a vital role in the great affairs of our fateful times," he asserted.

In Britain the "spirit of war" was bearing a new national society into shape. After the war "those new shapes of things to come" must be preserved.

"There must be no privileged class," the High Commissioner said. "There must be equal opportunity for all."

"There must be no citizens claiming rights without recognizing duties also to society; there must be other things to which we have paid up-service but which we have never attained in the past."

"In his lengthy analysis of relations between Canada, Great Britain and the United States, Mr. MacDonald said a danger existed that American influence in Canada might grow at the expense of British influence.

"In some ways American civilization is superior to British; in other British civilization is superior to American," he said. "I think that in both countries mistakes grow from a rejection of what is best and a preference of what is evil in both of those others."

Returning to his central theme, Mr. Macdonald envisioned in the not too distant future a "truly world society. Creation of this ideal was the task of the British Commonwealth of Nations and the United States.

"Let us hope and pray and resolve," he said, "that their intelligence, their integrity and their enlightenment are worthy of the most difficult task and the greatest opportunity that has ever fallen to a generation of men."

NAZI DRIVE ON UKRAINE HALTED REDS CLAIM

'SUBSTANTIAL GAINS' MADE BY BRITISH IN SYRIA

German Offensive Nipped at Several Points Along Front

Russian Army Makes Strong Stand at Prut River and Cernauti Is Held

PARACHUTISTS USED

Moscow, June 26—(AP)—Masses of Soviet troops, thrown into the line after German armored units had broken through on the north on Wilno (Vilna) in Lithuania, reformed the front and checked the Nazi advance, Russian military dispatches declared today.

They reported Soviet troops holding tight also at other points along the 1,000-mile battle front and said Premysyl, on the border of German-occupied Poland, was recaptured in a Russian counter-attack.

Bale of vodka, wine and other alcoholic drinks was prohibited in Moscow in a series of severe wartime rulings. Civilians were instructed to keep off the streets between midnight and 4 a.m. and theatres, restaurants and other public places must close at 10.45 p.m.

Advance Held

On the Lithuanian front, where the Nazis are attempting to cut their main line, the advance was held by massing large numbers of new troops in the German path, Red army leaders said.

German infantry failed completely in efforts to follow tanks through temporary gaps left by the armored shock vehicles, they asserted. They did not say how they did to the tanks that had broken through other than to say they had been "cut off."

The Prem published accounts of a fight along the banks of a river in the Ukraine where, it said, Soviet troops of 40 frontier guards to hold off attacking Germans for two hours until regular troops arrived.

One swift counter-attack, the High Command said, resulted in the recapture of Premysyl, a border town 50 miles west of Lwow.

Further south, repeated German, Rumanian attempts to force the Prut river—boundary between Russia and Rumania for less than a year —were said to have been repulsed in the region around Cernauti, capital of Bucovina, 35 miles from the Ukraine.

Of the situation at the extreme southern end of the front, where the battle apparently was shaping to smash into the Ukraine—rich oil and wheat land which the Nazis covet—the High Command said:—

"On the Rumanian sector of the front, Red Army troops firmly hold positions on the eastern bank of the Prut River, successfully repulsing numerous enemy attempts to forge the river."

Suffer Heavy Defeat

"In the area of Skuleni, the enemy attempted to advance but suffered heavy defeat.

German mechanized formations were said to have suffered heavy losses in yesterday's fighting in the area of Lwow, capital of Soviet-held Poland, where, the communique said: "Fighting continues."

The High Command spoke cryptically of the operations around Vilna and Kovno, saying only that "in the course of fighting separate groups of enemy tanks (Continued on Page Eleven, Col. 8)

Nazis Claim Rupture Of "Entire Red Front" But Details Lacking

AIR FORCE ACTIVE

Berlin, June 26 — (AP)—Nazi sources claimed today that four days of fierce fighting have resulted in "rupture of the entire Red front" and have proved that the Russian army is no match for German forces.

The propaganda and news commentary, Dienst Aus Deutschland, claimed that despite enemy resistance, mechanized columns have driven deep into Soviet territory, "scoring victories which may prove a decisive factor in determining further developments in the campaign."

Details of these successes, it was indicated, would be released some time today to a public whose desire for news has been fed by generalities and tales of hand to hand fighting, forced marches in blistering heat and dive bomber attacks.

Conclusions drawn from press reports made it appear the heaviest blows were being dealt on the southern and central sectors of the far-flung front.

Dispatches issued by D. N. B., Nazi Propaganda and News Agency, emphasized the Air Force part in the offensive. Its long arm was claimed to be reaching deep into Soviet territory and playing havoc with communications.

Attack Rail Junctions

Following its usual tactics, the Luftwaffe was reported attempting to cripple the Russians by smashing at rail junctions, fuel depots and airdromes.

D. N. B. claimed one Nazi air squadron had smashed six Russian freight trains loaded with troops and supplies on the southeastern front, and described attacks on air bases and tank concentrations far behind the Russian lines.

Though the Nazi armies of Finland now was an active military ally in the war against Russia, there were no indications of fighting along the Finnish-Soviet border.

The Berlin radio during the U.S.S.R. with opening hostilities, last night declared a "state of defence" existed.

Operations at sea were featured by D. N. B. claims that two Nazi speedboats had destroyed a Russian submarine, presumably in the Baltic.

Lost Italian Legion Faces Hunger, Thirst in "Bad Lands" of Desert

BY GODFREY ANDERSON
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Cairo, June 26.— (AP)—In the "bad lands" of the Libyan desert between the Red Sea and the Mediterranean escarpment of the Ethiopian plateau, hunger and thirst fight Britain's battle against one of its most picturesque foes.

Amidst a wilderness of volcanic lava covering the ground like petrified foam, broken units of forces defeated by general Wavell at Kombluchia April 23 wander in the great Danakil trough, often below the level of the Red Sea, in one of the hottest areas of the world.

Hurried ceaselessly by natives, they are driven from one Brackish well to the next on a journey which it is believed can have no end but surrender.

A few escaped to an interment camp in French Somaliland. The rest are lost.

In the Ethiopian highlands where the rains are turning mountain streams into torrents, old forces of Italians still put up half-hearted resistance.

Sudanese Indians now are encircling General Nasi in the north, where Gen. Nasi's troops are known to be short of food and few in number. But small bands are the pockets of Italians are surrounded.

The forces in the Gondar region are estimated at three brigades, more than half native.

Gen. Gazzera is holding out with an overwhelming mountain of the southwest despite the loss of 8,000 prisoners at Jimma. His force is estimated at 2,000, the biggest remaining, but his food problem is less serious because this region is fertile.

Far westward near the Sudan frontier a few Italians still resist in the Gambela area along the Baro river, a primitive part of the country.

GERMANY SOUGHT BRITISH ALLIANCE AGAINST RUSSIA

Proposal Made by Von Papen One Day After Russo-German War Broke Out

OFFER SPURNED.

New York, June 26.—(CP)—The New York Times says today in a report from Ankara that Germany sought unsuccessfully the day after the Russo-German war broke out to get Britain to agree to an Anglo-German combination against Soviet Russia.

Such a proposal was made by German Ambassador Franz Von Papen to the British Ambassador there, Sir Hughe Knatchbull-Hugessen, And the suggestion was "categorically refused," the dispatch said, adding:—

"It also known that simultaneous proposals along the same lines were made in some of the German capital capitals. In all of these the Nazis tried to depict their attack in the Soviet Union as a benefit to the world and sought to divert common hatred for national socialism into new channel of destastation for Communism".

Forced Child To Swallow Paint

Sherbrooke, Que., June 26 (CP)—Summary trial of Mrs. Telesphore Vachon of Garthby, Que., on a charge of assault was adjourned Wednesday for a week after a witness testified that on one occasion the mother had poured oil and turpentine to swallow some paint as punishment for having upset the tin.

Orella Vachon, a brother-in-law of the accused, testified after the trial opened before Judge J. H. Fortier that he was visiting the brother the day the child was forced to swallow the paint.

On another occasion, he said, the mother took the child's feet and held so hard she bled from the mouth and nose. Once, he said, the child was given a dose of salts after she had been forced to eat mustard and pepper to "cure her of the habit."

Alberic Forth, a neighbor, testified he saw the accused pull the hair of a girl because her children hardener than was necessary to punish them. He said the manner in which the punishments was inflicted was "not a correct way to carry out" which the children may have committed.

Evidence also was given that the woman struck her seven-year-old son, Gerald, with a stick nearly four feet in length, on the back of the head or any place she could and a blow.

Canadian Mobile Units Race 60 Miles to Take Possession of Toronto

Toronto, June 26.—(CP)—In one of the most dramatic manoeuvres yet staged by Canada's military forces, mobile columns raced 60 miles southwards from Camp Borden today to swiftly take possession of strategic points in city of Toronto. The coup was designed to forestall a theoretical attack by Fifth Columnists on the city late tonight.

More than 2,000 trained and equipped men of the Canadian Reinforcement Units entered the city in long columns by four different routes, down Dufferin Street, Bathurst Street, Avenue Road and Bay Street, and within half an hour had established control over vital points such as reservoirs and waterworks, Hydro-electric stations, radio stations.

The offices of Premier Mitchell Hepburn at Queen's Park were taken over as the military occupied their certificates but they were the Provincial Police Headquarters. Other units took possession of Mayor Fred Conboy's office and the city hall.

Taken by Surprise

The fast motorized attack in which armored fighting vehicles and tanks took part with full equipment including machine guns, took the city completely by surprise. Civic officials and the police department had no warning.

Premier Hepburn said he had been notified by military authorities of the raid on Toronto as a military manoeuvre but said he had not been consulted as to what buildings would be taken over.

A unit of the Governor General's horse guard swept up to the Parliament buildings in trucks and motorcycles, armed with automatic guns and revolvers, to take command of both main buildings in the parliament block. Sentries were stationed at all doors and everything was examined for their registration certificate.

About 30 of the persons arriving at the city hall failed to produce identification and were held under guard for some time.

Lieut.-Col. Leslie Bell, who was in command of the city occupying forces, said: "The whole thing went off like clockwork. We expected to be resisted by a force of 2,000 men and were prepared to meet them, but there was no opposition. We were told to have participated — the roar of aircraft could be heard along the south coast as planes raced across the Canadian border to Reinforcement Units territories again.

The air forces overcast and mist shrouded the Prench coast but provoked explosions could be heard in the distance and later the planes were seen winging home.

Formal Approval by United States Of Enlistment of American Men In British Army is Expected

BY JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Washington, June 26.—(AP)—The United States probably will give formal, full-fledged approval within a few days to the enlistment of American men in the British or Canadian armies, either for active actual combat duty or for non-combatant training work.

The enlistments would be sanctioned officially as service in the interest of national safety.

Informed persons predicted this conclusion after a review with its issuance by selective service headquarters here of a memorandum to state directors formally directing deferment for men of draft-age who wish to volunteer for duty abroad.

Previously the administration had approved a British drive in the U.S. for general mechanical technicians to help manufacture and service Britain's new airplane radiolocator, or to do other expert mechanical duty.

Looked Upon as Invitation

The President's statement Tuesday assuming the right of young men to join British armed forces, generally was looked upon here as more than an invitation to American outha as inclined to enlist but as a notice that it was convenient for this purpose.

The law as framed by any general enlisting movement of that sort, however, lies in the fact that most men f fighting quality or high technical efficiency are within the 21-3 age bracket registered for military training here under the selective service act.

None of these men may leave his home registration area for any cause without permission from his draft board, and none may leave ce country without permission from the State Department that he has selective service permission. effect this means that men who have 1-A classifications before they go abroad.

BARTON REQUESTS ALL-OUT FARM EFFORT FOR WAR

Deputy Minister of Agriculture Says Canada Needs "Heads of Farms" as Well as Their Backs"

MANY DIFFICULTIES

Guelph, Ont., June 26 (CP)—Canada "needs the heads of its farmers as well as their backs," Deputy Agriculture Minister G.S.H. Barton told the regional convention of the Canadian Society of Technical Agriculturists today.

"We must all be prepared to contend with difficulties and to overcome them and make the best possible use of Canadian agriculture during wartime," he said.

He stressed the maximum of active co-operation and the minimum of petty interference. Governments alone can only do part of the job." Great Britain, Dr. Barton declared, could not plan to fill her storehouses with Canadian products unless Canadians made commitments for those products.

Difficulties and strains in agriculture beyond human control, but any opportunity for unwarranted interference ought to be considered not only an opportunity but an obligation on the part of everyone to make a full contribution to it." the Deputy Minister said.

GIGANTIC OFFENSIVE

London, June 26 (CP)—The Royal Air Force destroyed nine more German planes over the channel and northern France last night when it turned for another shattering raid to reinforce its mastery of the day's light skies in that area. Three British fighters are missing.

An authorized source declared that losses in the air battle on the western front from June 15 to 26, inclusive, were 161 German planes against 48 British.

Only a few hours after the R.A.F. bombers had returned from their offensive it has yet attempted — a continuous assault which saw 500 bombers were said to have participated — the roar of aircraft could be heard along the south coast as planes raced across the Canadian Reinforcement Unit territories again.

The air forces overcast and mist shrouded the Prench coast but provoked explosions could be heard in the distance and later the planes were seen winging home.

Publication Almost Back to Normal Say Officials

Oshawa, Ont., June 26—(CP)—Officers of The Oshawa Times Printing Company today claimed that publication of their daily newspaper and production of their weekly publication will be almost normal, although the strike of composing room employees remained unsettled after more than three weeks.

The striking employees are members of the International Typographical Union. The company said the union's latest demand was for reinstatement of 18 men with, in one week, and the company said this was impossible.

A. R. Allowa, managing director of the company, charged that Harry N. Fraser, union special representative, was responsible for calling the strike and that he refused to respond to the request of the company for a conference. He said the union had followed dilatory tactics since the dispute although it had been warned repeatedly that ten men were being employed. Seven of the union employees have returned to work.

Russia May be Asked Not to Conclude Separate Peace With German Reich

London, June 26 (CP)—Reports circulated in London tonight that Soviet Russia would be asked to subscribe to an inter-allied agreement against concluding a separate peace with Germany before the end of the war.

Informed sources, however, asserted that a formal Anglo-Soviet alliance probably would be a necessary prerequisite and declared there was no indication that any treaty of alliance was being considered at the moment.

"No one knows whether there eventually will be one," they added.

They conceded, however, that both Britain and the United States probably would welcome Russian assurance against a separate peace as a contribution to ending material aid which might fall to the Germans if the Russians capitulated.

Final Phase Begins Of Allied Drive Against Beirut

Guns of British Fleet Off Coast and British Land Guns Co-operate in Allied Campaign

ALLIES NEAR DIMAS

Cairo, June 26 (AP) — British forces in Syria have overrun "main central gains" west of Damascus "in the face of increased resistance," the British command announced today.

The communique, issued yesterday in the region of Merdjayoun, southern Syria, are being consolidated, the daily communique said, while British forces also maintained, in the British fleet off the coast are co-operating in supporting the British drive on Beirut.

The R.A.F. reported that "enemy aircraft" attacked Damascus yesterday and caused a number of civilian casualties. Other raids on Haifa and Acre in Palestine which caused little damage also were reported.

The communique said three French fighter planes attacked "protective patrols over our troops" were shot down in the Syrian front, and announced also the loss of one British plane.

Vichy French Positions Shelled

Jerusalem, June 26 (AP)—Shelling of Vichy French positions around Damour by warships of the Royal Navy and air bombing of Beirut harbor itself marked the beginning of the final phase of the Allied campaign for the capture of the Levantine capital, British sources said today.

Australian troops who recaptured Merdjayoun from Vichy forces were moving toward Damour and were reported less than 12 miles from Beirut itself.

Vichy destroyers in the harbor of the capital were reported attacked by planes of the British fleet's air arm.

In central Syria, British columns from Iraq engaged Vichy troops at a desert oasis around Palmyra, 150 important Syrian base. This thrust across the middle of Syria toward Beirut is believed to cut the country in two.

Allied forces operating from captured Damascus occupied Dier Ghazaleh, 13 miles to the northeast, and were approaching Dimas, on the Damascus-Beirut Road, a military spokesman said.

Vichy forces flee evacuated Merdjayoun were reported resisting at Hasbaya, 10 miles to the northwest.

London Says Announcement of Sinking Made By Admiralty on April 9th Last

SCHEER LONG AT HOME

Berlin, June 26—(AP)— The German High Command acknowledged today the loss of one of the fiercest raiders in an Indian Ocean battle with a British cruiser, but claimed the return of the pocket battleship Admiral Scheer from a raiding cruise in the Atlantic which netted 152,000 tons of shipping.

The daily communique said that the auxiliary cruiser Penguin, "which had been active in Southern waters against enemy merchant shipping, was lost in the Indian Ocean in a fight against the much superior heavy British cruiser Cornwall.

"The commander and the majority of the crew were killed after a heroic fight," the communique continued. "Some of the survivors were captured by the enemy."

Admiralty Statement

(Authoritative sources in London said the German auxiliary cruiser was sunk long ago and its sinking announced officially last May 9. Authoritative sources identified the ship then as the 21,131-ton liner Automedon. Young bound up his arm with the help of two companions, and walked to the police station where P. C. Ivan Eykns drove the injured lad to the Belleville General Hospital shortly after eleven o'clock last night. Nine stitches were required to close the deep wound.

Young was crossing the foot bridge, when he dropped a dime, the coin rolling off the bridge into the river. Accompanied by two companions, Young made his way down the river bank to the bridge abutments, waded into the stream searching for the ten cent piece. He slipped and fell on a stone, sustaining the deep gash as his arm came in contact with a broken bottle on the river bed.

POLICE SEEKING HIT, RUN DRIVER

Provincial Police are seeking an alleged hit-and-run driver who struck another car at the corner of Joan Drive and Herchimer Avenue, as the little lass was leaving school in Thurlow Township Wednesday afternoon. The Babcock girl was knocked down the roadway sustaining lacerations and abrasions of the face and head. She was removed to the Belleville General Hospital for treatment.

Years student attended the Sec-tional school on Highway No. 2 a mile east of Belleville and was leaving school, when struck by an alleged hit-and-run driver yesterday. Other school children told Pro-

Ayrshire Breeders Hear Addresses On Livestock and Farm Problems At Field Day Held on Tummon Farm

Prominent Ayrshire breeders of Central Ontario, together with district lieutenants and grain growers congregated at the well-appointed farm home of Mr. W. E. Ker-M.P., for South Hastings, one half mile west of Roslin on Wednesday afternoon as the Central Ontario Ayrshire Breeders' Club held their annual field day. Included on the day's program was a judging competition of milch cows and heifers, in which both ladies' and gentlemen's teams participated, while addresses by agricultural officials on subjects vitally affecting the livestock and grain growing, were heard in the afternoon.

Congregated on the spacious tree shaded lawn of the Tummon home, members of the club, distinguished guests and speakers, as well as neighboring farmers, were extended a cordial welcome by Mr. Ker, who in his opening under rather difficult conditions," stated Mr. Tummon. He declared that it was well which this district has been suffering there is a shortage of help, the situation which hangs over us like a heavy cloud. The district farmers are being changed so rapidly that predictions made a month or two weeks ahead."

"We in Canada have much to be thankful for however" concluded Mr. Tummon. "We are living in a country where we have freedom of speech and where homes have not been destroyed."

Mr. E. K. Hampson, of Hamilton, representative of American Breeders Institute, stated that he was pleased that Stirling and district as a whole men had joined for this meeting. He had often thought that men of this district could help to solve the problems affecting one another if they would.

Although admitting the weather conditions were unfavorable for crops harvested, Mr. Hampson urged that the weather not be blamed too much, and stressed the importance of keeping up fertility and the various methods of soil conservation. The speaker claimed that fertilizers are the farmers' best clever legumes each successive year and blamed the lack of these for the poor showing of many district constituents as the cause.

Urges Soil Conservation Plan

Referring to the need of soil conservation the speaker pointed out in the western districts, Mr. Hampson stated that dereading the country at times made it impossible for the water shortage during the winter months. Even when the spring flow today was only fifteen per cent. of that 75 years ago. The Provincial Government faces a heavy obligation in soil conservation work in the future. The experience of the United States in his field can be best as a guide to the problems," the speaker.

Gives Talk on Hog's Disease

Mr. I. E. O'Neill, Director Provincial Livestock Branch, Toronto, in speaking on Lice, Mange, stated that a bloodless was the only affected on account of the presence of this trible. If the test proved negative, farmers need not have their herds reagnized as such in Ottawa, he said.

Dr. Dollimg on the diseases of the disease, Mr. O'Neillated that if it were not for Tuberculosis in the early stage, where the hd was not more than 10 per cent. of the herd, Canada in the years to come would be free of bovine tb. Dr. Dollimg urged that the farmers' accounts of sheep losses to the raiding animals, it was suggested by Mr. O'Neill that a claim system be passed asking for a $5 bounty from the province. This to be matched by an equal amount from the township.

Acting immediately on the recommendation the department sanctioned the bounty to be paid with township authority being advised of their acquiescence.

Winners Presented With Cheques At Capitol Theatre

The Capitol theatre management in the city paid $500.00 for two photographs last night. On the theatre stage Manager Percy McGuire Mascaro presented miss Amelia La-Palm with a certified cheque for $250.00 for her picture, and then handed Marshall Woodcock a marked cheque, for $250.00 as the result of last week's election in the weekly Photo Hunt contest conducted by the Capitol theatre.

The large glossy photographs eleven by fourteen inches, were given Mr. Mascaro by the recipients of the cheques, the pictures later being placed on the foyer of the theatre as an exhibition. Neither Miss LaPalm nor Mr. Woodcock commented as to their intended use of the cash, but both sincerely thanked Mr. Mascaro and wished him success in the future undertaking of the theatre's Pote-Wile programs.

In the new selection, opened last night for the sum of $85.00, the name of Charles T. Wright of Frankford was announced, but he failed to respond to his name and the amount was then advanced to $110.00 for the offer to be selected next week.

Latta Wins 6-1 Over Cannifton

Scoring six runs on thirteen safeties behind the steady hurling of Joe Marsh, the Latta nine continued their way at the top of the South Hastings Baseball League last evening when, on the home diamond, they defeated Cannifton 6-1. The homesters scored two in the first inning, triple by Joe in the second and added one each in the third and fifth.

Latta batters showed no mercy on the offerings of Lloyd Ketcheson, Cannifton's burly right-hander and three hits by the viewers during the later innings to be replaced by G. Lourks who allowed but four safeties. Latta also played good ball and kicked in with a double kilting by Ed. Marsh.

Latta: Marsh, fimpson and J. Gowe were the heavy hitters for the home team, while Ed. Collins wielded a heavy stick for Cannilton, conking out a triple and double.

CHILD RUNS INTO SIDE OF A CAR

Running out into Dundas St., six-year-old Geraldine Nevin, South Front St., was knocked to the pavement when she ran into the side of a passing motor car driven by Miss Doris Hogle, Grier St., on Wednesday. Miss Hogle immediately stopped her car and assisted the child, who had only suffered minor bruises and the use of fright. Miss Hogle then reported the accident to police, stating the child had run into the side of her car, having failed to see the vehicle as she ran out from behind a parked vehicle.

Obituary

MRS. ALMIRA VANDERWATER
(Ameliasburg)

Mrs. Almira Vanderwater, widow of John Vanderwater, died on Wednesday, June 25th, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. W. W. Coulter, in the 2nd concession of Ameliasburg Township, Prince Edward County, after a long and painful illness of some time.

The late Mrs. Vanderwater had reached an advanced age, being in her 90th year, March 4th, born at Moira, Huntingdon Township, being a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Philip Bleecker. Her religious faith was a member of Centre United Church and throughout her long and useful life she was well esteemed.

Surviving her are two daughters, Mrs. Frank Rushnell, Watertown, N.Y., and Mrs. J. Wesley Coulter, Ameliasburg Township; one son, Mr. Albert Vanderwater, Trenton.

The funeral announcement is made elsewhere in this paper.

LATE ADAM LOUCKS HOUGH
(Stirling)

Stirling (Special) — Residents of Stirling and district paid tribute of respect at the funeral of one of Stirling's oldest and most esteemed citizens in the person of Adam Loucks Hough, aged eighty-two years, who passed away late Sunday in Belleville General Hospital following an illness of long duration. Born in the village he was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. V. Hough, being one of the district and spent his entire life in the village. For many years possessed greater historic knowledge of Stirling's development and also the keen memory with which to recall important happenings.

In religion he was a faithful member of St. Paul's Methodist Church and fraternally was associated with Stirling I.O.O.F. No. 220 from which organization he had been received his fifty year jewel.

Surviving are one son, Mr. J. B. Hough, Deseronto, and two daughters, Mrs. W. J. Whitla, Stirling, and Mrs. Henry Tulloch, Stirling; one sister Mrs. W. J. Graham of Toronto. There are also eight grandchildren and four great grandchildren.

The service under the auspices of the Stirling I.O.O.F. lodge was conducted by Rev. A. M. Lawrie in St. Paul's United Church, the sermon being a most comforting and impressive one.

Pallbearers were Messrs. H. E. Hulin, Walter Jeffrey, Alex Park, Arthur Vandervoort, J. B. Thompson and C. F. Linn.

Bishop Lyons Confers Rite of Confirmation At Thomasburg

Thomasburg—The sacred rites of Confirmation were bestowed on nine candidates of the Roslin Anglican parish at Christ Church, Thomasburg, on Sunday morning when the Lord Bishop of the Diocese of Ontario, Rt. Rev. John Lyons, M.A., D.D., of Kingston was present and conferred the Sacrament. Lyons was also the celebration of Holy Communion.

In his address, Bishop brought to the attention of the congregation the many things for which Canadians have to be thankful in these trying times. He spoke of the beautiful prayers which are to be found in the prayer books, prayers for all occasions, and asked that they be used in the home along with the Bible.

While speaking to the Confirmation Class, the Bishop strove to impress the candidates with the solemnity of the occasion and the proper spirit becoming for one who is about to be admitted to the Church of God. With the receiving of the graces of Confirmation, the speaker affirmed that the lives of the candidates would be enriched and more abundantly endowed with the graces of Almighty God; not to think Confirmation ended with the laying on of hands but continue to live good clean lives and enjoy life, but always to observe Sunday.

The candidates were presented by the rector, Rev. F. C. Beaner.

Special hymns and prayers were used throughout the service. Beautiful cut flowers adorned the altar and chancel.

The exterior of the church has been recently improved with a coat of paint and new steps have been placed at the front entrance.

The regular monthly meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society of Thomasburg United Church was held on Tuesday afternoon, June 10th, at the home of Mrs. Melburne Adams, with twenty ladies present. The president, Mrs. Harold Morton, was in charge and conducted the opening devotions. After the theme song Mrs. Geo. Walker offered prayer. The worship service, "Living the Christian Life" was conducted by the president. Responsive reading was from Psalm 105 in the hymnary. Mrs. J. Chappelle read the scripture lesson. Mrs. J. R. Bateman gave a reading on "Friendship." Mrs. W. H. Elliott gave a reading on "Community Friendship" or "Welcoming the Strangers Within Our Gates." Mrs. Melburne Adams read "Garden of Friendship." A reading on "Temperance" was given by Mrs. Ed Way. Mrs. L. Poe gave a reading "A Call in the Night." The meeting was closed with a hymn and the Mizpah Benediction. Refreshments were served by Mrs. J. R. Bateman and a social time was enjoyed.

Mr. and Mrs. Clare Carney and Billy Hoey of Moscarvon were guests on sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Grills.

The many friends of Mrs. S. D. Prindle will be pleased to learn that she is improving satisfactorily at Belleville General Hospital and will soon be able to return home.

Master Dean Porter of Detroit is spending the summer vacation with Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Porter.

Mr. Everett Geen and Miss Margaret gills of Belleville were guests on Sunday at the home of the former's mother, Mrs. M. Geen.

Mr. A. G. Porter was in Toronto last week where he attended the annual sessions of the Grand Lodge of Ontario, Independent Order of Oddfellows at the King Edward Hotel.

A number from here attended the lawn social at Knox Presbyterian Church, Fuller, on Wednesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Coulson, Miss Ruth and Mr. Harold Coulson were in Picton on Wednesday evening owing to the death of Mr. Elgin Loak, who had been a patient in the hospital there for several weeks.

The young men of Thomasburg have recently organized a softball club for the forthcoming season with officers elected as follows: President, Donald Richardson; Secretary-Treasurer, Claude T. Thompson.

This vicinity welcomed the shower on Sunday. It is the first rain in some time and is greatly appreciated by the farmers.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Gadke, nee Myrtle Walker, who were married at the United Church Parsonage on Saturday evening.

Mr. John Calberry has been confined to his home for the past few weeks and on Sunday was stricken with a heart attack. Mr. William Calberry was called home owing to his father's illness.

The many friends of Miss Evelyn Reynolds here will regret to learn that she has resigned as principal of Thomasburg School. During the past three years in which she has been engaged as teacher here she has made many friends and will be much missed as she took part in many entertainments, being a talented pianist. Friends wish her every success in the future.

Miss Laura and Mr. Wilbur Sherry of Tyendinaga were guests on Sunday evening of Mrs. E. J. Gritin.

On Monday evening about thirty young people surprised Mr. and Mrs. Gadke (nee Myrtle Walker) with a charivari, and the following evening a number of the young people tendered them a kitchen shower at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Walker.

Mr. and Mrs. Gadke left on Wednesday for their new home at Clifford, Ont.

RUSSIAN CAVALRY CHARGES TANKS AND MEN

An incident modernized to suit present day warfare was reported in the press yesterday, a charge of Russian light cavalry following a Soviet plane attack on a Nazi advance guard of infantry which had crossed a stream led by tanks.

It was on October 25th., 1854 that the famous charge of the Light Brigade of cavalry against the Russians occurred during the battle of Balaklava. The charge of the Light Brigade was an incident, but an incident that lives in the hearts of the people.

The modern charge took place on the banks of the Prut River, over which German infantry, supported by tanks, crossed from Rumanian territory into Russia and were immediately attacked by clouds of planes of the Soviets. The report of the correspondent is that the Russian horsemen, so odd in war since 1914, followed up the assault from the air by a charge against the tanks and infantry of the enemy with the result that the Huns were driven back across the river to Rumanian territory.

The Russian charge, like that of the British Light Brigade at Balaklava nearly eighty-seven years ago, is of course an incident. It is interesting to British readers who know the story of the Charge of the Light Brigade and to all readers for the picture it gives Russian horsemen using their mounts in modern warfare in which the plane and the tank are the "iron horses" and are supposed to usurp all attention, have supplanted the war horses of old. This strong picture gives to the horsemen and the horses a place again in war—probably a small place.

Russia is a country of contrasts. The country itself is a contrast with most of the rest of the world, particularly the west. In that country there are plenty of horsemen but it was not generally known that the modern Russian military machine had any place for horses.

It may be that this battle was an instance in which the unarmed horse and his unprotected rider, both skilled, were more able to dodge and act than the Hun tanks and the masses of German infantry tangled up with them. It may be that the Hun soldiery accustomed only to mechanized arms naturally dreaded the attack of the mounted Russians.

REPERCUSSIONS

When Hitler turned on Russia with which he had signed a non-aggression pact, he unleashed a German military machine and started repercussions which will have vast influence. Only time can tell what will be the result of his decision.

That it will affect the course of the war is realized. There are signs that Germany cannot fight an aerial blitz on two fronts when one enemy is the huge Russian neighbor whom he has dropped as a partner in non-aggression and the other is Britain. Already his plan Hitler would need a vast weight in aerial armament and this necessity will, it is believed, have the effect of lightening the air attacks on Britain. Britain is already striking hard and steadily at French coast "invasion" ports and at the industrial heart and communications of Germany.

Another sensation of the war on Russia must be the reaction of Italy. Although Italy rushed in with a weak declaration of war on Russia, Mussolini and the people of Italy won't have to look as far as the stars to see what will be Italy's fate. She is doomed whichever way she looks. The Hitler that performed a rightabout-face against Russia will do the same with Italy if and when it appears appropriate and it will seem as if Italy is so weakened that she dare not insist on any expression of her own will at all. Mussolini has been Hitler's stooge.

Japan has united between her non-aggression pact with Russia and her membership in the Axis. And then Japan has a war on her own hands, which is hampering her grandiose plans of a new order in Asia. Hitler might gladly promise Japan anything with regard to that order to distract attention but Japan ought to know how adept Hitler is in handling the dagger and inserting it in the back of anyone he cares to elect as a foe.

OUT FISHIN'

A feller isn't thinking mean—
Out fishin';
His thoughts somehow are mostly clean—
Out fishin';
He doesn't knock his fellow-men,
Or harbor any grudges then;
A feller's at his finest when—
Out fishin'.

The rich are comrades to the poor—
Out fishin';
All brothers of a common lure—
Out fishin';
The urchin with his pin and string;
Can chum with millionaire and king;
Vain pride is a forgotten thing—
Out fishin'.

A feller gets a chance to dream—
Out fishin';
He learns the basics of a stream;
Out fishin';
An' he can wash his soul in air
That isn't foul with selfish care
An' relish plain and simple fare—
Out fishin'.

A feller's glad to be a friend—
Out fishin';
A helpin' hand he'll always lend—
Out fishin';
The brotherhood of rod and line
An' sky an' stream is always fine
Men come real close to God's design—
Out fishin'.

A feller isn't plotting schemes—
Out fishin';
He's only busy with his dreams—
Out fishin';
His livery is a coat of tan
His creed to do the best he can;
A feller's always mostly man—
Out fishin'.

Hitler, the "Christian" and his conception of the Commandments.

"Remember the Sabbath Day—for then we cross the border."

"Thou shalt not covet thy neighbor's house"—he doesn't covet, he merely takes.

"Thou shalt do no murder"—thousands of slaughtered Poles and Czechs are testimony of that.

"Honor thy father and mother"—the curses of thousands of fathers and mothers shall haunt him to the grave.

"Thou shalt not steal"—Hitler merely commandeers.

"Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor"—Hitler's word and sacred promises are highlights of the world conflagration.

THEN there is the story of the trooper in the United States Cavalry who groused about the sand in the soup.

"Didja join the blinkin' army to serve your country or to complain about the food?" challenged the indignant cook.

"To serve my country—not to eat it," retorted the trooper.

FOOD FOR BRITAIN

THE barrels have been "rolled out." In prominent Front Street and other grocery and provision stores, the red, white and blue covered receptacles are now in position. Their purpose: tops invite cans of fruit and vegetables, which in due course will be forwarded to the bomb-stricken people of Britain. It isn't much to ask. One hundred people means one hundred cans—one can apiece. Have you been buying the family groceries or anything for that matter, drop a few cents extra on the counter for a can of vegetables or fruit, and put it in the barrel. You will be surprised at the "kick" it will bring you. Belleville Red Cross members need a car-load of canned foods and fruits, mainly foods, at once. The need is urgent, for at present there is sufficient trans-ocean shipping facilities available. Make it a barrel of fun to fill a barrel of food.

KID KARS KALL

BELLEVILLE'S mechanized infantry will march into action on Monday June 30th, when the combined Rotary Kiddy Cars will roar down Derby Hill in quest of the Kid-Kar honors. There will be thrills, chills and likely a few spills. Proud papas and mammas, not to mention Uncle Jerry and Aunt Min, and envious school pals will be present to see the fun. Join them and help the Kinsmen Club in their work for underprivileged children.

Greece Taught Men How to Live

(By DR. INGE)

The Athenian Socrates, in the fourth century before Christ, is the author of the proverb, saying that "Hellas is the name not of a race but of a culture." Socrates had no consensus; our real ancestors are those who have taught us how to live.

Men of other nations then, may be sharers in the legacy of Ancient Greece, and I see no reason to think, which has been an apter pupil than ourselves, liberal education has, for centuries, been based on the classics. There has been a real renaissance of Hellenism in our own day. Our religion, our philosophy, and very largely our poetry have kept alive the Platonic tradition. Above all, we are firmly convinced that Homer was right when he said that "God takes away half a man's virtue when he loses his freedom." Many of our great writers have borne enthusiastic testimony to their debt to the Greeks. The poet Shelley, the liberal statesman Stuart Mill, the Tory Socialist Ruskin, the Fabian Socialist, Bernard Shaw, all agree in bringing their grateful tributes to Thucydides, Plato and Aristotle.

And so, when an educated Englishman visits Greece, he goes as a pilgrim to a Holy Land. The landscape is grandiose and impressive. A man—the deep blue of the sea, the islands which are the summits of a submerged mountain chain, characteristic long ridges of the hills, and the wonderful historic associations enhance natural beauty, such as the Straits of Salamis, Delphi with its frowning rocks, and the view from the Acropolis of Athens, perhaps the most fascinating in Europe. Anyone one realizes how small a country Greece is. Even the small countries which have gone most deeply into the Balkans (Greece, mediaeval Italy, Elizabethan England, Holland) have not had us one can distinguish not only Athens, the capital, but a country of Corinth, but the Parthenon.

Other sacred places besides Delphi reveal themselves to the pilgrim, such as Epidaurus, a clever combination of Lourdes and Mt. Lourdes, where genuine medical science was used to dispel the fumes of superstition; and Eleusis in its sacrificial day, where many pious souls hoped to find a solution of elemental rites, the privileges of a religious mystery.

But of course Athens is the crown of the whole. Everything in the atmosphere, unhappily, is not what it was in the days of the fifth-century poets; modern industrialism has not obscured the view of Athens from the Pnyx, or the beauty of the caryatids on the Acropolis. But all is forgotten when, in the solemn and deep accent of the Propylaea, that glorious gateway, one suddenly stands face to face with the commonplace, the ordinary, the everyday. I have often, in my travels, I stood on the Acropolis and looked at the Parthenon, and then one, what Pericles and Demosthenes would have thought of it. They would have seen Greece as it was in the days of its greatest limits. (At my last visit I saw that the Greeks were already curling round the Fort of Lycabettus.) Of course, Athens would be seen delighted, in spite of the ruin of their temples; they would certainly have been touched by the reverential care shown to the broken fragments of their statues. But they would have have sighed to think how meagre a fraction of that immortal work of art had been permitted to survive.

Then, I thought, they would have turned upon me, Athens, and asked me, point, how ranks with Marseilles, Barcelona and Naples, which are four great maritime cities of the Mediterranean, and were so in the hundred and fifty years ago? Is Athens a capital, a squalid village in the pashalik of Ephoes, a miracle through this miracle, for a miracle it would be, if Athens will answer in the words of the Athenian poet that Greatness must be urged them to submit to Xerxes. "Do what you will with us, you are advising us to do. Hydarnes, we know what it is to be a slave, but the armaments of Greece have never tasted. If you felt it, you would fight for it, and if you fight with spears only but with axes."

Some of the Greeks, however, small blame to them, perhaps—were not successful in defying the Great Power of that day. They fought at Qualinga and fifth columnists then, as now, for gold and bribes and lies. Even the oracle at Delphi fabricated and delivered false prophecies. But Sparta and Athens were staunch, loyal and true, and have little army perished; Athens was burnt to the ground; but Thermopylae and Athens are glorious names, Salamis and Plataea, and the freedom of Greece and Europe.

To-day freedom, and with freedom all that makes life worth living, is in greater danger than it has ever been for two thousand years. Once more Europe is trying to conquer or die in its defence. The odds against us are very great and heavy. We cannot tell whether we are called to victory or martyrdom. But our cause can not perish. Some of freedom will still remain alight in other continents and it will be extinguished in Europe, and it cannot really be extinguished in the human soul. Hellenism, or humanism if we like to call it so, is a permanent acquisition of the race. As was the case of the Christian religion, the blood of its martyrs is the seed of the Church. Meanwhile, the Greek name will always have the admiration of all lovers of liberty in the old World and the New, and we Englishmen are proud to have fought by its side.—Hamilton Spectator.

Australians And Italians

Henry Ioss of life followed a panic when a ship carrying Italian prisoners of war was sunk by a mine in the Mediterranean, a war correspondent of the Sydney Morning Herald says in London and he tells this story for the Australian Press Union:

The ship was carrying 400 prisoners from Libya to internment camps in Egypt, and a small old party of Australian infantrymen, under a lieutenant, were acting as escort.

It was about midday of a typical Mediterranean day, warm and sunny, with a sparkling blue sea and no hint of danger anywhere. The prisoners were sitting about on the upper deck, laughing and talking and playing cards — youngsters in their drab green uniforms, happy in their captivity —as all Italians seem to be. The steel-helmeted guards leaned at ease on their rifles. "A boring job", said their youthful commander to me.

Suddenly the ship's whistle screamed as it let raid alarm. Steel helmets and lifebelts were hastily adjusted, guns manned. The prisoners were on their feet, excitedly muttering, looking up fearfully — the first signs of panic. Seconds passed, and far away we saw the faint black dots in the sky. Were they ours or enemy? We never knew, for they passed us by flying high and fast, and soon after disappeared from view.

I went down to the watchroom with a group of ship's officers, and we were again talking, smoking and smoking. And then it happened. There was a tremendous explosion and the whole ship rocked. The engines at once stopped. The wardroom floor buckled and we were thrown in all directions. Some did not get up again.

There was a moment's deathly silence. Then a voice—Valentine (Greece, mediaeval Italy, Elizabeth-an England, Holland) of Australia—its one can distinguish not only Athens, but the parthenon.

Other sacred places besides Delphi reveal themselves to the pilgrim, such as Epidaurus, a clever combination of Lourdes, where genuine medical science was used to dispel the fumes of superstition; and Eleusis in its sacrificial day, where many pious souls hoped to find a solution of elemental rites, the privileges of a religious mystery.

BIVOUAC OF THE DEAD

Theodore O'Hara is known as a one-poem poet.

He is remembered chiefly for his stirring, solemn and sonorous "Bivouac of the Dead."

The poem was written to commemorate the re-interment at Frankfort on July 20, 1847, of the Kentuckians who had been killed at the battle of Buena Vista in Mexico earlier in the same year.

Theodore O'Hara, newspaperman, soldier of fortune and minor poet, was the son of a classical scholar named Kenton Harper. He had fled to America after being involved in the Irish revolution of 1798 and who had been one of the Kentucky schoolmasters of Zachary Taylor, commander of the American army at Buena Vista.

O'Hara wrote two versions of "The Bivouac of the Dead," the first being regarded as the better. The first stanza of the well known poem reads as follows:

The muffled drum's and roll has beat
The soldier's last tattoo;
No more on Life's parade shall meet
That brave and fallen few;
On fame's eternal campaign-ground
Their silent tents are spread,
And Glory guards, with solemn round,
The bivouac of the dead.

The lines of this stanza, in whole or in part, have been carved on the marble or cast in bronze on soldiers' tombs and monuments and inscribed on the walls of many cemeteries from one end of America to the other.

Yet the author never wrote another line that was that attracted the least public notice.

Theodore O'Hara's himself fought as a Kentucky militia colonel in the Mexican war and he was shot in the legs while leading an assault at Cardenas as a member of the filibustering expedition of Governor Lopez during the winter of 1848-1850 in liberate Cuba from Spain.

During the Civil War O'Hara served as a colonel in the Confederate army.

After the war he went into the cotton business in Georgia but the enterprise failed when his warehouses burned.

He died in 1867 of malaria at the age of 47 on the plantation of a friend in Alabama.

In 1874 he was re-interred in the state military cemetery at Frankfort in the native state of his his famous poem was placed on his monument, a fact that been on the monuments of thousands of other American soldiers.

PERSONALS

ENGAGEMENT NOTICE

Mr. and Mrs. William Kempston, Belleville, wish to announce the engagement of their eldest daughter, Elizabeth, to Mr. Cyril Patrick Moran, Toronto, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo B. Blaker, Belleville. The wedding to take place the 31st of July in Christ Church, Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Rodbourne, Trenton, are spending their vacation with the former's mother, Mrs. A. Rodbourne.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Moran of Detroit, Michigan, with their two sons, Johnnie and Richard, spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. J. Waddell, Foxboro. Mr. and Mrs. Moran returned home on Monday, but the two boys will stay with Mrs. Waddell for a vacation.

Miss Lillian Alexander is a patient at Belleville General Hospital.

Mrs. M. A. Phillips, 32 Pine St., is in Woodstock, attending the funeral of her brother, Mr. George Barnum.

Miss Gladys Milligan, a nurse at Belleville General Hospital, is spending part of her vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Milligan, Sydenham.

Mr. and Mrs. James Riggs, Northern Saskatchewan, are spending their holidays with Mr. Riggs' father, Mr. Walter Riggs, West Bridge Street.

Mrs. Stan Tufts of Perth, and daughter, Brenda, have been visiting relatives in the city.

Mrs. H. J. Clarke, 256 Foster Avenue, has returned to the city after spending the past week with her daughter, Mrs. Roy Rickard, and Rev. Mr. Rickard, Colborne.

Mrs. Charles G. Rutan of Yarmouth, N.S., is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Young and sister, Miss Verla Young, at 60 Catherine Street.

Miss Florence Walbridge, bride-to-be, was entertained at a delightful dinner party, Tuesday evening, at Pickett's by her friends of Queen Victoria School of which she is a popular member. During the evening Miss Walbridge was presented with a silver tray by her colleagues.

About forty-five members of the Belleville and South Hastings Women's Association of the United Church enjoyed an outing at Oak Lake yesterday. An interesting program of baseball games, races and swimming took place at the United Church Summer School camping grounds. As a result of the afternoon's competitions, Miss Rita Tucker won the girls' athletic prize and Orme Gadsdon the boys' prize. An appetizing picnic supper was served and after supper a worship service took place.

Miss Marjorie Sherman, 163 Church Street, entertained at a cup and saucer shower at her home yesterday afternoon in honor of Mrs. R. J. Rutherford, to which twelve guests were present. The tea table was very beautifully arranged with a lace cloth, and centrepiece of pink, white and blue flowers, with tapers. Mrs. Jack Murphy poured tea and the assistants were Mrs. Nelson Murphy and Miss Marjorie Sherman.

Mrs. E. J. Butler was hostess to the executive of the Catholic Women's League at her home, William Street, last evening in honor of Mrs. Leo Callaghan, who is leaving the city shortly to reside in Simcoe and Mrs. Dan Donoghue, who recently left Belleville, to make her home in Cobourg. The presentation of handsome leather bags was made by the president, Mrs. Butler, who spoke of the excellent work of these former officers of the League and expressed the regret all felt at their departure. Mrs. Callaghan and Mrs. Donoghue graciously thanked their friends for their thoughtful gifts. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess at the conclusion of the delightful social evening.

Weddings

McMURRAY—POTTS

A pretty wedding was solemnized in Metropolitan United Church, Trenton, at eight o'clock on Saturday evening, June 21st, when Rachael, daughter of Mrs. Florence Potts and the late Frederick A. Potts, became the bride of Victor James McMurray, eldest son of Mrs. May McMurray and the late Wm. J. McMurray.

The ceremony was performed on the lawn, the officiating clergyman being Rev. C. E. Deagan.

The bride was charming in a floor length pink gown with white bridal veil and Juliet cap with wreath of red roses and carnations, and wore a corsage of red roses.

The bride's attendant was Miss Helen Leavey, who was attired in pale blue dress and veil and wore a corsage of red roses.

Mr. Alfred Belear was groomsman.

After the ceremony a buffet lunch was served to about sixty and the happy couple left afterwards on a motor trip to Toronto and other points. They will reside in Trenton.

BOULIANNE—MERCER.

The marriage of Kathleen Ruby Millicent Mercer, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. J. E. Mercer, Bayside, Ontario, to Louis Philip Boulianne, son of Mrs. L. Boulianne, Quebec, took place at Holloway United Church, Belleville, Saturday evening.

Rev. J. A. Dills officiated, assisted by the bride's father and the wedding music was played by Mrs. J. Moore, organist of Wesley Church, Bayside.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Sergeant Wesley G. Mercer, R.C.A.F., and she looked charming in a floor length gown of white chiffon over taffeta with a shoulder length veil, held in place with orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of roses and bouvardia.

She was attended by her sister, Miss Vera Patricia Mercer, who wore a floor length gown of Queen blue of taffeta, and carried a bouquet of pink roses. Mr. Roy Snider, Belleville, was groomsman.

Immediately after the wedding they left for Montreal where the honeymoon will be spent, the bride-travelling in a smart blue dress and large picture hat, with white shark-skin coat. They will reside in Belleville where the groom will be near his work as a mechanist at the R.C.A.F. airport, Trenton.

Fashion Flashes

A USEFUL DISCOVERY is the little dress that goes anywhere, looks nice at a smart town restaurant or at a country club luncheon. Such a model is a frock in sheer natural linen, uncrushable, and beautified with embroidered bands of multi-colored flowers in blue, green and red.

A good friend for the traveller is a grand travel ensemble consisting of a two piece suit-dress in tangerine yellow non-crushable linen and casual coat of brown and white checked silver wool.

Up goes the mercury, but a day in town will find you cool and comfortable if you wear shantung. A grand suit is in creamy white shantung, beautifully tailored and worn with an inky black shantung blouse, a big black hat and bag.

Advice to the Lovelorn

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Many Careers Now Open to Modern Women

The straws which tell how the wind blows promise me no write this little homily.

A correspondent who has made two disastrous marriages culminating in divorce writes to ask if it is advisable to marry a man eight years younger than she is. The man is 23 and he is so head over heels in love with this lady that he is willing to legally adopt her two children by her former marriages.

The young man's salary is not large, and if the marriage takes place there will be a bit of high-powered 'arithmetic to keep the family going on the scale the willing bride expects.

She wants a good apartment in a good neighborhood, so that her little daughters will make the right social contacts. She's willing for them to go to public school, but she wants them to have dancing lessons where they'll meet the "right sort". And she confides she doesn't like housekeeping and is a poor cook.

The 23-year old boy "madly in love" strikes me as the camel or proverb whose back was broken by the last straw. My correspondent won't like this letter, but my conscience will be clear, and the vision of that twenty-three-year-old lad, who has always lived at home with his mother until her death six months ago, won't rob me of a smile me.

Does that poor youngster realize what he's taking on in the way of responsibility? Neither of the lady's former husbands contribute a penny to the support of their daughters?

You see the young husband at 22, old before his time, trying frantically to make his salary of $30 per month spread over his wife's ambitions for her daughters. You can see in your mind's eye the wife's face as she takes things easy and fall back on that stupid alibi that she doesn't like housekeeping and has always been a poor cook. Apropos of the last, let it be said, here and now, that there's no excuse for any woman on God's green earth for being a dazed cook and knowing how to keep house.

And now, my dear ladies, please let me put to you a question which has agitated me for many a year. Why do modern women think there is no career open to them but family going on the scale the willing bride expects.

She wants a good apartment in a good neighborhood, so that her little daughters will make the right social contacts. She's willing for them to go to public school, but she wants them to have dancing lessons where they'll meet the "right sort". And she confides she doesn't like housekeeping and is a poor cook.

DR. DAFOE'S COLUMN on the Quintuplets and the Care of Your Children

How a Milk Shortage Produced an Epidemic of Rye Disease

There is a rather interesting fact about health in Denmark during the first World War that leads to some interesting speculations now.

In that war, of course, Denmark was neutral. It enjoyed prosperity selling the belligerent nations its farm produce. As the Allied blockade tightened around Germany, the latter drew on the Scandinavian more and more for supplies, and the Danes were able to sell all the milk, butter and cheese they could produce. They exported so much of them that shortages developed at home.

They had always been great consumers of milk—about 70 gallons of milk per capita a year. Now they ate very little of it.

As the war progressed, a mysterious eye disease began appearing in Denmark. Doctors didn't know much about it and weren't able to check it. It reached epidemic proportions.

Then, beginning early in 1918, the Allied blockade and Allied diplomacy cut off Germany from most of Denmark's food supplies. The Allies didn't have the ships to import much of the Danish products, so the Danes began to have to consume more milk, butter and cheese at home. As if by magic, the eye disease disappeared.

Today we know the explanation. Doctors then didn't. The eye disease was xerophthalmia. It is caused by a deficiency of vitamin A in the diet, and milk and its products contain this vitamin in abundance. When the Danes didn't get their milk, they didn't get their vitamins.

It is to be wondered what the xerophthalmia rate is today among the Scandinavians, always the biggest milk consumers in the world.

This is one example of how a war can affect a whole people. Neutral or belligerent, whether in the fighting line or not. It points a lesson to us.

MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Son's Wedding

Dear Mrs. Beeckman,

—My son is to be married next month, and I would like to have you tell me what I should wear. The wedding is to be in church at five o'clock.

—The you consider this plan correct: after the ceremony the bridal photographs are to be taken, and then the bridal party are going to dine together? Her family has invited relatives and close friends to go to their home with them to wait for the reception at seven-thirty, and we are expected to do the same. In other words, every guest at the ceremony is expected to wait from about five-thirty until seven-thirty. Don't you agree that this is an awkward idea?

—When do I leave my seat in church?

4.—When do I congratulate the bride, and do I also congratulate my son?

P. S. R.

1.—What the bride's mother and the groom's mother wear depends on the style of the bride. If the wedding is to be formal, with the bride wearing a formal-length wedding dress the mothers wear floor-length dresses of any becoming color—not very vivid, or not very dark. At an informal wedding the mothers wear dresses of the same length as the bride's dress.

2.—Having an interlude of several hours between the ceremony and the reception is an awkward fact. I think, myself, that there isn't much reason or point in planning this way. I consider that the bride doesn't have the reception directly following the ceremony, and have a bridal table, at which she and the groom and their attendants sit. You, the groom's parents cannot make this suggestion, so you will have to decide gracefully with the plans of the bride and her family.

3.—You should stay in your pew the first few on the right of the aisle) until an usher comes to escort you down the aisle. When the recessional is over the ushers come back, to escort to the door of the church, first the bride's mother and then you, the groom's mother, the bride's guests do not leave their places until all members of the immediate families have left the church.

4.—As you arrive at the reception you kiss the bride and offer her your best wishes for your happiness always", and then you congratulate your son.

"Maid" or "Matron" of Honor

Dear Mrs. Beeckman

Is it proper to have a married woman as a maid of honor? Does the matron of honor have to be a married woman?

Rosalie

It is the name of the chief attendant that is confusing you. If the bride's chief attendant is unmarried, she is called a maid of honor. If she is married, she is called a matron of honor.

The bridesmaids are called bridesmaids whether they are married or unmarried.

300,000 Polish War Prisoners May be Liberated by Russia

London, June 26 (CP)—A high-ranking source in Europe here said negotiations are under way in London to liberate 300,000 Polish soldiers, prisoners in Russia to fight against the Germans.

This source added that progress is being made despite Russia's original objection to the plan, said to have been advanced first by the Poles.

The prisoners include many officers—including some generals—and skilled troops, most of whom have had training with modern implements of war, this source pointed out.

He said the Polish government in London is confident that if liberated the prisoners would turn their whole-hearted effort on the Nazis.

Training Plan 25 Per Cent Ahead of Schedule Says Power

Air Minister Inspects R.C.A.F. Air Station at Trenton

EXPLAINS SCHOOL

Trenton, June 26 — (Special)—The British Commonwealth Air Training Plan is training 25 per cent. more pilots, observers, air-gunners and wireless operators than was first anticipated when the plan was first drawn up, the Hon. C. G. Power, Minister for Air, revealed here yesterday.

The Air Minister was making his first visit to the Trenton Air Station in a year. With him was his deputy, S. L. deCarteret, Brigadier General Harold Macdonald, Chairman of Trenton, an assistant executive to the Air Minister, Group Captain F. V. Long of Air Force Headquarters at Ottawa and Group Captain F. H. Mackworth, D.F.C., Officer Commanding Air Training Command, Toronto. Group Captain T. A. Lawrence, Officer Commanding the Trenton Air Station, conducted the party.

Group Captain Mackworth was the first to arrive at Trenton, flying here from Toronto. He was greeted by Group Captain Lawrence and the two in turn welcomed the Air Minister and party from Ottawa, who arrived in a large passenger plane.

Tanned a deep brown by the summer sun, Air Minister Power in made some startling and satisfying announcements concerning the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan, during his tour at Trenton.

"The plan is even more successful than was at first anticipated," he said. "Already it is six months ahead of schedule and twenty-five per cent more pilots, observers, air gunners and wireless operators are being turned out at the present time above the schedule.

Due to Increased Efficiency

"The tremendous upswing in the training program is due to the increasing efficiency of the officers and the training crews," continued the Hon. Mr. Power. "More young men are being taken to the various schools than we had hoped for. The situation is continuing to improve rapidly."

He stated that another reason for the increase in the training program is the fact that there is a large supply of aircraft now available for training purposes. Planes are being received from Canada and the United States for training purposes.

The Air Minister announced for the first time yesterday the formation of ground crews for overseas service. "Ground crews will in the future man the R.C.A.F. squadrons overseas," he said. "This will undoubtedly be a welcome announcement to the ground men throughout the service who formerly there was very little or no chance of them ever getting overseas."

Recently Prime Minister Mackenzie King announced the formation of 28 squadrons of Royal Canadian Air Force overseas. Formerly squadrons of the R.C.A.F. overseas have been manned by R.A.F. ground crews. These crews will be replaced by Canadian trained under the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan. Up to the present the plan only called for the training of pilots, observers, air-gunners and wireless operators and ground crews were not included.

Sufficiently Trained

Several thousand ground crews have already been sufficiently trained to enable the 28 squadrons to be formed overseas, the Air Minister announced.

"The Trenton Air Station is one of the best in the Dominion," he said. "During my tour of inspection, I have noticed the efficiency of every department, and am well pleased with the officers and men on the station.

"There are more flying hours here than at any other station in the Dominion," he said. "Planes are taking off and landing in an unceasing stream. It is here that instructors are first trained for elementary schools."

He announced, for the first time the formation of the Composite Training School which is located at Trenton. The school takes all air crews who have failed to take their course and sends them back to other branches of the Air Force. Pilots who have been "washed-out" are transferred to the other sections of the air crew after tests have been made at this school, which is administered by Squadron Leader Denton Massey.

Previously washed-out air crews, whether pilots, observers or wireless operators, were recruited back in ground crews or given their discharge. Now they have the chance of changing from a pilot to an observer and so on down the line.

Very Few Take Discharge

"A very small percentage of the washed-out air crews want their discharge," said Mr. Power. "Approximately eight per cent. of the total have requested their discharge but of these a large number have been transferred to other branches of the service, to munition plants, or are American."

"When one of these men are sent to the Composite Training School, they are first given a number of tests," he stated. "They are tested by a medical officer, then by a specialist of the section he is to transfer to and later appears before the Selection Board."

The Air Minister commented on the small percentage of men who have requested their discharge of which they are all entitled. "It shows the fine spirit of those who join the Air Force," he said. "Even though they have to step down a notch they are willing to carry on and do their part in the war."

This morning the Air Minister attended the weekly flag raising ceremony, with the whole personnel of the station lined up on the parade grounds. Following the ceremony, the Hon. Mr. Power took the salute as the parade marched past.

Later in the morning Mr. Power left by plane for St. Thomas where he will make a similar inspection of the Air Station.

HAIFA RAIDED

Jerusalem, June 26 (AP)—Hostile aircraft raided Haifa, Palestine's chief port, early today. Anti-aircraft guns went into action, but there was little damage and no casualties.

By the end of the year it is planned to have 20 per cent of the confectionery and ice cream industry operated by gas produced from wood and low grade coals in generators of Japanese design.

Washington May Set Auto Prices

Washington, June 26 —(AP)— Announcing that Chrysler Corporation had refused to rescind a recent price advance, Price Administrator Leon Henderson asserted tonight that the company's action "is forcing us to consider pricing of automobiles out of the hands of the industry."

Henderson had made a personal request to the automobile industry to withdraw announced price increases.

(The price increases, placed in effect by Chrysler Corporation, Ford Motor Company, Hudson Motor Car Company, Studebaker Corporation, and Nash-Kelvinator Corporation, ranged from $10 to $53.)

Henderson said that steps would be pushed "immediately to establish a complete overall price ceiling for new automobile models."

The price chief said that because of Chrysler's refusal he is releasing the smaller independents from his request that they rescind price advances, but that a request to the Ford Motor Company still is pending. He praised the Packard Company for its action in delaying a proposed increase.

QUINTE TENNIS CLUB DEFEATED BY POINT ANNE

Canada Cement Team Wins Three Out of Four Points in Splendid Matches

WEST SIDES SPLIT

Winning three of five matches played, the Canada Cement club of Point Anne, made the greatest advance in the final fall of tennis played in the Trent Valley Tennis League yesterday, when they won three points over the Quinte Tennis Club, while the West Sides were dividing four points with Trenton, both matches being played in Belleville.

At the Quinte Tennis Club the home team took the men's singles and doubles, but lost a men's doubles and both sets of mixed doubles to the Point Anne netsters. The ladies' double of this series will be played tomorrow.

The results of these matches were:—

Men's Singles — T. Donlhee (Quinte) won over G. Fraser (Pt. Anne) 6-1 and 6-3.

Men's Doubles—H. Kerr and H. Mott (Quinte) defeated J. Hart and G. Huck (Pt. Anne) 2-6; 6-0 and 6-1.

Men's Doubles—T. Harwood and J. De Forge (Pt. Anne) defeated A. Cunningham and L. Wickerson (Quinte) 6-4 and 6-2.

Mixed Doubles—Hilda Callaghan and Clarke Fraser (Pt. Anne) won over Mrs. Ryder and Tom Barnett (Quinte) 13-11 and 6-4.

Mixed Doubles—E. Gilmour and Tom Bowles (Pt. Anne) defeated Mrs. Rutter and J. Holten (Quinte) 6-4, 6-4 and 9-7.

West Sides Split

At the West Side courts on Holloway Street the home club won two of four matches played and as in the case of the games played on the Quinte courts, competition was keen and the sporting element high. Two sets were unplayed, however. The results were as follows:

1st Men's Doubles—Doug Maybee and Les Lennox (West Sides) won over Theo Bonneau and Roger Feldman (Trenton) 7-9, 6-2, 7-5.

2nd Men's Doubles—To be played later.

1st Mixed Doubles—Peggy and Bill White (Trenton) defeated Mary Williams and Ray Lennox (West Sides) 6-2 and 6-4.

2nd Mixed Doubles—Dorothy Poe and Clare Riddell (West Sides) won over Elena Westfall and J. Pelton (Trenton) 6-4 and 6-4.

Ladies' Doubles—Freda Blachke and Gertie Blachke (Trenton) won over Olive Delaney and Pat Wilkes (West Sides) 6-3 and 6-1.

Men's Singles—To be played later.

Overall score—Trenton 2; West Sides 2.

The standing of the Trent Valley Tennis League today reads:

FINNS PROCLAIM DEFENSIVE FIGHT AGAINST SOVIET

Premier Rangell Makes Declaration After Repeated Bombing by Russia

23 RAIDERS SHOT DOWN

Helsinki, June 26 (AP)—Finland answered a rain of Russian air bombs today by declaring she would defend herself with every means at her power, and followed this up by claiming that 23 Soviet raiders had been shot down over Finnish territory.

The declaration of policy was made by Premier Johha Rangell at a secret night session of parliament called after repeated Russian assaults had killed scores of persons, wounded hundreds more and caused widespread property damage.

Rangell asserted the Soviet government had ignored requests for an explanation of three attacks and that Finland thus had only one course to pursue, in the absence of unanimous vote of confidence.

(The "explanation" is that German troops are on Finnish soil, apparently preparing to attack Soviet territory from the north as soon as the drive in the south attains sufficient progress.

(War sources in Berlin claimed Finland had decided to go formally to war with Russia, but Ribbentrop's announcement referred only to defence.)

Indiscriminate Raids

The Russians first say confine their attacks to any particular area yesterday, ranging far and wide over the country on which they wrought havoc during the brief war of 1939-40.

This city had its sixth air raid alarm in a little more than 24 hours this morning. Other targets included Turku, Lappeenranta, Hamina, Joensu, a flying field at Malmi, Porvoo, Loviisa, Pori and Pyterlanti.

The naval guns on Hango Peninsula, which the Russians obtained from Finland in the peace settlement little more than a year ago, also went into action, shelling adjacent Finnish territory at intervals for hours.

The communique made no mention of any contact between Finnish and Russian troops along the border, and it was presumed that hostilities had thus far been confined to the air.

(Dispatches from Stockholm last night disclosed the Swedish government had agreed to permit conversion of a large section of its defence against Soviet Russia, an authoritative source declared today.

"Quite considerable numbers" of German troops have been established on Finnish soil, this source said, "and the Russians certainly know they have the right to attack Germans wherever they may be.

The foreign office, similarly, was known to be studying whether its neutrality obligations within has conceded Germany permission for passage of an army division to Finland, may be involved.

RELIEVED PAINS IN BACK AND LIMBS FOR THIS LOCAL LADY

Says She Turned to Syntona on More Than One Occasion and Got the Same Good Results Each Time.

MRS. AMY WILKEY

The great popularity of Syntona in Belleville and vicinity is not surprising when it is known that each spoonful is loaded with extracts from no less than 12 of the finest medicinal herbs to improve the action of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels and to cleanse the blood of excess acids and poisonous waste matter. Syntona is pleasant to take and many who have used it, say that even after the first few days, the whole system takes on a new feeling of energy and resistance. The following report of Mrs. Amy Wilkey is only one of many recently received.

"I have come to rely on Syntona as the best household remedy, for it has given me grand results on more than one occasion. Only two years ago I was feeling miserable, suffering from constipation, biliousness and pains in my muscles and joints. I kept poorly and had frequent headaches. At that time, I took a few bottles of Syntona and I got splendid results.

"Now, the rheumatic pains began to come back on me, particularly in my back and limbs. My tongue was coated, my breath was bad and I was troubled with constipation. Remembering how Syntona had helped me before I took another short treatment and I am glad to report the results the same as in the former cases, I have ever used."

Every weakness, ailing, run-down person in Belleville or vicinity is cordially invited to call at DOLAN, The Druggist, and find out about Syntona. See how it can help you, too

It may be sweet music to William Powell but it sounds awful "corny" to Myrna Loy. The two stars are pictured in a scene from their hilarious, happy-go-lucky comedy, "I Love You Again," now showing at the McCarthy Theatre.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

James W. Barton, M.D.

The Heart and the Electrocardiogram

Since insurance companies started the practice of examining their policyholders at regular intervals free of charge, many individuals have begun to make regular visits to their own physician for an annual or semi-annual check-up.

There is no question but that the majority of these individuals seeking a check-up are more interested in the condition of the heart than in any other part or all other parts of the body. And despite a careful examination including heart rate and sounds before and after exercise, outlining the size of the heart by use of the fingers and stethoscope, many times are asked their family physician about the value of the electrocardiogram, which is a record of the rhythm of the heart.

While most physicians do not hesitate to send a patient to a heart specialist if there is some doubt about the heart condition, that everybody past forty years of age should have an electrocardiogram even if the heart appears to be normal, is now the opinion of many physicians.

Further, it is somewhat embarrassing to a physician who after a careful examination pronounces a heart to be sound, to have the patient ask him about an electrocardiogram "to make sure" his heart is really all right.

Dr. Harry Plummer Rose, Richmond, Ind., in Journal of Medicine, states that any patient who has reached the age of 40 or more should have at least one routine electrocardiogram during the course of a physical examination, even if the heart is apparently normal. This electrocardiogram establishes a person's normal tracing and can be filed away for future reference just as other records of his condition are filed.

In what way does the electrocardiogram help? A patient who really has some form of heart disease can be told by the physician just what he can be and live safely.

To the patient who thinks he has heart disease and no heart disease is present, this electrocardiogram may possibly be the means of getting him back on his feet again. Apparently the day is not far distant when physicians, realizing the importance of the electrocardiogram in estimating the strength of the heart, will have an electrocardiograph as part of their office equipment.

TWO TRAGEDIES FOR MOTHER

New York, June 26 (CP)—Fifteen months ago Mrs. William Katzman, 31, stripped and her daughter Sharon, 11 weeks old, fell from her arms and suffered a fatal skull fracture. Yesterday Mrs. Katzman fainted while bathing her month-old son, Barry, and the baby drowned.

Little Benny's Note Book

Ma was sewing on her sewing machine and I was standing at her window watching to see if it would stop circumventing the wind. It didn't, and I thought, Heck, there's probably no sense in me eating her.

Meaning about going out, and I told her so, saying, Ma, gosh darn, I thought of a good plot for a story, do you want to hear it?

I'm trying to concentrate on this sewing just now, Benny, ma said, and I said, Well I'll tell it to you. There was a boy and he asked his mother if he could get out a while and she said no he had to stay in but stopped and her daughter Sharon, 11 weeks old, fell from her arms and suffered a fatal skull fracture. Yesterday Mrs. Katzman fainted while bathing her month-old son, Barry, and the baby drowned.

For Friday, June 27

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

THE ASTRAL influences on the affairs of this day are read as most propitious, and this year the public should be a definite advance upon former objectives, with the substantial cooperation of influential friends or benefactors. Every social should thrive, especially under the impetus of new ideas and their handling. A sense of duty or obligation may inspire this effort but will not interfere in private gain and advancement. Change, travel, push may promote gain and pleasure in all relations but be wary impetuosity.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may be on the brink of a year of gratifying achievement, with finances increase, attained aims and ambitions, accompanied by the support of those in high places, especially in lines of public or community welfare. Some are to be called to duty or obligation this effort should result in increase and pleasant renouements, although there may be change, travel or revamping of ideas. It is a time for alert and explosive ability, with enhanced happiness and prestige in the realm of social and business associations.

A child born on this day should have many talents and abilities for success in both public and private life. It should be ambitious, executive and progressive, attaining position and happiness in all its contacts and objectives.

2,831 VESSELS ON ORDER

Washington, June 26 (AP)—Navy Secretary Knox reported today that since Jan. 1, 1940, the United States Navy has ordered 2,831 vessels at a cost of $7,234,262,178. A summary of progress of the construction program showed that types of vessels now completed include 337 combatant ships with a total tonnage of 1,274,765 and 154 auxiliaries, 105 mine craft, and 144 patrol vessels.

FINNISH SHIPS ORDERED BACK

Washington, June 25 — (AP) — Finnish ships en route from the United States to Finland were ordered back to American ports last week following extension of the British blockade to Petsamo, the Finnish legation disclosed today.

Legation officials explained the action was taken before the German invasion of Russia and had no connection with developments last week-end.

WHAT STOPS YOU FROM ENLISTING?

HEALTH? A GOOD JOB? YOUR AGE? LACK OF INFORMATION? FAMILY RESPONSIBILITIES?

If there is any doubt in your mind about whether or not you will be accepted or about how you can adjust yourself to army life, the quickest way to find out is to visit your nearest Recruiting Depot. There you will get all the information you need.

If your job could be filled by a woman or an older man—give it up and enlist for Active Service.

No matter where you work, if your services are not indispensable . . . and if you are young and healthy . . . you cannot refuse to heed this call for men for Active Service. Your duty is clear. You should enlist in the Canadian Army.

Is your family well represented in Canada's Active Service Forces?

Every Canadian family should send as many men as it can give. It is a matter of family honor and family duty . . . because the very continuance of free family life in Canada is at stake in this war.

Don't be fooled by people who say "There's nothing for us to worry about".

The situation is serious. Hitler's ruthless armies have already enslaved most of Europe. Wherever the Nazi machine has broken through there are no longer any young men enjoying freedom. The Nazis aim at world domination. Either Hitler must be stopped or Canadian freedom will be ended.

Be a fighting man in one of the many branches of Canada's Active Army.

The Army needs men for Artillery, Engineers, Signals, Armoured Cars, Tanks, Infantry, Transport and Supply, Medical Corps and other branches. You do not have to be a skilled tradesman when you enlist. The Army will teach you.

At your nearest recruiting depot they will tell you about the various units; what they do; how they work; how you can fit into them. And at the same time they will tell you about rates of pay and family allowances; about free board, lodging, clothing, medical and dental care.

If you plan upon enlisting later... DON'T WAIT! . . . JOIN NOW!

Perhaps you are thinking of enlisting later on . . . later in the Summer or next Fall, or in the Winter . . . Well; that's not good enough. You are needed immediately. Clean up your personal and business affairs at once. Then visit the nearest Recruiting Depot, and be on your way to Active Service.

THE CALL FOR MEN HAS COME — IF YOU ARE YOUNG AND STRONG, YOU SHOULD ENLIST.

ARMY DAY — SAT., JUNE 28th

RATES OF PAY IN THE RANKS

WALL STREET

New York, June 26.—(AP)—The stock market today was in a little rallying territory today after a hesitant start, with gains of fractions to a point or so were plentiful.

Reading Common and Savage Arms posted gains of around five per cent. Given support also were N.Y. Shipbuilding, Montgomery Ward, U.S. Steel, Boeing, Glenn Martin, Kennecott, Douglas, Curtiss-Wright, Du Pont, Warner Bros., and Allied Chemical.

Among the Canadian issues, Canadian Pacific was unchanged and Distillers-Seagrams gained 1-8. In the Bond Market Canada 4s were unquoted.

TORONTO STOCKS

Toronto, June 26 (CP) — Gold shares recovered moderately in the early trade on the stock market and the index underwent a few narrow losses than gains while the base metal and western oils turned slightly to the down side. Volume showed little change at 74,000 shares for the first three hours.

Wright Hargreaves weakened 1 to 4.85 and Upper Canada was off 2 to 1.95 although Kirkland Lake, new for Teck Hughes, Aunor, Kerr Addison and Chesterville.

International Nickel, Pend Oreille were a bit soft and Hudson Bay and Noranda gained 3-8-1-2. Otherwise base metals were unchanged.

Announcement that Massey Harris Company was working out a reorganization plan stimulated interest in the preferred issue and it advanced more than 1 point while the common added a small fraction. Fanny Farmer, British American Oil and Goodyear preferred were other strong industrials. In the western oils Calgary-Edmonton and Davies were lower by a cent or two.

Top-Grade Eggs Drop Another Cent

Toronto — A further drop of 1 cent a dozen in top-quality eggs was felt by both country and retail dealers on the Toronto open produce market yesterday. The butter market held firm under light receipts and a fairly good demand.

With buyers procuring only sufficient supplies to meet immediate requirements, spot and retail prices on top-grade eggs declined 1 cent yesterday. Dealers claim anticipation of better demand as the lower prices created a slight stabilizing effect and they say prices are expected to hold steady on future trading. Country dealers were asking 25 cents a dozen for grade A large while selling price to the retail trade was 29 cents a dozen.

Receipts on the butter market were extremely light yesterday and due to the time of year they are expected to become even lighter. A fairly good demand prevailed and sellers reported no difficulty in keeping supplies cleared.

Montreal Produce

Man Found Dead On C. N. Railway

Mangled beyond recognition, the body of an unidentified man was found on the Canadian National Railways right-of-way two miles east of Brighton early today. A west bound freight crew saw the body and reported the incident.

Provincial Police believe the man was riding on a freight train and had apparently fallen asleep, following which he fell off the train beside the revolving wheels. The arms and legs were severed from the body, while the head and face were also badly mangled and unrecognizable.

Provincial Police took over the investigation and Inspector Frank Gardner announced at noon that finger prints of the man would be taken and sent to Ottawa in an effort to endeavor establishing his identity. It is impossible to identify him now, but we know he was a man about 35 years of age, weighs about 155 pounds and had no upper teeth.

British Mission Reported on Way To Visit Moscow

London, June 26—(CP)—A British mission representing the Army, Navy and Air Force was reported today in Moscow to be speeding to Moscow from the Middle East to confer with the Soviet High Command on aid for Russia.

United States Ambassador John Winant has been conferring here with British and Russian officials presumably on the question of United States aid to Russia.

Russia is known to want more help from Britain than the step-up bombings against Germany and the French coast, which authoritative sources say must comprise Britain's main assistance.

British planes from the Middle East could fly to Russia for refitting on the Eastern front, but it was questioned whether Britain's Middle East command could spare them.

$500 Bequest Made To Albert College

London, Ont., June 26—(CP)—Various branches of the United Church are bequeathed more than $10,000 of the $12,000 estate of Samuel Clark Chown, of nearby Lorne, whose will was filed for probate today. He died April 9.

Albert College, Belleville, receives $500 and Alma College, St. Thomas, $500.

John G. Skelcher Celebrates A Triple Anniversary Friday When He Retires from C.N.R.

Employed as Fireman and Engineer With Company for 43 Years

HAD MANY CALLINGS

Former messenger boy, farmer, bridge construction worker, canal construction engineer and for the past forty-three years a valued employee of the Canadian National Railways, J. G. Skelcher, 136 Chatham Street, will complete his last official run when the 12.15 mail train pulls into Belleville station tomorrow afternoon.

The veteran engineer, whose appearance belies his sixty-five years of age, will enjoy a triple celebration. Not only will he observe honorable retirement from the railway, but also his sixty-fifth birthday and his forty-first wedding anniversary.

He was putting in his "spare time" polishing the family automobile in the heat of a noonday sun, when newspapermen interviewed him today. "Yep," he he smiled, "tomorrow, when I dis-connect the old 1 shall turn and pat the engine and say to her 'Good-by, old girl, you've been a good friend.'"

Those "small" came a query.

"I'm going to travel and see the country and my friends. I have a good car and am going to use it. I haven't had a real holiday since I started work fifty-five years ago."

He was right, Mr. Skelcher came to Canada from Birmingham, England, with his mother and three brothers, when he was ten years old. The three Boy's were not dead to him and he secured a job in Montreal as a messenger boy for the magnificent salary of three dollars a week. Two and one-half dollars went to pay for his board.

After five months at this job, the farm attracted him and he worked for six years in Howick, Quebec. Then he went to Montreal where he was employed by the Montreal Colonization Company until he was 19 years of age. Came another change and he found himself working on the Victoria Bridge when the span was changed from a tube to a steel structure.

Then came his first acquaintance with an engine. Securing employment with a company engaged in the construction of the Soulanges Canal, he found himself in charge of an engine. And that experience secured for him a job took him to the railway and a life position.

Joining the Grand Trunk Railway in Montreal, he was immediately sent to Little York, now known as Danforth, Toronto. Starting as a fireman his ability and faithful service soon promoted him after three years and nine months as engineer.

I started work fifty-five years ago," he said, "and I'm still going strong."

Canadians Efficient in Handling Aerial Photographs in England

BY ROSS MUNRO
(Canadian Press War Correspondent)

Somewhere in England, June 26. —(CP)—A group of Canadian airmen practised at the British Commonwealth Air Training plan to handle aerial photographs in Britain now, with the Royal Canadian Air Force.

They are actual photographying from the air but these photographic experts on the ground are the men who receive the films from the planes when they land and turn out prints in less than a half hour for the force and army intelligence branches.

The Empire Training plan graduates are settling right into their new assignment, working in one of the most advanced photographic departments of any squadron in Britain. The department has won a high reputation for photographic work.

At present most pictures turned out deal with army manoeuvres, bombed cities, camouflage tests and mosaics of areas which intelligence officers require.

JAPAN STUDIES NEW SITUATION

Foreign Minister Matsuoka is Received by the Emperor

Tokyo, June 26 (AP)—The Japanese Cabinet continued its meetings here to study the international situation that has developed since the outbreak of war.

By Oct. 31, 1941, Canada would have shipped more than 800,000,000 pounds of bacon and other meat products to the United Kingdom, providing contracts now in force are filled. Cheese production was progressing but extension of dairy production to other parts of Canada was "practicable and desirable."

"I believe the present Canadian dairy areas are capable of much greater production," Gardiner said, "but there is no better time to concentrate on better rather than quantity."

Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka was received by the Emperor Hirohito.

Mario Indelli, Italian ambassador to Japan, called at the Foreign Office to ask for help in the release of Italian sailors held at the Embassy in Moscow. He also gave information about the relative position of war on Russia.

The Japanese refused to express anxiety over the prospect of United States aid to Russia and other American moves in the Pacific.

The newspaper Yomiuri gave prominent display to a Berlin dispatch (unconfirmed from any other source) on the visit to Germany of Sir Archibald Clark Kerr, British ambassador to Russia, and Sir Stafford Cripps in which the envoy was said to have announced conclusion of an alliance between Britain, the United States and China. The United States was not the envoy was quoted as saying, would help in case of trouble in the Pacific.

Yomiuri said the Japanese Government viewed this as an important development and had ordered an investigation.

Bombed Hamburg

Roy Elmhurst, secretary to Premier Hepburn, arrived at the Premier's office just before the news that G.O.H.G. seated in the Premier's chair and the military in full possession. Three troops with revolvers stood at the doorway to the office. The Premier himself telephoned to say he would not be in until the afternoon. He said he would bring his registration card.

Mr. Elmhurst said the Premier presented his registration card and not answering the questions, after which he commended the affair as the first registration check-up since the National Registration.

Mr. Conant pointed out he had previously instructed the provincial city police throughout the province to ask all persons to produce their certificates when persons were arrested on charges of traffic violations. He had also warned motorists to ask hitchhikers to show their cards before they took them on lifts.

Censorship Complete

An official of the speed and secrecy with which the coup was carried out was high praise indeed. Lt. C. F. Constantine, Commanding Officer of Military District No. 2, here, said he knew nothing of the taking over of various points and that Premier Hepburn guarded by a trooper when he entered his office.

The censorship was remarkably effective. Newspaper offices here were not aware of the situation until the units were actually in the city.

The 1st Canadian armored division commanded by Maj.-Gen. Sansom was ordered to move from its home to give citizens a glimpse of what German people visited on cities of the Canadian army in view of the present recruiting campaign.

The Mail's circulation is 1,500,000, the News 800,000, and the Despatch sells more than 1,000,000 every Sunday.

Tabloids Prosperous

London's other tabloids—the Daily Mirror and the Pictorial—also had a prosperous year. The Mirror, with daily circulation of 1,800,000, reported a 1940-41 profit of £1,-544 (about $1,073,448) which was used as security for 1939-40 loss, though the comparative figure was not available. The Pictorial's profit of £208,908 (about $939,186) was £5,000 about $22,500) better than the previous year.

76 Nazi Planes Downed

The High Command said that 76 hostile planes were shot down in yesterday's air fighting, in which the Russians attacked objectives ranging from Finland in the far north to the Black Sea naval base of Constanta in Rumania. The Russians said they lost only 17 planes in these engagements.

Thus, in four days the plane losses claimed by the Soviet stood at: German losses: 457; Rumanian losses: 382.

Nazi parachutists were reported dropped by the High Command announcing that several had been captured by peasants.

The communique claimed the 10,000-ton Admiral Scheer, commanded by Captain Krancke, arrived at a German base after a long successful cruise in the north and south Atlantic." It credited her with the sinking of 86,000 of her total of 113,000 tons in the direction of a single convoy.

SHATTERING RAIDS

Many Fires Started

The Air Ministry announced that in the industrial area of Birmingham many large fires were started. Other targets in the French coast also were bombed. One British plane is missing from these operations.

The attacks on the French coast today followed early attacks during the hours before dawn when shuddering explosions were audible in England and some appeared to come from well inland in France. The second explosion also was attacked during daylight yesterday.

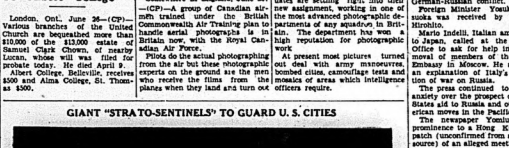
An authoritative source said a new-type "giant bomber" which is more than twice the size of former models, has been used in night flights in numbers ranging from 200 and 400." It was said that attacking planes in such great numbers were possible largely because of the increased flow of United States aircraft.

Planned For Months

Commenting on the sustained day-and-night offensive of the R.A.F. in the last 15 days, the British said it had been carefully planned "during long and arduous months when the weather restrict our activity."

An informed source, in noting the ever-increasing offensive, said that in the 24 hours ended at dusk Wednesday the R.A.F. sent more planes against Germany and Nazi-occupied territory than during any similar period, since start of the war. These operations were said to have at least equalled heavy Nazi raids on Britain last fall.

The Air Ministry said that during Wednesday morning and afternoon raids on the French coast 13 Nazi planes were shot down, bringing the total along the coast to 194 in 10 days.



GIANT "STRATO-SENTINELS" TO GUARD U. S. CITIES

The U. S. army and navy are reported to have ordered the giant balloons above type of six-lobed, 1,000-pound American cities in the event of air raids in the same way as the now famous London balloon barrage.

WILL NAZIS TRY PINCER MOVEMENT HERE?

Attention is focused on Kiev, U.S.S.R., the "Mother of Russian cities," and main objective of the Nazi drive into the rich Ukraine agricultural area. Kiev is the most important railway and motor road center of southern Russia. It is a key point of overland communications toward the Caucasus and Black Sea province. The pincers here are from Bessarabia and Brest-Litovsk.

Yankees Gain Top of American League Heap as Joe Dimaggio Continues His Hitting Streak

Six Percentage Points Ahead of Cleveland Who Lost to Boston

DIMAG NEARS RECORD

By JUDSON BAILEY
(Associated Press Sport Writer)

For the first time since the season was in its infancy New York Yankees are in first place in the American League today and now the pennant is on Cleveland Indians.

Critics of Cleveland always have contended the Indians were front runners who would fold up if the going got tough and the Yankees are not going to let anybody wait till September to find out.

The Yanks captured the lead yesterday by bumping St. Louis Browns 7-5 while the third-place Boston Red Sox raised the Tribe 7-2.

Joe DiMaggio led the bombing New York with a two-run homer that extended his hitting streak to 37 games, four short of the record and made it 20 consecutive contests in which one or more of the Yankees have hit home runs.

It was the sarks' 13th triumph in 18 games.

In Boston the Indians were set back on their heels by old Lefty Grover, who pitched his 298th ball for the 296th victory of his long and illustrious career. Ted Williams rapped his 17th home run of the fourth.

This was Cleveland's seventh defeat in 11 games and left Bob Feller, their right-hander, with the task of getting the Indians back on the victory trail.

Signor Turns It On

The best pitching effort ahead of the season was staged for a little throng of 2,000 fans at Washington yesterday when Dutch Leonard and Sid Hudson struggled for 12 scoreless innings before Chubby White Sox downed Senators 3-0 in the 13th.

Until the 13th none of the White Sox except Taft Wright had made a hit. He had made three without avail. Then Luke Appling, who's weakened, gave up a single, a double and two outs to force in a run and the spark plug of the triple steal of the year for their other tally. Signor got six strikes scattered.

Philadelphia Athletics nosed out Detroit Tigers 5-4 with a triple by Al Brancato scoring the run and deciding the game in the fourth frame.

Cards, Dodgers, Reds Win

In the National League St. Louis Cardinals and Brooklyn Dodgers both won, preserving the half-game margin between them.

Ernie White held Boston Braves to seven hits and coupled with that the Cardinals coasted to a 6-2 decision.

ROYALS PREVENT BUFFALO BISONS GAINING GROUND

Montreal Scores 8-3 Win While Newark Bears Remain Idle

LEAFS BEAT WINGS

(By the Associated Press)

Newark Bears of the International Baseball League have been in the lead practically all season with three other clubs in hot pursuit, but every time it looked as though one of the challengers was about to take over, the rest of the mob ganged up on the villain.

Buffalo Bisons as latest candidates for the first-place berth and they are going through the same thing that Montreal and Rochester endured earlier in the season.

They climbed into the runner-up spot during a seven-game winning streak but they're having a tough job staying there.

Last night Montreal Royals prevented the Bisons from gaining ground on the pacesetters by handing them an 8-3 shellacking. Thus the Bears, who were idle, picked up a half game on the second-place club without lifting a bat.

Three singles and all the bats of Jack Graham, Art Ross and Roy Hughes plated the Royals' opener, hit by Chet Kehn brought about the Montreal rally.

The fourth-place Rochester Red Wings wound up a three-game set half behind Montreal and Buffalo, trailing 4-3. Two-run blows by Floyd Young's double, scoring Joe Orengo ahead of him in the ninth inning enabled Baltimore Orioles to shade Syracuse Chiefs 3-1 for their third straight win.

Philadelphia Athletics nosed out Detroit Tigers 5-4 with a triple by Al Brancato scoring the run and deciding the game in the fourth frame.

Cards, Dodgers, Reds Win

In the National League St. Louis Cardinals and Brooklyn Dodgers both won, preserving the half-game margin between them.

Ernie White held Boston Braves to seven hits and coupled with that the Cardinals coasted to a 6-2 decision.

The Dodgers squeezed past Pittsburgh Pirates 4-3 with two runs in the eighth inning on a single and two doubles. Snipe Conley, 49, Makes Successful Ball Comeback

Dallas, June 26 (AP)—After being at 49 for James Patrick (Snipe) Conley—and almost ended in the ninth inning.

Baseball's oldest rookie finished with the right man on third but that failed to dim the lustre of the most sensational comeback in baseball history.

When Conley pitched for Dallas last night the batters were fellows he had seen in the International League when he set the present league record of 19 straight victories.

But Snipe, 49 years old as crafty, just as speedy and just as effective—that is, for eight innings—as in the ninth he faltered. The San Antonio Missions pounded out offerings for five hits and five runs. He managed to finish with an 11-4 victory but the end came none too soon.

"I figured I'd be out," said he sat in the dugout while his mates rubbed his arm. "But a couple of innings more and I'll be ready to go nine innings. You know it's been 21 years since I pitched the route."

Quit Game in 1928

Conley quit professional baseball in 1928 after 21 years in the game, 12 with Dallas. He went to Texas, or West, as they say out here, to pay and manage its semi-pro baseball.

But President George Schepps of the Dallas Club saw the possibility of building attendance for his club because Conley was the most popular player the city ever had. Under league rules Snipe returned as a Texas League baseball man three more than two years. He could use his age against because he had quit that delivery before 1925.

His greatness last night changed the Dallas Club from a downtrodden outfit to a fighting crew.

Conley was a little pestafallen over the finish but the 2,000 fans were not. If pitching one inning doesn't sap the aging arm autographing likely will.

THEY PUT SOCK IN JUNIOR BATTING RACE

Will the American League see a .400 batter this year? Terrific Ted Williams, the Red Sox socker, is blasting along to lead the American league batting race by a large margin. It has been 18 years since a junior loop slugger has hit for .400. The last time was in 1923 when Harry Heilman of Detroit batted .402. Other contenders for the crown are Jeff Heath, of the Indians, Joe Cronin, of the Red Sox, Cecil Travis, of the Nats (the army may get him first) and Pat Mullin, rookie Detroit outfielder.

RELIANCE WINS OVER ESQUIRE BY 12-3 COUNT

Bruce Burtt Scatters Eleven Hits With Fine Spot Pitching

SPLENDID FIELDING

Punching out extra base hits that meant runs, the Reliance Aircraft opened the Esquire Juniors 13 to 3 in a City Softball League fixture staged at Coleman Flats last night. In winning the Reliance advanced into a tie for third place along with the defeated Esquire nine.

Besides some timely hitting, the Reliance played strong defensive ball behind Bruce Burtt, whose mound effort saw some timely spot pitching, as Burtt scattered 11 hits in a masterful manner, only two of which were of the extra base nature.

The "plane-makers" moved into the lead early by scoring three runs in the initial frame. They got only a hit a round-tripper with two on. Burtt helped his own cause with a circuit blow in the fourth and Le Bonte counted a triple, with one aboard in the eighth to score two ahead of himself. Singles by Whiteing, Guay and Burtt saw the Esquire ire in the first, but they failed to register another one as Burtt until Mansfield hit a round-tripper in the eighth.

Hurled Steady Ball

Burtt handled steady ball in the clutches and let nine stranded on the runways as the Esquire juniors failed to hit in the clutch. He struck out seven. Grant Wright, of Ponboro, started for Esquire, but was replaced by Mike Power in the seventh. Power, also of the Esquire, handled seven chances without a bobble, while Reilly out of Rowbotham's liner in the fifth wind Goodfellow's drive of Bowden's liner in the eighth were fine plays. Smith, Bowden and LeBonne fielded well for the Esquire.

Crow and Smith had three hits apiece for Reliance, the latter getting a home run and a double. Mansfield, Guay and Burtt were the round-tripper and Bowden had a home run for the Esquire. Both teams progresses. Today it is nothing short of a gentleman's game and each part of the patrons to try and fashion out just what a club is the home team and which team is ahead, especially when the scores mount as they are bound to at the girls' games. There are dozens of commercial concerns that would jump at the chance of erecting a portable scoreboard on the Armouries and a permanent one at Coleman Flats solely for the entertainment of the advertising derived. Surely the softball patrons are entitled to this much consideration.

Not only has there been a marked disregard shown for the convenience of the spectators but in this respect, but today we hear the professional Dominion Day softball tournament, to have been staged as a war charity effort next Tuesday here, has been completely abandoned. No person showed the slightest interest and it was getting positively no cooperation in any respect, so I just tossed the whole thing up. One person caused a Mr. Mansfield to arrange the large program proposed by the Recreation League executive without some little assistance at least. He was Coach Chapman Gerald Barrage's executive assistant, by Burtt 2 to two Wright 2 to seven innings, by Power 2 in two innings and by Grant Wright 1, off Power 3 ad off Burtt 3 innings, Schrieder, plate; Bowden, bases.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
(Canadian Press Sport Writer)

New York, June 26.—(AP)—One minute interview:

Ty Cobb: "I like to watch baseball but I haven't seen a game yet this year. Maybe it's because the mistakes I see are the ones I made me wild. Maybe it's because I hate the chasing after baseball as a game. When the value on one run was destroyed by a big kick was taken out of the game for me".

Fall guys.

Summer's only a few days old but the pro football clubs already are bombarding us with announcements of players they've signed, etc. ... The Navy will get a year of football out of Fred Vant Reed, Georgetown Tackle, who just got his Annapolis appointment. ... Coast Guard will claim the conference coaches ought to kick back part of their salaries now, since they've given up coaching jobs them leaf all summer instead of scouting for talent.

Major and minor operations.

Joe Dimaggio didn't show much interest in his hitting streak until he got within a few games of the Quinle Cup and even then he'd of Quinte golf championship at Belleville tomorrow. In the meantime round the local golfers downtown Picton, while Trenton is debating Napanee into camp. In the afternoon match the Belleville golfers were expected to extend the limit against Trenton and forced to play an extra hole before they were returned champions of the Bay of Quinte district. Along the lines of golf, the directors of the Country Club met last night and discussed the advisability of staging a golf tournament here with all proceeds going to some worthy war charity. One of the suggestions brought forward by Bill Little, the Country Club golf pro, was to bring a quartette of recognized golf pro-dounds to Belleville as an attraction towards a gallery. The matter is being considered.

Tom Bowler's Grant Anne nettesters were the only ones to win scheduled gains in the Trent Valley tennis set yesterday although neither of the two local tourneys were completed. The Cat Point "over-the-net" team took three in the nine point from the Quinte Club, while the West Sides pulled out with two points to four matches. Both matches were played on the Quinte Club courts, but unfinished, so today the Quinte Club is still seeking the Trenton Club for first place in the league, while the Point Anne netters moved into a tie with the West Sides by virtue of winning three sets yesterday. Extra sets were played in both approving with the advancement of roving with the advancement of the season.

As the result of a couple of home runs and four other extra base hits, the Reliance had little difficulty in beating the Esquire kids 12 to 3 last eve', thanks to the spot pitching of Bruce Burtt, who scattered seven Esquire hits in a fine mound effort.

The Yankees were forced to stage a three-run uprising in the eighth to win from the Browns yesterday, but it was well worth the effort, as the Yankees now lead their second straight in the set-to at the Sox and today an old customer will be at the top of the American League, as the New York Yankees moved into a one-game lead over the Clevelands by defeating only Joe DiMaggio extended his consecutive-game hitting streak to 37 consecutive games when he hit a record-breaking home run with two on base in the fourth, DiMaggio only has to get a safe single in today's game to set a new record of 38 games. The Browns are the same ones that gave the league leaders before their slight Saturday rally of three runs, however.

Sport Spice — Lefty Grove chalked up his 298th major league pitching victory by beating the Indians 7-2 yesterday.... His goal is 300 major league wins, which he should soon. ... The Chicago Cubs and Cardinals both won again to keep their torrid struggle in the National League a deadlock. ... Dizzy Dean gave Ty Cobb, erstwhile baseball peach, a real shellacking when he pitched the Cards to a 6-2 win over Babe Ruth at Newton, Mass., yesterday. ... Cobb says Joe DiMaggio can even be a greater hitter than he looked after himself.... Cobb also says that Bob Feller has a lot to learn as compared with that of Walter Johnson, Babe Ruth out-drove Cobb, but the former Tiger's drives were deadly with the irons on the greens. ... Now's about the boys in the back room.

GOSSIP ● NEWS ● COMMENT

Maybe one of the reasons one sees diminished crowds at local softball games is because the patrons of the game have to be either human adding machines or magicians in order to keep abreast of the scores. Neither at the Coleman Flats or Armouries diamonds is there the resemblance of a score board on which the progress of the game could at least be advised of the score by innings as the game progresses. Today it is nothing short of a gentleman's agreement on part of the patrons to try and fashion out just what a club is the home team and which team is ahead, especially when the scores mount as they are bound to at the girls' games. Captain of Battleship Rodney Says Bismarck Was Hit By Eight or Nine Torpedoes

(The following first-hand account of the sinking of Germany's new battleship Bismarck reached The Associated Press today from the 23,900-ton battleship H.M.S. Rodney, one of the participants, which emerged unscathed from the action.)

Tall, easy-mannered Capt. F. G. H. Dalrymple-Hamilton of H.M.S. Rodney is not a whit dismayed because all his battery of big guns is mounted forward, leaving him no alternative but to face the foe.

That's what he did last month in the hare-and-hounds chase over a wide expanse of Atlantic which ended with the sinking of Germany's new warship Bismarck, an engagement which he described in detail for The Associated Press.

The Rodney, about sixteen years old, is one of the "Washington Treaty" ships and otherwise might have been too fast Nelson cast-carry an after battery, but the Captain brushed that apparent shortcoming aside.

Elsewed by Air Torpedo

The Bismarck, he disclosed, had all but run a gauntlet of about a dozen British warships after the sinking of the Hood, and probably should have escaped but for a well-placed aerial torpedo dropped by a plane from the new aircraft carrier Victorious. That was on the Bismarck to 31 knots and apparently injured her rudder, he said, enabling pursuing craft to overtake her before reaching port, probably in France.

On the night of May 26, he related, the Bismarck and Prinz Eugen served about forty miles astern of the Rodney, but next day was re-located from the air. Then a closing-in maneuver began, with two scouting cruisers from the Air Royal's planes and finally a postponement of a decision for one night, to await daylight. The German ship by then was virtually surrounded by five destroyers and there was no chance of her again slipping away.

H.M.S. King George V, opened the engagement, Capt. Dalrymple-Hamilton continued, and the Rodney soon joined in with several salvos, with the Bismarck replying.

"She was steering straight toward us and made no attempt to evade us," he related, adding: "She appeared not in full control."

Get Terrible Hammering

"We were on a closing course and got a crossfire at her at right angles. She undoubtedly got a terrible hammering and her fire was rapidly reduced. In twenty-five minutes her firing stopped except from one turret, which continued to fire about a quarter of an hour.

"After the Bismarck had ceased to fire we could see flags on board and it was a question of how fast we could sink her. There was danger to us of submarine attack or attack by planes from Brest.

"She didn't respond to sinking by gunfire and there was no major explosion aboard her. Finally we fired torpedoes from this ship, two of which hit her. There was no motion nor their part, apparently, to haul down their colors".

Captain Dalrymple-Hamilton said it wasn't much pun" administering the coup de grace, but explained the commander-in-chief had ordered the Bismarck sunk by torpedoes. He said he believed eight or nine torpedoes struck the German ship before she sank. He expressed the opinion the Bismarck's fire control system was disrupted early in the battle.

He explained that the danger of enemy planes and submarines made it expedient for the Rodney to leave the scene without attempting rescue work, which was left to the smaller British craft.

The captain has a high regard for the value of aircraft in modern warfare at sea.

"We never would have caught the Bismarck without torpedo bombers," he conceded, adding that warships must have air support if they are to approach an enemy shore close to enemy airports.

Captain Dalrymple-Hamilton estimated the Bismarck's tonnage at considerably more than the Rodney's and said she might have carried as many as 2,000 men, but about 100 of whom were saved. He said he placed little confidence in statements by some of the prisoners that the Bismarck had a "self-sealing" double bottom.

13 Traffic Cases Are Tried Here

Fifteen cases were listed for trial at the weekly session of County Police Court held before Magistrate F. J. Butler, K.C., on Thursday. All were for alleged violations of the Highway Traffic Act, except two charges preferred under the Game and Fisheries Act.

Leslie Saunders and W. E. Mirfin, Belleville, were charged with taking both out of season. Both admitted the charge and were assessed $12.75, including fine and costs. The charges were preferred by Game Warden Herb McCabe, who appprehended the pair in possession of them while angling off the new bridge on Tuesday. Inspector McCabe announced in court today that the bass season would be officially opened on Saturday of this week.

Cleave Nyanss, New York City; Albert Lark, Toronto, and Wm. Cooper of Peterborough all paid ten dollars' costs after being found convicted of speeding. Harry Kelley, Lester Bell, Kirkland Lake and F. L. Golden on Tuesday, all paid fines after being convicted of careless driving while Herbert Seaman, Belleville, was fined $10.00 and costs for operating a motor vehicle with defective brakes.

A charge of careless driving was dismissed against Wm. Anderson of Roblin at the request of Crown Attorney B. C. Donnan, K.C.

"This charge was preferred following the accident in which Constable R. S. Patterson and Game Warden McCabe also prosecuted cases.

Hitler's Visit To Line Held Ominous

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON

Washington, June 26 (AP)—Experience with Hitler's war technique gives extra significance to an official Nazi prediction of impending "great successes" against Russia in the next few days.

It was datelined from "the Fuehrer's headquarters" on that front. That makes it virtually a personal campaign for Hitler in the west-ern line and the German people that a decisive victory is already under somewhere along the vast battle line.

That Hitler is established in the field in the vicity where he expects the decisive battle to be delivered goes without saying. It is highly significant, however, that he is watching the battle from somewhere in Central-Eastern Poland, close to the vast Pripet River marshes.

Key to Defence

They are the key to Russia's military defence system in the west. Nazi-Soviet partition of Poland placed all of the 20,000 square miles of swamp land of the Pripet area system in Russian hands. They span the old Russian-Polish border and form a powerful defensive bastion at the centre of Russia's western frontier.

Unofficial Berlin reports claim that Nazi advances north and south of the Pripet marshlands encountered and overcame the greatest Red Army concentrations. The roads and railways in that area from Moscow run north of the lowlands through Smolensk and Gomel to Kiev, far shorter than that to Moscow, skirts them to the south.

That air power is Berlin's boast they will soon give details of Nazi victories that are hard to imagine. That might mean the road to Kiev has been cleared.

The fall of Kiev would virtually trap all Russian forces on the Ukraine, outflank the Dniester, Bug and Dnieper River defense lines before they could be withdrawn in force. There seems no other possibility of immediate developments elsewhere on the Nazi-Soviet front that could justify the jubilant tone of Nazi outgivings."

Could Move on Oil Fields

By sliding through both north and south of the Pripet Marshes between the Dniester and Kiev in a matter of days, Hitler could achieve a great deal with remarkably greater advance. Economic resources of the Ukraine would be in his hands. With the Black Sea cleared of Red naval and air forces for lack of adequate bases, he could move against the Caucasus and Russian oil fields on the Caspian Sea.

Even if Red forces escaping such a Nazi trap should fall back to reorganize and fight again, German armies of the Ukraine could lessen Nazi food and ore problems and potentially supply them for a long war with Britain. It might induce Japan and Spain to enter the war as Axis allies, and even sway Vichy to military collaboration with Berlin and Rome in Africa.

If Russia resorted immediately to retreat strategy, even surrendering the Ukraine step by step, it could avert a greater disaster.

GALLACHER PLEDGES SUPPORT

London, June 26—(CP)—William Gallacher, Britain's only Communist member of parliament, asserted today "we will support the British Government in any steps it takes" to co-operate with Soviet Russia.

IN THE WEST They call this fun!

But West and East agree when it comes to choosing breakfasts! It's a fact! In three successive years, independent investigators have asked more than 5000 housewives, living in every part of the Dominion, what cereal was the family favourite. And year after year Kellogg's Corn Flakes have been the outstanding leader. Finally, when one group was asked this specific question: "What brand of corn flakes do you think tastes best?"—more than 4 out of 5 said Kellogg's.

Now your family will be no exception. They'll enjoy Kellogg's rich, mellow flavour, too! And that is important because breakfast eaten with appetite is easier to digest. Kellogg's are grand, too, as a between-meal or bedtime snack.

Get two or three packages of Kellogg's tomorrow. Breakfast-outers! Ask for the individual package, now triple-wrapped for extra freshness: Made by Kellogg's in London, Canada.

DID YOU KNOW . . . that a bowl of Kellogg's with milk and sugar gives you more energy for a given sum or women to go up and down a certain flight of stairs more than 3 times—or to walk over 3½ miles? Yes, it's truly the Self-Starter breakfast!

DIETITIANS TELL US . . . when food swells your stomach with water, it starts the gastric juices flowing, digests so much better. Thousands of doctors and nurses agree that Kellogg's endorse Bulk-in-Water as ideal "ways" for keeping breakfast appetites.

The Self-Starter Breakfast costs only a few pennies for the whole family. Ask for Kellogg's Corn Flakes by name—other fine foods may be the regular size packages—whichever suits your family best.

Sunday School Picnics

Bridge St. Church Sunday School Picnics At Twelve O'Clock Pt.

Upwards of two hundred and fifty pupils, parents and officials of Bridge street Sunday school enjoyed the annual Sunday school picnic yesterday at Twelve O'Clock Point. Ideal weather conditions prevailed and the natural facilities of the Point made the affair one of the most enjoyable in years.

The children were conveyed to the scene by three large buses, while many others were taken in family cars. The Sunday School had little time in testing the waters of the bay at this point after their arrival.

Following the swim, a large sports program provided early afternoon entertainment under the leadership of Harold Cameron and Ralph Morgan.

Late afternoon saw the hungry youngsters and grownups seated at the festal tables near the dancing where an enjoyable supper was served.

Following the repast the entire school indulged in softball until evening when the homeward journey was made without mishap.

St. Andrew's Church

Ideal weather favoured the annual St. Andrew's Presbyterian Sunday School picnic held at Searles' Beach, Oak Lake, on Wednesday, when the communal races for the children were featured and a basket luncheon enjoyed by the adults.

Those to attend were transported to Oak Lake by motor, following which an afternoon of recreation and swimming was enjoyed. The children were also provided with ice cream and candy. The committees in charge of the picnic included Messrs. Vern Weir, W. Fairbairn, Art Hill, Percy Ranson, D. Fleming and C. J. W. Walker.

The result of the races were as follows:

Girls' Races—Little tots, 1st, Carol Marsner, 2nd, Judy Christie; 4 to 6 years, 1st, Thelma Allyn, 2nd, Marion Knox; 6 to 7 years, 1st, Margaret Ferguson, 2nd, Joan Brown; 8 to 9 years, 1st, Maxine Allyn, 2nd, Ida Mae Lee; 10 to 12 years, 1st, Margaret Taylor; 12 to 16 years, 1st, Phyllis Hayden; Young Ladies, Dorothy Walker; Married Ladies, Mrs. H. Yorke.

Boys' races—Little tots, 1st, Geo. Mobile Unit of Army Service Corps Demonstrates Phases of Work On Armouries Lawn; 16 Recruits Join

Twenty-five recruits, sixteen of whom were accepted by the medical officer for attestation, were the aftermath of the visit and demonstration here last evening of the mobile unit of the Royal Canadian Army Service Corps. One of the sixteen recruits accepted, unable to put in an appearance last night, was seen sitting on the fence of the Armouries when the unit reported for duty this morning.

A large crowd of spectators gathered in and about the Armouries lawn last night when the kids of the Service Corps demonstrated in an efficient manner, parts of their duties as members in the war.

The public was permitted to board and investigate the various vehicles which covered different phases of Army Service Corps work.

Chiefly interested were mechanics of various industries of the city who watched carefully the Army technicians go through demonstrative paces in the mobile workshop completely equipped with lathes, reamers, boring tools and other machines for mechanical repairs.

The supplies and stores vehicle also provided interesting data and articles, while the "cook wagon" with its modern stoves and other paraphernalia for feeding the troops in the field, was inspected by a large crowd. An ambulance, a wrecking car equipped with hoist and derrick and a mobile loud speaking system, which emanated the stirring military music of the service, completed the unit.

The unit arrived here from Deseronto where it recruited ten men. It remained here overnight and proceeded on to the western part of its recruiting itinerary this morning. Officers of the unit were the guests of Lieut. Col. A. P. Ketcheson and officers of the Argyll Light Infantry.

Other ranks of the unit were fed beneath an awning stretched between two of the mobile units.

Increased Demands for Power Met by Hydro Without Trouble

Detailed Report of Operations in 1940 Presented by Dr. T. H. Hogg

ONT. DISTRICT UP

Toronto, June 26 (CP)—A greatly increased demand for power for war industries was met without undue difficulty, Dr. T. H. Hogg, chairman and chief engineer, said in introduction to the report of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission covering operations for 1940. The report was tabled in the Ontario Legislature April 2, and a detailed printed copy was released today.

The detailed report has been mailed to the 295 co-operating municipalities.

"The collapse of France made it necessary to accelerate greatly the pace of Canada's war effort and this stimulated demands for power," Dr. Hogg said, adding that no serious operating difficulties were encountered during the year.

Extension of Daylight Saving Time enabled the Commission to cut down on its February peak load in the last three months of 1940.

The consolidated balance sheet to Dec. 31, 1940, for the five divisions of the system, Niagara, Georgian Bay, Eastern Ontario, Thunder Bay and Northern Ontario, in detail shows total assets of $172,584,725.06, compared with $173,226,878.45 at the end of 1939. In 1940 there were 293 operating municipalities compared with 293 the previous year. In the first consolidated report, issued in 1913, there were only 45 co-operating municipalities.

$56,982,626 Total Liability

Total liabilities for 1940 were $56,982,626.56 against $54,241,490.78 in 1939; reserves, $81,617,900.76 compared with $75,722,395.20, and total surplus, $44,162,197.77 compared with $43,529,093.42.

In 1940 the percentage of net debt to total assets was 17.4, against 18.2 in 1939. The 1940 percentage was the lowest since operations began.

The operating report shows total earnings, for 1940 of $38,026,287.44 compared with $35,268,790.70 in 1939; total expenses of $33,725,860.10 against $31,498,518.87, and total surplus less depreciation, $1,655,-300.24, as compared with $880,850.54 the previous year. Highest earnings, $13,706,710.79 came as in 1939 from industrial service and the greatly increased expenditure was for purchase of power—$23,765,863.14 in 1940 compared with $21,855,595.20 in 1939.

Balance Sheets Given

Balance sheets for the various systems for 1940 show:

Niagara System — Total assets, $144,968,208.62 and a deficit of $508,91; total liabilities, $22,021,-315.37; total reserves, $69,151,-215.74; total surplus, $51,215,847.32; percentage of net debt to total assets 9.6.

Georgian Bay System — Total assets, $5,264,015.09; and deficit of $21,709.97; "total liabilities, $394,-977.01; total reserves, $3,798,646.05; total surplus, $2,112,542.02; percentage of net debt to total assets, 11.0.

Eastern Ontario system— Total assets, $14,840,965.36, no deficit; total liabilities, $1,956,546.47; total reserves $3,686,330.93; total surplus, $9,095,988.96; percentage of net debt to total assets, 9.7.

Thunder Bay System—Total assets, $6,535,501.20; no deficit; total liabilities, $467,804.60; total reserves, $2,571,006.10; total surplus, $3,480,690.61; percentage of net debt to total assets, 9.6.

Northern Ontario District—Total assets, $1,500,925.82; no deficit; total liabilities, $467,433.04; total reserves, $717,755.94; total surplus, $377,-734.94; percentage of net debt to total assets, 30.0.

Italy Sending Troops to Russian Front at Once

Rome, June 26—(AP) — Italy is sending an expeditionary corps to the Russian front, it was announced today as Mussolini reviewed his black shirt legions.

The announcement was made in a communique which said Mussolini reviewed "the first motorized division of the expeditionary corps chosen to be sent to the Russian front." The review took place in an undisclosed city of the Po Valley, in Northern Italy.

The communique accompanied by Gen. Ugo Cavallero, chief of the Italian General Staff, and Von Rintelen, Chief of the German military mission in Italy, met Gen. Francisco Pricolo, Air Force Chief of the Italian General Staff.

CHAPTER TWENTY-SEVEN

The three men moved down the beach and Tom said after a moment of hard, fast thinking, "Sorry I blew up, Marchbanks. I understand, of course, how the whole thing happened. Now's for just keeping this under our hats — all this flapdoodle about the possibility of Mrs. Marchbanks being kidnaped, and all that!-To be perfectly frank, I've a theory or two of my own about what's happening hereabouts— and Mrs. Marchbanks hasn't a thing in the world to do with it. If I'm right, then none of us need feel any blame whatever— unless it's me! But we won't go into that now."

Thanks Forman. That's pretty decent of you," said Brooks.

Forman said nothing, striving hard for a higher tone, "it was nothing. Forget it, if you can, for now."

The others greeted them with cries, of relief, and June went straight to Donald, a look in her eyes that was as though twin candles burned there suddenly. And the way she put her hand through his arm was a caress that spoke to his heart with a tenderness that made him bend lightly and kiss her in front of them all.

Betsy looked anxiously at Tom, who made the tiniest possible gesture toward the kitchen. Leaving the others chattering like mad, they managed to slip out into the kitchen.

"How's Terry?" asked Tom quickly.

"Fine," said Betsy. "And don't try to throw dust in my eyes by being worried about Terry. What's up, Tom? Tell me all about it — and don't leave out the most exciting bits."

Tom nodded. "To begin with, the Simpsons aren't really the Simpson," he began.

"Pooh! I knew that all along."

Tom stared at her, eyebrows lifted a little.

"You mean she told you?" he marveled.

"I mean she didn't have to tell me," answered Betsy. "Remember the application forms that everybody filled out? Well, 'Coralie Simpson' had worked five years in an overall factory. I noticed in one at once, but I never saw anybody working there with hands like 'Coralie's'— so I knew she was lying. But that's all I did know."

"She'd really Natalie Schuyler," said Tom grimly.

Betsy repeated the name at first as though it had no meaning. Then her eyes widened and she gasped. "You mean the girl who was the 'Glamor Gal to End All Glamor Gals'—the girl whose income is three million dollars a year, because her father and grandfather and great-grandfather were 'privy shrewd traders'?"

Tom grinned at her, a sudden tenderness and warmth in his eyes, amused as he studied here. "She's the gal," he agreed.

"WHEN NATALIE SCHUYLER married this fellow — his name is Brooks Marchbanks, incidentally— she settled a million bucks on him in cold cash!" Tom said then to Betsy. "Now Marchbanks thinks up whatever's left in our cottages. We'll be back in a couple of jiffies."

Tom was banished from the kitchen as the women took charge. There was a good deal of laughter and chatter, perhaps just a little too high-pitched to be completely convincing, and the women showed an inclination to huddle rather close together.

Natalie stepped out on the terrace for a moment and looked toward the swamp, shuddering a little as she thought of the grisly secret the swamp held. It looked so dark, so mysterious, so sinister. Suddenly she caught her breath and her hands clenched hard. Had she really seen a light flickering for just a moment deep in that green jungle? Had it been a glowworm? Or had it been a flashlight held in a careful, screening hand? She waited, breathless, watching— and saw it again. Now she was certain of it. There was not only one small, flickering light, but several—and they moved in a line, bobbing as though they were carried in the hands of men who were walking slowly and picking their steps carefully— perhaps carrying a burden!

Natalie shivered beneath the impact of that thought and turned to find Tom standing just back of her, his eyes riveted on the jungle.

"What — what does it mean?" she whispered, fearful that the others might hear and their hysteria mount again.

"I don't know," said Tom grimly. "But I'm going to find out."

Natalie caught his arm in sharp panic. "No, Bo, Tom— not alone. Wait for the others—" she pleaded.

"That may be too late," said Tom, pulling his arm free. "I'll be careful not to be seen. Maybe I can get close enough to get some idea what's up — and the others must stay here with the women."

And in spite of her protest he was gone, fading into the dark darkness. She followed him a few steps, her eyes on the jungle. The lights were visible now and then, just for a flickering moment, but they were moving, she thought, toward the mouth of the creek, though the night was so dark and she was strange to the island, that it was easy to become confused about such a thing.

Engrossed in watching those lights, she did not realize how far she had strayed from the Hacienda. Suddenly there was a soft- slithering movement behind her, and she whirled, a scream bubbling upward in her throat. But before she could open her mouth to let that scream out, a hand was clamped over her mouth and a powerful arm laid across her shoulders, holding her prisoner, lifting her, hurrying her away toward the cove of flickering lights.

KISS YOUR TIRED FEELING GOODBYE!

Pepless Many Suffer Low Blood Count, And Don't Know It.

The baffling thing about low blood count is that you can easily have it most or even ever did—even look healthy and strong, yet — you are fast as if you had and is your body, digest, tired and pep-less.

Why? Because your system has haven't got enough red blood corpuscles in their vital job to carry life-giving oxygen from your lungs throughout your body. And that in it takes oxygen to explode gasoline in your motor, so it takes oxygen to explode energy in you must have plenty of oxygen to stimulate the energy in your body and give you going power.

Get Dr. Williams Pink Pills today. They help build up the number of red blood cells, increasing the number and strength of red corpuscles. Then with your blood count up, you'll feel like bounding up the stairs as if you were floating on air. Ask your druggist for Dr. Williams Pink Pills today.

Strong Gains Made by British At Tobruk

Cairo, June 26.—(AP)—Britain's besieged garrison at Tobruk, Libya, yesterday made strong, new gains against the Axis "rats" and thereby considerably strengthened their own positions in this sector," the Middle East command announced today.

This sign of new British offensive strength on the western desert was coupled with gains in East Africa and what the communique called progressive "disintegration" of Fascist forces in Ethiopia.

Mopping-up operations are nearing completion in the Jimma section and "bulk insertions" of British Ethiopian soldiers were reported south of Sodda.

RECTAL SORENESS AND PILE TORTURE QUICKLY RELIEVED

If you are troubled with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not delay treatment and risk the pain of letting this condition become chronic. Stop the suffering and the painful passage of stool is nature's warning and proper treatment should be instituted at once.

For this purpose get a package of Hem-Roid From J. E. Sutherson or any druggist and use as directed. This formula which is used internally is a small, easy to take tablet, will quickly relieve the itching and smarting and start healing the sore tender spots. Hem-Roid is backed by a test of 50 years and recommended and it seems the height of folly for any one to risk a painful and chronic pile condition when such a direct remedy may be had at such a small cost.

If you try Hem-Roid and are not entirely pleased after the first box, your druggist will gladly return your money.

AT THE McCARTHY

"I Love You Again"

Ring up another for the combination of William Powell and Myrna Loy. Their funniest exploit is on view now at the McCarthy Theatre. If you're looking for laughs here's where to find them. "I Love You Again" is filled to overflowing with merriment, hilarity, entertainment, right from fully acclaimed "swell!"

Take a new turn, inasmuch as "Thin Man" mystery or tactics are involved, the story and theme that unfolds now, who suddenly recovers from an eight-year attack of amnesia, only to discover that he has acquired a new personality, a wife, a child, and a good-sized reputation in the town of Habersville and the amnesia, bring forth hilarious mirth-provoking complications, which are brought to a happy conclusion.

Powell has never turned in a more amusing performance. His actions, early in the film before he shakes his amnesia, bring him before the public in a new type of characterization that is fantastical, a complete testrobator and a downright scream. Miss Loy as associate Mr. Powell in stiff collars, tight trousers, linen cap and gown, is worth a visit to the theatre in itself. As the wife, Myrna Loy will add one more to her laurels of large conflagration. She isn't the only glamorous person to appear in this one. Quite to the contrary; instead of dominating the picture, she is forced to chase after her. Not only is she pursued, but after her next husband is already chosen.

The strong supporting cast turns in top performance. Frank McHugh as Powell's buddy, Donald Snyder, outdoes himself. Emmy Lynn is a convincingly cold-hearted promoter, Donald Douglas, a model young man who gives Powell competition for Miss Loy's affections and Nella Walker, a good example of a too understanding mother-in-law. The film was directed by W. S. Van Dyke II.

"Drums of the Desert"

Ralph Byrd and Lorna Gray head an excellent cast in the second chapter feature, "Drums of the Desert," also now showing at The McCarthy. Byrd is cast as a secret technicolor cartoon entitled "In the Land of Mystery." The second chapter of "The Green Archer" make it a heartily recommended show.

AT THE CAPITOL

"Sheriff of Tombstone"

Bringing action, melody and romance to the screen, Republic Republic's "Sheriff of Tombstone," star of the Roy Rogers musical westerns, opens today with a large cast including Georges "Gabby" Hayes, Elyse Knox, Dick Purcell, Zeffie Tilbury, Hal Taliaferro, Harry Woods, Minerva Urecal and Helen Gibson.

Rogers, who needs no tribute, so widely is he beloved by his millions of fans, is back in the current film, portraying the role of Brett Starr, an upright young lawman who accepts the post of sheriff down to Tombstone for a reunion with a childhood friend, only to find that he has been foully murdered.

Then begins the hunt for the murderer of his brother. Brett Starr, impersonating a "disreputable" Cassidy, a western muscle man who is tied in with the various gangsters in and around Tombstone.

"Boys of the City"

Four members of the original "Dead End Kids" are seen in the current Monogram picture, "Boys of the City," opening today at the Capitol Theatre.

These youngsters, all film stars in their own right, are Bobby Jordan, Billy Halop, Gabriel Dell and David Gorcey. Monogram regards them as successors to the former New York stage stars into a group called "The East Side Kids." Prior to that, most of them were seen as Universal's "Little Tough Guys" series.

All these boys have at one time or another been seen on the stage turned in popular New York productions, including "Dead End," and since coming to Hollywood, all have made names for themselves, collectively as well as individually.

"Boys of the City," is an exciting story in which Hollywood's toughest kids go to bat to clear their pal, Knuckles, of a murder charge, although, in order to do this, they have to capture a dangerous gang-leader.

On the same program will be shown "Sheriff of Tombstone," the eleventh chapter of Zane Grey's "King of the Royal Mounted."

PERSONAL

Here is a picture that was made for those brighter days, "For Husbands, Wives, and all Sweethearts! The adventures of a man who couldn't remember his 8 years of married life, when he suddenly regained his lost of memory! It's your friend Mrs. WILLIAM POWELL and MYRNA LOY in "I LOVE YOU AGAIN" now at the

AT THE BELLE

"That Uncertain Feeling"

High comedy at its brightest and best will be unrealed tonight at the gala premiere of Ernst Lubitsch's "That Uncertain Feeling" at the Belle theatre. This new Lubitsch production features Merle Oberon, Melvyn Douglas and Merle Oberon, is being hailed as the screen's brightest "Our Town," and it is being released under the auspices of United Artists.

Lubitsch, who is known wherever he goes as the master of a "touch," is again responsible for bringing to the screen another high comedy which is sor-high as entertainment as it is light-hearted and unforgettably funny. Briefly described, "That Uncertain Feeling" plots the hilarious course around the domestic household-wife theme. It tosses a psychoanalyst into the bosom of happy family as played brilliantly by Merle Oberon and Melvyn Douglas.

Douglas and Miss Oberon discover that accepted rules of Freud they have no right to be blissfully happy. Remarkable theories, in support of the stars, pops up as an eccentric and entirely unbidden guest with a few startling surrealistic art and through him, Miss Oberon and Douglas learn that not all Freudian curse. The end of the story proves that fifty thousand psychoanalysts could be wrong. This, in brief, is the story of "Ninotchka," is the first time that comedy has obtained the loan-out of Freud from the United States.

Carrying on in the brilliant sparkling style of "Ninotchka" and "The Shop Around the Corner," Mr. Lubitsch has produced "That Uncertain Feeling" in the fresh and sprightly fashion that keeps film fans rushing to movie theatres in record speed. The picture races off to a gay start when Miss Oberon decides to try psychoanalysis and falls first into the hands of "Dr." Alan Mowbray and then into the hands of "Jaroslav" Burgess Meredith. But the race is not always to the swift, for glamorous Miss Oberon ends up in the arms of her own cinematic bosom-friend, Melvyn Douglas.

"The Penalty" Thrilling

Romance, thrills and mirth in the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer film "The Penalty," vivid depiction of the remorseless rule of crime in the underworld, announced as the thrilling co-hit with Edward Arnold and Lionel Barrymore, which is on at the Belle in "You Can't Take It With You," and Gene Kelly and Lana Turner in "Ethiron, The Man," Mon., Tues. and Wed. Lionel Barrymore, his most dramatic role of his career, "The Penalty" is a "must" picture, a clever screen novelty will be exhibited on the same program.

Successes Begin To Show Say Nazis

Berlin, June 26—(AP)—The German High Command declared today that "successes of unprecedented extensions" are beginning to show in the Russian campaign.

The communique, again issued in spite of previous interference, declared this was the result of decisions in the German favor "in operations on all fronts."

Operations on the land and in the air "developed according to schedule yesterday," it reported.

The communique issued only two brief sentences which gave no details about the attack front.

Nazi sources earlier had claimed that they had four days ago broken through the vital "red front" had been shattered and the Soviet Russian defense line had been "torn asunder."

There had been predictions in many Axis quarters in Berlin, apparently on high authority, that details of successes which would "baffle the imagination" would be released today and it had been indicated they would appear in the communique of the war bulletin. Incidentally, was about two hours later than usual.

REDS BATTLE NAZI TANKS IN SOVIETIZED POLAND

CHANNEL COAST HEAVILY ATTACKED IN DAYLIGHT

Great Battle Rages On Polish Plain To Protect Minsk

White Russian Capital, 160 Miles Inside Soviet Border, Main Objective of Nazis

CHUTISTS DISPERSED

Moscow, June 27.—(AP)—Uncounted men and machines were engaged today in a great battle on the plains of Old Poland as the Red Army fought furiously to destroy a Nazi armored column advancing toward Minsk, White Russian capital, 60 miles inside the Soviet border.

Elsewhere on the war front extending from the Arctic to the Black Sea the Russians reported they were holding the Germans in check.

Of their efforts to halt the drive on Minsk, a communique said merely: "Fighting is in progress".

The Kremlin left uncertain whether the Nazi column was the same which 24 hours earlier had been reported in the vicinity of Osmolan, slightly north and about 60 miles west of Minsk.

German Public Still Lacking Information Of War Progress Against Soviet

LENINGRAD BOMBED

Berlin, June 27 (AP).—The Nazi High Command claimed today the German army has been "victorious on all fronts" against Russia, but it still withheld all details of its reported progress in the five-day-old struggle in the east.

The war bulletin promised, however, that the scope of "big decisions" allegedly won by the Germans "will be made known shortly".

As Germany behind the lines rallied Nazi-controlled continental Europe into a coalition behind what the Nazis call a crusade against Communism, the war bulletin said that its army struck against the Soviet just as the Red army was prepared an invasion of Central Europe.

The communique issued again "from the Fuehrer's headquarters", limited its report on the eastern front to these four paragraphs:

"The first five days of operations in the east fundamental proof that Soviet Russian armies had been ready to attack central Europe.

Prime Minister Of New Zealand To Visit Canada

By C. R. BLACKBURN
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Ottawa, June 27 (CP)—Premier Minister Mackenzie King announced in the course of a world-girdling tour, will visit Canada in the near future.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King who is on his way to the Pacific coast, last night received a telegram from Mr. Fraser replying to an invitation he had sent the New Zealand government leader inviting him to Canada.

"I hope to visit Canada and as soon as plans are definite will telegraph you," Mr. Fraser said. He added that his present plans are indefinite.

Mr. Fraser is to visit Washington where a large New Zealand delegation is now preparing on discussions with the United States government, and it is understood he will fly to Canada before the end of July when the entire mission plans to return home.

Mr. King paid a visit to the premier shortly before arrival here last night en route to Calgary.

In a talk with newspapermen he said his trip was "to see how things are going on and to have talks with the western people".

The prime minister added that he had "general discussions in Winnipeg and other Prairie points.

"I have not a speaking tour in mind," he said, "but may have something to say in the interests of the recruiting campaign. I am anxious to have as much freedom as I can to see things."

Hon. I. Mackenzie And Victory Torch Arrive in England

Ottawa, June 27 (CP)—Pendons Minister Mackenzie who arrived in Great Britain today will present Canada's Victory Torch to Prime Minister Churchill on July 1, and will make a bid promotion work in Great Britain. The torch was flown across Canada as a symbol of determination in the Victory Loan campaign and then later flown across the Atlantic.

Mr. Mackenzie, under whose department has come the Air Raids Precaution Services of Canada, will present British A.R.P. at first hand.

The minister will carry with him representations on behalf of colleagues in the government which will be made to various departments of the British government.

These talks will cover "such problems as may be of immediate urgency to Britain in Canada's war effort," a statement from Mr. Mackenzie's office said.

WILL WORK ON LAND

London, June 27.—(CP Cable)—A first contingent of 1,000 Canadian war prisoners is expected shortly in Britain, it will work on the land, it was announced last night. Most of the men are from parts of the country where labr is needed most.

In working gangs, they will live in camps and a large number will be employed in hedging, ditching and clearing land.

U.S. CONFRONTED WITH SHORTAGE OF AMMUNITION

Roosevelt Says None Can be Sent to Eire Because Country Behind for Itself

NOT ENOUGH FACTORIES

Hyde Park, N.Y., June 27 (AP)—President Roosevelt announced today that a shortage in ammunition confronted the United States in its defence efforts.

Mr. Roosevelt said at a press conference he was looking into the question of sending some rifles to Eire but that no ammunition could be sent because the country is too behind on ammunition even for itself.

Although he once had said arms could not be sent to Eire Mr. Roosevelt mentioned the possibility of sending over rifles. Ammunition, he said, the chief processing of them is getting along pretty well.

The Nazis, he said, all kinds of things in addition to rifles, he asserted, most of which were things the United States could not get for itself.

He made it plain, moreover, that armament aid for Eire would have to follow armament aid from Britain would defend themselves against German attack. He said no such assurance had been received.

As for helping Russia in the battle against the Nazis, the President said he expected to confer on that topic by telephone today with Acting Secretary of State Sumner Welles. He expected to get a report on what Russian Ambassador Oumansky had to say to Welles yesterday.

Prefers No Comment

Mr. Roosevelt said that the Communist press in New York was saying that aid to Russia was half-hearted but Roosevelt preferred not to comment.

To a question whether he would take before the United States was turning out defence material a survey of aid provisions the President replied that a question so general could not be answered categorically. It depends on the article, he said, and for some things a great deal has been reached. For other things top production may not come for six months or a year, he said.

"As a general thing," he was asked, "is the United States behind the management of the defence effort?"

On some things, yes, on some things, no, he responded.

By inquiring in turn how he should express himself he countered an inquiry whether the Irish were dissatisfied with the way the United States was handling the problem of getting Eire naval bases. And, he added, that was the first time the question never had said anything about sending any troops from the British in the ferrying of war supplies across the Atlantic.

He only help definitely offered Eire—and accepted—was the donation of 4,500,000 rounds of ammunition the use of ships to carry them. The President's thinking there centred, but Mr. Roosevelt did not know whether any of them had landed.

If they have cleared, he said, there were no rifles on them.

Increasing Numbers of Corvettes Help to Win the Battle of Atlantic

By DREW MIDDLETON
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

London, June 27 (AP).—Aided by increasing numbers of mass-produced corvette patrol boats and American-built Flower class escorting boats, Britain slowly is winning from one of the most decisive battles—in the Atlantic Ocean," it was said today.

Extended United States naval patrols have helped, but a source here said the real credit for reducing British tonnage losses goes to the Canadian plants and sturdy corvettes because they are scouting the area the Nazis formerly considered safe for submarine operations. Many of the corvettes are made in Canada and are manned by Canadian crews.

One result of what were called "extraordinary but complete triumphs" has been to force the Germans to forego their tactics of submarine rendezvous and to operate with supply ships, it was said.

"Therefore ships have entered the U-boats below the surface," this source said. "They are now able to hunt in packs and lie in wait on the surface for convoys."

Another function of the Catalinas has been to keep Nazi long-range bombers from attacking convoys since these Catalina boats give the latter a fierce fight and are said to be death on German Dornier "flying pencils."

Turkey Grants Rights For Evacuation of Vichy Troops Across Country

Ankara, June 27 (AP)—A high Turkish source said today that Turkey has granted permission for the evacuation across its territory of Vichy forces now fighting in Syria provided they travel as unarmed civilians.

The French embassy here conceded that it hoped to evacuate 20,000 refugees.

This, apparently, was a virtual confession that the Vichy forces are approaching the end of their resistance in Syria.

(The Ankara embassy did not distinguish between civilian and soldier "refugees" but there probably are not as many as 20,000 non-combatant Frenchmen in the whole mandate.)

The Turkish government, extending transit privileges specified that no Armenians or Arabs would be allowed across the frontier.

It was expected, however, that only a fraction of the Vichy army would be able to leave Syria because of a lack of transport but belief was expressed that most of its men would participate in escaping capture by the Allies.

Preliminary agreements, according to these sources, were made with General Henri Dentz, Vichy vice-president of the Vichy cabinet, who flew here from Vichy by way of Aleppo, Syria, Wednesday.

Although General Mittelhauser was said to have brought a personal letter from Marshal Petain to President Inonu of Turkey, Inonu remained at his summer home near Istanbul and the negotiations were conducted on his behalf by Foreign Minister Hasan Saracoglu.

(A Reuters News Agency dispatch from Ankara said the French were reported trying to arrange for evacuation of 20,000 of their troops from Syria but that it was believed no native soldiers in Gen. Henri Dentz's army would be allowed to enter Turkey.)

TORPEDOES HIT 2 ENEMY SHIPS OF AXIS CONVOY

Another Hit by Bomb as Convoy is Attacked Off South Coast of Italy

20,000-TON SHIPS

Cairo, June 27 (AP).—At least two 20,000-ton Axis merchant ships have been torpedoed by British planes off the Italian coast, the Royal Air Force's Middle East Command announced today.

Planes of the R.A.F. and the Fleet Air Arm attacked a convoy of powerful vessels yesterday off the south coast of Italy, the communique said.

"At least two ships were hit by torpedos and one hit amidship by a heavy bomb," it said. "Further results were not observed owing to darkness."

Italian Sub Sent Refah to Bottum

Ankara, June 27—(AP) — The Turkish steamship Refah, sunk in the Mediterranean by a submarine of 160 lives out of 180 passengers and crew members, was reliably reported today to have been sent down by an Italian submarine.

The 2,500-ton vessel carried Turkish naval personnel en route to Britain.

Some of the twenty survivors were landed at Port Said, Egypt, Palestine, others at the British Mediterranean island of Cyprus. It was understood here that all the belligerent powers had been notified of the sinking, but that three days ago.

Turkey has said the ship, brightly lighted and with the Turkish colors painted on her sides, was torpedoed Monday night, sinking in two hours. The torpedo disabled the radio so that no distress call could be sent.

Quebec Judge Rules Marriage Illegal

Montreal, June 27 (CP)—Mr. Justice Alfred Forest of the Quebec Superior Court ruled yesterday that a marriage, between a Roman Catholic and a Protestant, performed by a Protestant clergyman, was illegal, both under the civil code of Quebec Province and the Roman Catholic canon law.

Mr. Justice Forest delivered his judgment in annulling the marriages of Olga Ellen Dorner and Albert Mack, Protestant, now on service. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Gilbert Oliver of St. Matthias Anglican Church here.

It appeared from the evidence the the judge said, that Macks had agreed to have the ceremony performed by a Roman Catholic priest but later refused and the couple were married, by Mr. Oliver.

59 P. C. ATTESTED OF 30,000 SOUGHT SAYS RALSTON

Defence Minister Declares Need for Men for Active Army Now Present Driving for Recruits

RATE OF ENLISTMENT

Ottawa, June 27 (CP)—Provision for women to serve in the armed forces, and the start on a new basic data of men who already have put in 30 days compulsory training for further training were chief announcements in a joint press interview of Defence Minister Ralston and War Services Minister Thorson today.

The Defence Minister also announced that the recruiting campaign for the Active Army has been raised by 20 per cent of the recruits he appealed for on May 12 and if the present rate of enlistment continues the goal will be reached by July 12.

The Canadian training centre at Barriefield, Ont., will be enlarged to provide accommodation for 500 to 1,000 trainees and a new school will be established at London, Ont., to train officers.

School of Instructors

A school of physical instructors will be established at Megantic, Que., at which French and English speaking instructors will be turned out. Up to now only pre-war French and two-thirds English instructors will be trained.

"It will be necessary to take a Normal School, training teachers so that we can have a certain pool of instructors ready to be sent either to French speaking or English speaking units," the Minister said.

Subject to Recall

To keep the trained and advanced training centres up to capacity of 30,000 men daily, the National Defence Department in addition to calling up men for training for 30 days or 6 months' training will join the Defence Department in a composite call-up of those 21 to 24 years of age who have not yet had any training and those who already have served 30 days.

Those who already have served one month will be required to serve three months more and those who have not served will be required to put in four months' training.

The large part of the training centres will be required to be filled by men who possess the number to be called up for Home Defence will be reduced to a corresponding degree.

Mr. Thorson said he thought a few of the men above 21 years in the 30-day trainees might be called up for July 12 but the number would be limited. However the number of 30,000 men would be greater.

A proclamation is being issued at midnight tonight, he said, in order that the men "rtcted may have ample opportunity to plan their affairs.

Over 600 Men a Day Enlist

Col. Ralston said the recruiting being enlisted for active service, now averaging more than 600 a day are being divided, some going to the field units of units already organized and the rest entering the basic training centres.

BRITAIN REGARDS SWEDEN'S DECISION AS "DEPLORABLE"

Believes "Sweden Soon Will be Asked to Join Hitler's New Order in Europe"

FINLAND CRITICIZED

London, June 27 (CP).—Britain has expressed deep regret over Sweden's decision to permit German troops to cross her territory from Norway to Finland, informed sources said today.

Foreign Secretary Eden was said to have delivered the protest to the Swedish minister, Count Gustaf Prtiz, when the latter called at the foreign office.

An authoritative source earlier had said British regards Sweden's action as "deplorable" and "Sweden soon will be asked to join Hitler's new order in Europe".

The Finnish Government, this source also said, also is allowing itself "to become the dupe of Germany" and is simply becoming dissociated from the democracies.

Victor Alafrej, British Minister in Stockholm, was said to have voiced "strong condemnation" when advised of the Swedish government's decision in regard to the transit of Nazi troops. He informed the Swedish Foreign Minister that the decision would be received "with strong disapproval" in London.

Authoritative quarters believed it was deplorable that the Swedish Government should have consented so readily to a measure which they believed would make it "increasingly difficult" for her to resist German pressure in the future.

They said there was little doubt the Nazis would take full advantage of this "latest act of weakness" and exploit it to the full as "freedom's independence and neutrality."

SENTENCED TO 2 YEARS

Cornwall, Ont., June 27 (AP) — Clinton Burson, private in the R. C.A., Petawawa, was sentenced to two years in Kingston Penitentiary when he appeared before Magistrate P. C. Bergeron today following his conviction on two assault charges last week. Nine charges were laid by Norwegian civilians in the result of a reverse room brawl instigated by Burson last week.

R.A.F. Continues Supremacy in Air By Constant Raids

Docks and Shipyards At Kiel "Heavily Bombed" for Second Successive Night

16th CONSECUTIVE RAID

London, June 27 (CP).—Formation of Royal Air Force fighters carried out a one-hour raid over the German-occupied French coast today, following the 16th consecutive night bombing attack upon Germany. Explosions sounded through the light blue haze over Dover strait.

German anti-aircraft batteries apparently put up heavy barrages. The British fighters later sped back across the channel.

The pace of the R.A.F. daylight raiders caused speculation in some quarters as to the possibility of a British attempt to seize a foothold on the continent.

In an article discussing R.A.F. control of the air the magazine "Aeroplane" says that, if local air superiority could be so built up that military operations could be conducted in the shelter of it, then that supremacy could serve to preserve seized landing grounds for the Army as re-fuelling bases and to make a good show of protection and defending them at night.

Liable to Call To Complete Training Of Four Months

Ottawa, June 27.—(CP)— Men who have done 30 days military training under the National Resources Mobilization Act, and those whose training was postponed, will be liable to be called to complete four months training on proclamation to be issued shortly, Defence Minister Ralston and War Services Minister Thorson announced in a joint statement today.

If insufficient men for national defence requirements are obtained under these call-ups, those who were in the age classes of 21, 22, 23 and 24 and those who have attained the age of 21 on or after July 1, 1940 will be called out.

Training Camps Open to Public On "Army Day"

Ottawa, June 27 —(CP)— With recruits joining the active army at the rate of more than 640 a day and the half-way mark in Defence Minister Ralston's appeal for 22,000 men passed by a comfortable margin, defence headquarters officers are looking forward to Army Day tomorrow to give further speed to recruiting.

Training camps across Canada will be thrown open to visitors tomorrow and at each camp special arrangements will be made to give the visitors an idea of camp life.

Military districts headquarters will vital one another in making the Army Day in Canada's history a success by putting on shows that will interest and inform the masses which are expected to visit the boys in khaki.

Camp Closed

Ottawa, June 27 (CP)—Canadian Canadian Rifle Rangers will be closed at Connaught Rifle Ranges Highlands moved out this week and the reserve units of No. 3 Military District who will fill the camp for overflowing next week will not arrive until Sunday.

Army Day is confined to the army, so no training camps will not be open to the public.

Army Day will appropriately be followed by Dedication Day on Sunday "as a day of special dedication to national service and sacrifice" in the churches.

By proclamation the people have been asked to join in these services. In the Governor-General's words "the present situation in Canada calls for a high national and wholehearted support of all our people in service and sacrifice if we are to play our full part."

Washington Hears German Army Now Controls Reich's War Policies

By EDWARD E. BOMAR
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Washington, June 27.—Hitler's German army, administration admitted today, apparently has wrested control of the Reich's war policies from the Nazi party and embarked on a campaign of conquest strategically reminiscent of Genghis Khan.

The great Mongol warlord, they said, led his mighty hordes from the Amur in Asia to the Danube, whereas the objective of the Nazi army seems to be the conquest of the region that lies between the Danube and the Volga and the Russia's Far East.

Authoritative foreign reports gave the advisors the basis for their appraisal of the army's overwhelming and the overturn of power in Berlin.

On the war front, it was established today, the army and the leaders of the National Socialist party split squarely with the Nazis opposing war on the Soviet Union and the army determined to conquer Britain.

Hitler sided finally with the military—voluntarily or otherwise—and the army won the argument.

This authoritative estimate of military prospect involved a number of disturbing implications for United States defence policies. Mounting Nazi concern over the army reported over the possibility that German prestige would suffer in the event of Asiatic Russia, whose Siberian coast is within a few miles of Alaska and the Bering Straits.

The immediate Nazi plan is believed to be a swift knockout blow at Red Army as an offensive force, the overthrow of the Soviet regime and the substitution of puppet regimes, states in the Ukraine, the Baltic and elsewhere.

From the Danube and the Caucasus, the German army would be in a position to outflank the British in the Middle East, by way of Central Iran but in the official view here, a move in that direction was unlikely until after the main Russian issue had been decided.

Sifted from a mass of official reports and data on the war's latest turn is this estimate of the Soviet army's remaining prospects, admittedly subject to revision but probably the most authoritative outside Russia today.

Germany has thrown a force of some 3,000,000 men, including 200,000 Finns, into the battle.

Russia has the most powerful single army in the world, veteran fighters, representing, with its Allies, the equivalent of 187 divisions against a slightly lesser and untried Red Army of about 185 divisions.

The Nazi air force is believed to be taking a first-line air force of about 6,000 planes, amply supported by reserves and a skilled maintenance service, against a Red air force of perhaps 4,000 or dubious staying power.

TWEED WOMAN GIVEN SUSPENDED SENTENCE

Changing her plea to that of guilty of comforting and assisting in a jail-break, Mrs. Vera Akey, Tweed, was placed on suspended sentence for one year by Magistrate J. J. Deroche, Tweed Police Court yesterday. Mrs. Akey was arrested in the Tweed police station one week ago by Chief J. G. Hayes when she attended a trial of her husband-in-law, Dorsin Akey, who was being tried for jail-breaking at the time of her apprehension. Mrs. Akey denied she had in any way assisted her relative.

Akey was sentenced to three months in jail last week on the jail-breaking charge, but Mrs. Akey pleaded not guilty and was remanded in custody for one week. When she appeared in court today, Mrs. Akey had changed her mind and pleaded guilty.

Describing the jail-break, Chief Hayes stated Akey broke jail on the night of June 14. As he was leaving the jail he met his sister-in-law, Mrs. Akey, and both went around behind the jail where Akey had called. "Later Mrs. Akey met Dorsin on the railway tracks and walked with him", said Chief Hayes. "She talked to him during the evening on two occasions yet failed to notify the police".

CHARGES PENDING IN CAR COLLISION

Cut by flying glass when the automobile in which they were riding skidded and overturned on Ridge Road near Stirling, on Thursday, Mrs. Jessie Wright and Margaret Wright of Toronto, sustained cuts and lacerations that needed medical attention. Mrs. Wright was cut about the face, while Margaret Wright received a cut over her left limbs. The car was driven by Alfred Deschamps, who, Provincial J. Informed Motorcycle Patrolman J. H. Haich he had met an oil truck on a narrow road. Charges are pending the investigating officer stated today.

LARGE AFGHAN WON BY MARY MANGOLD

For the past few weeks the children of Grade One at Queen Mary School have busied their little fingers making a large Afghan and were highly proud of their creation upon its completion. Then these small children sold tickets and offered the Afghan for a draw, realizing $48.00 from their endeavours. This amount was then sent to the British War Victims' Fund in Toronto as their contribution of the children of Grade One of Queen Mary School to the war. The winner of the Afghan was Miss Mary Mangold, 8 Harriet St.

FINAL VICTORY LOAN RETURNS TO BE GIVEN OUT MONDAY

A statement of the final figures of the Belleville and Trenton Victory Loan Campaign will be published in Monday's edition of the Ontario Intelligencer, officials announced today. Campaign workers will close tomorrow and last returns are still filtering in.

Completion of activities and subscriptions of the county will be ready by Monday, leaving no other successful Victory Loan, Hastings County has participated in.

AMERICAN TOURIST MAKES LOCAL CHINAMAN NOT A JAP

There is at least one American who is puzzled when attempting to distinguish between a Japanese and a Chinese.

Hailing, according to the markers on his car, from Texas, an elderly Southerner and his wife dined at a Front Street Chinese cafe, and paid the luncheon cheque.

A few moments after he left the cafe, the Southerner returned, gazing with interest at a box upon which was inscribed "Help the Chinese War Victims' Fund".

Looking at the Chinese proprietor, he inquired: "Are you Chinese or Japanese?" The courteous Oriental straightened his shoulders and replied, "One hundred per cent Chinese, sir, and the real British".

The Southerner smiled. "That's all I wanted to know, sir", he drawled, and reached in his pocket extracted a handful of silver and placed it in the box.

"Shopkeepers! Need a Barrel?," "Call Red Cross, Campbell St."

Belleville's effort to "Can Hitler" with cans of food for Britain! is gradually gaining momentum. Red, white and blue-covered barrels placed in Front Street and other stores are slowly filling. The idea has caught the fancy of the buying public and Red Cross officials are optimistic that the needed carload of foods and fruits will be forthcoming.

Store owners and managers are co-operating one hundred per cent. The public will do likewise. Every day sees more food for Britain placed in the receptacles. But more and still more is needed.

Today and Saturday are usually "heavy" days in chain, grocery and provision stores. Housewives doing the family shopping for the week-end, will no doubt, contribute in a large way to the appeal for food.

While several barrels have been placed in convenient stores, Red Cross officials stated today that any store owner or manager who desires to assist in the appeal, and who has been overlooked through the fault of no one, can secure a barrel for the purpose by contacting Red Cross Headquarters on Campbell Street and the receptacle will be forthcoming immediately.

Of it is impossible to secure Red Cross headquarters, a telephone message to Mr. or Mrs. John Deacon, John Street, will have the same effect. Mr. and Mrs. Deacon suggested the idea of placing the barrels in Belleville stores, and their efforts along these lines are greatly appreciated by the Red Cross.

However, remember that while a can or vegetables cost but a few cents here, it will bring immeasurable pleasure and relief to the heroic people of Britain. Today or tomorrow, when buying the family fare for the week-end, remember the slogan "Eat, Buy, Save, Britain.

"Can Hitler with Cans of Food for Britain".

Bristol Air Products Company to Sponsor Craftsmanship Classes

Arrangements for a class of approximately twenty-five Canadians sponsored by the Bristol Air Products, Ltd., to take special instructional courses at the Belleville Collegiate under supervision of the Dominion-Provincial Youth Training Scheme, are underway between Department of Labor officials and representatives of the aircraft company, it was stated this morning by Mr. J. O. Herity of the Belleville Chamber of Commerce.

Under present arrangements, it is intended that these men, after they have completed their courses will be taken into the company's plant where the benefits of operations at a date which is yet to be decided.

While arrangements for the sponsored class are as yet only in the initial stages, it is reported that a Department of Labor official is in the city and will confer with Mr. George Ferguson, chief instructor for the new emergency classes, as to facilities at the local school for the contemplated training. It is understood that special instructors and technicians from the Bristol Aircraft Products American plant are intended to come to Belleville to give the necessary elementary instruction.

Workmen Clear Harbor of Heavy Growth of Weeds

The growth of weeds in the Belleville Harbor this season has been the most luxuriant ever noted in the bay at the foot of Bridge, according to employees of the Harbor Commission who have for the past few weeks or more have been engaged in raking the weeds from the harbor bed.

Annually the weeds in the harbor attain such a growth that in addition to presenting an objectionable appearance to persons frequenting the waterfront and Victoria Park, they cause considerable inconvenience to power boat owners who frequently complain of having their propellers fouled. So luxuriant does the growth become at times that it seems to lay on the water like a heavy mat.

Each year it is the custom of the Harbor Commission to have the weeds cleared away by men working from a raft with rakes, pulling the weeds from the harbor bed and depositing them on the bank. So heavy was the growth this year, however, that the job was commenced somewhat earlier than usual, the weeds reaching from the bed of the bay to the Belleville Yacht Club slip.

So rank was the growth of weeds this year that the customary method of dealing with them was inadequate and it was found necessary to devise a new system. The problem had been solved for the present, a time but eventually an ingenious scheme developed. Yards of rope and chain, a pulley and small railroad iron evolved. Then a strong horse was used for the motive power, the heavy iron dragging the harbor bed, pulling the weeds to the shore.

The problem proved more rapid than that formerly used, with the result that the harbor was freed of weeds more quickly than was at first anticipated. Today the men are engaged in minor cleaning up operations. The harbor will be kept almost entirely free of weeds, much to the relief of boat owners.

POLICE COURT

Samuel Kornblum, 34, of this city, pleaded guilty to a charge of attempting to commit suicide when he was arraigned before Magistrate E. J. Butler, K.C., in Friday's police court. Kornblum was given a six months' suspended sentence upon the payment of the costs of the court.

"I see this man has scars on his chin. What's the answer to that?" asked Crown Attorney B. C. Donnan, K.C.

"He took carbolic acid, but found out he didn't like the taste of it and tried to spit it out," revealed O. E. Butler, local barrister, who appeared on the man's behalf.

"This matter was purely the result of a domestic altercation," revealed the defence barrister.

Dismissed From Custody

Charles Stapley, Belleville, was dismissed from custody on a charge of allegedly committing an indecent assault.

"This man has been in jail since June 1st awaiting a mental examination. We can't hold him any longer. However, if he's guilty he has been sufficiently punished anyway," commented Mr. Donnan as he moved for a dismissal of the charge. R. D. Arnott, K.C., appeared for the accused man's behalf.

Given 14 Days

Vera Bardy, Tyendinaga, was remanded 14 days in jail after pleading guilty to a charge of intoxication. The woman was arrested after failing to pay a taxi bill in Belleville, Tuesday.

A family dispute that saw Mrs. Ilene Mountenay charge a neighbor woman, Mrs. Sara Plaxo of Belleville, with assaulting her, resulted in both women being bound over to keep the peace "11 days, two to make an argument," pointed out His Worship.

Given Ten Days

Arthur Gerson, transient, appeared on a charge of trespassing upon the property of the C.N.R. Police Constable John Gorman stated he had warned Gerson and another man to leave the railway premises early today. They returned and the officer arrested Gerson.

"What happened to the other man?" asked Mr. Donnan.

"Oh, he got away," replied the officer.

"Well, we'll see Gerson does not get away for ten days anyhow," suggested Mr. Donnan and His Worship imposed the suggested term.

POLICE BLOTTER

Keen observation on the part of Traffic Officer Doug Ellis resulted in the recovery of two portable radios, which had been stolen in Belleville recently.

Officer Ellis was patrolling the city when he observed a 15-year-old lad carrying a small portable radio along East Bridge Street. As there had been reports of portable radios having been stolen, the officer questioned the lad and later escorted him to the police station where he admitted taking the radio from Fralick's radio store. He also confessed to the theft of a similar machine from the C.D.S. previously, both radios have been recovered.

Car Reported Stolen

Police were asked to assist in the recovery of a 1936 Plaxo motor car that was stolen at Oak Lake last night. The vehicle carried Ontario licence plates numbered 4-76-378.

Inspector Frank Gardner of District Headquarters No. 8 of the Ontario Provincial Police here, was in Lindsay today on a special investigation looking into the report of an epidemic of minor robberies in that area.

Ickes Says Lindbergh Following Same Path as Quisling

Hartford, Conn., June 27 — Interior Secretary Harold Ickes declared last night that the American people must make choice now "whether we are willing to buy a craven's truce" or "work, sacrifice, fight and die, if need be, for liberty."

"This is a war for liberty," he said, "if we win it, we may live, but at any rate we will pass on to our children, undamaged, the great heritage that has come to us from our fathers. If—God forbid!—we lose the war, some of us may live, but those who do would much better be dead.

Ickes made his remarks in an address before a meeting sponsored by the Fight for Freedom committee and the committee to defend America by aiding the Allies.

While declaring that 'democracy and Stalin today have nothing in common and no more right of Hitler,' Ickes said practical considerations dictate that "Russia, undoubtedly weaker than Germany, should be aided so that Hitler will be required to waste greater quantities of men and more pieces of equipment, thereby weakening him in his struggle with the democratic forces."

Ickes, frequently critical of Chas. A. Lindbergh who favors United States isolation from Europe, lashed out again at the flier. He declared:

"If Lindbergh is for Hitler now, as every act and word of his seem to indicate, it is because through an understanding with Hitler, or as an expected favor from him, he glimpses a political future which a free people would not accord him voluntarily. Thus it was with Quisling, who betrayed Norway to Hitler, and with Laval, who is doing the same thing to France . . .

"Lindbergh said recently that we need new leaders. This shocking exposure of his personal political ambitions—ambitions which apparently, he would attain by unconstitutional means—should open his simple-minded adherents gasp . . .

"As Hitler's designs upon America are becoming clearer, so is the role that Lindbergh has cast for himself. The understanding between the dictator who bestowed the medal and him upon whose breast it is pinned is not accidental."

Declaring "Hitler has us on his list of the dozen," Ickes said, "I must use more than words in defense of our liberty. We must offer in full measure the sweat and blood and tears that will be necessary. English have been yielding at the call of Churchill." He added solemnly:

"Make no mistake. The situation is so serious that if America does not quickly go all-out for Britain, Americans will find themselves all-in without Britain."

Conviction on Speeding Charges Means Loss of Driving Permit for Month Warns Magistrate Butler in Court

Speeding motorists of Belleville came in for a strong verbal condemnation at the hands of Magistrate E. J. Butler, K.C. and Crown Attorney B. C. Donnan, K.C. during today's session of local Police Court after three drivers had been convicted of driving at an excessive rate of speed and fined.

"Public warnings have been completely ignored. The paltry fines assessed in this court have not brought about any regard for life, limb or property by the drivers of motor vehicles in this city. Therefore in the future when speeding charges are proved in this court I am going to cancel every driving permits for one month, as the increased wanton driving in Belleville is 'Speed-able,'" stated His Worship.

"I realize the City Police are doing their best, but what is needed are more traffic police. Therefore I am going to ask the Police Commission of this city for permission to have the Provincial Motorcycle Officers residing in Belleville to pay attention to any motorists seen speeding on city streets and report the same. I feel Inspector Gardner will co-operate with us in this matter," was the suggested comment made by Crown Attorney, B. C. Donnan, K.C.

Public Asked to Co-operate

"Yes, and further more the public are asked to assist in this matter and report the licence plate numbers of such persons. We'll do the rest in this court," further added His Worship in a tone of warning.

"I am perfectly in accord with a letter that was written by a citizen and published in The Ontario Intelligencer this week protesting about the reckless and wanton manner in which motor vehicles are being driven about our streets. More particularly is the actions of delivery motors. I shall endeavor," added Mr. Donnan.

Chief Kidd stated he would instruct his constable to enforce the city traffic by-law to the limit, although with only one police officer available he could not be expected to patrol all streets simultaneously. The court officials mean business this time.

Picton and District

Picton — The annual convention of the Association of Managers of the Homes for Aged and Infirm in Ontario, held in Picton from Tuesday until Thursday was one of profit and pleasure for all who attended. Practically every Ontario county was represented by managers of Homes, municipal officials or special delegates.

It was the first time that many of the visitors had visited Prince Edward County and the warmest pleasure with its scenic beauty and warm hospitality.

During the gathering, Miss M. Harris, superintendent of the Hamilton City Home, was presented with a wooden gavel with a silver shield suitably inscribed. This was presented by R. L. Silmser, manager of Sherman's Branches and Glenarry Counties Home, who stated the gavel was to be used when his simple-minded adherents gasp . . .

"As Hitler's designs upon America are becoming clearer, so is the role that Lindbergh has cast for himself. The understanding between the dictator who bestowed the medal and him upon whose breast it is pinned is not accidental."

Declaring "Hitler has us on his list of the dozen, Ickes said, "I must use more than words in defense of our liberty. We must offer in full measure the sweat and blood and tears that will be necessary. English have been yielding at the call of Churchill." He added solemnly:

"Make no mistake. The situation is so serious that if America does not quickly go all-out for Britain, Americans will find themselves all-in without Britain."

Institutions Act, and the proposed standard by-law was tentatively endorsed by the convention. The convention was thanked by W. Smith, farm manager Norfolk County Home.

A motor trip to the Outlet Beach, the Sherman West Lake, the Air Station and Prince Edward County Home entertained the visitors, Wednesday afternoon. In the evening a banquet was held at the Parish Hall with short addresses being given by Judge E. H. McLean, Mayor H. McGibbon, Dr. A. Clegg, Dr. D. S. Lighthall, George J. Tuttle, M.P. and Inspector deC Hepburn. M.L.A. Music numbers were given by Sherman and M. V. Dowled community singing, Clifford Hepburn acting as leader. Warden D. O. Reynolds acted as chairman. In the absence of Hon. No. 8 Dist. Representative Lt. Col. Greer, Inspector Hepburn gave a short talk. There were two hundred present.

Members of the R.A.F. entertained a dance in Picton armouries Thursday evening.

Mrs. R. A. Ross, the hostess of a tea at the I.O.D.E. Chapter House on Thursday. There were two hundred guests. The I.O.D.E. catered for the event.

THE WAR TODAY

(By DON GILBERT)

Canadian Press Staff Writer

Communiques of the German high command since the Russo-German war began have been heavily out of balance. The fighting in the air involving millions of men and machines, has been dismissed in a terse paragraph. On the other hand, sea and air operations in the west have been discussed at length.

This, says a London spokesman, shows "Germany is obsessed with anxiety to prove she is capable of fighting a war on two fronts at once." It is the Nazi answer, weak as it is, to those who ask why Hitler's promise to bring Britain to her knees in 1941 is not being carried out.

The communiques this week have contained a high percentage of fiction. Yesterday, for instance, the report of the glorious and successful" cruise of a German auxiliary cruiser, eventually sunk by a "much superior" British cruiser in the Indian Ocean was typical. The communique made it appear that the sinking had just taken place. In London, however, it was learned the German ship was finished off nearly two months ago and the operation announced officially by the Admiralty May 8.

Another misrepresentation by the high command was its announcement that the pocket battleship Admiral Scheer "has arrived at a German port after a long, successful cruise" in the Atlantic, in which it was claimed some 150,000 tons of British shipping was sunk. This news came as a surprise to London, for the Royal Air Force had been keeping an eye on this very ship since the middle of April, when she was spotted tied up in a German port.

No Miracles to Report

Two days ago the military spokesman in Berlin promised for yesterday details of German success as he which he said would baffle the world's imagination. Yesterday the daily communique was 2 hours late, but this side of the Atlantic it was thought that the grand revelations were holding it up. But when it arrived, it said merely that successes of "great dimensions are beginning to show themselves."

Again today the communique spoke of "great successes" and "development of strategic plans." The Soviet radio declares the reason for this unusual reticence by the Germans is that there are "no miracles to be reported."

This is probably true, since it seems the important centre has yet been occupied. The Russian communique speaks of a German armored thrust "in the direction of Lutsk, capital of White Russia, a Soviet province.

Moscow dispatches today describe as it "160 miles inside the Soviet border," though it should be noted that this is the new Soviet border—the one established after acquisition of the Baltic states and Eastern Poland. Older maps show Minsk has inside Russia proper.

In fact all the fighting so far seems to have been in the Soviet hinterland. The old state frontiers do not appear to have been crossed.

Present Gifts to Point Anne Teachers At School Closing

Point Anne —(Special)— Point Anne Public School closed on Friday for the summer vacation. An interesting feature of the closing was the presenting of gifts to Miss E. Collett who is leaving and Mr. George McEwain who is being married. The whole school gathered in Mr. McElwain's room and Lona Carter read an address and Jessie Logue presented Miss Collett with a silver cake plate and Mr. Carvel's an address. Beverly Payne presented Mr. McEwain with a silver cake basket. Both made appropriate replies and the pupils all joined in singing "They Are Jolly Good Fellows."

BRITISH EXTEND MASTERY OF DAYLIGHT SKIES

Day after day British warplanes have roared over Western Germany pounding military targets and over Nazi-held territory along the Channel. So mighty have been these daylight visits with many hundreds of planes participating that the term "daylight mastery of the skies" is in common use. The attacks on the enemy by the Royal Air Force indicate the rising tide of British strength in the air. Every day the story of these British daylight raids rings with the cheering news of the results obtained. Britain is extending the mastery in daylight raids.

Britain's air-raids are not like German raids. The Nazis are not so careful to hit targets, while British fliers leave their mark on the enemy's military machine every time they visit his territory. Therefore the results of British air raids over Germany are more effective. The Germans on the other hand have rather tried to destroy morale of the civilian population by deliberately attacking them. Britain has saved her bombs for the Nazi machine.

So successful has been the British air command that Merrie England has returned to the outdoor entertainments. Bands will play in parks and actors, singers, entainers and dancers will take part in programs in London parks. This is the Britain is not afraid of losing British ability to keep Hun bombers away or clear the skies of any that should appear. The merrie season will last until July 6th. The concerts close at nightfall and the curtain then drops, but as the days are long and darkness comes very late, the period of merriment will be ample.

This is taken as proof of the daylight mastery which British airmen have assumed over the daylight skies.

Growing British strength and the use of the new device are grounds for confidence. The achievements of the Royal Air Force have been of the kind to deserve the highest praise of the nation. They have fully lived up to the words of Mr. Churchill spoken months ago, "Never was so much owed by so many to so few."

HITLER'S ADMISSION

Hitler's sensational and sudden dropping of the Russo-German non-aggression pact and attack on Russia are seen as a plain confession that he needs oil and other resources.

"For a reason Hitler double-crossed Stalin and ordered his armies into the perilous morass of Russia, one thing is unmistakably clear," says the New York Times. "One of his own mouth he has convicted himself not only of perjury but of failure. He has publicly confessed that he cannot carry on the war with his present resources, and this is a bitter admission which the British are both determined to win on and capable, with the American arsenal behind them, of fighting to the finish."

It is the opinion of the Times that "for fear of no less power than ours would the war lord of Germany cut himself off from the open supply line across Siberia and plug the biggest leak in the British blockade. Nor, save in desperation, would he turn from the beckoning door of the Eastern Mediterranean." The writer goes on:

"Against the combined resources of Britain and America he cannot go on without more fuel than he has for his war machine. It is not wheat for Europe's hungry masses that he seeks but lubricating oil for high-power planes and tanks. This cannot be produced from the crude oil of Poland and Rumania, and if the double thrust from the Ukraine and Poland is an index of his intentions, he is bound for the Black Sea and the pipelines of Baku."

Finally the writer says that in attacking Russia Hitler has proclaimed to the German people that his military conquests and his diplomatic coups, of which the greatest was the Soviet pact, has failed to win the war. Today's prodigious battle tells them that the end is farther off than ever.

The other day former President Benes of Czecho-Slovakia, declared Hitler's "mistake" had removed the spectre of a Nazi victory and had decided the war.

OURSELVES AND OTHERS...

BY

Cuthbertson

THE INSTRUCTOR'S LAMENT

"What do you do in the war, Daddy?
How do you help us to win?"
"Circuits and landings and turns, laddie,
And how to get out of a spin.
So, it's woe and alack and misery me—
I trundle around in the sky
And, instead of machine-gunning Nazis,
I'm teaching young hopefuls to fly.
Thus is my service rewarded
And years of experience repaid;
Never a Hun have I followed right down
Or even gone out on a raid.
They don't even let us go crazy—
We have to be safe and sedate—
So it's nix on inverted approaches,
They stir up the C.F.I.'s hate.
And it's 'Oh! What a naughty example!'
And 'What would the A.O.C. think!'
We never get posted to fighters,
We just get a spell on the Link,
So it's circuits and bumps from morning till noon
And instrument-flying till tea;
'Hold her off', 'Put on bank', 'Put your undercart down';
'You're slipping', 'You're skidding'—
that's me!
And as soon as one course is finished,
Like a flash, up another one bobs,
And four more to show round the cockpit
And four more to try out the knobs.
But sometimes we're in the papers—
Of the deeds that old pupils have done,
And we're proud to have seen their beginnings
And shown them the way to the sun.
So if folks give the planes and the money,
We'll give all we know to the men
Till they clutter the earth with their triumphs
And burn out the beast from his den."
—Flying Officer J. D. Somerville, Yorkton, Sask.

TODAY the little red schoolhouses at the corner crossroads, and dignified city institutions will close their doors for the summer holidays. Today an army of carefree, joyous children will leave cloistered corridors and one-room country buildings for the great summer holiday adventure. Behind them is the stifling drudgery of the three R's. Ahead lies the coolness of swimming pools, the verdant grandeur of the woods, the wide spaces of the open fields, walks along shaded country lanes, the gayety of white beaches and a hundred and one other things that go to make summer one of the most joyous of the seasons.

THE spectre of examinations behind them, they trooped happily from schools. Book-laden, they gave vent to their newfound freedom in whoops of happiness. Young minds, with not a care. Their's not to worry about income and other taxes. Their's not the worry of sustenance. Their's not the humdrum drudgery of ordinary life. Their's but a glorious vista of fun and laughter ahead.

BUT little do they realize that they are now enjoying the happiest period of their lives. Soon, too soon, the clouds of responsibility will darken the horizon of their existence. Soon they will learn that life is not one round of pleasure, joy and laughter. Soon they will discover that Life demands payment at her toll gates, that the pathway down through the years is not one of woody glades, sandy beaches, cool swimming pools, and open fields.

SOME of them are now laying the foundation of success; others will be failures. Some will be great men and women, others nonentities. Some will reach the heights, others will taste the bitterness of the dregs.

BUT that is not their worry now. The future, hold what it may in its distant recesses, is not of their immediate concern. The holidays are here. That is all that matters. And a lot of grownups who have felt the bumps and buffets of this thing called Life, wish secretly that they could feel the same.

WHY, THE VERY IDEA!

SAID Mr. De Valera to the Australian Premier during the latter's visit to Dublin: "You'll have a little refreshment before we talk?"

"Thanks," replied Mr. Menzies, "I'd like a drop of Old Irish."

"That's a relief," said his host. "I was afraid you would ask me for one of our old ports."

Belleville's new drug store is to be the old steamer Merritt this summer. Not on account of the picnics and excursions, boats can be easily chartered for them, but is on account of the popular Saturday afternoon trips to Picton, Napanee and other places —people looked forward to them all the week. But the Merritt has steamed away and alas, it looks as though she has taken the Saturday afternoon trips with her. Perhaps however, some steamboat man will step into the breach and endeavor to get our weekly breath of fresh air upon the water. Let's hope so, any way.

The Rev. C. W. Watch, late pastor of Holloway Street Methodist Church, will leave tomorrow for his new charge at Bourne, Ontario.

A number of citizens enjoyed an outing this afternoon on Mr. Corby's steam yacht, the Skylark. The party went to Presqu'Ile.

BEST JOB ON EARTH

My grandpa says it's good to be
The captain of a ship at sea
And certainly it's excellent
To be our country's President.
And there are grave professors, who
Know more than common people do.
But of all jobs on land and sea
My grandpa he would rather be.

No doubt, my grandpa says 'to me,
A famous man it's good to be,
And maybe being rich is fun,
But after all is said and done
Of poets, presidents and kings
And all the splendors he can see
My grandpa he would rather be.

My grandpa says he wouldn't trade
His place for all an admiral's held
And wouldn't run for president
If giving up his job it meant.
Let others run the state affairs!
Let others be the millionaires
The lords and generals, but he
My grandpa is content to be.

SCOTT'S SCRAP BOOK

ON THE RECORD

By DOROTHY THOMPSON

Now is the Time

The time to act is now.

Not next month, not next week, but tomorrow morning.

It is my firmest intends that we shall not live in a Nazi dominated world, then the time see to it that we don't.

By acting NOW.

He has been waiting, they say, on American public opinion.

But he is not running a race with American public opinion.

He is running a race with Hitler.

And this is the moment for a powerful sprint.

For the first time there is a more than equal chance that this war can be concluded and the Hitler regime broken in eighteen months, or at most two years.

The alternative to acting now is either the possible defeat of the British Isles, the forfeiture of the war, and, in that case, the certainty of a fully industrialized Nazi war for the United States, or a very long and costly period of attrition, with unforeseeable revolutionary consequences arising out of chaos and starvation.

* * *

Acting now means putting our navy and air force at the disposal of the British Isles for the purpose of putting out of commission the ports, air fields, docks and munitions factories of the Nazis, while their air force is engaged in Central Russia and before they can turn around with their new protected rear and put their entire strength at the British Isles.

Acting now means clearing the Atlantic always and seaways.

Acting now means taking advantage of the psychological confusion in Russia and Nazi Germany, by making it clear that the attack on Russia does not halt the effect that Hitler counts on it to destroy democracy throughout the public mind in the democracies.

* * *

This is the moment when prudence and audacity converge, and coincide.

Prudence says: Use the moment! Never again will Hitler be engaged in a two-front war.

Never again will his force be pitted in the East against a power that however weak, is the only force that could and is no tiny Balkan state.

Never again will there be a moment of shock in German public opinion as a whole, as people is scrapped and reorienting.

* * *

Now is the time for the West; the last refuge of the free forces of Great Britain and America — to gather up their forces and finish any possibility for a further attack by Hitler against the West this year.

After that it will be too late. And he will know that it is too late.

* * *

Details are not important and ideologies are not important in this moment.

The ideology that wins the war will rule the world.

If the nations with intact industries, popular government, free universities, free criticism, private property, social conscience break Hitler's chance against them now, their way of life will prevail in Europe and America.

The President has said, "We will keep the war from these shores."

But now there's an even better chance.

Namely, to keep the war away from the shores of the United States, or a very large part of them.

* * *

If we miss this opportunity we will pay for it in sweat, blood and tears.

No declaration of war!

Rather a declaration of neutrality, for with it we may be able better to act for peace one of these days.

No declaration of war, but intervention. Intervention on the pattern of the Germans, Italians and Russians in Spain. Intervention this time for democracy, civilization, security.

Intervention in every way and in every form that will help. Intervention now again for Hitler to turn his Luftwaffe against Westminster Abbey, the British Museum, the House of Commons, the ships of the Atlantic.

* * *

Minor details are unimportant. It is of no account, for instance, that this government refused to aid to Germany. That is inevitable. A victorious Wehrmacht will aid Finland knows it. Neither a Nazi nor a Russian victory is in the interest of a single people in Europe. They all know it.

The West — the people of the West — they alone can save Europe.

If we act now.

Suddenly, dazingly, swiftly, without wavering, without hesitation.

We must live in the times in which we live. The times in which the powers formally existed.

Does anyone think any longer that treaties are of the slightest value, or that anything is determinant except force—everywhere on this globe?

But force employed one moment may mean rapid peace. Delayed, disaster.

Now is the accepted time.

Now is the day of salvation.

POP GOES THE CORN

The U.S. Census Bureau reports that Iowa produces the largest crop of the popcorn in the United States!

More than 500,000 tons of popping corn a year is produced in the Hawkeye State.

Long before the arrival of white men in America the Indians cultivated a variety of corn similar to our popcorn.

When the Puritans of Massachusetts Bay Colony held their first Thanksgiving Day February 22, 1630, squanto, the Indian chief and "friend-bringing and food-bearing" sent in a generous supply of popcorn.

Squanto contributed some maize of this variety for the feast.

The Indians introduced the natives called this type of grain "little corn."

It is doubtful, however, that the Indians used this variety of corn for popping purposes. It is not known that it is used at present.

But there seems to be little doubt that all the various varieties of domestic popcorn now grown were developed from the early Indian variety.

Popcorn was an important food among the Indians because the small kernels retained their hard food material stored about the germ when in the case with ordinary field corn.

Several theories have been offered to explain popping in corn.

Formerly it was supposed that air or a volatile oil in the germ was concerned in the popping process.

Two experts now say that popping in corn is an explosion due to rapid expansion under pressure of moisture, the starch grains when the kernel is heated.

The wall of the kernel popcorn is harder than that of ordinary field corn, a fact that permits the entire kernel to explode when heated to three or four times the pure white pulp in the interior.

When the moisture within the grain is heated it is converted into steam and until the moment of the explosion the expansion is prevented by the hard exterior and the material in which the starch grains are embedded.

The explosion is due simply to the formation of steam within the grain when it is heated.

* * *

A kernel of popcorn may be enlarged six or eight times in bulk when it pops.

Freshly popped corn, seasoned with salt and butter or made into balls with molasses taffy, was one of the most wholesome and popular confections known to the early and damage.)

advancing, step by step, as the R.A.F. pushed an unbroken forward, night after night concentrating effects on the enemy now busily occupied with a fifth front in occupation beyond her eastern frontiers".

Principal objectives of the R.A.F. last night were the naval base at Kiel, and Cologne and Mannheim.

Dealt Fatally Bombed"

The Air Ministry said that docks and shipyards at Kiel were "heavily bombed" for the second successive night. Two British planes are missing.

"One British bomber took time out from its bombing attack on targets to shoot down a Nazi fighter plane.

Heat came in Berlin: said the R.A.F. bombed Schleswig-Holstein and Kiel canal and other Baltic industrial region, causing casualties

Nazi air activity over the British Isles continued slight and no casualties were reported after a few bombs were dropped on Southeast England and at one point in East Anglia. Guns had a short air alarm and anti-aircraft batteries opened up but no bombs were dropped.

Nine Nazi Fighters Shot Down

The R.A.F. shot down nine Nazi fighters in repeated raids against Britain's Southeast coast yesterday and lost three fighters.

Authoritative quarters said that the German policy of reversing British victories and losses in their own favor, showed that the Nazi air force is "having a particularly hard time as R.A.F. sweeps across northern France and Germany continue to batter the Nazi airfield quarters believe this is because large amounts of anti-aircraft batteries have been shifted to the Russian front.

No Invasion Expected

There was no confirmation of a report that the Germans have begun to their air force in western Europe and that consequently planes and pilots are being withdrawn from the eastern front, one source said.

The Air Ministry announced that in the 24 hours ended June 26, the Nazi aircraft were destroyed against 3 British loss of 3. In the day ending yesterday, the total lost 108 planes, the R.A.F. 19 planes, 16 men.

It was learned that the heavier concentrations of the Nazi forces increasing numbers on vital enemy areas.

In attacks early Thursday, which included that port of Bremen and Kiel, the British squadrons braved a terrific Russian hail and lightning storm during which severe icing conditions were encountered.

On reaching their objective the bombers started many fires at Kiel docks. An unknown a railway target was smashed.

Farewell to Australia

Australian Air Force trainees climb the mast rigging of their transport for a final glimpse of their homeland as they set sail for Canada. CAR OWNERS SAVE 20% ON TIRE COSTS

Finest Tire in B. F. Goodrich History

Orders Swamp Local Dealers! Duramin-Made Tire Combines Super Safety—Wear—Savings

KITCHENER, Ont., June 27.—To motorists who have been worried about an increase in tire costs and replacing worn out tires to ensure safe driving, the bright spot in the news is the recent B. F. Goodrich announcement—20% cut in tire costs. The 1941 "Life-Saver" Silvertown, with two new developments—"Duramin" and "Safety-Weld"—gives you five miles where the original Silvertown gave you four. To Canada, geared to all out production of war materials, this new tire means a notable saving in vital rubber supply. To Canadian motorists this new tire means down-to-earth saving of 20%.

"Duramin" is a combination of chemicals proven to be the finest defence against rubber's great enemies — heat, sunlight and oxygen — keeps rubber young and alive—assistant to the grinding wear of the roughest roads. Not content with a 20% reduction in tire costs alone, B. F. Goodrich went even further—added one "super" on top of another . . . super mileage . . . super blow-out protection . . . super safety from skids. Result— this year's Life-Saver Silvertown is the toughest, wearing, safest-riding, smoothest-rolling tire in B. F. Goodrich history. It gives you more protection against blow-outs, more safety from skids, more riding comfort—without any premium in price.

"Safety-Weld" Makes Steel-Strong Tire Carcass!

Exclusive with B. F. Goodrich

B. F. Goodrich scientists have discovered the method for putting the famous "Golden-Fly" blow-out protection into every ply of the tire by the "Safety-Weld" process. This new process welds "Hi-Flex" cords with Duramin-toughened rubber; makes tires steel-strong, able to resist internal heat, withstand grinding, grueling wear of the toughest roads . . . guards against ply separation . . . the deadly menace of high-speed driving in summer heat. "Safety-Weld" makes this new "Life Saver" Silvertown tire the safest thing on wheels.

The message, received from the studio's London secretary, said the two men were filming official RAF movies as well as flight scenes for the picture when they were shot down. No further details were given.

British Humorist Given Freedom Of the Reich

Berlin, June 27 (AP)—P. G. Wodehouse, the British humorist, free after 40 weeks' imprisonment in Augerman Civilian Internment Camp, said yesterday he had been given the freedom of the Reich and would make a weekly broadcast over the German shortwave on the amusing side of life in an internment camp.

The first broadcast, arranged by the Foreign Office, was made last night.

(Wodehouse was heard in New York Thursday night in a broadcast interview with Harry Flannery, Columbia Broadcasting System correspondent in Berlin. He spoke mostly of his new books, one called "Money in the Bank" which he wrote in prison camp, and one called "Full Moon" which he has partially completed.

(Wodehouse said his books had nothing to do with his life as a prisoner of war. "They're just my ordinary sort of stuff."

(He only reference to war conditions was this: "I'll tell you something about the war and work that has been bothering me a good deal. I wonder if the kind of people and the kind of England I write about will live after the war, whether England wins or not, I mean.")

Explains Lighter Side

"What's humorous about being in an internment camp?" an interviewer asked before the broadcast.

"Well, England, no particularly amusing incidents occurred to me," said the 59-year-old writer, "but the series of talks should present the lighter side of camp life. For instance, washing one's clothes. I have never been used to that sort of thing you know, but I enjoyed it."

"I also like being with the men— 1,200 of them—from all walks of life," he added. "Their experiences and their views were interesting."

In his camp in Eastern Germany, Wodehouse said, they were joined by Netherlands prisoners, 700 British subjects picked up in France, 200 British merchant seamen, and a group of Norwegians and Yugoslavs.

Plenty of Food Sent

Wodehouse said the simple fare of the camp, together with Red Cross parcels and food packages from friends relatives and readers of his stories, "kept me living about as well as or better than most people in Germany."

The creator of Jeeves, the all-wise butler known to millions of readers, explained: "I was very lucky. Many people who had read my books sent me packages. Thus, at different times, I received food from Denmark, Switzerland and Holland."

At the same time Wodehouse admitted his suite at one of Berlin's swankiest hotels (the Adlon) where the Gestapo, has lodged him, is more attractive than the camp, where his regimen was a cell in a former insane asylum.

The writer said he was still puzzled to know why he was freed.

"I do know, however, that some of my German as well as my American friends have been active in my behalf."

4,000 AIRCRAFT WORKERS APPROVE STRIKE ACTION

Union Leaders Have Power to Call on Federal Conciliation Board to Deal With Dispute

4 FACTORIES INVOLVED

Montreal, June 27 (CP)—A majority vote by workers to strike if necessary left Union Leaders today with power to call for a Federal Conciliation Board to deal with a wage dispute threatening to disrupt Montreal's aircraft industry.

Decision to strike was recorded last night by 4,100 of the 4,400 aircraft employees who crowded into east-end Maisonneuve market to cast ballots in a strike vote called by leaders of Aircraft Lodge No. 712, International Association of Machinists. The remaining 300 voted against strike action.

An additional 1,500 night-shift workers in two leading aircraft plants were scheduled to cast their ballots early today after working a shift of 8,000 the number being part.

Union officials called the strike vote after more than three weeks of negotiations — aimed at higher wages. Union shop and other concessions—failed to bring a satisfactory response from four Montreal aircraft producers.

Vote Unnecessary

Actually, however, the vote was unnecessary. Two days ago Humphrey Mitchell, Chairman of the Dominion government's Industrial disputes inquiry commission, conferred with Company and Union officers and suggested a conciliation board would be set up without the necessity of a strike ballot.

Their balloting machinery ready for the vote, Union officials declined the offer and went ahead with their plans.

The Union emphasized that no immediate strike action was planned and that the vote had been taken merely as a preliminary to formal application for Federal conciliation.

Union demands were made on Fairchild Aircraft Limited, Canadian Vickers Limited, Montreal Aviation Limited and Federal Aircraft Limited. The Union is considering a separate agreement with Fifth aircraft firm, Canadian Car and Foundry.

The workers are seeking, among other things, a wage increase of five cents an hour, same wages for women employees as for men, holidays with pay and the start of overtime after 40 hours a week instead of 46 as at present.

When a cat includes Myrna Loy, a stuffed owl and William Powell, you can be sure that the laughs are long and furious. That's the case in "I Love You Again," the Loy-Powell rib-tickler, now playing at the McCarthy Theatre.

Lack of News Of Promised Nazi Triumphs Puzzles

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON

Washington, June 27 (AP)—The most baffling thing about the Russo-German war here is that the Nazis' failure to come through with promised announcements of successes that would "baffle the imagination."

It indicates that Nazi legions lunging against Russian defences have struck unexpected snags somewhere. The fact that German spokesmen have confined themselves to glittering generalities lends some credibility to Moscow reports that Nazi armored spearheads which broke through at vital points have been cut off before their supporting infantry could follow through. At any rate it seems clear that the Nazi time-table has been thrown off schedule, although how seriously is yet to be disclosed.

Infantry Prime Factor

If there was an instance in Poland, Norway, Flanders, France or the Balkans where a German Panzer break-through was not promptly and effectively followed up by Nazi infantry, it was never publicly shown.

Infantry follow-up was the prime element of German Panzer technique in those battles that swiftly shattered enemy resistance on wide fronts. German Army publications have been full of professional expositions of the true nature of Panzer warfare as developed by the Nazis.

Invariably the German military specialists analyzing previous victories have stressed the infantry follow-up as the vital factor. That attack, supported or preceded by tanks, bombers, they contended, merely paved the way.

What really counted, they said, was staff success in rushing motorized infantry into the gap, overhausted by marching, to fall upon a dazed and disorganized enemy before he could recover.

Such tactics turned what otherwise would have been merely local successes into stepping stones for far-reaching operations and permitted assaults from the rear on enemy front positions.

All is what happened in "the battle of the bulge" in France when the Germans crossed the Meuse. It happened again in Flanders when a Panzer break-through, infantry supported, reached the Channel coast, far in the rear of British-French-Belgian front lines in Flanders. That was what led to the Dunkirk evacuation.

Russians Set Precedent

The same thing happened in Northeastern Greece. An infantry-backed Panzer attack lunged westward across the mountains, separating Southern Bulgaria and Yugoslavia, outflanked the Greek forts guarding the Struma Valley, and reached Salonika via the Vardar. That was the beginning of the end for Greece.

Invariably the Nazi technique has followed the same pattern, with tanks and dive bombers as the cutting edge but with fast-following infantry exploiting enemy confusion. The point in recalling all that is that so far what may have happened on the most critical Russo-German fighting fronts in the Pripet Marshes area. If Moscow bulletins are credible, the Red Army has achieved something that no other German foe of this war has done.

Russian claims omit references to the fate of cut-off Nazi tank units. Lacking infantry support and fuel and ammunition because self-contained supply, they must soon turn back to fight their way again into German lines. Otherwise they would be immobilized and destroyed.

HOW LONG DOES IT TAKE YOU TO EAT?

In these busy days, many of us have to satisfy our hunger with a sandwich, often bolted hurriedly. We know we're playing fast and loose with our health, but the job must take first place. Irregular meals, irregular sleep, and new ways of living are all causes of constipation.

How to Get Gentle Relief

Constipation, as you know, is caused mainly by the disappearance of moisture from the large intestine. Therefore, that moisture must return. This is done by the action of the several mineral salts which are present in Kruschen. At the same time Kruschen, by its diuretic action helps to flush the kidneys, thus ridding your blood-stream of its accumulated toxic poisons.

It stands to reason that the size of doses for mild constipation depends on the individual. But once the initial constipation has been relieved, a small daily dose—just enough to cover a shilling—will help to keep you regular, and cheerful. Don't today to remedy the mischief wrought by irregular meals and irregular habits. Get a bottle from any druggist—20c, and 75c.

The garden at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hughes, East Moira Street, was an ideal setting for the wedding social held Friday afternoon and evening by the congregation of Christ Church. The many booths were effectively decorated in red, white and blue, and during the evening the colored lights added a festive note to the affair. Each organization had charge of some part of the lawn social supper. Mrs. Geo. Gould served a delicious afternoon tea and supper, at dainty tables on the lawn. The Contact Club was in charge of a Country Store, the Woman's Auxiliary had a candy booth and St. George's Guild a home cooking table. Ice cream and soft drinks were sold by the A.Y.P.A., the Evening Branch of the W.A. took ed after the Fish Pond and Touch and Take booths and the Men's Club had a hot dog stand. The G.G.I.V. sold tickets on groceries. Miss Norma Hughes was in charge during the afternoon and evening. Adding to the enjoyment of the guests the Belleville Municipal Band provided a splendid program in the evening.

Weddings

BENNETT—McWILLIAMS

A very pretty summer wedding was solemnized at St. Charles' Church, Read, on Saturday morning, June 21st., when Mary Estella Agnes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry McWilliams, became the bride of Joseph Bernard Bennett, Rev. R. A. Carey officiated at the Nuptial Mass.

Mendelssohn's Wedding March was played by Mrs. Franz O'Connell of Rollin, cousin of the bride, who preceded at the organ.

The bride entered the church with her father, wearing a floor length gown of white satin, princess line with insertion of lrish lace and sweetheart neckline. Her veil was full length with a head-dress of orange blossoms and seed pearls and she carried a bouquet of white roses with maiden hair fern and baby's breath.

Miss Annie McWilliams was her sister's bridesmaid and looked lovely in a floor length gown of pink georgette with honeycomb bolero, large pink picture hat with matching accessories. Her bouquet was pink and yellow roses, baby breath and golden lace fern.

Following the reception the young couple left for Ottawa and from there to Camp Bona Vista at North Bay for a short honeymoon after which they will reside in Hamilton.

PENLINGTON—BUCK

St. George's Anglican Church, Trenton, was the setting of a pretty wedding on Saturday afternoon, when Ruth Nina Buck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Rork, Ridgeway, Ont., became the bride of Flying John Ernest Penlington, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Penlington, Trenton. Rev. W. Robinson officiated, while Miss Dorothy Gauna was at the organ.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was gowned in white eyelet piquet; her finger tip tulle veil fell from a coronet of white roses. She carried a bouquet of white roses. Miss Muriel Penlington, the bride's attendant, was gowned in pink swiss muslin with matching accessories. She carried a bouquet of pink roses.

Thomas Spear was groomsman.

The reception was held at the home of bride's sister, Mrs. T. Spear, Victoria Ave. The bride's mother received wearing white printed ensemble with white accessories and a corsage of roses. Mrs. Penlington assisted, wearing rose crepe dress with white accessories and corsage of roses.

Later the happy couple left for Western points, the bride wearing a white and pink ensemble.

TODD—MULLAN

Smith's Falls, June 27.—The marriage of Miss Marion Bridge Mullan, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Mullan of Richmond, to Sergeant Pilot Ernest Todd, R.C.A.F., Trenton, younger son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Todd of Richmond, was solemnized in St. John's Anglican Church, Richmond, with the rector, Rev. J. W. B. Measlin, officiating.

The bride was lovely in a costume of blue crepe with tucked bodice, white hat and white and pineapple straw, and white accessories. She carried a bouquet of buds and maidenhair fern. Miss Lou Kidner, sister of the bridegroom, was bridesmaid, wearing a cardigan of dusky sheer, with a wide-brimmed white hat and white accessories. She wore a corsage of roses. Mr. Wendell H. Mullan, brother of the bride, was groomsman.

Following the ceremony and congratulations of friends, Mr. and Mrs. Todd left for Ottawa, where a wedding reception was held at the Chateau Laurier. They left later on a honeymoon trip to Toronto. For travelling the bride wore a navy ensemble with sheer crepe taffeta, with blue coat and matching accessories. They will reside at Trenton.

HOME DEFENSE NEEDED!

Every year we face an invasion—an enemy who strikes right into our very homes and is responsible for causing more serious ailments and even deaths than we ever imagine. This enemy appears regularly every year with the first warm days. It is our fight to stamp out this menace to health and to life itself just as quickly as he appears—from the moisture laden air collins germs where he has his breeding places. His name is known to us all too common house fly!

Typhoid fever, the distressing summer diarrhoea of infants, and eye diseases are but a few of the many dangerous infections which the common house fly may spread throughout the community. Its flaily body may carry as many as 6,000,000 disease germs and a single fly's offspring will multiply by the millions in an amazingly short space of time if allowed to breed.

This enemy is a dangerous one to risk using methods of exterminating him which are not completely certain. Of the several methods used some are only temporarily effective in the country' knock him out for the time being. Other methods positively dangerous, accompanied by unpleasant buzzing and distasteful struggles.

We must destroy our enemy but let's destroy him humanely as well as efficiently. Wilson's Fly Pads will kill whole colonies of ants, too. The simple directions are on the package.

Timber Island Home Of Bald Head Eagle

Point Traverse, June 27.— One mile off this point lies Timber Island, an uninhabited 3ce hundred and ten acres of land and home of the bald head eagle.

The island is an ideal sanctuary for these large rapacious birds of the falcon family, offering a protection of nesting sites for their domain.

In the branches of towering pines are built well protected and almost inaccessible nests. There are probably the nearest eagles' nest to Toronto.

Although these "Monarchs of the Air" have fallen before hunter's guns, the greatest menace to their existence is "killing, and second their belief is that these ravenous birds do great harm in killing farmyard fowl and carrying away small farm stock.

A few years ago the Royal Ontario Museum sent a group of bird life to Prince Edward County. Their report is as follows:

The Raptores, in two or three places of the bald eagle, indicates, that there are places on Lake Ontario where this big fine bird is allowed to perish. It exists today in only small fraction of its former numbers, and breeding as it does almost exclusively on dead fish, it behooves nationalists to protect the remnant of their former numbers for posterity.

Mr. Hugh Halliday, nature writer of The Toronto Daily Star, claims and puts forward that eagles are timid. "I don't believe", the naturalist says, "that any sane child eagle ever attacked a human being."

The eagle is one of the largest species of the Falcon family noted for its great strength, size, graceful poise of figure and extraordinary flight; has a keen sight, and preys on small animals, rodents, fish, etc. On account of elevation and rapidity of flight, and of its great strength, it is called "King of Birds."

Because once plentiful in the Great Lakes region, their numbers have been reduced by "sportsmen" and egg-hunters, a move is on foot to have Timber Island may soon become a wild life bird sanctuary. This island if it is to be set aside for the purpose, would be an ideal place for these fast disappearing birds, as only seven pairs are now known to live in Southern Ontario.

The Modern, Easy Way to Make Luscious Jams and Jellies

Use CERTO... it Saves Time and Work ...gives SURE RESULTS

✓ Short Boil
✓ More Jam or Jelly
✓ Natural Taste and Colour
✓ No Uncertainty

CERTO Gives You Better Taste—Perfect Set

SUCH A SHORT BOIL — To make jam with Certo you need only a three-minute to two-minute boil, a rolling boil—for jellies only a half-minute to a minute.

MORE JAM OR JELLY — Very little juice can boil away in this short time, so you get up to one half more jam or jelly from an equal amount of fruit.

KEEPS NATURAL TASTE AND COLOUR — The Certo boil is so short it cannot affect the natural, fresh fruit taste or deepen the colour as long boiling does.

ENDS GUESSWORK — With Certo you get tested, easy-to-follow recipes. Follow them exactly and you'll never have failures.

BACON BOARD AWAITS REACTION OF THE PUBLIC

Will Try Out Voluntary Method to See How Canada Reacts to Appeal to Eat Less Pork

Ottawa, June 27—(CP)— Before taking more drastic action the Bacon Board will wait for two weeks to see how the public reacts to the appeal to Canadians to eat less pork so that shipments of bacon and ham to Great Britain may be increased, an official of the Board said yesterday.

"If we find it necessary to take over all ham and bacon in Canada to meet Britain's requests we will not hesitate to do it", this official said, "but we are anxious to try out the voluntary method first".

In April the British Food Ministry urged Canada to increase its shipments of Wiltshire sides (bacons and hams), and in May the Bacon Board faced with greatly increased consumption of pork products in Canada limited the amount of pork made available for domestic consumption to the quantity consumed in Canada for the corresponding period last year.

Tea Early to Estimate Result

The Canadian public did not relish the difficulty and on Monday the Board issued an appeal to the Canadian public to eat less pork products and the Board official said it was too early to estimate how the public was responding.

One complaint that has come to the Board is that Canadian pork is being exported to United States and complained about why under those circumstances Canadians should be asked to cut down on consumption. Such exports help provide Canada with dollars for ammunition purchases in that country, official said.

The Board could make up any shortage in Britain's requirements by buying Pacific bacon and ham but that would also use up much needed United States exchange.

Another suggestion has been that the Board should have taken a bolder course and put an end to over pork supplies in Canada so that abundant supplies would be available for United Kingdom.

"If we had considered this a long term problem we have taken it over all the pork", the official said, "but we feel that the only temporary Such action would put out of business many butchers and small packers whose product cannot be exported because the plants cannot qualify for government inspection.

"In a real emergency of course we would not hesitate to take such action but we want to see if we will be needing domestic consumption to take our pork supplies and then we would need the facilities which the butchers and small packers provide."

The main type of pigs in holding up well considerably above corresponding week last year but will require a great effort to provide Britain with 420,000,000 pounds of Wiltshire sides between November 1, 1940 and September 15, next, the date under the original contract time, as Britain has requested.

Legs Parade In Short Skirts

BY HELEN POLLETT

Joan Perry is well grounded at all times

THERE'S an old saying that a horse and a woman should be well rounded. The girl who has wrinkles in her stockings had better paste that adage on her looking glass. She looks sloppy.

Our notion of legs before one notices faces sometimes. Pretty, slender pins in sheer stockings and smart shoes are a pleasing sight. The silky leg casings should run real smooth, with no seams at the back and crinkles at the heels. They do, when the shapely, healthy teacher will give the offending hose the once over and promise to do better in the future.

Materials of Beauty

The lovely composition that is the modern woman is made up of many elements, drab, dull, colorless and color. Every detail of her make-up is striking and meticulous. If a woman is not well groomed she might as well resign from the beauty-seeking continent.

Rin not your faith to round garters; they are not reliable. If they're snug enough to keep hosiery smooth they are likely to interfere with circulation. When you get a garter belt see that it is fitted properly. A bit too snug and forces a roll of flesh up above the waist, a bit too loose and it sags and the hose bones causing discomfort. Narrow ones cut into the flesh. Foundation garments, of course, solve the problem, but not all women are wearing them. They should.

When the slender shape is simpler if there is support for abdominal tissues. A good corset makes for good posture, and posture inspires one to stand erect, to walk gracefully.

Have your stockings large enough to afford plenty of toe room. Cramped toes cause feet to be jammed into a huddle. Short stockings are almost as harmful as short shoes. Hose that are well fashioned, so they will be snug and trim, end at the top of the ankle.

Stocking come now in varying length, which is a blessing to the long-legged girl.

Dark shades make plump legs look slender, light tones make pipestems appear larger.

St. John's Anglican Church, Stirling, Observes Eightieth Anniversary

Stirling—Large congregations attended the special services at St. John's Anglican church on Sunday which marked the occasion of their 80th anniversary. Augmented by the members of the Frankford church splendid music offered by the choir under the direction of Rev. Leigh Harding with Mrs. Morrow presiding at the, organ added greatly to the fine services. Rev. Nicholas Stout of Gananoque, a former member of the Stirling church, delivered two impressive sermons. Mr. Stout received his early academic training in Rawdon Township and Stirling schools later attending Trinity College, Toronto. He was ordained in 1919 and has served all his ministry in the Ontario Diocese. He followed the late Archdeacon Greene as rector of Christ Church in Gananoque and later became Rural Dean of Leeds. Many of his friends of this district were pleased to welcome him back for his special services.

Church History

In 1859 Rev. Canon A. Preston was appointed and under his leadership the little band of church people undertook to erect a church. The cornerstone was laid under Masonic auspices on June 25th, 1860, and the edifice was opened for services the following year. The land was donated by Mr. Wm. Mitchell. The beautiful church, completed, cost about $5,000.00. The architect was Mr. Michael Smith of Kingston. Many of the building stands as a wonderful example of the workmanship of the old day. In 1862 during the incumbency of Rev. R. H. M. Baker, Bishop Lewis paid his first official visit to the church, among those confirmed being Mr. Adam A. Belshaw.

Ministers who have faithfully served in the parish since the time of Rev. Baker are Rev. G. W. G. Hodgkinson, the first Rural Dean, P. L. Stephenson, Rev. R. J. Harvey, Rev. G. A. Woodcock, Rev. H. C. Smythe, Rev. A. L. Geen, Rev. S. Hall, Rev. Leigh Harding and Rev. F. Spencer. Rev. B. P. Byers became rector in 1905 and served for more than twenty years. He was followed by Rev. A. S. McConnell who also presided over the present rector, Rev. Leslie Harding. During the eighty years of history in the community, St. John's Church has moved with the times and today its members of its members. The addition of St. John's Memorial Hall recently was the latest step in advancement and to achieve this the members gathered together with their substance, time and effort. Today it stands as one of the village's beauty spots to which, proud natives take visitors to hear with true pride the worthy pride of its architectural beauty.

Useful Double-Breasted Style

Pattern 4792

BY ANNE ADAMS

Doing your summer homework will be a pleasure—in this Anne Adams design. The long lines will effect mode for a lady-in-a-hurry, but that decorative double-breasted bulkhead is a practical feature too. It lets you slip into the dress quickly without mussing your curls or your fabric . . . It lets you free it in a flat-pressed fashion, and it makes the style wearable as either a long-front or a smock. A flower-shower crestone or chintz fabric with three or four tones will set off the charms of this simple mode.

Pattern 4792 is available in misses' and women's sizes 16, 18, 20, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46. Size 36 takes 3 3-4 yards 35-inch fabric and 3 3-4 yards ric-rac.

Send twenty cents (20c) in coins (stamps cannot be accepted) for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly SIZE, NAME, ADDRESS and STYLE NUMBER.

Send your order to The Ontario Intelligencer Pattern Department, 166 Front St., Belleville, Ont. ndsi4028.

Dodgers, Cards Are Tied Again For National League Lead and it May Continue Until September

Brooklyn Pulls Into Tie by Beating Boston Braves 11-2

YANKEES WIN

BY JUDSON BAILEY

(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Brooklyn Dodgers and St. Louis Cardinals are in an exact tie for the National League lead today and apparently they are fooling to keep right on fighting each other till the end of September.

This is an old custom in the senior circuit, but never any more fiercely contested than this year.

The Dodgers pulled into a tie last night by crushing Boston Braves 1-3 while all other teams in the league were idle.

Whitlow Wyatt pitched five-hit ball for his 11th victory and had a shutout until Gene Moore singled with the bases loaded in the eighth.

The Dodgers mauled three pitchers for 14 hits.

New York Yankees held on to their slim percentage lead in the American League by bumbling St. Louis Browns 4-1 with a spectacular one-hit pitching performance by Lefty Marius Russo.

Only Hit is Homer

The young southpaw was parted from a no-hit game in the seventh inning when Harlond McQuinn smacked a homer. But he faced only 27 other batters, six of 'em no other Brownie got near first base.

Two double plays helped out mean who worked for Chicago doubled on his last time at bat to run his hitting streak to 12 consecutive games, three short of the record, and Tom Henrich homered to extend the Club's record string of four-baggers to 35 in 21 straight game.

Cleveland Indians rallied for six runs in the seventh inning to beat Boston Red Sox 11-8 and prevent the Yanks from increasing their margin. Bob Feller was shelled for 11 of Boston's 12 hits and gave the Sox a 8-1 advantage in the first three innings. He eventually had to be relieved but received credit for his 19th triumph against three defeats.

Chicago White Sox and Washington Senators, who had battled 18 innings Wednesday struggled through 16 innings yesterday until Washington finally edged out a 3-2 decision on Jimmy Bloodworth's run-producing single.

Bob Johnson hit two home runs, each with two on, and two singles to account personally for six runs and help Philadelphia Athletics to an 8-4 victory over Detroit Tigers. It was the first victory over the Tigers for Phil Marchildon, Penetanguishene-raised pitcher.

GOES TO GIANTS

Infielder Sammy Hale of the Boston Red Sox, formerly a Cleveland star, has been sold to the New York Giants in a straight cash deal. Hale has been used chiefly as a pinch hitter.

BUFFALO BISONS IN SECOND PLACE OF INT. LEAGUE

Wind Up Half a Game to Good by Beating Montreal Royals 7-3

LEAFS LOSE TO WINGS

(By The Associated Press)

Today it's the Buffalo Bisons' turn to occupy second place in the International Baseball League standings.

The Bisons and Montreal Royals have been putting on an Alfonse-Gaston act all week. Every time one lost the other won and moved ahead.

Last night Buffalo pinned a 7-3 defeat on its Canadian rival and wound up a half game to the good.

Freddy Hutchinson pitched the Bisons to victory, turning in a seven-hit performance for his 12th consest of the year. A homer by Don Ross with two mates on in the fourth accounted for all Montreal's runs.

Dutch Meyer hit one for the Bisons in the sixth and Bill Conroy in the seventh.

The triumph left Buffalo 2½ games behind the leading Newark Bears, who carved out a 10-7 victory over Baltimore Orioles on the strength of four clouts.

George Stirnweiss and Frank Crosetti hit two apiece to pace the Bears' 14-hit attack on a trio of Orole hurlers, driving in nine runs.

In the only other game Rochester's champion Red Wings nosed out the last-place Toronto Leafs 13-11 with three runs in the ninth. Syd Mueller's triple with two on erased an 11-9 deficit and Hy Vandenberg's single shortly after sent him home with the winning run. Vandenberg, fifth Rochester hurler of the night, was the winner and Pat McLaughlin, last of four Leaf pitchers, the loser.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

(By the Associated Press)

Marino Ramos, Yankees—Pitched one-hit ball against Browns.

Buddy Johnson, Athletics—Hit two home runs, one with two on, to beat Tigers.

Jake Wodsworth, Senators—Singled home winning run in 16th inning against White Sox.

Whit Wyatt, Dodgers—Subdued Braves on five hits for 11th victory of season.

WITH THE LAWN BOWLERS
by
GEO. E. WATKIN.

On Tuesday evening sixteen of our club played in Alsace. Mrs. Black of that club won first prize for the ladies and John Shaw the first for the men. Jack says class will tell. "Modest John."

On Wednesday Harvey Stewart Cliff Argue and Abe Wonscott played in Hastings. "Can't find out a thing."

Was glad to see Al Lasier out on Wednesday night. He has the remarks of a good player.

On Wednesday evening we had a real game, although the green was quite less took part and some real games were played. The game was played in two sections, the older bowlers on the first section and the younger boys in the second. In the first section John Shaw and Doug Row won first honors at Mr. Sheppie and Joe Black second. In the young section, Harry Hales and Edgar Rutherford took first place with Fred Tilley and Bill Fewtrel second.

On Tuesday, July 1st, a mixed tournament takes place here and every man and woman in our club who will be home that day should take part. The entire proceeds will go to the Telegram War Victims' Fund. Mr. R. P. Webber, Financial Editor of the Telegram is coming with a team from the Kingsmead Club in Toronto. Our men's club is about double that of the ladies and I would suggest where ladies cannot be secured to make up a team four men play on a team but to distinguish a man from a lady he must wear an apron. This is a great chance for you boys to show your calibre.

Can you picture Cal. Bonisteel with an apron on. But I bet he would wear it.

Today's guest star:

Jerry Nason, Boston Globe: "A scientific study of track and field a couple of years ago resulted in the "statement that the limit a man can jump was his own height was seven inches. Les Somers stands a fraction of an inch over six feet and has jumped higher than seven feet. Which makes either a bum out of science or a freak out of him."

Belleville Rink Wins Ladies District Tourney

The Belleville rink of Mrs. C. Lent, Mrs. L. Scott, Mrs. W. Shaw and Mrs. G. Row won the annual ladies' district open lawn bowling rinks tournament sponsored by the ladies of the Belleville Lawn Bowling Club here on Thursday. It was the first time in four years the local club had won the honors, the Cobourg ladies having taken the cup for the past three years.

Ladies' rinks from Kingston, Deseronto, Colborne and the home club-Belleville, participated in the tourney, three being from Kingston, two from Cobourg, five from Belleville and the Deseronto entry.

The results of the matches were: First with three wins high—The Belleville rink consisting of Mrs. Lent, Mrs. Scott, Mrs. Shaw and Mrs. Row, skipping for Mrs. M.

Second with three wins high—The Belleville rink of Mrs. Harry Heagle, Mrs. A. Watkin, Mrs. G. Cross and Mrs. C. Gilbert, score 36 plus 35.

Two games high—Belleville—Mrs. Hyde, Mrs. I. Ward, Mrs. M. Kerr and Mrs. D. Argue, score 30 plus 34.

One win high—Kingston—Mrs. T. Green, Miss E. McCullough, Mrs. B. Clarke and Mrs. E. Hall.

New York, June 27—(AP)—Baskeball beak bizness: Manager Ray Cachey working on Mike Jacobs to have Lou Nova train for Joe Louis at Grossinger's, the Riviera of the Catskills. It's the same spot which sent Max Baer, Barney Ross and Billy Conn out to both artistic and financial successes.

Dis-a and dat-a:

Walter Briggs' next big cheque in writing job may be for five figures to get Nick Gregory, the Dallas outfielding youngster, for the Tigers. . . . The Pros who've seen Billy Soose, Baltimore's new featherweight champ, is the best fighter in the ring . . . with Max Baer second and Louis strictly a slugger.

Marine, a Great Sire, Dies in Winnipeg

Winnipeg, June 27—(CP)—Marine, one of the greatest sires in Canadian racing circles, is dead. The son of Man O'War, winner of many outstanding Canadian races, and holder of the Canadian record for the mile, died Thursday at the Whittier Park Stock Farm here of internal strangulation.

Bred by the famous turfman, Joseph E. Widener, New York, and imported into Canada by Kenneth T. Dawes of Montreal, Marine's record as a horse and a sire placed him in the top notch of all sires in Canada. He was purchased by R. J. Speers, owner of Whittier Park Stock Farm in 1938.

Marine's progeny in Eastern Canada include such turf notables as Wood, Sea General, Hagris, Don Mariner, Cabin Cal, Fair Wars, Red Pirate, Katie Bud, Sea Cadet and others. He was sire of winners of 118 races with a value of $98,365 up to Jan. 1, 1941.

Marine established the Canadian record for the mile 11 years ago at Montreal's Blue Bonnets track. Carrying 118 pounds and running against time, Marine covered the distance in 1:36 3-5, beating the previous record by a full second.

GOSSIP NEWS & COMMENT

The Belleville Golf Club wears the crown of the Bay of Quinte district golfers today, thanks to the steady golf of Tommy Carruthers. Carruthers got out of a sick bed to play with the "scatterpins" in the Quinte Cup tournament at Trenton on Wednesday. At the end of the day Carruthers and Tom Weyms still battling, the finalists. Trenton and Belleville were tied at four matches each. Carruthers and Weyms then carded a tie score and were forced to play an extra hole. Tommy was hot on his iron shots, after getting away a beautiful drive. He holed out in a par four, while Weyms carded a five, thus giving the Belleville Golf team the district title, their first in seven years and the third to be enjoyed by the older club of the city. The local team was composed of Harry Bixler, Joe Laycock, Jack Marsh, Walter Thompson, Tommy Carruthers, Charlie Davis, Wally Waldorf, Ted Hughes and Gan. Hibbard. Congratulations Belleville Golf.

Harold Bawden is trying to get Alfie Rowbotham to play for the Corby A.C. on Dominion Day when the Corby's play in the softball tournament at Hastings. Billy Taylor, who sponsors a softball team in Trenton, when not playing hockey for the Trenton Maple Leafs, has entered his team in the tournament, as have teams from the Trenton R.C.A.F., Peterborough and even "pint" Clapper's team, Picton. Incidentally the Corbys meet the Front Anne "Sweetheart" in their final scheduled game on Saturday night, while at the Armouries Chuck Conroy's Big-'Z' hamlet cross bats versus the Corbin Lock gals.

"Maybe a ten-day suspension is all we can hand Babe Phelps, but there isn't anything in the rules saying we have to carry him as a catcher," Manager Leo Durocher of the Dodgers asserted last week. "Phelps can sit on his farm in Maryland or plow the corn the rest of the season for all I care. He's useless as one of our 25 players if we can pay him and let him stay home. But we can go along with 24 who believe they are able to play ball, the things I know about the Phelps case is that he'll not be allowed to report for duty to the team any more this season while this is manager. He says he's too sick to play, so I'll not ask him to."

Do you remember when Chuck Campbell, former Canadian and United States amateur champion, qualified five years ago to represent Canada at the Berlin Olympics in the single sculls event.

When Larry MacPhail released Van Lingle Mungo to Montreal he dropped the dean of the Dodgers. The big pitcher had been with Brooklyn since 1931, the last year Wilbert Robinson was manager. He remained to serve under four other leaders—Max Carey, Casey Stengel, Burleigh Grimes, and Leo Durocher.

While it is proper to call Mungo the last of Robby's boys, Hugh Casey has a still better claim to the distinction. Casey did not join the Dodgers until Robinson had been gone eight years, but he was "discovered" and tutored by the veteran down in Georgia.

As a youngster Casey used to visit Robinson's farm in the winter hunting grounds near Dover Hill, Ga. Under Robby's advice and guidance he started and pursued a successful league career. But he did not reach Ebbetts field until after Robinson's death.

DID YOU KNOW—Bob Thompson, ace pitcher of the Tuscon Cowboys in the Pioneer League is a brother of Pitcher Claude Thompson of the Reds? . . . A strangely enough the Tuscon club has a Max Manush on its roster, which may mean we'll see a brother pitching team with the Reds another day. . . . Johnny Layton's nickname is Red, his son's is Bud and they live on Redford Street in St. Louis . . . Hosley Smith, veteran N. H. L. forward, bought himself a new home near Montreal, but intends to play hockey next season . . . The golf trophies and relics of the Royal and Ancient Golf Club of St. Andrew's, Scotland, have been moved to safe quarters during the war . . . Jack Forbert, infield in just about leading local softball league, is reported to have that Jimmie Barriage has missed a couple of contests . . . Bob Feller throws a ball faster than 140 feet a second . . . Pepper Martin is a keen baseball fan . . . Jack Forbert may run the Esquire Juniors, while Red Townsend holidays.

Forced into overtime at a tenth inning, the Corby A. C. softballers kept their undefeated record for the season unblemished by beating the Trenton R.C.A.F. "All-Stars" 8 to 7 at the Flats last night, John Bawden and Chandler, both pitched for the Flyers, hooked up in a tidy hurlers' duel that saw the locals being forced to score three in the ninth to tie the score and then go on to win in the extra frame. Bawden and Jimmie Barriage had three hits each. Brain Carey was at the helm of the Flyers and piloted the Airmen smartly, while the Bawden-led Corby's rallied when hits meant runs.

Eleven rinks from all parts of District No. 15 took part in the annual ladies' open rinks tournament sponsored by the ladies of the Belleville Lawn Bowling Club here yesterday. The local rink of Mrs. Lent, Mrs. Scott, Mrs. Shaw and Mrs. Row won the cup, which has been held by Cobourg for the past three years. Rinks from Kingston, Cobourg and Deseronto visited Belleville.

Former district ball players came in for some commendable recognition when Deseronto's Proud-Copper Cliff senior ball team—Coley Gray hit two home runs for Proud on Coley's own field to only counters registered by the Copper Cliff nine—supported another Belleville diamond product, Carman Mackie, who had to be a hitter and Copper Cliff won 8 to 2. Maurice Rinkley, also of Napanee, played left field for Copper Cliff and had a hit.

Bill Dietrich, White Box pitcher, who once hurled a no-hitter, is to work more often in the future. Manager Jimmie Dykes thinks Dietrich loses his effectiveness when only pitching once every five days.

Weekly Livestock Report

Toronto, June 27—(CP)—Hot weather slowed down retail sales of beef and resulted in a draggy cattle market, on the Livestock Market here this week with prices down 50 cents or so on most grades of killers. Veal calves were firm, hogs gained 25 cents cwt., lambs were down 50 cents while sheep held steady.

Weighty steers were slow movers at $6.25 to $8.75 with a top load at $8.80 on Wednesday. A few top choice heifers sold to $8.50, butcher steers and heifers closed at $7.50 to $8 after making a top of $8.85. Cows were mostly $5 to $7 with canners and cutters from $3.50 to $4.50. Bulls sold from $6 to $7.25. Fed calves were $6.75 to $10. Stockers were fairly active on Monday at $7 to $8.50 but the closing trade was slow with load unsold. Pastures are drying up in the country and rains are badly needed. Milkers and springers were unchanged at $80 to $150 per copy. About 200 cattle were unsold at the close.

Veal calves met with a brisk trade at $10 to $11 for choice with common vealers downward to $7. Canners sold at $6 to $6.50. Farmers paid up to $9 cwt for light stock calves.

Hogs gained 25 cents cwt. to close at $14.50 on Monday with a premium of $1 cwt for grade A, in Wednesday's trade. Packers' premium Sows were $9.50 to $9.75 dressed and sold at $12 to $12.50.

Lambs dropped 50 cents to $13.50 for best quality delivered by rail and $13 by trucks. Yearlings and culls sold at $9 to $11 cwt. Sheep were steady at $2.50 to $6 cwt. The buck lamb discount of $2 cwt will be maintained for the season.

Tuesday, July 1, will be a holiday on the Toronto Market.

Belligerent Powers Notified Turkish Ship Was Sailing

Ankara, Turkey, June 27.—(AP)—Reports received here accounted for only twenty survivors of 781 persons known to have been aboard the 2,900-ton Turkish steamer Refahi, sunk in the Eastern Mediterranean apparently by a submarine.

The Refahi, Turkish flag vessel, sets to England to bring back war-ships for the Turkish navy, sailed from Erain, southeast Turkey, Sunday.

All belligerent powers had been notified that the ship was sailing before it left port.

Some of those saved were reported to have landed at a point on Bunun (Black Rock Point) on the Turkish coast near the entrance to the island of Cyprus.)

The officers and men aboard the ship were described as "the cream of the Turkish navy and Mercantile marine."

It was reported that the torpedo struck the ship in the engine room, only one lifeboat could be launched and to this 28 passengers, all saved.

An NBC commentator said the incident aroused considerable feeling in Ankara as the ship carried an estimated 1,000 persons, 781 of them and an illuminated flag on her both sides.

Swindles Woman Out of 10 Dollars By New Racket

A brand new racket was disclosed in Belleville today and householders are warned to be on the alert if a man calls at their home and offers to your radio license. On Millside Street this morning a man victimized a woman of $10 by this method applying the new swindle.

The woman in Millside Street a woman answered a call to her front door and was told by the man that her or not she had a radio license for $10 currency.

"Our radio is out of commission, but for a small fee we will repair it, reliance and having it repaired," explained the woman, as she observed the man produce a small portfolio-type book upon the outside of which was printed the words "Province of Ontario."

Within a few minutes, radio licence eagerly responded the man. The $10 bill was then pushed into the ten dollar bill in payment for the licence.

"I'm sorry, but I'll have to get the change from my boss," stated the man, as he pocketed the bill sitting in a black sedan outside. Then he drove off, jumped into the car and drove away.

Belleville police were notified and Detective Izard investigated to learn that the man was about 30 and 40 years of age about five foot five inches tall and short in stature. He was said to be driving a Chevrolet was available of the second man.

Police have no intention, however, of seeking radio licences the householder should immediately inform the police," stated Chief Kidd speaking on the subject at noon.

Officials See Unemployment Insurance as Business Aid

Builds Up Reserves When Employment Good and Pays Out When Trade Depressed

IN FORCE JULY 1

By JAMES McCOOK
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Ottawa, June 27 (CP).—Unemployment insurance officials said today the unemployment insurance commission coming into force next Tuesday would prove of major benefit to Canadian business.

"Unemployment insurance builds up reserves when spending is active and employment is good, and pays them out when trade is depressed and spending needs to be stimulated," they said.

"While the unemployed workers' insurance income is necessarily smaller than his normal wages his spending is much more considerably wiped out. He still has a large percentage of his former wages coming in weekly in the form of insurance benefits.

"In a period of depression, when hundreds of thousands of workers are unemployed, unemployment insurance becomes an important factor in maintaining consumer purchasing power—and thus stabilizes business throughout the country."

Supporters of unemployment insurance have long contended that this method of dealing with unemployment is one of the most practical means and that for the earlier stages of unemployment at least it is less expensive than ordinary relief payments or public works, officials said.

A considerable share of the responsibility for the successful operation of the scheme is laid on the shoulders of employers. They are required to register all those workers with the Unemployment Insurance Commission after they have filled out insurance books for each employee are kept up to date. Each employer pays to the insurance fund paid in full.

Part Sent To Canadian Troops

When the insurance book for each employee is received, it is the duty of the commission to see that required information is placed on the front cover which is then sent and returned to the Unemployment Insurance Commission.

The back cover of each new book is given to the employee as evidence that he has registered and is entitled under the Unemployment Insurance Act.

A licence is issued to the employer for the purpose of paying unemployment insurance stamps at his local post office. He affixes these stamps each week period in the insurance books of the insured employees.

When workers are employed for shorter periods than the full working week the insurance books are made at a rate of one-sixth of the weekly rate for each day worked. One-sixth deductions are also made into six sections and is so designed that it can be used for a week's work under each Stamp Cancelled.

As soon as the stamp is affixed in the book ,the employer cancels it by impressing or writing in the date of sale on which it was placed in the book.

Payment for overtime is considered part of the worker's weekly earnings under the unemployment insurance plan.

In giving the payroll occupations, the employer is required to be clear in explanations. The terms "agent", "engineer", "manager" and "clerk" are not acceptable descriptions. In addition to the employer, the commission states that an agent may be an insurance agent, a real estate agent, or ticket agent and that the actual position held should be made clear.

Unemployment insurance stamps in the denomination required will be purchased at post offices. Temporary exemption may be given in case of casualty of registering with the commission if they furnish the postmaster with a satisfactory reason. The insurance book numbers of persons employed by contractors will be transferred to sell stamps to such employers even though they may not be registered.

U. S. CONFRONTED

Whether American rifles would be of any help without American ammunition, he did not disclose.

Mr. Roosevelt made it clear that the United States is not to be neutral.

There were enough existing plants in the country, he said, to enable all the country got behind on ammunition because more plants to manufacture it had not been built.

BRITISH ADVANCE TO TOBRUK

London, June 27 (CP).—British troops have smashed forward 500 yards in a bitter struggle across Mersa Medawa salient west of Tobruk, besieged Libyan port, authoritative quarters said today.

The advance was on a 2,000-yard front and already has cost the enemy, they said. They estimated the perimeter of the salient as about 40 miles long.

COUNCIL WANTS CONSCRIPTION

Cornwall, Ont., June 27 (CP)—Council of the united counties of Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry last night framed a rebellion calling for conscription of "manpower, industry and wealth of Canada," Thomas Church, M.P. and Hon. Peter Minister Mackenzie King and Defence Minister Ralston.

No Panic Noticed In Russia After Attack by Nazis

Henry Cassidy, Associated Press Correspondent in Moscow, gives the following picture of the calmness Russian civilians under war conditions and details of unusual experience as a war reporter. He was in Paris when Germany invaded France and saw the massacre of civilians who clogged French roads in flight. The contrast he presents in the following dispatch is the first eye-witness account of wartime Russia outside Moscow.

By HENRY CASSIDY
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Moscow, June 26. (AP)—From the Black Sea to Moscow, through regions known by foreigners recently, even in peacetime, I have watched from behind the Russian lines as the Soviet provinces went to war with Germany.

The general impression was that the Soviet forces got off to a smooth start. Mobilization was carried out without any apparent hitch. The army was handled quite effectively. Trains were running promptly. Agriculture and industry appeared to be working at top pitch.

The Soviet countryside showed two striking contrasts to France a year ago.

First, there was no panicky rush from north to south. Secondly, in fact, I found it difficult for a civilian to get at all unless he had a real reason.

Second, the people maintained extraordinary calm and confidence.

The aides over Central European air routes were the first to penetrate Soviet control. Through the haze of war on the western frontier not even the scouting craft such as penetrated deep into France in the early days of the war.

If there had been runners enough to carry the news, I think it would have been met with stunning surprise in the provinces. Russia is big. Even the Germans have been unable to handle the car.

The car was in excellent working order, according to George Durant, Associated Press motor mechanic who met the car after the accident. "It was a model 1941 Buick sedan, apparently new. It was in good condition and the driver was all right. He was the first arrived on the scene", he said.

Durant described the scene of the accident were William Keilty and his son, Thomas, farmers, who had been motoring on a two children of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Keilty, Wooler. Mrs. Keilty and Thomson was lying in the ditch on the side of the road and his car on the road and his feet in the ditch. The injured man, his son and Durant put him into the car and took him to the hospital in Belleville where he received medical attention.

Widow Testifies

Testifying at the hearing, Mrs. Keilty, widow of the deceased informed the Court that Robert Anderson was a half-brother of the late Mr. Anderson. "He had joined us (Mr. and Mrs. Thompson) in the honeymoon suite at the Quinte Hotel in Belleville. We had a couple of drinks and I noticed they had driven to out home on Canniff Street. When we got there the house was on fire and the firemen were there. They soon had the fire under control and it was in quite a mess".

We had asked Robert if he would drive us to Erinsville for the week-end and he agreed", said Mrs. Thompson. "I was riding in the centre of the front seat with my husband on the outside and Mr. Anderson driving. My two children were in the back seat.

"Robert drove all right until we approached the corner. Then", she continued "there the car started to swerve. I called to Robert to tell him to 'take it easy'. He replied that old Buick won't have the speed that took his hands off the wheel just for a second. I could see nothing else to do except trying to make the curve and he tried to make the curve.

"I didn't realize he had been drinking until after the car left the road and I was thrown from the car", testified Mrs. Thompson. "The accident happened about 1.30 in the morning".

Chief Gives Evidence

Chief Constable Clair Hayes testified that the accident happened when "He staggered, smelled strongly of liquor and ugly", he said. "The course taken by the car and skid marks indicated that he had been driving at a high rate of speed before the curve before the accident occurred".

In a statement given to Chief Hayes, Anderson, charged in the charge of manslaughter, the accused stated that "the effects of the beer made me sleepy. I remember I knew the car had hit the pole".

Magistrate Hall will in registering the accused for trial stated that evidence to make the committal.

Obituary

MRS. JAMES FROST

Toronto, June 27 (CP)—Mrs. James Frost, 92, one of the pioneers of Northumberland County, died here Wednesday after a lengthy illness. A resident of Warkworth for 80 years before moving to Toronto, she was keenly interested in politics and at the age of 105 in 1935 cast her ballot in a federal election. She survives her husband and one son, Rev. Harry: A. Frost of Lakewood, Ohio, and Toronto, seven daughters, seven grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Interment will take place at Warkworth cemetery.

LATE THOMAS McRAE

Mr. McRae died in a local hospital on Monday following a short illness, in his 64th year.

Born in Perth Scotland, he was a son of the late Edward McRae and Mrs. Ann Mitchell. He came to Canada 17 years ago and has been with the Bell Telephone Co. of Commerce since that time.

He had been a member of Crown Sound, Sault Ste. Marie, Belleville, Sudbury, Ottawa and during the past three years in Toronto and Montreal. His marriage to the former Miss Jane Ann Mitchell, of Canada.

Surviving are his wife and infant daughter, Sheila; one brother, William, in the Imperial Forces in England; one sister, Mrs. Jane Shearer, of Perth, Scotland.

GEORGE BARNUM

The death occurred Sunday at the family residence, 100 Pinkie Street, Woodstock, of George Barnum, resident of Woodstock for the past 25 years. He was employed as a man at the C.N.R. station in that place. Mr. Barnum had been ailing for a considerable time. He was in his 74th year.

Deceased was born at Halloway near Belleville, and was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Barnum. Before moving to Woodstock the family resided for a time at Brantford where Mr. Barnum conducted a livery business.

Surviving are his widow, formerly Isabella Grant; two daughters, Mrs. Wm. Bell of Brantford, and Mrs. W. H. Wood (Lizzie), Woodstock; one son, Percy D. with the 1st Division, overseas, and Robert, Woodstock; also a sister, Mrs. M. A. Bowen, Belleville and seven grandchildren.

The funeral took place at Woodstock.

MRS. CHARLOTTE WILSON

(Springbrook)

The death took place on June 24, of Charlotte Wilson, widow of Jeremiah Wilson, in her 86th year. Deceased was Mrs. Wilson was well known in the community. She was a faithful member and by her first husband, two daughters, Mrs. Elias Brown of Bonarlaw, and Mrs. Jessie McMaster of Springbrook, and one son, Thomas Wilson, of Springbrook.

The funeral took place on Thursday afternoon to Springbrook United Church where the service was held by the pastor, Rev. Mr. Lawson Hunter. Burial took place at Mount Nebo Cemetery.

THREE TESTIFY IN TWEED COURT DRIVER DRUNK

Robert Anderson, Madoc, is Committed for Trial on Motor Manslaughter Charge

MANY WITNESSES

Robert Anderson, Madoc, was committed for trial by Magistrate Donnelly J. Lloyd at Tweed Police Court yesterday of the charge of manslaughter. Eight Crown witnesses gave testimony at the preliminary hearing.

The charge was laid following an accident on Highway 37, three miles south of Tweed, early in the morning of June 15, in which Richard C. Thompson was injured and later died in the Belleville General Hospital, on June 18.

Death was due to pneumonia caused by an injury to his chest and right lung. This was confirmed by Dr. F. R. Gibson, attending physician, and Dr. Joseph MacKay, coroner, at the inquest held in the hospital, who conducted the post mortem.

Dr. F. J. McCue of Tweed, who attended the injured man after the accident stated that his right chest was severely crushed.

Provincial Const. Says Deeter

"The accused was intoxicated when I saw him at the scene of the accident", testified Dr. McCue. "He was certainly under the influence that I had to hold him, while I put the bandage on his nose."

Dr. McCue would have been driving the car, the condition was such that he could not have driven. He have been able to handle the car properly.

"The car was in excellent working order, according to George Durant, Associated Press motor mechanic who met the car after the accident. "It was a model 1941 Buick sedan, apparently new. It was in good condition and the driver was all right. He was the first arrived on the scene", he said.

Durant described the scene of the accident were William Keilty and his son, Thomas, farmers, who had been motoring on a two children of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Keilty, Wooler. Mrs. Keilty and Thomson was lying in the ditch on the side of the road and his car on the road and his feet in the ditch. The injured man, his son and Durant put him into the car and took him to the hospital in Belleville where he received medical attention.

Widow Testifies

Testifying at the hearing, Mrs. Keilty, widow of the deceased informed the Court that Robert Anderson was a half-brother of the late Mr. Anderson. "He had joined us (Mr. and Mrs. Thompson) in the honeymoon suite at the Quinte Hotel in Belleville. We had a couple of drinks and I noticed they had driven to out home on Canniff Street. When we got there the house was on fire and the firemen were there. They soon had the fire under control and it was in quite a mess".

We had asked Robert if he would drive us to Erinsville for the week-end and he agreed", said Mrs. Thompson. "I was riding in the centre of the front seat with my husband on the outside and Mr. Anderson driving. My two children were in the back seat.

"Robert drove all right until we approached the corner. Then", she continued "there the car started to swerve. I called to Robert to tell him to 'take it easy'. He replied that old Buick won't have the speed that took his hands off the wheel just for a second. I could see nothing else to do except trying to make the curve and he tried to make the curve.

"I didn't realize he had been drinking until after the car left the road and I was thrown from the car", testified Mrs. Thompson. "The accident happened about 1.30 in the morning".

Chief Gives Evidence

Chief Constable Clair Hayes testified that the accident happened when "He staggered, smelled strongly of liquor and ugly", he said. "The course taken by the car and skid marks indicated that he had been driving at a high rate of speed before the curve before the accident occurred".

In a statement given to Chief Hayes, Anderson, charged in the charge of manslaughter, the accused stated that "the effects of the beer made me sleepy. I remember I knew the car had hit the pole".

Magistrate Hall will in registering the accused for trial stated that evidence to make the committal.

Severe Tremors Shake Morocco

London, June 26 (CP)—A severe earthquake, which experts compared with some of the worst in recent years, was recorded here today and indirect reports said there had been considerable damage but few casualties.

The quake began at 2 p.m. (8 a.m. Eastern Standard Time) lasting 46 minutes later when the seismograph needle here swung 1-4 inches.

The tremors appeared to be getting progressively more violent.

Exchange Telegraph News Agency said it heard from German reports, that the Asbat observatory in the Atlas Mountains, 40 miles from Marrakech, Morocco in the vicinity of Tizinit and Beni Caschel, Minak, believed at be the prime objective of the Nazi thrust across Occupied Eastern Poland to the frontier of Russia proper.

The communiques said "great damage" had been inflicted by the Soviet air force in attacks on Bucharest, Rumania's capital, and Ploesti, centre of the Rumanian oil industry, while the Black Sea port of Constanza also had been severely bombed.

"Innumerable attacks," the communiques said, "were made on the bombarded Eastern Poland by the Russian air force against the Nazi among the airfields which indicated these were advancing in three main drives, in the direction north-west of Minsk, the capital of White Russia; near Vilnaravicience, and to the west of Lwow, in the area Brody, south of the Pinsk marshes.

GREAT BATTLE

Reds Win Trust Battle

In the Lock sector of Russia's Ukraine, capital of Minsk, the Russians declared a great tank battle developed on the second day after raging all day yesterday. Last is 60 miles inside Soviet territory, but the Russians din not indicate the actual depth of the Nazi penetration.

Along the Baltic and east of the Pripet Marshes said their troops were successfully holding the Pruth River against Nazi attempts and Soviet Bessarabia and Rumania reported repulsed Nazi attempts to cross the stream. These attempts were said to have cost the Nazis heavily.

(The Russian radio, in a broadcast said that the Red Army Chief, challenged Germany to come forth with its best tanks in a great battle. any successes it said the Nazis have been presented with "no miracles" Germans have been dealing in generalities, the broadcast said, because there were "no miracles to be reported".)

Reds Invade Ploesti Oil Fields

The Russians said their planes had attacked military targets in Rumania yesterday, stabbing at Bucharest, the Black Sea port of Constanta and setting great fires raging in the Ploesti oil fields.

Rumania, at an NBC broadcast from Ankara, Turkey, said the Rumanian government was reported to have left Bucharest following attacks on the city.

In the Baltic Sea, the Russians said, more than 20 Nazi naval units sank two submarines.

No land engagements were reported on the Finnish-Soviet frontier, but Helsinki dispatches said Nazi planes were using Finland as a base for attacks on Soviet Murmansk.

"These bandit activities of the Nazi aviation aroused the most resolute condemnation of the peace loving Soviet Union and Finland," Tass said.

Mopped up Swiftly

The Russians declared the Nazis had suffered extensive losses of parachute troops in their offensive, but said they had been mopped up swiftly. At one point in the Ukrainian fighting, they said, they had to have charged a number of paratroops who had descended with their all at the moment of landing."

Some of the dead parachutists landed in White Russia were clad in Red army uniforms and apparently assigned to espionage work, the Russians said.

Reporting on the advance of our troops, this imposition of the personnel of parachutists in the rear and the diversionist groups annihilated or captured," they added.

GERMAN PUBLIC INCREASING

Heavily Armed

The mechanized German corvettes have borne the main blows in the Battle of the Atlantic. They were long enough to down a destroyer and depth charges sufficient to destroy any U-boat they could reach. They have been turned out steadily since July, 1940.

Their 17 or 18 knots have proved adequate to escort the merchantmen driven below the surface by flying boats. In a few brushes with Nazi planes that they have had they has been enhanced by superior firing accuracy.

The corvettes also are well protected against attacks from the air by anti-aircraft guns which can be turned out steadily since July, 1940.

"What Britain needs as much as protective vessels, however, is a merchant fleet of between 11,000 between 7,000 and 10,000 tons with a speed of about 10 knots," this source asserted.

Germany has large built here, others in the United States. If vital war materials are moved in them with safety and speed, it will be a contribution the German threat to our supply lines will be considerably lessened.

"Invisible" Nazi submarine losses are heavy, it is believed, as well as those recorded by the Admiralty, for the Nazis have no intention of losing that count," it was said. "But those which are driven away from convoys, those just able to make port, those whose crews whose morale breaks under weeks of grim zones conditions increasingly dangerous, are important.

And it was pointed out that by 1918 allied attacks on German submarines had become so effective that German crews mutinied rather than put to sea.

SOAP BOX DERBY EDITION

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, FRIDAY JUNE 27, 1941

Canada and Alaska Included In the 1941 Soap Box Finals

State of Ohio Leads With Twelve Races; Belleville Event Is All-Canadian Championship Race — One Hundred Races Are Scheduled.

With 34 states, the District of Columbia, Canada and Alaska already represented, the 1941 All-American Soap Box Derby will blanket the country this summer, more than 100 hometown races being scheduled with as many local champions due to compete in the national finals at Akron, Ohio, August 17th.

Closing date for acceptance of Derby contracts has been announced as June 1st by J. P. Gormley, national director of the race for Chevrolet, which co-sponsors the Derby in co-operation with Chevrolet dealers and leading newspapers from coast to coast.

Ohio, site of the national finals, wins honors for Derby participation, Gormley said, with 12 races scheduled in as many cities throughout the state. Close behind are New York with 11 races and Indiana with 10. Final tabulation will not be possible until the end of the month, he added, by which time many additional cities are expected to register as Derby sites.

Indicative of the wide spread of the race is the following enumeration of states and Derbies: Pennsylvania 9, Michigan 8, Illinois 6, Texas and Iowa, 4 each, Georgia 3, and two races each in South Carolina, Massachusetts, North Carolina, Virgini, California, Nebraska and New Jersey. Canada's official race is staged in Belleville, Ontario.

States currently scheduled for one race each are Wisconsin, Idaho, Missouri, West Virginia, Colorado, Arkansas, Kentucky, New Hampshire, Florida, Oregon, South Dakota, Utah, New Mexico, Washington, Arizona, Kansas, Montana and Nevada.

Ten preliminary Derbies will be held in the area around Atlanta, Georgia, with the victor representing that city at the finals. Plainville, Massachusetts will stage a preliminary to the Boston race. Four towns will send champions to Cape Girardeau, Missouri. Des Moines will play host to winners from 14 surrounding towns. Gary, Indiana, North Platte, Nebraska, and Portland, Oregon, will hold one preliminary race each, and Oil City, Pennsylvania, two.

With these 34 sub-races and the 100 main Derbies already scheduled, total number of Derbies in the country already tops last year, Gormley said. At Akron, however, approximately the same number of cities will be represented in the finals.

The all-Canadian championship "Soap Box Derby" will be held in Belleville on June 30th under the auspices of The Ontario Intelligencer and sponsored by the Belleville Kinsmen Club. As has been the custom for the past six years the winner of the Belleville race will again compete in the all-American and international events at Akron, Ohio, August 17th.

For Derby Finalists

Among the prizes to be given in the local Soap Box Derby is this handsome medal, presented by Chevrolet Motor Division, co-sponsor of the local race with this paper. First, second, and third place in both Class A and Class B will receive these medals, valued souvenirs of the 1941 race.

LOCAL DERBY PRIZE LIST IS EXPANDED

Expansion of the prize list for the local eliminations in the all-American Soap Box Derby were announced in Detroit by J. P. Gormley, national director of the race. Two new medals will be presented in each home town where Derbies will be held prior to the national finals in Akron, O., he said.

In addition to the trip to Akron and the national finals, the M. E. Coyle trophy for victory in the home town race, and medals for the first three places in both Class A and Class B, Gormley said, Chevrolet will present gold-finish medals to the builders of the best designed car and the car with the best designed brakes.

These new awards parallel the award list at Akron, and are made, Gormley said, in order to encourage Derby race car builders to improve their designing and construction. At the national finals, handsome trophies are given for outstanding designs.

The President's Message

To the Citizens of Belleville:

The Kinsmen Derby Day is with us once more and on Monday, June 30th, we are proud to present our sixth annual Soap Box Derby to be held as usual on Derby Hill.

To be held in conjunction with the Derby this year is a mammoth Street Carnival, which will immediately follow the conclusion of the Derby. Our committee promise something new and different for your entertainment and pleasure.

As in the past the Belleville Kinsmen Club has devoted its proceeds and work to the "Eye Clinic Fund" for needy school children, whose parents are not in a position to provide the glasses required.

This year we find ourselves in the midst of a World War and as a member of the Association of Kinsmen Clubs across Canada we have been called upon to do our share along various war service activities to aid our gallant fighting forces.

The Kinsmen Clubs of Canada have recently donated to the Dental Corps the first Mobile Dental Unit to be used by our army. Now we have undertaken to establish "Hostess Huts" at various training camps. Already there is one at Delbert, N.S., and a second is underway at Shiloh, Man.

Not wishing to diminish our Eye Clinic work and to increase our War Service activities we have decided to stage a Street Carnival following the Derby. As president of the Belleville Kinsmen Club I would appeal to the public of Belleville to give the Soap Box Derby and Street Carnival on Monday, June 30, the same support which you have so kindly extended in the past.

Yours very truly,
Belleville Kinsmen Club,
Gardiner Duff, President.

Our Aims and Objects

In today's issue of The Ontario Intelligencer the Belleville Kinsmen Club has attempted to bring before the public, in a special Kinsmen Soap Box Derby edition, the facts behind the sponsoring of these teenaged racers, reputed to be the greatest amateur coaster event in the world. This year's race will be the sixth annual event of its kind to be staged in Belleville by the Kinsmen Club and under the auspices of this newspaper. All over the world daily newspapers assist the Chevrolet Motor Car Division of General Motors in the staging of sectional Soap Box Derby races, the winners of which ultimately compete in the all-American and international races at Akron, Ohio.

This year the Kinsmen Club members are staging a street carnival in Belleville on conjunction with their sixth annual Soap Box Derby. Originally all proceeds from the Derby were devoted to the welfare of under-privileged children and specializing in the promotion of better sight for the kiddies of the community. The Kinsmen Club "Eye Clinic" service has served many school children in Belleville and district, where eye glasses are provided the more unfortunate, unable to procure such vision equipment, which is provided gratis by the Kinsmen.

However, this year the proceeds from the sixth annual Soap Box Derby and the Kinsmen Street Carnival, will be devoted to the Kinsmen War Charities ,as well as the Club's Eye Clinic service. The Kinsmen Club of Canada has undertaken the erection of "Hostess Huts" at the many permanent military camps across Canada, and already two such huts have been constructed at a cost of $5,000.00 each, one in New Brunswick and the other at Shilo, Manitoba. These Hostess Huts are given to the Canadian Government at no cost to the Dominion, through the efforts of the Kinsmen Clubs of Canada. Also Kinsmen National Council has already purchased and equipped one complete mobile dental unit, which has been presented to the Canadian Active Service Force. Another unit for home use is to be presented by the Kinsmen to the C.A.S.F. this autumn. These are only a few of the projects sponsored by the Kinsmen Club, as each individual club has a local charity program of its own which must be maintained for the benefit of the under-privileged of that respective community. It is only through the medium of projects like the Kinsmen Soap Box Derby or Kinsmen Street Carnival that funds can be obtained with which to carry on these enterprises of goodwill and charity.

Again the sixth annual Soap Box Derby, to be held on Derby Hill, North Front Street, next Monday, has been awarded the honour of being the all-Canadian Soap Box Derby championship race, the winner of which will compete in the all-American and international races at Akron in August.

Belleville Kinsmen were the first to grasp the possibilities of the Soap Box Derby in helping Canada's youth to be self-reliant, courageous and prideful of their own achievements in the building and construction of their own "kid kars", as the non-motor-equipped racing machines are sometimes termed.

So remember Derby Hill, North Front Street, Belleville, Monday, June 30th at 6:15 p.m. for the Belleville Kinsmen All-Canada Championship Soap Box Derby sponsored by The Ontario Intelligencer.

Local Derby Award

Every home town winner of a local Soap Box Derby will receive this handsome trophy, presented by M. E. Coyle, general manager of Chevrolet, co-sponsor of the All-American Soap Box Derby with leading newspapers throughout the country. Engraved with the winner's own name, the award is a handsome souvenir of his local Derby victory.

MANY TROPHIES AWARDED

In addition to the four year old ages scholarship awarded to the national champion there are many other prizes for Soap Box Derby winners. Not only the winners of first, second and third places, but the builder of the best designed car, with best designed brakes, and best upholstered cars are rewarded.

PROFICIENT EQUIPMENT USED

All the latest approved devices for accurate checking of race winners were employed by the judges and the officials at the All American Soap Box Derby finals. Electric timing equipment and the photo-finish, most recent race-track innovation, are installed on the judges' bridge, which spans the track at finish line.

Derby Day at Akron, Ohio, Presents Busy Scene With Boys Having The Place of Honor

Headquarters for Contestants at Mayflower Hotel and Everything is Free

BEAUTIFUL TRACK

Derby Day in Akron, Ohio, where the International finals to decide the championships of all Soap Box Derbys are held, certainly presents the busy holiday appearance—for that day it is Boys' Town. Boys' Day,—a day to instil in grownups the spirit of Tom Sawyer and Huckleberry Finn, and the fervent wish to be a boy again, just for the night, or for the day, or as long as the glorious feeling could last.

Headquarters at Akron for the boys from all over the world, who come to try for stellar honors in the big Mayflower Hotel, which is taken over from the lobby to the roof for accommodation of the racing boys, their newspaper escorts, such parents as make the journey, and the many officials who are required to handle the event. The boys will arrive early in August and their cars will go on display in the auditorium of the big department store near the hotel. On the afternoon before the race the visiting champions will have a chance to try out their cars on the splendid hill, which the city has prepared and built especially for this event. Those of them will ever have driven the course before as the year's rules specify that no city champion may compete two consecutive years.

Racing Strip Detailed

The hill is worth a detailed description for it is the only one of its kind anywhere. It is built of concrete and the raceway measured 1,383 feet in width. From its greatest inclination near the starting line, it levels out gently toward the finish line, while the joints between the concrete slabs are ground smooth to eliminate bumps. There are ample gutters on each side of raceway to carry off a cloudburst if necessary, and the banks of the cut through which the course runs will accommodate huge throngs of spectators.

At the top of the hill is a large paved area, where the entries are lined up for their heats. The service plan for greasing and last-minute adjustments, adjoin this area. At this finish line, there is a newly constructed double decked bridge to accommodate the judges, news-reel men, radio announcers and commentators and the Derby Technical Committee. The very latest equipment for electrical timing and the photo-finish, the most recent race-track innovation, is used.

Accommodate 28,000

Grandstand and bleacher seats accommodate 25,000 to 30,000 persons and standing room along the edge of the course will handle several times as many more. Acres of parking space are available on the adjacent airport Press stands, with complete wire services, are provided for the newspaper correspondents and various wire and photo representatives. The finals are broadcasted over the air on major national networks with nationally famous announcers furnishing the running commentary. Following the race which decides the All-American championship there will be staged the International Derby, in which boys from other countries will compete with the American winner for the International trophy.

The police of Akron and nearby counties will join with the Ohio State Police in, setting up and maintaining special traffic routing to and from the scene, a job which they have handled so expediously in other years to win the compliments of the throngs attending the races.

Numerous Trophies

In addition to the scholarship award mentioned, there are numerous other trophies designed to appeal to the boys. Not only the winners of the first, second and third places, but the builder of the best-designed car, the builder of the car with the best-designed brakes and the car with the best upholstering are recognized. All championships qualifying for the Akron finals by winning their local races receive lesser awards.

Checking of the entries for observance of the rules governing weight dimensions and design is rigidly carried out as this is essential to safety as well as fairness. Ever since the Derby organized this check has been carried out by the Technical Committee consisting of men well known in the technical publications world. These men do not simply supervise the job; they take their coats off and do it.

Match bouts have been invented to be built into kitchen walls, only their fronts appearing.

Local Winner's Prize

Every local Soap Box Derby winner who makes the trip to Akron, O., for the national and international race, regardless of the position in which he finishes, will receive this handsome official Soap Box Derby goal award, watch at the Champion Timers in Akron. Presented by Chevrolet Motor Division, co-sponsor of the race with the nation's leading newspapers, the watch bears the Derby emblem. In addition, each entrant is given an official Soap Box Derby driver's diploma.

DRIVERS OF CARS WELL PROTECTED

Rules Safeguard Against Accident and Inspectors See Cars Are Well Constructed

In the state of Michigan last year special licence plates patterned after the regular automobile license plate of the state were struck and issued to contestants in the annual Soap Box Derby contest at Akron Ohio.

Thus is the Soap Box Derby given official recognition by the state in which the idea originated. And officials of the Kinsmen Club of Belleville in charge of Belleville's fifth annual Soap Box Derby who have carried this Derby on to increasingly greater success over the years and who have put this newest sports on the map of Canada are positive that in time different sections of this country will emulate the plan adopted by the State of Michigan marking by distinctive lettering their own particular champions.

It's a new sport, a clean and thrilling competitive sport in which the youth of Belleville and the surrounding district are compelled to play the game and win through sheer ability and genius. There's a freshness and individuality to the new game of motorless racing down steep grades under the guidance of rules which guard carefully the safety of those who compete.

It's not just four wheels and a soap box in which the youth of Belleville will ride down Derby Hill (North Front Street), but a creation of wood, metal and rubber built in their own design. Upon their skill of construction their genius of design and the ideas which they put into their car per-ticular vehicle, will depend the winner.

Thousands of families all over the country have stopped the expensive, wasteful practice of buying perishables in small quantities at high retail prices "out of season." Cost storage locker service is the modern way to buy better and at the same time, save money. Why don't YOU treat your family to delicacies which you formerly thought too expensive. Simply drop in, select your favorite foods at wholesale during the season when prices are low—or store the products of your own garden and flock—and keep them FRESH in your locker till you are ready to use them.

Dreams of Conquest

PENITENT DAD BOWS

By James Schlemmer

Sports Editor—Akron Beacon-Journal

Listen, Son; I am saying this to you as you lie asleep with your arms folded across your chest and your hair rumpled down over your forehead. I have stolen into your room alone, just a few minutes ago, as I sat reading my paper in the library, a hot, stifling wave of remorse swept over me.

These are the things I was thinking, son; I had been cross to you.

I scolded you this morning when I found you had neglected yesterday to mow the lawn as I had asked. You said you were busy on your Soap Box Derby racer and didn't get around to the mowing.

I took you to task for having paint on your clothes and oil on the basement steps. I called out angrily when you said you had broken a couple of teeth out of my saw. At breakfast I found fault, too. You didn't eat your cereal and you drew designs on the table cloth. And when I jumped on you for that, you said you had just had a new idea for brakes for that Soap Box car, I said: "Drat that cussed Soap Box contraption, you're getting to be too big a boy for such tomfoolery."

And as you started for the basement when I reached for my hat and made to start for the office, I burned up, and said: "Son, I'll skin you alive if I come home tonight and find you haven't attended to your chores."

Then it began all over again in the late afternoon. As I came up the hill road I had to jump out of the way to keep from being hit as you sped past me in that racing device.

I humiliated you in front of your boy friends by making you march ahead of me back to the house, scolding you all the time because you had worn the toes off your shoes. And when you said you had done that because your brakes weren't adjusted properly, I exploded, and said something about having a system of my own that would soon break you of your disobedience.

Imagine that, son, from a father!

Do you remember later when I was reading in the library, how you came in softly, timidly, with a sort of hurt, hunted look in your eyes? When I glanced up from my paper, impatient at the interruption, you hesitated at the door.

"What do you want?" I snapped. You said nothing, but ran across, in one tempestuous plunge and threw your arms around my neck and kissed me again and again, and your arms tightened with an affection that God had set blooming in your heart and which even neglect and coldness could not wither.

And you said: "Dad, I DO wish you would see what is the matter with the brakes I have made for my Soap Box Derby car. The race is only two weeks away and I do want to try for that free college education which is the first prize."

And then you were gone, pattering up the stairs to bed.

Well, son, it was shortly afterwards that my paper slipped from my hands and a terrible sickening fear came over me. Suddenly I saw myself as I really was, in all my horrible selfishness, and I felt sick at heart.

What has habit been doing to me? The habit of complaining, of finding fault, of reprimanding until of these were my rewards to you for being a typical American boy.

It was not that I did not love you—it was that I expected so much of youth. I was measuring you by the yardstick of my own years and forgetting that when I was your age I, too, was building racing cars out of soap boxes and nail kegs and two-by-fours, every time I could get my hands on some old wheels.

I sat there for quite a while, son, just thinking. And the years started to come to my eyes and run down my cheeks. I didn't want your mother to see me like that, son, so I made as if to lock up the rear of the house, but I went straight to the basement.

You spilled quite a lot of paint, son, and you left my best tools lying around sort of careless like. The oil had spread over a lot of the basement floor, too, but somehow, I didn't care about any of that this time.

My eyes went straight to that sign you had daubed out with that left-over trimming paint and which read: "Hands Off, Dad—The boy must build his own car."

Tomorrow, son, your daddy shall buy the choicest seats at the finish line for the Soap Box Derby. And on that great day your mother and I shall be right there, son, to cheer you to the echo in your great race.

If you win, I know that the adoration of the thousands of fans at the hill, the wide acclaim that will be yours on the radio and in the public press, will leave you unspoiled.

If you lose, I know your first act will be to congratulate the winner and say to him: "That's swell, buddy, you've built a faster car than I have."

But believe me, son, I am your servant until your racing car is just as strong and as safe and as fast as you can possibly make it—and forever after. Count on me for whatever advice and suggestions I am able to provide.

I kiss your fingers again . . . and as I steal quietly from your bedroom to my own, I thank the God who looks over you for the Soap Box Derby. It has brought a derelict father face to face with the realization that he has neglected until now the most priceless heritage of all.

Kinsmen Street Carnival Wholely For War Effort

Entire Proceeds go Towards Club's War Service Obligations

In the entertainment field there is nothing to equal a circus, but next in line comes the good, old-fashioned carnival for fun, frolic and a place to relax and forget the worries of the world.

The Belleville Kinsmen Street Carnival will be just the place to enjoy that true carnival atmosphere next Monday night when Front St., Belleville, between Bridge and Campbell Sts., will be turned into a modern Mardi Gras with bedecked, games of skill and chance, the old reliable Bingo game and all of the conventional mediums of entertainment and fun, conceived by the mind of man.

A new feature to be introduced will be a "ladies' bingo game," the game to be operated by a bevy of Belleville beauties, all Kinsmen wives or sweethearts, whose charming attractiveness will doubtless make this innovation a popular one along the carnival front. Penny games, ring games, variety wheels from which valuable merchandise can be won, merchandise that is of quality and value in the home.

The Kinsmen Street Carnival is being held in an effort to raise funds for the various obligations the Kinsmen War Services and it is the express purpose of the Belleville Club to enlarge on its scope of raising finances for war purposes, as every last penny realized will be given into these funds. Already the Kinsmen Club of Canada have purchased a mobile dental unit, complete in every detail, and presented it to the Canadian Dental Corps at no cost to the Dominion Government. Another mobile dental unit is now necessary to take care of the dental needs of our Canadian soldiers. It is for this purpose as well as the assisting in the payment of Kinsmen huts, also a one hundred per cent Kinsmen project across Canada, that the Belleville Kinsmen are staging their first street carnival in Belleville on June 30th. Already the Kinsmen Clubs of Canada have erected and equipped "Kinsmen Huts" in military camps in Manitoba and Nova Scotia at a cost of $6,000.00 each. These Kinsmen Huts are turned over to the Y.M.C.A. for the use of our Canadian soldiers and are completely equipped, that the Y.M.C.A. is using the Kinsmen's National Council.

Kin Harry Rollins is chairman of the War Service Committee of the Belleville Kinsmen Club, while Kin Court Miller is chairman of the Street Carnival Committee, being assisted by Newt Wilbur, Jeff Marvell and "Mac" McMullen, as well as the Kinsmen. As the entire net proceeds of the Street Carnival will be devoted to Kinsmen War Service work, the public is urgently asked to not forget the date and the place, Front Street, Belleville, Monday, June 30th, commencing at 8.30 p.m. Fun for all and all for fun.

MEECO MAY ENTER INTERNATIONAL DERBY

The possibility of a Mexican entrant in the International Soap Box Derby has been advanced by Derby officials. In an effort to give the Derby Pan-American significance, many Central and South American newspapers have been approached. Already, Panama and Canada have agreed to send their national champion to match jkills with the American victor.

Watching All Angles

Ingenuity marks the American boy, as illustrated in this picture taken at the All-American Soap Box Derby finals at Akron, O., last year. Here Driver James Hart, of Cleveland, gets a helping hand from a friend, who tapes James' racing shirt tight to arms and body to reduce wind resistance.

MORE SEATS FOR DERBY SPECTATORS

Each new year sees some major improvements in the facilities at Derby Downs, in Akron, O., where the All-American Soap Box Derby finals are held. Last year erection of (handsome permanent grandstand augmented seating facilities. For the 1941 race at this unique Derby course, additional seats will be provided in the form of all-steel bleachers, which were in use during the professional football season in Milwaukee, Wis., and Weahington. They will be brought from each city especially for the Derby. More than 100,000 race fans saw "the greatest amateur racing event in the world" last year, and a record crowd is expected Aug. 17.

If you win, I know that the adoration of the thousands of fans at the hill, the wide acclaim that will be yours on the radio and in the public press, will leave you unspoiled.

If you lose, I know your first act will be to congratulate the winner and say to him: "That's swell, buddy, you've built a faster car than I have."

But believe me, son, I am your servant until your racing car is just as strong and as safe and as fast as you can possibly make it—and forever after. Count on me for whatever advice and suggestions I am able to provide.

I kiss your fingers again . . . and as I steal quietly from your bedroom in my own, I thank the God who looks over you for the Soap Box Derby. It has brought a derelict father face to face with the realization that he has neglected until now the most priceless heritage of all.

Kinsmen Street Carnival Wholely For War Effort

Entire Proceeds go Towards Club's War Activities

In the entertainement field there is nothing to equal a circus, but next in line comes the good old fashioned carnival for fun, frivolity and a place to take and forget the worries of the world.

The Belleville Kinsmen Street Carnival will be just the place to enjoy that true carnival atmosphere next Monday night, July 7th, on Bridge St., Belleville, between Bridge and Campbell Sts., will be turned into a modern Mardi Gras with barkers, games of skill and chance, the old reliable Bingo game and all of the conventional mediums of entertainment and fun, crowded into a mind of man.

A new feature to be introduced will be a "ladies' bingo game," the game to be operated by a bevy of Belleville beauties, all Kinsmen wives or sweethearts, whose charming attractiveness will doubtless make this innovation a popular one along the carnival midway. Prize games, ring game, variety wheels from which valuable merchandise can be won, merchandise that is of quality and value in the home.

A War Service

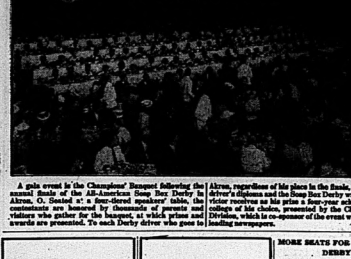
The Kinsmen Street Carnival is being held in aid of the war funds for the various phases of the Kinsmen War Services and it is the express purpose of the Belleville Club to exhaust its every ounce of raising finances for war purposes, as every last penny realized will be given into those hands. Already the Kinsmen Clubs of Canada have purchased a mobile dental unit, complete in every detail, and presented it to the Canada Dental Corps at no cost to the Dominion Government. Another mobile dental unit is now necessary to take care of the dental needs of our Canadian soldiers. It is for this purpose as well as the assisting in the payment of Mentone Huts, also a one hundred per cent Kinsmen project across Canada, that the Belleville Kinsmen are staging their first street carnival in Belleville on June 30th. Already the Kinsmen Clubs of Canada have raised and shipped "Mobile Huts" in military camps in Montreal and North Bay, at a cost of $6,000.00 each. These Hostess Huts are turned over to the Y.W.C.A. for the use of our Canadian soldiers and are completely furnished by the funds raised by the Kinsmen's National Council.

Ken Marvell, Hollins is chairman of the War Service Committee of the Belleville Kinsmen Club and Keith Court Miller is general chairman of the Street Carnival Committee, being assisted by Henry Wilbur, Joe Marvell and "Mac" McMillan, as well as the Ministers. As the members get proceeds of the Street Carnival will be devoted to Kinsmen War Service work, the public is urgently asked to not forget the date and the place, Front Street, Belleville, Monday, June 30th, commencing at 8.30 p. m. Fun for all and all for fun.

MEXICO MAY ENTER INTERNATIONAL DERBY

The possibility of a Mexican entrant in the International Soap Box Derby has been advanced by Derby officials. In an effort to give the Derby Pan-American significance, many Central and South American newspapers have been approached. Already, Panama and Canada have agreed to send their national champion to match skills with the American victor.

Banquet Climaxes Derby Day



A gala event is the Champions' Banquet following the annual finals of the All-American Soap Box Derby in Akron, O. Seated at a four-decked speakers' table, the contestants are honored by thousands of parents and visitors who gather for the banquet, at which prizes and awards are presented. To each Derby driver who goes to Akron, regardless of his place in the finals, goes an official driver's diploma and the Soap Box Derby wrist watch. The victor receives as his prize a four-year scholarship in the college of his choice, presented by the Chevrolet Motor Division, which is co-sponsor of the event with the nation's leading newspapers.

MORE SEATS FOR DERBY SPECTATORS

Each new year sees some major improvement in the facilities at Derby Downs, in Akron, O., where the All-American Soap Box Derby finals are held. Last year erection of a handsome permanent grandstand augmented seating facilities. For the 1941 race at this unique Derby course, additional seats will be provided in the form of all-steel bleachers, which were in use during the professional football season in Milwaukee, Wis., and Washington. They will be brought from each city specially for the Derby. More than 100,000 race fans saw "the greatest amateur racing event in the world" last year, and a record crowd is expected Aug. 17.

Derby Downs on Race Day

A comprehensive view of Derby Downs, Akron, O., the official Soap Box Derby race course—the only course of its kind in the world—shows the all-steel judges' stand in the finish line, a part of the crowd of more than 100,000 race fans, the covered press stand accommodating 200 newspapermen and the ample parking facilities available on the Akron airport. This scene will be bridge at the finish line, a part of the crowd of more than duplicated at the eighth annual Derby Aug. 17.

'Soap Box Derby' Officials Devote Entire Year's Work to Assure Success of Derby

Throughout Winter Months, Derby Officials Are Busy With the Plans and All Lead Up to "Derby Day"

642 EMPLOYED

"The play's the thing," says an ancient maxim. And as far as the spectators are concerned, this adage is eminently true. But behind each public presentation, be it play, contest, game, race, or what have you, lies an untold amount of work, varying in amount and degree with the scope and success of the presentation.

For example, the All-American Soap Box Derby, the great boys' coaster-wagon race, is a one-day event, held in mid-August each year. Yet to make sure that this one day will be not only grand spectator entertainment, but also a fair and impartial competition for the young contenders, an entire year's effort is expended.

Once the great day has drawn to a close and a new champion has won his crown, the gay trappings that brighten Derby Downs in Akron, O., are taken down and stored for another year. The reporters and newsreel photographers, their words and pictures disseminated to all corners of the country, speed to the next assignment. The radio sports commentators mark off the race for 941 another year. And more than 125 boys, every one tired, but thrilled to the core, are en route to their respective home towns to tell and retell the glowing story of Derby Day in Akron.

Officials "Re-Run" Race

Virtually the entire week following the race is spent by the Derby Downs maintenance force in cleaning away the last vestiges of "the greatest amateur racing event in the world." During that week, also, the force of key officials, meets with the national director of the race to "re-run" the event, checking each step with an eye to improvement for the following year, suggested in the immediate light of a successful performance.

September, likewise is a busy Derby month, for not only is there additional "clean-up" activities, including conferences with various suppliers such as wheel manufacturers, but in addition there are meetings of the rules committee, the National Contest Board, the National Judges' Advisory Committee, and the Akron Finals Advisory Committee.

Each October or November, when the National Auto Shows are held, a display of the winning cars from the previous Derby is set up, attracting thousands of young and old alike. Many thousands of pieces of Derby literature are distributed this in key cities of the countries. During the same months, preparation of the rule books for the new year is begun, following suggestions made in the committee meetings the previous month. In the Chevrolet Motor Division offices in Detroit, home office of the Derby, new contracts are drawn up and distributed to the sponsoring newspapers of the preceding years, as well as to newspapers in other cities, for the Derby sponsor paper list is constantly growing.

Guide Book Published

December brings publication of the Newspaper Guide Book, a complete manual of Derby procedure, which is distributed to each new sponsoring paper to serve as a "Bible" for the staging of a race.

Derby production on a large scale hits its pitch during January and February, when thousands of driver helmets are manufactured, posters are printed, and various pieces of promotional material are conceived and created. During these months, final approval of the rule book is secured from all officials concerned, and distribution of these rule books is begun through schools, boys' clubs, etc. By the first of the year, several thousand requests for the new rule books have been received in Detroit and these are filled direct. During this period, likewise approval of designs for Derby trophies and awards is secured, and production of the M. E. Coyle and other trophies for the visiting champions and their parents, as well as several hundred newspaperman who will converge on Akron to cover the race for their papers from coast to coast. Final details on entertainment, parades, inspection, display of the race cars, printing of tickets and programs, and a thousand and one other items must be checked and approved.

And as if all this weren't preparation enough, just one week before the national finals the Akron local race is run off at the Downs, serving as a "dress rehearsal" for the contest that will be staged there on a country-wide basis the following Sunday.

Actually, not a day of the year goes by that somebody, somewhere, isn't thinking and working "Derby". For the one big day of the Derby year, however, those "somebodies" must be multiplied by score in order to provide the manpower to handle the many activities during the week-end of the Finals. By actual count, a total of 642 men and women serve on the various committees and devote their individual and collective talents to the purpose of making the final week-end a gala occasion for young and old alike. And their activities must be so accurately meshed together that the final championship heat of the race falls within the time allotted the Derby by the national radio chains from coast to coast. The conclusion you might expect—they've never missed yet!

Housing on Hand

The annual running of the All-American Soap Box Derby finds a huge crowd, in Akron, O., to witness the event, and to permit thousands of newspaper, newsreel and radio reports to be transmitted. Above here is Ted Hosting, comedian, radio parade announcer, presiding at the 1940 finals for his audience of uncounted millions. All major radio chains, as well as the various newspaper news associations, have contracted to Akron for the Derby, which will be held Aug. 17 this year.

Racing Cars Limited to 250 Pounds in Weight Including Car Driver

This season will see a further step in the evolution of the Soap Box Derby car. Some of the cars, which will appear on Derby Hill on Monday will demonstrate an amazing amount of ingenuity on the part of their youthful builders, not only in their mechanical features but in appearance as well. While undoubtedly a great amount of copying will be noticed on the part of youthful entrants who are entering the race for the first time and who will endeavor to place on his car the feature he sees on the car of his experienced opponents there will also be evident much originality in design.

All cars, in accordance with Derby rules, will be limited to a maximum of 250 pounds—with driver. Other rules determine the wheelbase, length of axle and other specifications, so that no boy can have a car so far superior to others that he will have an unfair advantage and spoil the keen competition of the race.

LANDSCAPING BRIGHTENS DERBY DOWNS

Derby Downs at Akron, O., site of the annual All-American Soap Box Derby, is unique in the world. A three-lane, crownless concrete "highway" is provided for the racers. An all-steel, double-decked judges' bridge spans the track at the finish line for officials. Ample facilities of every type are provided for crowd accommodations. And this year Derby Downs is expected to take on an even smarter appearance, with landscaping done by Akron youths working under the direction of the National Youth Administration. Development of Derby Downs as a year-round municipal sports centre is under way in Akron.

Champions on Parade

One hundred and thirty young champions marched records for participation and attendance were set last before the crowd of more than 100,000 gathered for the year, both of which are expected to fall at the 1941 running of All-Americas Soap Box Derby last year in the greatest of "the greatest amateur racing event in the world," to "Parade of Champions" the event has ever seen. Now be held Aug. 17 at Akron, O.

Automatic Electric-Starting Device Used on 'Derby Hill'

Cars Cannot Collide Going Off Ramp and Exact Time of Each Heat to be Kept

3 CARS IN HEAT

Successfully used only in Canada for the 1939 running of the Canadian championship Soap Box Derby, the automatic electric starting device will again be employed for the sixth annual race on Derby Hill Monday night, June 30th, President Gardner Duff announced today.

The starting device employed by the Belleville Kinsmen is an autogatic electric three-lamp device that assures a quick, separate start for each car in each heat. The electric starting device has three ramps, each equipped with side copings to prevent the cars from leaving the ramp at the start and also to minimize any chances of collision at the starting point.

Race In Heats.

As in previous years the races will be held in heats of three cars each. Each starting car will be placed to in top of the electric ramp, with the front wheels of the cars resting against a shoe, which tends to hold the cars in place and directly in line at the starting point. When the official starter's flag is dropped signifying "they're off", an electric switch button is pushed and the shoes drop from position, thus allowing the cars on the ramp a free-wheeling dash down the electric-controlled ramp onto the race lanes of Derby Hill and the excitement of another "Kid Kar Derby" is on.

Simultaneously with the starter's signal, a light is flashed at the finishing line where the judges are placed and the intricate timing devices set into operation, as each heat is timed in order to ascertain the relative speed at which the boy-made machines travel over the Derby Hill course.

Announce Winners.

The judges for Derby Hill will be kept in constant touch with the events and results of all races and heats by a specially erected public address system. After every heat the name of the winning driver and his elapsed time will be given over the loud speaking system to the public with the happenings of the big annual Kinsmen Club Soap Box Derby results for the Canada Kid Kar Derby championship. The very latest in modern and electric devices will be employed during the sixth annual Soap Box Derby race in Belleville on June 30th, thereby assuring safety and the maximum amount of speed and thrills at the same time. Monday is "Derby Day" in Belleville.

Wilbur Shaw Pays Tribute to 'Soap Box Derby' Ideals

World Renowned Motor Car Racer Speaks Highly of Enterprise; He is the Official Starter

BEST ALWAYS WINS

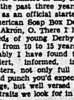
By WILBUR SHAW

3 Time Winner

Indianapolis Speedway Race

Not one boy in a thousand who enters the All-American Soap Box Derby intends to become a professional race driver, yet many of the same qualities that distinguish the winning race driver—qualities that are will developed by such activities as the Derby—are those that make for winners in any field.

For the past three years I have served as an official starter at the All-American Soap Box Derby finals in Akron, O. There I have met hundreds of young champs—champs—boys from 10 to 15 years of age. Invariably I have found them to be alert, informed, intelligent youngsters, not only full of the pep and punch you'd expect in boys of that age, but well versed in many of the things we look for in the men about us.



And I can honestly say I know of no other sports event that captures national attention that does so much for the individual participating as the Derby does for the more than 125 youngsters who win their way to the finals each year.

Safety Time Assured

Not only are these boys shown a great week-end in Akron, with every possible care taken to assure them of a grand time, but the emphasis placed upon good sportsmanship, fair play and clean competition marks the Derby as an event designed not only to entertain boys but to instruct them as well.

The rules of the Derby in themselves place a high premium on inventiveness, and nine boys out of ten enjoy matching their wits against their fellows. In addition, the builder of a winning car must have done two things—studied with his head and worked with his hands. These are two alributes that will pay dividends in the years to come, whether the boy eventually takes an office job or one in the crafts.

Time and again I have been genuinely surprised at the quality of the cars these boy-builders bring to Akron, and I know other Derby judges and other officials have felt the same. Careful workmanship along sound, fundamental, basic planning has been the rule rather than the exception, and before each race we have privately agreed that any one of a dozen or more cars was a potential champion.

One Car is "Tops"

Yet, when the race is run, one car has emerged victor—one car that had that certain extra something built into it that marked it tops in its class. It matters not that the edge the winning car had may have been weight distribution, streamlining, careful balance, or whatnot—the important thing is this: There is always a best.

Fortunately, the Derby rules were originally designed and are each year reviewed in that light, to insure absolute equality of opportunity to each entrant. Yet within those rules is sufficient latitude for each builder to allow him to incorporate his own individual thinking, with the result that innovations have been frequent, ingenuity has been regularly displayed, and always, barring accident, of course, the best car has won.

If there were any single word of advice I could give a Derby driver it would be just this: Plan your best, build your best, and race your best. And when she's best car wins, be first to congratulate the new champion.

EQUIPMENT DONATED

The General Motors, Chevrolet Division, donated each driver of the Kinsmen Soap Box Derby with smart white sweaters, sweat shirnt style.

Kinsmen National Build Hostess Huts For Soldiers

In a recent war service bulletin issued by the National Council of the Y.M.C.A. tribute was paid to the Kinsmen Clubs of Canada for their co-operation in the undertaking to establish Hostess Houses in three military training camps across Canada. These Hostess Houses are being erected and furnished by the Kinsmen Clubs of Canada. As our war service, administered through the Hostess Houses has been a matter for real rejoicing at National office. This tangible expression of interest will enable us to enlarge our building programme beyond that outlined in the budget and will release funds designated for Debert to be used elsewhere. Since our budget was submitted to Ottawa we have received numerous requests for Hostess Houses not anticipated when the budget was drawn up, and therefore not included in the total amount allotted to us for the building and furnishing of Hostess Houses.

The Kinsmen have definitely agreed to build the Hostess House at Debert and to assist with the

IF IT RAINS

In the event of inclement weather causing the postponement of the sixth annual Kinsmen Club "Soap Box Derby", to be held on Derby Hill in Belleville on Monday, June 30th, the race will be held on the following Wednesday, July 2nd, General Chairman Jim Fraser announced today.

"It would have to rain during the actual running of the race in order to have a postponement. Rain prior to six o'clock in the evening would not interfere with the race, as the course is an asphalt one and rain would not affect such a track," stated Chairman Fraser.

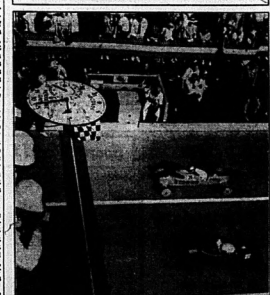
COLORFUL ACTIVITIES PRECEDE DERBY

One of the most spectacular elements in the All-American Soap Box Derby fete, to be held this year at Akron, O., Aug. 17, is the pre-race pageantry, in which each Derby driver takes part. Last year, more than 1,000 participants had some role in this spectacle, including a total of 23 bands and other marching units, chief among which was the well known Harrison Radiator band from Lockport, N.Y. The flagwaiving, playing of the National Anthem by massed bads, and fitrde of a series of starting bombs officially ope each national Derby.

AMPLE PARKING SPACE AT DERBY DOWNS

Of interest to the motorist planning to drive to Akron, O., Aug. 17 for the eighth annual running of the All-American Soap Box Derby is the information that ample parking facilities adjoining Derby Downs are available; space for mlny thousands of motor cars is provided by the Akron Airport, which is separated from Derby Downs by a state highway.

Tense Moment at Finals



Spectator excitement was at fever pitch when this picture was taken during the final heat of the 1940 All-American Soap Box Derby finals in Akrhn, O. Taken from the official judges' bridge which spans the track at the finish line, this photo clearly shows the victory of Tommy Fisher, age 12, Detroit. The 1941 finals will be held in Akron Aug. 17.

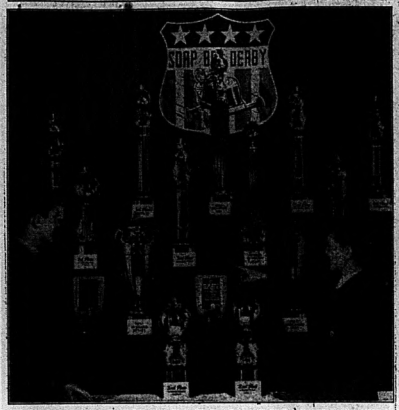
13 Major Trophies for Derby Winners



This gleaming array of trophies and awards is destined for the cities of America, boys who emerge from the thousands who will compete in more than 160 local Soap Box Derbies this summer to test their skills at Akron, Ohio, August 17, at the eighth annual running of the All-American Soap Box Derby. Thirteen major trophies will be presented to Derby victors, including awards for the builder of the best-designed car, the best upholstery job, best-designed brakes, and winner of the fastest heat of the day. Also shown are the plaques presented to the newspapers sponsoring the three top winners at Akron. Major prize, of course, is the four-year college scholarship presented by Chevrolet, national co-sponsor with leading newspapers of the country. Second prize, in addition to a gold-plated trophy, is a new 1941 Chevrolet sedan. Third and fourth places win official Derby midget motor cars, along with trophies. And each entrant in the national finals receives an official Soap Box Derby wrist watch. Shown here admiring the handsome 1941 prizes is Tommy Fisher, (right) 1940 Derby national and international champion. With him is his brother, Fred, victor in the Detroit Derby in 1939.

SOAP BOX DERBY IS COASTER RACE

Idea Behind Competition is Creativeness and Ingenuity for Boys

The Soap Box Derby is a coaster wagon race for boys between the ages of nine and fifteen years. The principle behind the ideals of Soap Box Derbies is youthful creativeness and ingenuity on the part of the teen-aged builder in an effort to culminate the individual ideas and constructive measures of the individual.

Last year at the International and All-American Soap Box Derby finals in Akron, Ohio, an estimated crowd of upwards of 150,000 persons witnessed the race with contestants taking part from practically every state in the U.S.A., Honolulu, South Africa and Belleville's Canadian champion, Emile Young.

Derby Downs at Akron where the world Soap Box Derby is raced boasts of an asphalt ribbon 1,800 feet long and 30 feet wide, the actual racing distance being 1,200 feet, with an eight per cent grade and individual racing lanes, ten feet wide, one for each of the three cars in each race.

No details of design of the Soap Box Derby racing cars is more important, than weight distribution. Tests made by various types of coaster-wagon racers show, that the ideal is to have each of the four wheels supporting the same weight when the driver is in his seat.

Another feature of the Kinsmen Club Soap Box Derby is the fact that no class "A" winner may compete in the Canadian finals on "Derby Hill" in Belleville after having once won the big event, thus giving unsuccessful drivers a chance to share in the honours. This year's Kinsmen Soap Box Derby, sponsored by The Ontario Intelligencer, will be held in Belleville on the evening of June 30th with 70 racing entries already having been registered.

Local Champions Have Big Time at National Finals; Here's the Program

"What will my boy do in Akron?" is a question nearly every parent asks when his youngster has won the home town Soap Box Derby and is looking forward to one of boyhood's greatest thrills — participation in the all - American and International Soap Box Derby finals, which this year will be held in Akron city in August.

During his two days at the Derby capital as a guest of Chevrolet Motor Division, the home-town champion will do many things—all of them real sport. First, of course, he must arrive, and if he does so by train or plane, he'll know he's in Derby City the moment his car comes to a stop. For at the station or the airport there will be an official Soap Box Derby bus to meet him. These Chevrolet buses, the travelling field offices of the Derby, visit many of the home towns during the summer, and converge on Akron for the big event.

When the "champ" arrives at the huge hotel that is taken over from basement to roof to serve as Derby headquarters, he registers as a member of course. At that time he receives his official street garb, a complete race driver's outfit—official Derby jersey and red, white and blue Derby cap, which bears on it the number of the squad to which the champ is assigned. If he is named a squad leader—captain of a band of Derbyists from many different cities—his cap bears a rosette with squad number.

"Welcome, Champ."

Next the youngster registers in the hotel, where the clerk and bellboy alike greet him with "Welcome, Champ!" He is then shown to his room, which he will share with a rival racer during the two exciting days.

Friday preceding the race, the champ is allowed to make his own program to some extent, and Derby officials co-operate in outlining plans and programs. Friday evening, however, sees all the champions meeting together for the first time, to learn about their schedules for the next two days. An entertainment designed especially for boys is scheduled at that time. "Lights out" at ten o'clock.

Next morning comes another group meeting with the champions given instruction concerning Derby Downs, and tips on the best way to handle their cars in the race. After luncheon, buses take the boys to the track itself, where each boy drives his own car down in a safety run, to acquaint him with the course.

The Saturday evening program varied from year to year. Sometimes the boys go to a Scout camp, where they have an outdoor meal and an evening frolic. Other years they have attended ball games, seen movies, or been honor guests at other events.

Special Race Garb.

Race morning after breakfast, the champs are encouraged to attend church or Sunday school with buses waiting at their disposal. After luncheon, the boys don their silk racing jackets and repair to the track. At an official drivers' meeting, the youthful contenders receive final instructions and are issued the safety helmets and goggles which are their souvenirs of the race itself.

Prior to the race itself, the boys are the highlight of a big parade, when they march the length of Derby Downs between packed grandstands and bleachers. Each boy carries a silk flag bearing the official Derby emblem and the name of the town he represents. Once these colorful preliminaries are over, comes the big event, and the thrills of the afternoon are just about enough for any boy.

When the race is run and the winner has been acclaimed, all the drivers return to their hotel, where they change to their Derby street dress. Then buses whisk them to Akron's vast Armory for the Champions' Banquet, where prizes and awards are distributed.

And even here at the final event of the two crowded days, no single champion is forgotten, for at every driver's place is his official driver's diploma and a handsome Soap Box Derby wrist watch, a gift from Chevrolet.

Sports World Centers on Derby

The annual running of the All-American Soap Box Derby finals at Derby Downs, Akron, O., is "top-flight" sports news, and as such is covered by approximately 200 newspapermen, press photographers, and radio sports news commentators. Shown here is Ted Husing, outstanding radio sports announcer, covering the 1940 finals for his network of associated stations. All major radio chains, as well as the various newspaper news associations, send representatives to Akron for the Derby, which will be held Aug. 17 this year.

CITY IS CRADLE OF SOAP BOX RACE

Belleville Kinsmen Club Held First Race of its Kind in Canada and Has Continued Feature

Belleville is recognized as the cradle of Soap Box Derby racing in Canada, the Belleville Kinsmen Club's annual Soap Box Derby being the first of its kind to be held in the Dominion. In 1936 the local Kinsmen fostered their first race, then known as the Kinsmen's "Kid Kar" Derby to be raced on Derby Hill (North Front st.)

The tree-shaded incline down North Front St., is still "Derby Hill" in the Kinsmen's language and on June 30th (Monday next) the sixth annual Belleville Kinsmen Club "Soap Box" Derby will be held in Belleville.

For the protection of the 5,000 patrons who are expected to witness the sixth consecutive running of the Canadian "Soap Box Derby" this year several miles of snow fence will form a barricade, which will not only line the race track, but afford protection to the thousands in the event of accident.

The electric starting device, that was instituted last year in the Canadian "Derby" finals here, will again be used at the top of the starting ramp. This electric starting device is the result of Derby accomplishments and equal in standard to that used at the International and world Soapbox Derby championship at Akron, Ohio.

The initial "Kid Kar" Derby ever held in Canada was staged down Derby Hill in Belleville by the local Kinsmen Club six years ago. Today other cities across the Dominion including Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto and other smaller centres stage their own thrills of Soap Box Derbies and the advancement of child ingenuity, but the Belleville Kinsmen's annual Soap Box Derby remains the feature event of its kind in the Dominion and it is the Belleville champion who is recognized in Akron in the big International Soap Box Derby championship.

It is axiomatic that true competition breeds better sportsmanship and is no better manner is this exemplified than by the annual post Kinsmen Club "Soap Box Derbies."

AGE LIMITS 11-15

The Soap Box Derby is a coaster wagon race for boys whose ages fall between 11 and 15, inclusive, on the day of their home-town local Chevrolet Motor Division maintains supervision over the general program, and leading newspapers co-operate by holding local races and sending winners to the national finals in Akron, Ohio.

Cars Are Painted By Henry Smale

As in former years the "kars" in the Kinsmen "Soap Box Derby" have been painted and decorated by Henry Smale, well known local sign painter. For the past three days Mr. Smale has been busied at the Manufacturer's Building at the Fair Ground beautifying and painting the youthful creations that will race down Derby Hill on Monday. Every year since the inception of the race, that is sponsored by the Ontario Intelligencer, Mr. Smale has co-operated with the Kinsmen Club of Belleville in the painting of signs and cars to assure the continued success of the project.

Crew of 642 Required To Stage Derby Finals

Behind the orderly excitement, that is characteristic of the national finals of the All-American Soap Box Derby, which will be held August 17 at Derby Downs in Akron, O., lies a story never yet told. It is the story of an efficient organization of men, women and boys, whose combined efforts blend smoothly to produce a day of thrills for Derby entrant and spectator alike.

But the story is not as simple as the fact that a smoothly-working crew manages the diversified activities that make Derby Day as it does in the number of youths and adults who are required to stage the one-day Mecca of Derby drivers. By actual count, a total of 642 different people are needed that one August afternoon that every Derby driver in the country points toward, and many of these 642 serve in multiple roles at that.

The mere listing of these officials and their aides is an impressive roster. But beyond that is the diversity of the parts they play in youth's "greatest show on earth."

Car Handlers Vital

For example—36 men are needed at the foot of the course to handle the midget race cars as they complete their heats. Here is a group of men who are never seen by a large part of the more than 100,000 race fans who attend the Derby each year, yet their role is a vital one in the ever-all picture of a smooth operation.

Few of the race spectators realize that an official Soap Box Derby service pit is situated at the top of the course where last-minute repairs and tune-ups. Another 25 men are on the job here to assist the drivers and make certain each boy has an opportunity to do his own and his car's level best to win. Once the servicing is complete, 28 car handlers push the cars to the hill take the racers in tow—literally and figuratively—and bring them to the starting line at the proper moment.

Six supervisors at the head of the track assure smooth handling in that quarter. Among them are a hill-top director, telephone operators in constant communication with the finish line, and public address system experts. The official starter has an even dozen assistants, each of whom has his individual tasks as the heats proceed throughout the afternoon.

Police Detail Needed

Obviously, with so large a crowd to handle, a strong police detail is required. When it's Derby Day'in Akron, it's one of the city's "finest" are at the Downg for special duty. Fifteen special police guards are on hand. Eighteen state highway patrolmen are kept busy throughout the day. And 40 plain-clothes men circulate through the crowd.

By way of including a few of the diversified assignments that must be handled in the interests of a smooth race, crowd comfort and safety, ample protection for the racers, and a fair decision, listed on a partial list of those who serve Young America on Derby Day:

Starting device crew—4; starting stand perpetrator—1; clerk-of-courses—4; inspection committee—8; flag handlers, at finish line—2; finish line judges—6; finish line judge—1; who transport cars from finish to start —3; timers—4; official Soap Box Derby Contest Board—5; communications personnel—3; derical staff —8.

General announcer—1; public address system announcers—2; judges' bridge messengers—4; photo-finish crew members—3; public address system technicians—3; track directior—1; contestants' supervisors—11; Derby National Director—1; sanitation and health inspector —4; first aid personnel—11; ushers—68; press stand supervisors—6; telegraphic service representatives to aid newspaperman covering race —4; messenger boys—6; parking lot attendants 20; parade and pre-race activities supervisors—6; Boy Scouts for flag-raising ceremonies—130.

Railroad and express company representatives to handle race car shipment ?—details—4; concession managers—3; official Derby photographic operators—12; night watchmen—2; banquet and company crew—4; Derby Downs maintenance men —10; matrons and attendants—10; and insurance inspectors—2.

By and large, the majority of these people whose combined efforts make the Derby "the world's greatest amateur racing event" are unpaid volunteers, who contribute their time and efforts to an event that has grown to be America's No. 1 juvenile sports classic. Many Akron residents have served throughout the entire six years the race has been held there, and are established Derby veterans. Others, especially the National Finals Contest Board and many from Chevrolet Motor Division, national sponsor of the race, have worked for the Derby and American boys since the inception of the race in 1934.

And even in addition to this highly efficient organization which stages the actual running of the race, hundreds more contribute to the gala week-end in Akron. More than 500 people are required to stage the huge Champions' Banquet which is the climax of the race day. Held in Akron's vast armory because no other banquet hall in the city is large enough, the banquet is served by the Mayflower Hotel. All food and service is transported directly from the hotel; yet the feast is always served piping hot to the more than 125 hungry boy-racers and the nearly 1,000 special guests.

Derby Souvenir

Each boy who participates in the Soap Box Derby to be held here under the sponsorship of this paper, will receive a helmet like this as his personal souvenir of the day. Similar to the helmet worn by famous characters the "aluminum-finish" helmet, which is pressed from solid steel, The helmets are provided by Chevrolet Motor Division, which sponsors the All-American Soap Box Derby nationally with leading newspapers.

1,000 In Race Parade

Before the 1940 finals, more than 1,100 persons participated in the parade that was the highlight of the pre-race ceremonies. A total of 31 smartly garbed marching units appeared.

And as if this weren't enough, the official Derby press gained attention newspapermen and prominent sports writers from all sections of the country to draw their word-pictures of youth at its best. More than 300 working press men annually occupy this reserved section, while radio commentators and such top-flight sports announcers as Ted Husing and Graham MacNamee have occupied the net-work announcers' positions on the judge's bridge.

"Derby Day in Akron"—after seven years of this widely acclaimed sporting event—has come to mean a lasting of the city's facilities to the limit, with hotel and restaurant room at a premium. Yet no one has ever left the city without a word of praise for the treatment he has received. And generally the comment is this: "Boy, what a show! And what a great bunch of All-American kids!"

TO THE WINNER

The thrills and excitement that are crowded into one evening when the Belleville Kinsmen Club Soap Box Derby, sponsored by the Ontario Intelligencer, will send the winner to compete for the International championship at Akron, Ohio, will commence with a gala parade of the youthful drivers all bedecked in their racing finery prior to the grand race.

Each driver will receive a racing helmet, white duck overalls and such other accessories, all of which will be displayed to the public in a mammoth parade which will herald the big day these youthful builders and racers have availed many months.

A Pair of Victory Smiles

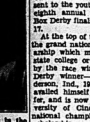
Four-Year College Course Given Winner of Derby

Other Prizes Listed for Winners at Akron Include Chevrolet Sedan, Two Midget Motor Cars

LIST OF PRIZES

A four-year college scholarship, a Chevrolet special de luxe town sedan, two midget motor cars, and a host of newly-designed gold-finish trophies are among the awards Chevrolet Motor Division will present to the youthful winners of the eighth annual All-American Soap Box Derby finals at Akron, O., Aug. 17.

At the top of the list, of course, is the grand national prize, the scholarship which may be used at any state college or university selected by the race winner. Already, one Derby winner—Maurice Dale, Anderson, Ind., 1935 champion —has availed himself of Chevrolet's offer, and is now attending the University of Cincinnati. Subsequent national champions will use their scholarships as they reach college age.



Huge gold-finish trophies emblematic of Derby victory have been especially designed for the 1941 race, according to J. P. Gormley, national director of the Derby. One of them, he said, measures 37 inches and makes a singularly impos-

Rules Are Legislated in Accordance to Prevailing Conditions as Soap Box Racing Advances

NATIONAL RULES

In many sports, rules make the game.

In Soap Box Derby racing, however, the reverse has been the case. Literally, the game has made the rules.

When the Derby was first conceived in 1933 by Myron E. Scott, photographic editor of the Dayton (O.) Daily News, the idea was simply to give boys an opportunity to organize the sport they had evolved and were already enjoying in haphazard fashion. Even for the first local race held in Dayton under the sponsorship of the Daily News, rules were more or less intangible.

The following year, when Chevrolet Motor Division accepted sponsorship with leading newspapers from coast to coast, a loosely drawn set of rules was established with the idea that uniform rules from city to city would make for a fairer race. This proved to be the case, naturally, and a national rule book was adopted.

Rule Follow Trends

Today, this rule book is a far cry from the original. Yet the regulations which govern Derby racing have never been included in this manual in order to restrict Derby builders in any way. Rather, they have followed the actual trends of Derby construction, as youthful builders themselves have evolved them.

Just as the early typewriter, adding machine, or motor car looks crude and ungainly when compared with its modern successor, so do the first Derby cars seem rough-finished ancestors of the modern racing cars.

Yet this gradual evolution toward smart, streamlined specifiers has come about not because any man-made rules specified such improvement, but simply because ingenious boys, building each year upon the foundations laid the years before, have annually devised sleeker, speedier racers.

Studying the winning car of a preceding year, a Derby builder may discover a method of weight distribution that will make for greater speed. He incorporates this thought into his own construction plan. He can't be a Derby winner.

New Lines Devised

Yet the next year another boy takes a candid look at the winning car. He sees its angles, blunt nose, and square tail. "Why," he says, "a little streamlining and that car would be speedier yet." So he introduces modern airflow lines to Derby design.

Literally, Soap Box Derby racing means competition between drivers riding in home-made cars constructed of a soap box, four wheels and a steering device. Today, no car that gets to the national finals —to be held this year at Akron, O., August 17—is so crudely constructed. It is the result of thoughtful, informed, intelligent planning.

Each year has seen the development of new construction details. Improved streamlining, more positive steering, and new spinning designs have appeared. New brakemanship methods have been evolved and much attention has been given to proper weight distribution. Each car indicates that hours of careful planning and ingenious construction lie behind it.

Yet at no time has any rule proposed either by Chevrolet or the Derby National Rules Committee, composed of technical experts, ordered any boy to duly streamlining or wind resistance. The rules that now appear relative to those topics have been the outgrowth of experimentation and evolution on the part of the builders themselves.

Paper "Shell" Discovered

Some drivers have found that compressed paper makes an ideal covering or "shell" for their race cars. That discovery was an outgrowth of individual experimenting. Others have arrived in Akron with cars of unusual design, including one with a built-in roof or shield, through which the driver peered between his knees. One recent winner has admittedly patterned on a cigar, which the young builder studied as he sat in his father's smoking stand. Another was a perfect "sea-going" modeled along lines suggested by wind-tunnel tests. Of interest in this connection is an anecdote related by Tommy Fisher, builder of the winning car in the 1940 finals. The car was patterned precisely after his older brother's which represented Detroit at Akron the previous year but failed to weather the semi-final heats. The only difference lay in a new steering arrangement designed by Tommy, and the improvement in steering alone was enough to clinch the title for the younger boy. Thus profiting by his older brother's experience, young Fisher determined his individually conceived improvements in his own car, and in the process produced a winner.

Perhaps the best tribute that can be paid to the newspapermen and others who play a role in the formulation of the Derby rules is that they have always encouraged initiative on the part of the individual boy-builder, but have always tried to allow for sufficient flexibility to encourage normally and reasonably all Derby designs. And American boys have never let them down.

CHAPTER TWENTY-EIGHT

Brooks and the other men returned from their foraging expedition, and amid considerable slightly hysterical hilarity dinner was prepared, they were almost ready to sit down before Brooks said sharply, "Where's Natalie?"

The others looked about as though they suspected her of hiding behind the furniture or beneath a sofa cushion.

"Why, I don't remember seeing her for the last 15 or 30 minutes," contributed Tony.

Mrs. Edmonds said, her face sharp with remembering a sudden fact, "I haven't seen her since she stepped through that door onto the terrace for a breath of air."

Brooks caught the woman's arm and shook her savagely. "Why did you let her go out there alone? You fool!"

Make Edmonds cut in sharply, "Steady, Marchbanks. Let my wife's arm go. Pull yourself together."

Brooks dropped the woman's arm as though it had burned him. He put a shaking hand to his face instead and turned to the French door, stumbling toward it, calling Natalie's name.

Betsy looked about and her face went gray.

Brooks had reached the French door and had half way through it, still calling Natalie, when suddenly a man loomed ahead of him. A man who was short, stocky, clad like a sailor, a seaman's cap at a cocky angle above a face that was burned brown as old leather. And in the man's hand was a short, ugly-looking automatic.

"Get back in there, buddy, unless you want me to let daylight through you with little Sonia here," the man said, eyeing with a decorative and unconvincing mildness as he forced Brooks backward. "The rest of you people better be sensible, too. We've got the whole joint surrounded. Devil of a lot of bother, too, for we really can't spare any men from their regular jobs."

Major Edmonds, spoke, when it was obvious that Brooks, at present, was beyond any such effort.

"What the devil is the meaning of all this?" began the major like a cocky little wire-haired terrier ferociously questioning a bulldog much bigger than himself. "This island is private property and you are trespassing."

The stranger grinned as though he thought that was rather amusing. He bowed with unexpected gallantry and said politely, "I'm afraid about that —but the truth is we didn't have much choice. When our ship went on we took to the small boats — and your island was the first place we could reach."

"Then if you are shipwrecked, there's no reason for your behaving like this," snorted the major. "We are perfectly aware of our duty toward ship-wrecked men. Put down that gun and we'll see what can be done for you."

The man's amusement deepened. "That won't be necessary," he answered coolly. "We're doing what's to be done, and we are being picked up by our own people. All we want you to do is mind your own business, and forget that you know anything about tonight—"

"Where's my wife?" Brooks demanded now, having cleared his throat again, having forced himself to a semblance of composure that made it possible for him to speak.

The stranger's eyes slued to Brooks, and there was a look in them that made every man in the room ache to get his fingers around the stranger's thick neck.

"You mean the Jane in white panic?" he asked coolly, and both Bill and Donald caught Brooks as he would have lunged forward. "She's quite a dish, too't she? Well, she's all right, behave yourself and you'll have her back completely unharmed as soon as our men are off the island."

"Why—my husband?" stammered Betsy.

"He's okay, too, if he doesn't get too boisterous," said the stranger grimly, "Of course our people are not the sort the Coast Guard is on lovely these days that you have to deal like fighting if you want to avoid them. But if your husband behaves himself, he'll be all right."

Brooks jerked himself free of the other two men's restraining hold and lunged toward the stranger, a murderous gleam in his eye. The stranger side-stepped neatly and brought the butt of his automatic down with ruthless force on Brooks' head. Somebody screamed. Brooks wavered a little, his knees sagged, and he fell heavily.

"That," said the stranger, all trace of politeness vanished from his manner, "will give you a rough idea of what will happen to the rest of you get out of line. Don't put the impression I don't mean it."

"Why, you murdering hound," cried Bill, unable to restrain himself any longer, hurling himself toward the man, even as he spoke, screamed.

There was a crash, the smell of burned powder, and Bill went down beside Brooks, a foolish, startled look on his face. The stranger looked at him and made a move toward Bill, but the others screamed in protest.

"Stand back. You can take care of after I've gone."

"You go to blazes!" raged Terry, coming to Bill, kneeling over him, raising his head to rest against her breast.

A moment the stranger seemed about to shoot her, too. Then he looked at the others, shrugged, and said as though nothing had happened, "Come, I'm just a nasty. I hate to shoot a dame—unless I absolutely have to!"

Make Edmonds was kneeling beside Brooks now and the other women followed, while the stranger looked on curiously, as though he never had seen such a spectacle before. There were basins of water, Betsy's attention to the wounded, and the man lounged in the door, watchful, instantly alert if one of the men showed signs of suffering women to do what they could for him who had shot him.

It was a mad, utterly fantastic hour, and they all had the feeling that they were moving in a nightmare, that they were watching some incredibly bad movie, that such things didn't happen like this in real life. They had been happy here; it had seemed an idyllic spot, quiet, peaceful, secure. Now terror and death and destruction stalked into their very breathing and the stunned mind refused to take it in.

Little Benny's Note Book

Ma ate breakfist with her hat on this morning on account of wanting to go downtown with pop when he left for his office, and she came home fifty bux at supper time on account of having gone to meet him at his office, and I was sitting on our front steps, saying, Hello ma, hello pop, how are you?

I'm very well, thanks, but your mother is suffering from a minor tous fil of dejection, pop said. She's been an silent as the grave ever since I paid her a pretty compliment when she came to call for me at the office, he said, and ma said, some people might call it a pretty compliment, but it is a hipocritical flow of meaningless words.

Ya gods how could they of been meaningless when I meant every sillable of them and still do? pop said. I'll repeat them word for word. Hello, fair one, you're just as fresh and blooming as when I left you this morning, you look very aged a minute. I'll leave it to any jury in the land if that's not a pretty compliment, I leave it to Benny here, he said, and ma said, do well I'll leave it to Benny, then say if you looked at me frankly and hadn't seen me all day this morning? ah! said.

I'll say, O, you got a new hat, I said, and ma said, There, a little child not even in his teens can see it, and all I get out of you is an outburst of spurious words signifying nothing.

Well for Pete sake how do you expect me to notice a new hat when you come swimming up with such a radiant face? pop said. It's like gilding the lilly, it's like throwing a searchlight on the rainbow, it's like frosting the ice cream he said.

And he kept on telling her how wonderful she was without a hat till she started to feel better instead of worse, only she didn't feel at all right till he took her to a movie after supper.

Withdrawing to strategic positions before the Nazi onslaught, Russian forces destroyed this bridge across a Soviet river. German motorized columns are pictured crossing an auxiliary bridge thrown across the river by Nazi troops.

PROPAGANDA MINISTER GOEBBELS STRETCHES IMAGINATION

This photo, released by the German censor, is described by the German caption as an oil tank burning after German bombardment of a Soviet town. If you look closely you will see the word "Shell" on the side of the building. As the Shell company is Dutch, you can wonder, as we do, what it is doing in Soviet territory, where all oil wells, refineries and storage tanks are by property of the Soviet government. It would appear from this photograph that Nazi Propaganda Minister Goebbels is attempting to burn the effects of R.A.F. raids on Nazi-occupied Holland into German propaganda, for use in their current attack on the Soviet.

GREATEST WAR FRONT IN HISTORY

This map shows the greatest single war front in history, the borders of Germany and Russia, a line comparable to the distance from Texas to Canada. Heavy black line in centre shows the border of Russia before she took over the Baltic states, part of Poland, Finland and Bessarabia. Her major fortifications are behind this line. German troops are reported to have penetrated the new Russia in Lithuania and Bessarabia.

INTERCEPT SUPPLY, PRISON SHIP FOR NAZI RAIDER

"HOUR COMES FOR NAZIS TO PAY" SAYS RUSSIA

78 Officers, Men Off 2 Sunken Ships Rescued by Navy

Number of British Seamen Lost When Nazi Raider Sunk in Indian Ocean on May 9

HAD MINES ABOARD

London, June 28—(CP) — The 2,063-ton German vessel Atlantis, supply and prison ship of a Nazi sea raider, has been intercepted and crewmen of two smaller British merchantmen rescued, the Admiralty announced today.

Seventy-eight officers and men, including 46 from the 5,618-ton Rabaul and 32 from the 8,549-ton Trafalgar, were rescued, the communique said.

The Admiralty said the 2,063-ton vessel was a supply and prison ship for a Nazi raider.

The rescued prisoners included 46 officers and men from the Rabaul and 32 survivors from the Trafalgar.

The Admiralty said the survivors reported that nine men on the Rabaul and 13 on the Trafalgar were killed when these vessels were sunk by a Nazi raider.

The Admiralty also announced that a German raider sunk in the Indian Ocean by H.M.S. Cornwall, announced May 9, 1941, had a large number of officers and men and that these mines were exploded by shells from the ship's guns, resulting in the death of a number of imprisoned British seamen.

POLICE PRESSING INVESTIGATION INTO SHOOTING

Couple From States Found Dead in Apartment 24 Hours After Affray

LETTERS TELL STORY

Milford, June 26 (CP)—Police pressed further today their investigation into the two-day-old deaths of a United States couple whose bullet-covered bodies were found sprawled just right on the bedroom floor of a month-to-month apartment.

Detectives studied closely letters and papers found in the apartment, from which, Deputy Police Director Armand Bedard said, a motive might could be deduced that Bernice Wright Jones, 27, of Fall River, Mass., and Yonkers, N.Y., shot his companion, Mrs. Allen of Fall River Park, and then killed himself.

An excerpt from one of the letters, police said, contained this quotation: "Hate is the only thing in this woman so that I could be with her always. I'm sorry to do it but it's the only way."

A preliminary investigation had disclosed that Mrs. Allen had been shot through the left side of the head at close range. But a verdict could be found on Gale's body of the (Continued on Page 11, Col. 8)

SAY PRODUCTION U.S. WARPLANES 'IN DOLDRUMS'

Shortage of Materials for Machines for Britain and U.S. May Last for July and August

MAY OUTPUT 1334

Washington, June 26 (AP)—Production of military aircraft for Britain and the United States was described authoritatively today as in the doldrums because of a shortage of essential materials.

This is the period of output of all types of combat craft, a defence spokesman said, will be reached in production figures for June which should be the highest in the two weeks. A report issued early this month showed the May output was 1,334 planes of all types, including trainers, as compared with 1,242 in April.

Contributing Causes

Several contributing causes were given. Among them was the fact that various new models recently were turned out and these had to be changed before full production was reached. Another cause was weaknesses revealed before quantity production could be started.

Production figures for the two weeks ahead, the spokesman said, will be a shortage of aluminum sheet and, to some extent, machine tools. New facilities for increasing the supply of these materials are scheduled to go into production in September and a substantial increase in plane output is due thereafter.

In effect, authorities said, the ability to manufacture air frames—all the parts of the plane except the power plant—has run ahead of the ability to turn out the motors. Details which go into them, especially fabricated aluminum parts. As this expansion occurred, stocks of such materials were used in more switch by than manufactured.

Meanwhile, in view of the heavy demands of the Royal Air Force for combat planes, especially long-range bombers, officials said the bottleneck of enemy industrial centers. It should likely that the Canadian Government will be made to Shales army air force would continue to have but a gradual growth with emphasis placed on strengthening of off-shore bases.

Canadian Women's Corps Assured Of Warm Welcome by Overseas Forces

By ROSS MUNRO
(Canadian Press War Correspondent)

Somewhere in England, June 28 (CP)—Canadian army women would be welcomed by the overseas forces where there are a number of jobs they could do efficiently, an unofficial survey indicated today.

They could do duties similar to those performed for the British army by women of the Auxiliary Territorial Service.

The Ottawa announcement that women would be enlisted in the home defence forces and possibly for overseas service stirred wide interest in a few centres, for example.

Senior officers declined comment on the announcement but within the past few months several officers of both divisions expressed to The Canadian Press the opinion that there was a definite place for a Canadian A.T.S. overseas.

They believed women could perform functions here such as those suggested in Ottawa.

ROUND-THE-CLOCK OFFENSIVE STARTS OUT EARLY AGAIN

'Powerful Attacks' Made On Port of Bremen, Where Large Fires Started

POWER STATION HIT

London, June 28—(CP)—Flames "beyond all control" were left by R.A.F. bombers, including a part of Bremen and its shipyards during the night, the Air Ministry News Service announced today.

At Vegesack, another coastal point attacked, the Vulcan Shipbuilding Yards, which have been adapted to U-boat construction, were dealt with. Direct hits were scored and many large fires resulted.

Bremerhaven, Cuxhaven, Oldenburg, Den Helder, Calais and Dunkirk were also visited by the R.A.F. The extensive operations cost 12 bombers. Crews and aircraft conditions were bad, the News Service commented, and while inclement night flying-weather was able to collect in the cloud conditions, good night-circuit bombing was "a very fierce barrage around Bremen."

It was the 17th straight night of attacks on Germany.

The night's operations, a "round-the-clock" offensive, greatest of the war, started only early again. Explosions were heard by English coast residents soon after two big formations of bombers sped towards the French coast.

Air Forces Return

All bombers returned safely from the morning raid in which many fighter planes participated. Antiaircraft batteries said that one target was a power station at Comines, near Lille. The plant has been added heavily.

The British mastery of the air continued, pilots reported sighting only a few Nazi planes in their operations over France. Three were shot down. Three British fighter planes are missing but two had been of one was safe.

In attacks over France last night and yesterday the R.A.F. lost nine fighter planes and eight pilots, one airman evidently parachuting to safety. Eight Nazi fighters were destroyed.

During these assaults Nazi aircraft factories, coast gun emplacements were bombed and machine-gunned, a steel and engineering works near Lille was listed among the targets on which hits were scored.

Quiet Over Britain

Meanwhile, activity over the British Isles continued light and one Nazi plane was destroyed last night. Some bombs were dropped and a few persons were injured.

Attacks also were made on the French coastal region shortly after midnight. The cities and villages were lighted by British flares and enemy anti-aircraft fire.

The Nazi radio, meanwhile, besides sweeps over France, the R.A.F. sunk off Dunkirk. An airfield at Guines, 15 miles from the French coast, was attacked and a ground staff disbursed, troops in a military camp were machine-gunned.

The eventful attack of Thursday-Friday was centred on Kiel, foremost Nazi naval base, and on Cologne last night had their first attacked from raid alarms in 17 successive nights.

U.S. to Resume Shipping Of All Kinds of Supplies To French North Africa

(By LLOYD LEHRBAS)
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Washington, June 28 (AP)—American shipments of oil and other vitally-needed supplies to unoccupied North African colonies—interrupted by Vichy's collaboration with Germany in Syria—are to be resumed as a result of a new understanding between the United States, Britain and the Vichy government.

After conducting tremendous revolving about the future status of the colonies—strategically located on Africa's Mediterranean shores and possessing important naval bases—British naval authorities at Bermuda, Gibraltar and elsewhere in French oil tanker Scheharazade to resume its voyage from the United States to Casablanca.

A British warship aided the tanker in the capture of an American-British-French agreement designed to relieve economic distress in the United States and Morocco, Tunisia and Algeria. Three were also planes were discovered to be utilizing airbases in French-mandated Syria for attacks on British forces in Iraq.

While no official statement was issued in Washington or London it was said in informed quarters here that the shipments would not have been resumed unless Britain and the United States had received adequate assurances that General Maxime Weygand's army would not become involved in major military action against the Nazis and that the North African colonies would not be converted by the Nazis for military uses.

War Is Localized in Syria

The war in French-mandated Syria has been localized between British and Free French forces, on one side, and the Vichy French troops, assisting many Syrians and Arabs, on the other.

Agreement to permit resumption of shipments of needed supplies to the North African colonies also closely follows authoritative reports from Vichy that no attempt would be taken now against French territory in Africa has been by the Free French forces of Gen. Charles De Gaulle.

One of the colonies' principal needs is fuel for tractors used to farm the wheat fields.

Diplomatic officials here reassured last January, it was reported, that Britain and the United States received assurances that all supplies would be used in the colonies and none trans-shipped to other parts of Europe.

However, just as the Scheharazade sailed, British discovered that Germany was using the airfields for attacks on British forces in Iraq. Immediately the tanker was refused navicerts for any more cargo.

STRIVE FOR UNITY PRIME MINISTER TELLS CALGARIANS

No Need of Conscription If Every Man Does His Own Duty First

EXPLAINS POSITION

By C. E. BLACKBURN
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Calgary, June 28 (CP)—Prime Minister Mackenzie King told a great recruiting rally here that Canada still has no need of conscription for overseas service if man does his own duty first before he concerns himself about the duty of his neighbor.

At the rally last night, marking the end of Canada's Recruiting Day, Mr. Mackenzie King replied to circulars widely distributed here urging Calgarians to insist that the Prime Minister answer the question "How can we fight in this war without Conscription?"

He said Canada's effort to aid the Mother Country "is a free effort. Every man enlisted in the armed forces of Canada is there of his own free will."

Will Not Be Divided

"If having done his own duty," he said, "you can help to inspire your neighbor to reach a personal conviction of his duty, instead of wishing to compel him, Canada will not be divided on any Conscription issue."

FENELON FALLS YOUTH DROWNS

Donald McFarland Jumps Into Water in Canal and Does Not Come Up

Fenelon Falls, Ont., June 28 (CP) —Donald McFarland, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Randolph McFarland, Fenelon Falls, was drowned in the Trent Valley Canal near the railway bridge yesterday. Coroner Dr. E. A. White said an inquest would not be held.

Tom Ellery, 16, who was standing near the bridge at the time, said McFarland jumped into the water and did not appear again. White bubbles started coming to the surface, Ellery dived, in and pulled the body from the water. Dr. Thomas Warren administered artificial respiration for half an hour without success.

Ellery declared that the water was about seven feet deep at the point where the youth was drowned.

CANADIAN ARMY ACROSS CANADA HOLDS 'AT HOME'

Among Many Visitors Today Are Prospective Girl Auxiliaries Who Will Have Place in Army

LIFE IN CAMP

Ottawa, June 28 (CP)—The Canadian army today is giving the people of the Dominion interested in seeing where and how their soldiers live.

The men of the army having been preparing for this party for days, laying plans for special demonstrations.

Also anticipated relatives of the men in khaki would be joined by many who intend to be in the training themselves. And now it has been decided that women, if they are to have a place in the army, the extra-mural hours will be made ready to military camps to see just what life is like in camp.

The army is going to absorb several thousand women with payroll, uniform, discipline and virtually everything the army has, and the open house is designed to give lighter army tasks so that many women may undertake substantial duty.

Girls to See Camp Life

These prospective auxiliaries and young women are the people forces recruits will see just what army business is all about and the general public will see how the money is being spent.

The women will have planned exhibitions of their particular specialty. For instance, the Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps in Ottawa has charge of such a program to show its system for caring for wounded soldiers. Signals, radio and field dressing stations were set up with an emergency first aid centre placed behind sand bags. At Petawawa artillery and engineer displays also arranged a special show.

Sunday "Dedication Day"

Tomorrow, after people have watched the army go through its paces and inspected stores, barracks, kitchens and other equipment, the country will have a dedication day with special services in all churches.

The day was proclaimed "a day of special dedication to national service and sacrifice," by the Governor-General who issued a message to officers at H.M.C. dockyard, Halifax, this morning, for an inspection trip in the maritimes.

GENERAL GAMELIN ESCAPES PRISON NAZIS REPORT

Two Persons Under Arrest of Suspicion of Aiding Getaway

ARRESTED SEPT. '40

New York, June 28.—(AP)—The German radio reported in a Vichy broadcast today that Gen. Marie Gustave Gamelin, former generalissimo of the French armies, has escaped from prison in France and that two persons are under arrest on suspicion of having aided his getaway.

Gamelin had been under arrest since September 6, 1940 by order of Marshal Petain, chief of Vichy, and held along with former Premiers Daladier, Reynaud and Blum and others for trial over their so-called responsibility for the French defeat and the outbreak of World War II.

The German radio said Ramelin escaped at 11 a.m., Friday from the prison at Bourrasse and that his flight was announced in Vichy only this morning.

The announcement was quoted as saying that Vichy's "National Security Police are searching for him and that in their investigation they believed two persons at Clermont-Ferrand—a temporary seat of the French government when it was in flight before the German advance last summer.

Gamelin was Generalissimo of the Allied Armies in France from the beginning of the war until May 19, 1940, when he was replaced by Gen. Maxime Weygand after the French break-through. He went into immediate eclipse.

Gamelin on Sept. 18 was charged with specific but undisclosed actions against the state as were Daladier, Reynaud, Blum and others.

Until today, the last heard of him was on April 24, when the physician attending him at Fort-du-Portalet at Bourassol Chateau declared he had been forced to intervene emergency because "the prisoner was refusing food." The prisoners were receiving, he charged, less than the German soldiers in the Paris newspaper Le Matin. The Vichy Government denied the charges.

Proclaims Letter 'V' Rallying Sign For All Those Who Oppose Hitler

New York, June 28 (CP)—Col. Reginald Brittain, speaking to Europe last night through the facilities of the British Broadcasting Corporation, proclaimed the letter "V" (for Victory) as a rallying sign of all those who oppose Hitler.

In his broadcast, recorded here by CBS, the Colonel, former Commanding Officer of the Edmonton Foresters, said that Britain is working on a plan to "cross that narrow ditch" between England and North Sea and help you drive the Germans out and to reconquer your crushingly clear.....that you... also, are fighting for that day, that you also are with us against the Germans.

"The fact that you wear no uniforms is your strength," he said. "The Gestapo officer and the German soldier do not know you, but they fear you. You are the unknown soldiers..... watching..... waiting.....

"The light is your friend, the 'V' is your sign.....

"Tell all your friends about it, and teach them the 'V' sound.....

Red Army Installed In a New Line of Prepared Positions

Pravda Says Time of Cheap Successes for German Pygmy Imitator of Napoleon Ended

WAR ONLY BEGUN

Moscow, June 28 (AP)—A Soviet communique said today Red Army tanks, planes and artillery had routed a German armored column headed in the direction of Minsk.

The German spearhead—2 d theirmain attacks toward Minsk and Lwow, north and south of the Pinsk marshes, as the Soviet ground forces fought to halt the Nazi-made invasion of Russia after being forced back in the Baltic sector.

The Soviets, warning Germany that the "hour of payment" has come, took their new stand after falling back on the defensive lines of Stalin, Molotov and Mannerheim.

The Soviet communique said the Nazi spearhead struck from the beginning of the war until May 31, 1941, when it was halted by Gen. Maxime Wegand after the French break-through. He went into immediate eclipse.

Proclaims Letter 'V' Rallying Sign For All Those Who Oppose Hitler

New York, June 28 (CP)—Col. Reginald Brittain, speaking to Europe last night through the facilities of the British Broadcasting Corporation, proclaimed the letter "V" (for Victory) as a rallying sign of all those who oppose Hitler.

In his broadcast, recorded here by CBS, the Colonel, former Commanding Officer of the Edmonton Foresters, said that Britain is working on a plan to "cross that narrow ditch" between England and North Sea and help you drive the Germans out and to reconquer your crushingly clear.....that you... also, are fighting for that day, that you also are with us against the Germans.

"The fact that you wear no uniforms is your strength," he said. "The Gestapo officer and the German soldier do not know you, but they fear you. You are the unknown soldiers..... watching..... waiting.....

"The light is your friend, the 'V' is your sign.....

"Tell all your friends about it, and teach them the 'V' sound.....

Nazis Report Inroads On Red Defence Lines But Are Not Specific as to Details

CLAIM AIR SUPERIORITY

Berlin, June 28 (AP)—D.N.B., the Nazi propaganda and news agency, claimed today that German mechanized columns have driven a salient deep into the Russian defence line and established an entire Red army division which had lost contact with the main Soviet forces.

It was the second time in the first week of fighting on the eastern front that D.N.B. had claimed the destruction of a Russian division, but neither time did it specify where the action occurred.

A division usually is computed at 15,000 men but some Russian divisions are said to number 30,000 or more.

The Nazi High Command's prompt and unusually detailed war successes, complete with details, still was not forthcoming, but reports with the fighting forces wrote much descriptive material.

Mountain Troops Prominent

Mountain troops from Hitler's Alpine forces were reported to have destroyed 100 Russian mechanized units at a pass in Galicia today while armored columns battled another Soviet force reported in southern Poland.

At the same time it was claimed that the Nazi air force had attained new superiority in the war over the far-flung front that it was able to disrupt Russia's behind-the-lines rail system extensively and destroy many Soviet planes.

The Russian soldiers were described as fanatic warriors unwilling to give up positions even when a man is alive to fight.

Frequently, Nazi reporters said, German troops rushed forward after Russian soldiers had apparently been cut down, only to find themselves entrapped by fire from camouflaged positions connected to the others by tunnels.

DOCTORS NEEDED IN AIR FORCE

Aviation Medicine Falls Into Two Branches, Says Wing Commander Hall

Winnipeg June 28 (CP)—Doctors planning to join the medical corps of the Royal Canadian Air Force should be prepared to practise general practice, preventive medicine, hygiene and undergo the rigors of life in the air force.

Wing Commander G. E. Hall of Ottawa, outlined the urgent need for doctors here for training in physically fit, strong of moral character and with knowledge of aeronautics and desire to serve, during an address to the closing session of the 72nd. Annual Canadian Medical Association Convention here yesterday.

Aviation medicine, said Wing Commander Hall, falls into two main branches, that of medical selection of aircrew and that of aircrew duties—pilots, observers, wireless operators and gunners—and of maintenance personnel.

"The latter phase arises because the flying personnel are performing the duties in an abnormal environment, where effects of high altitude, cold and noise, vibration and vibration, wind, glare, and the inherent but controlled fear of death or injury, take their toll of efficiency, he said.

Selection of the special problems doctors must be prepared to take up, he said, will be based on education or search patrols and experience in the abnormal environment to understand the important branch of work, said the R.C.A.F. official.

London, June 28—(CP) — The 2,562-ton German vessel Alstertor, supply and prison ship for a Nazi sea raider, has been intercepted and destroyed off the eastern British merchantmen rescued, the Admiralty announced today.

Seventy-eight officers and men, including 46 from the 5,816-ton Rawalpindi and 32 from the 5,543-ton Trafalgar, were rescued by the munique said.

The Admiralty said the 3,063-ton vessel was a supply and prison ship for a Nazi raider.

The British prisoners included 46 officers and men from the Rawalpindi and 32 survivors from the Trafalgar.

The Admiralty said the survivors reported that nine men on the Rawalpindi died in the Trafalgar action, killed when these vessels were sunk by a Nazi raider.

The Admiralty also announced that a German raider was sunk in the Indian Ocean by H.M.S. Cornwall, announced May 9, 1941, but a large number of vessels had escaped that these mines were exploded by sharp sea action, while others, lying in the death of a number of

Shortage of Materials for Machines for Britain and U.S. May Last for July and August

MAY OUTPUT 1334

Washington, June 28 (AP)—Production of military aircraft for Britain and the United States was described privately today as "in the doldrums" and declared to stay there through July and August, because of shortages of essential materials.

The May total of output of all types of combat craft, a defence official said, will be reached in production figures for June which should be made public in two weeks. A report issued early this month showed the May output was down to 1,334 planes of all types including trainers, as compared with 1,928 originally scheduled.

Contributing Causes

Several contributing causes were given. Among them was the fact that various new models recently were turned out and these had to undergo tests and have various weaknesses remedied before quantity production could be started.

But principal cause of the slump, it was said, was a shortage of aluminum castings, owing to some extent, machine tools. New facilities for increasing the supply of these materials are scheduled to go into production in September and a substantial increase in plane output is due thereafter.

In effect, authorities said, the ability to increase output of planes all the parts of an airplane except the power plant—has run ahead of that latter item. It is the power plants which go into them, especially fabricated aluminum parts. As this expansion occurred, stocks of such materials were made up more swiftly than manufactured.

Nevertheless in view of the heavy demands of the Royal Air Force for combat planes, the United States long range bombers essential to their bolstering of enemy industrial centres, it appeared likely that United States army air force would continue to show a gradual growth with emphasis placed on strengthening of off-shore bases.

Canadian Women's Corps Assured Of Warm Welcome by Overseas Forces

By ROSS MUNRO
(Canadian Press War Correspondent)

Somewhere in England, June 28 (CP)—Canadian army women would be welcomed by the overseas forces to where there are a number of jobs they could do efficiently, an unofficial survey indicated today.

They could do duties similar to those performed for the British Women's Auxiliary Territorial Service.

The Ottawa announcement that women would be enlisted in the home defence forces and possibly for overseas service stirred wide interest in the Canadian camps.

Senior officers declined comment on the announcement but within the past few months several officers of both divisions expressed to The Canadian Press the opinion that there was a definite place for a Canadian A.T.S. overseas.

They believed women could perform functions here such as those suggested in Ottawa.

ROUND-THE-CLOCK OFFENSIVE STARTS OUT EARLY AGAIN

'Powerful Attacks' Made On Port of Bremen, Where Large Fires Started

POWER STATION HIT

London, June 28—(CP)—Planes "beyond all control" were left by the Royal Air Force bombers as part of Bremen and its shipyards during the night, the Air Ministry News Service announced today.

At Vegesack, another coastal point attacked, the Vulcan Shipbuilding Yards, where ships are adapted to U-boat construction, were dealt with. Direct hits were scored and many large fires result-

Bremerhaven, Cuxhaven, Oldenburg, Den Helder, Calais and Dunkirk also were bombed, the R.A.F. Ferry Command and Air Despatch announced. The News Service communique said, that "powerful attacks were able to collect in the cloud conditions, and night-air-sea rescue gave "a very fierce" barrage around Bremen.

It was the 17th straight night of bombing on Germany.

Following the night's "round-the-clock" offensive, greatest of the war, Canadians and Britons early again. Explosions were heard by English coast residents soon after two big formations of bombers sped towards the French coast.

All Bombers Return

All bombers returned safely from the morning raid in which many Fighter planes participated, authoritative sources said that one target was a power station at Comines, near Lille. That area has been bombed heavily.

The British mastery of the air continued, pilots reported sighting only a few Nazi planes in the cloud formations over France. Three were shot down. Three British fighter planes failed to return but five pilots of one was safe.

In attacks over France last night and yesterday the R.A.F. lost nine fighter planes and eight pilots, one airman evidently parachuting to safety. Eight Nazi fighters were destroyed.

During these assaults Nazi airfields, gun positions, gun emplacements were bombed and machine-gunned, a steel and engineering works near Lille was listed among the targets on which hits were scored.

Quiet Over Britain

Meanwhile, activity over the British Isles continued quiet and one Nazi bomber was destroyed during last night. Some bombs were dropped and a few persons injured.

Attacks also were made on the French coastal region shortly after midnight and the Air Ministry said were lighted by British flares and were subjected to heavy fire.

During daylight Friday, besides sweeps over France, the R.A.F. sunk one Nazi ship and damaged another off Dunkirk. An airfield at Guines, 15 miles from the French coast, was attacked and a ground staff discharge, troops in a military camp were machine-gunned.

The overnight attack of Thursday-Friday was centred on Kiel, Germany's naval base on the Baltic coast, on Cologne and Dusseldorf. Residents of Cologne last night had their first experience of raid alarms in 7 successive nights.

Donald McFarland Jumps Into Water in Canal and Does Not Appear Again

Fenelon Falls, Ont., June 28 (CP) —Donald McFarland, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Randolph McFarland, Fenelon Falls, was drowned in the Trent Valley Canal near the railway bridge yesterday. Coroner Dr. E. A. Wilson said the youth would not be held.

Tom Emery, 16, who was standing near the bridge at the time, said McFarland jumped into the water and did not appear again. Tom Bolsby, standing nearby on the surface, Elsey dived in and brought the body from the water. Dr. Douglas Hunter administered artificial respiration for half an hour without success.

Ellery declared that the water was about seven feet deep at the point where the youth was drowned.

U.S. to Resume Shipping Of All Kinds of Supplies To French North Africa

(By LLOYD LEHRBAS)
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Washington, June 28 (AP)—American shipments of oil and other vitally-needed supplies to French North African colonies—interrupted by Vichy's collaboration with Germany in Syria—are to be resumed as a result of a new understanding between the United States, Britain and the Vichy government.

After diplomatic discussions revolving about the future status of the colonies—particularly those located on Africa's Mediterranean shores and bordering upon naval bases—British naval authorities at Bermuda issued instructions to the French oil tanker Scheharazade to resume its voyage from the United States to Casablanca.

The British warship seized the tanker at sea, despite an American-British-French agreement designed to restore normal relations between United States and Morocco, Tunisia and Algeria. French naval planes were discovered to be utilizing airbases in French-mandated Syria for attacks on British forces in Iraq.

While no official statement was issued in Washington or London it was said in informed quarters here that the shipments would not have been made unless Britain and the United States had received adequate assurances that General Maxime Weygand's army would not become involved in major military operations against Britain and that the North African colonies would not be converted into air bases for military uses.

Weygand Localized in Syria

The war in French-mandated Syria has been localized between British and Free French forces, on one side, and Vichy French troops, including many Syrians and Arabs, on the other.

Vichy's permit resumption of shipments of needed supplies to the North African colonies also closely follows authoritative reports from Italy that Germany would be taking over now against French territory in Africa and by the Free French forces of Gen. Charles De Gaulle.

One of the colonies' principal needs is fuel for tractors used to farm the wheat fields.

The agreement, first, were resumed last January, it was reported, after Britain and the United States received assurances that all supplies would be used in the colonies and none trans-shipped to France or Axis countries.

However, just as the Scheherazade sailed, Britain discovered Nazi planes were using Syrian airfields for attacks on British forces in Iraq. It was then the tanker was ordered to be seized.

STRIVE FOR UNITY PRIME MINISTER TELLS CALGARIANS

No Need of Conscription if Every Man Does His Own Duty First

EXPLAINS POSITION

By C. E. BLACKBURN
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Calgary, June 28 (CP)—Prime Minister Mackenzie King told a great recruiting rally here that Canada still has no need of conscription for overseas service if man does his own duty first before he concerns himself about the duty of his neighbor.

At the rally last night, marking the end of the Victory Loan drive in Day, Mr. Mackenzie King replied to circulars widely distributed here during Calgarian's stay that Hon. Ian Prime Minister answer the question "How can we win the war, if not without Conscription?"

He said Canada's effort to aid the Mother Country "is a free effort" every man enlisted in the armed forces of Canada is there of his own free will."

Can't Be Divided

"If having done his own duty," he said, "he can find time to help his neighbor to reach, a personal conscience that his duty, instead of attempting to compel him, Canada will not be divided on any Conscription issue."

CANADIAN ARMY ACROSS CANADA HOLDS 'AT HOME'

Among Many Visitors Today Are Prospective Civil Auxiliaries Who Will Have Place in Army

LIFE IN CAMP

Ottawa, June 28 (CP)—The Canadian army "at home" today to people of the Dominion interested in seeing where and how their soldiers live.

The men of the army having been mobilized for the duty they days, laying plans for special demonstrations.

It was anticipated relatives of the men in khaki would be joined in the throngs that soon are to be in training themselves. And now it has been announced that women are also to have a place in the army, the attractions of which will be added to military camps to see just what life is like there.

The army's going to sheath service through the ranks, uniform, discipline and virtually everything the army has, and use them as a means of doing the lighter army tasks so that many more men can be released for combatant duty.

Girls to See Camp Life

These prospective auxiliaries and many more will be given preliminary recruits will see just what army business is all about and the general public will bet an idea how their money is being spent.

The various militia have planned exhibitions of their particular specialty, the Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps in Ottawa has mapped out a full program to show its system for caring for wounded. Regimental first aid posts and field dressing stations were set up with an emergency first aid centre placed behind sand bags. At Petawawa artillery and engineer battalions also arranged a special show.

Sunday "Dedication Day"

Tomorrow, after people have wandered in groups through palaces and inspected stores, barracks, kitchens and sanitary equipment, the country will observe dedication day with special services in all churches.

The day was proclaimed "a day of special dedication to national service and sacrifice," by the Governor-General who will attend church services at H.M.C. dockyard, Halifax, and Christ Church Cathedral, Sherwood Foresters, said that Britain is working on plan to "cross that narrow strip (the Channel) in the North Sea and help you drive the Germans out and the Germans begin crushing clear . . . that you, also, will be prepared for that day, that you also are with us against the German . . .

GENERAL GAMELIN ESCAPES PRISON NAZIS REPORT

Two Persons Under Arrest of Suspicion of Aiding Getaway

ARRESTED SEPT. '40

New York, June 28.—(AP)—The German radio reported in a Vichy broadcast today that Gen. Maxime Gustave Gamelin, former generalissimo of the Allied forces, has escaped from prison in France and that two persons are under arrest on suspicion of having aided his getaway.

Gamelin had been under arrest since September 6, 1940 by order of the government of Marshal Petain, and held along with former Premiers Daladier, Reynaud and Blum and others for trial over their sole-called responsibility for the French declaration of war and the defeat of France.

The German radio said Ramelin escaped at 11 a.m., Friday from the Chateau Bourassol, where he was held under house arrest by the Vichy government.

The announcement was quoted as saying that Vichy's "National Security Police are searching for him and that in their investigation they have arrested two persons as Germans Persand, a hospitalry, pest of the Chateau, who said he have assisted 6 German regiment in Besancon and Mad Pechabadoit, former nurse the Polish-White Russian border were considered to have suffered heavy losses.

Thousands of U. S. Veterans to Visit Toronto on July 4

Thousands of veterans of the last Great War from the United States and Canada will engage in a "goodwill invasion of Toronto" next month when the members of the Canadian Corps Association and the American Legion will hold a 3-day demonstration of good-fellowship and international unity in that city on dates coinciding with their respective National Executive meetings. Members of the Canadian Corps Association in Belleville and district are asked to swell the convention, which will be held in Toronto on July 4th, 5th, and 6th.

The Canadian Corps Association has invited the American Legion to participate in this gala "goodwill invasion of Canada" during which mammoth parades, receptions, demonstrations by the Canadian Active Services Forces, luncheons and other features that are expected to attract thousands of Americans and Canadian war veterans and citizens to Toronto have been planned. Local veterans clubs and associations have been invited to have their members present in order to make this "Goodwill Invasion" by the American Legionnaires one of International unity to further cement the ties that bind Canada and the United States as the defenders of democracy.

Local war veterans are planning to attend the Canadian Corps Association meeting in a body and veterans are requested to contact their executive regarding their intentions of attending.

POLICE BLOTTER

Several cases of petty thieving were reported to city police on Friday. Miss Mabel Foster, 258 Dundas Street, complained to police that steak dishes had stolen 40 feet of garden hose from her premises.

Mrs. G. A. Fairman, 276 William Street, reported the theft of a gas water heater that was stolen from the rear of her home also. The water jacket had been left outside to be taken to the plumbers for repairs, police were told.

Detective Fred Izard recovered a camera that had been stolen from a parked automobile in Belleville over a week ago. The camera was stolen by a teen-aged lad and was today returned to its owner, Mr. Len Pound, 94 Bridge Street.

Provincial Constable R. S. Patterson reported to police he had seen an Air Force man break the small show case window in front of the Ashley Fur establishment on Front Street last night. The airman punched the glass in with his fist but had beat a hasty retreat upon the arrival of the city authorities.

Two inebriates and a lone transient shared the cell block at the police station last night.

Completely finished, waxed and polished bathrooms have now been developed to enable any person to lay new floors in his home.

Obituary

STILLMAN E. HAIGHT (Tyendinaga)

Stillman Eugene Haight died suddenly at his home in the 4th concession of Tyendinaga Township on Friday, June 27th.

The late Mr. Haight was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Robinson Haight and was born in Tyendinaga Township 64 years ago. All his life was passed in the township where he was born and he was engaged in farming. In religion he was a member of Salem United Church and was well respected in the community.

Surviving him are his wife, who prior to her marriage was Miss Pearl Badgley, and one son, Donald R. Haight, at home.

Resting at the Belleville Burial Company Funeral Home, Campbell Street; the funeral announcement is made elsewhere in this paper.

Market Prices Generally Firm

Prices for all lines of farm produce held at approximately last week's level on the local markets this morning with new potatoes being offered in increasing quantities, while a more complete line of seasonal sorting fruits and vegetables was featured.

Circle "A" stores held firm at previous quotations of 26c per dozen with medium selling at 23c. Butter also held firm with vendors asking 19c for two pounds in most cases, although in a few instances straight 35c per pound was asked. Broilers ranged from 50c to 60c per pair with more mature fowl selling at approximately 30c per pound, $1 to $1.25 per bird being the average price noted.

Strawberries were offered in declining quantities and at prices ranging from 15c per box to 25c per box. Those selling at the lower figure were basically the last of the crop from patches in the immediate vicinity, while berries from the Gardenville district commanded the higher figure. A few quarts of huckleberries at 25c per quart also were quickly picked up by purchasers. Gooseberries at prices ranging from 20c for three boxes up to 15c per box; according to grade. Red currants were also in the local huckleberries the same price.

On the vegetable market new potatoes were featured at 15c per 10 lb. box or at 2c per lb. and also 35c per half peck and last year's potatoes at 35c per peck. Other good quality carrots, beets, rhubarb and asparagus remained unchanged at 5c per bunch, with cabbage and lettuce selling at 5c and 10c per head. Several lots of colored cauliflower at prices ranging from 15c to 20c, with cauliflower sold at the usual three for 25c for half-pound bunches. Peas sold at 35c per quart or at 30c per six quart basket, cucumbers also remained ranged from 5c to 10c each.

While fish and lake trout were at premium insofar as quantity was concerned but sold at 30c and 25c and 20c for trout, the latter figure for sliced trout.

Young chickens held at the usual figure, and ranged upward from $2.50 each, according to size and quality.

Presentation Made To Rev., Mrs. Boomhour

At a lawn social sponsored by the Victoria Ladies' Aid on the church grounds last evening under the direction of the following address was read to Rev. and Mrs. W. R. Boomhour and the presentation made to them of an occasional chair and table by the church congregation.

Although taken by surprise both Mr. and Mrs. Boomhour made suitable replies, thanking all for their loyalty to the church and to them during their ministry on the Redgrave circuit, after which Mrs. Boomhour and family are leaving this fall for their new charge at Manilla in the Lindsay Presbytery.

The address:—

Friends, parishioners and friends of Victoria congregation, are pleased to have you with us this evening during of our social gatherings. During your five or four pastorates there have been many such gatherings and we have enjoyed fellowships. The interpretation of the Word of God and the Lord's supper to our every day problems which has been your charge during these years has, we feel, had your deepest concern. We appreciate your attendance at and help in the Sunday School and in our social gatherings. Your kindness and optimism have ever been an inspiration.

To Mrs. Boomhour whom we have learned to love and respect as a capable mother and homemaker, we extend our best wishes. We trust that all is now in your new home and in your work in your new field may be blessed with continued good health and happy family life. We wish the children of the parsonage success in their studies and in all their life activities.

As a token of our appreciation of your ministry amongst us, we ask you to accept this gift. As you use it in the years that lie ahead may it serve to remind you of your friends at Victoria who join in wish that God's richest blessings may rest upon you and that your labours may ever redound to His glory.

Signed on behalf of Victoria congregation,

L. R. Brickman
Mrs. Clarence Vanclief
Mrs. Sidney Pox

Cheque Presented To Retiring Pastor

A large gathering of the members of the Quarrington Y.P.U. held a surprise party at the home of Miss D. T. and Mrs. McClintock last night. After a sing-song led by Bill Brennan, with Miss Grace McClintock at the piano, Bill read the address of appreciation of the service rendered by Rev. and Mrs. McClintock. Miss Marian Daniels presented them, with a substantial cheque. Rev. Mr. McClintock in reply, said that he had never been happier with young people than Mrs. McClintock and himself and the great pleasure she had in the many years they had spent in her home and how glad she was about to be any of them visit her in their home in Toronto.

Mr. Bill Brennan, who has been President for the past year and who is leaving for Sault Ste. Marie, Quebec, where he will enter training for the Air Force, was then called up and Miss Ruth Daniels read an address to him. Miss Jean Matthews presented him with appropriate gifts. Bill replied fittingly, assuring them of the great pleasure it had been to him to act as President. Rev. Mr. Harrison spoke of the fine work done by the Quarrington Y.P.U. and hoped the work would continue in the fall. Mrs. Harrison said when he was appointed to the circuit at first, it was a bit strange, but now, at this time that she was envious of Jolly Good Fellows" was sung, with Miss Haight at the piano and the singing gathering around the table in the usual friendly circle closing.

Mr. and Mrs. McClintock leave next Tuesday for Toronto, on their new home, 74 St. Germains Ave., Toronto.

Cannifton Scores 13-2 Victory Over Shannonville Hawks

Scoring five runs in the first inning, last year's champion Cannifton nine took an early lead over the Shannonville Hawks on the home diamond last evening as in a hotly contested fourth innings Bashful Hinton they turned back the southerners by a decisive 13-2 count.

Ted Mallory was master on the mound for the Shannonville nine but his offerings proved no mystery to the homesters and, afforded anything but airtight support in the field, was forced to give way in favor of Smith in the fifth inning. Lorne Jarrell, hurling for the home team, pitched steady ball and was in danger only in the second when Shannonville scored their two runs, Arthur taking a five run lead in the first canto, Cannifton counted two runs in the second and five in the fourth to put the game beyond all doubt.

Russ Collins led the Cannifton team at the plate, coming out a triple, while Eves and Vince Guay, in his initial appearance on a baseball diamond this season, hit out doubles. For the losers, Houston and Mallory fared well at the plate.

Lineups:

Shannonville: Reid 2b; Cook as; Maracle lb; Smith c; Houston cf; Barkenroy p; Sulier rf; Lowe 3b, and Lewis lf.

Cannifton: Jarrell p; Gearney 1b; Collins 3b Guay ss; Eves 2b; Gay c; O. May 2b; I. May rf; Smallman cf.

Umpires: Sager and Hearns.

Fails to Report, Given Jail Term

Edmonton, June 28—(CP)—Arnold Roy Ball, 21, of Edmonton, was sentenced to three months' imprisonment yesterday after pleading guilty in City Police Court of failing to report for compulsory military training as required under a section of the War Measures Act, it was the first prosecution of its kind here.

A Royal Canadian Mounted Police officer said in court Ball told him he was a member of the Jehovah's Witnesses, an organization Government says is subversive.

The officer said Ball told him he did not think it was right to take up arms "even in defence of the country." Asked if he had anything to say before sentence was passed, accused said: "I haven't changed my mind."

Carrying Place to Hold An Old Boys' Reunion

A reunion of former residents of the Carrying Place will be held on Tuesday, July the first. Despite the shortage of gas, from the committees in charge of the organization to obtain the addresses of all former residents, many could not be obtained. It is hoped that most of these will learn of the event and join with the others to make Dominion Day a gala occasion for Carrying Place. Everyone will be warmly welcomed and there is ample free parking space for all those arriving by car.

In the morning between 11.00 and 11.45 there will be a church service at which Dean Wright of Algoma District will preach. The Very Reverend Mr. Wright attended school in Carrying Place when his father was Anglican minister there. Rev. A. Strother, the present minister invited Dean Wright to the service. Rev. Stillman Kemp of Oshawa and Rev. Harry Harrington of Peterboro, Ont., both born in Carrying Place will also have a part in the church service.

Luncheon To Be Served

Luncheon will be served from 12.00 to 2.00 p.m. in the United Church grounds. Boots will be set up on the school grounds where the people may obtain other refreshments.

Registration of those attending will be made in the Junior Room of the school between 1.30 and 2.00 p.m. Tickets for the banquet may also be obtained while registering.

Mr. J. A. Dymond, chairman of the organization will open an address of welcome from 2.00 to 2.15 p.m.

Old Time Class To Be Held

Old time school class? are expected to be in session between 2.15 and 2.45 with former teachers in charge. Mrs. Wm. Bedell who taught there as Miss D. Young, Mr. H. Bell, B.A., and Dr. Harry Boyce have written that they will be present and it is hoped that there will be others. The school children will render choruses between 2.45 and 3.00 p.m., led by the capable music teacher, Miss Flora MacDonald.

The early history of The Carrying Place will be a interesting one by Chas. Young of Montreal. Mr. Young's great great grandfather was one of the first settlers in the flourishing district within the early days boasted of a tannery, round house and three hotels.

An old time baseball parade is planned for three-thirty with a band in attendance.

At four o'clock the sports start. There will be a series of races and tug-of-war. The tug-of-war will be former residents versus present residents.

Will Serve Dinner

Dinner will be served around six-thirty. Dr. Roblin of Picton, will be guest speaker and Rev. C. Clifford of the United Church, will be toastmaster. Entertainment will be given by Miss Flora MacDonald, Mr. H. B. Yarwood and Master Neal Tait.

A dance will bring to a close what is hoped will be an enjoyable day for all those in attendance.

The Legion plans are to go to the Evening Telegram's British War Victims' Fund.

A large number of the farmers will complete their hay harvest this week. This is no doubt the earliest of any year, the dry weather has hastened the harvest. The continued dry weather is becoming really serious among the farmers. The most acute problem is the shortage of pasture. Some are contemplating purchasing some of the grain fields.

The neighborly spirit has not been so prominent in many years, as it has of recent date, due to the scarcity of farm laborers, many of the farmers have had to invest back in the old fashioned method of changing work with the next door neighbor and while this is not related as the best method it does create a friendly spirit between neighbors that has its reward.

The family of the late John Wright have sympathy of a host of friends in this their time of sudden and sad bereavement.

CAMP DAY AND DEDICATION SUNDAY

This weekend is a memorable one which will attract the attention of young and old as the appeal of Canada is stressed. Today (Saturday June 28) found army units in camps in all parts of the Dominion holding open house to the citizens and the boys in service showing something of their life as the brave lads live it while in the service of their country.

Sunday June 29th is set apart as Dedication Sunday when Canadians will rededicate their hearts and lives to the great crusade against the crimes and the evil of the German war machine. This is the nearest Sunday to Canada's Dominion Day and it is an occasion never to be remembered for the stimulation the people will receive as so many thousands upon thousands worship as a body and are fortified by the thought of rededicating their lives and all upon the altar of the Dominion and the Empire and the world of democracy to frustrate the horrible crimes of the Hun. These are momentous days and things are not as they were in days of peace and it is fitting that everyone should catch the inspiration of the appeal in this hour of the world.

FAST DRIVERS WARNED

Motorcar drivers who break the city speed regulations have come in for outspoken comment by Police Magistrate E. J. Butler and Crown Attorney B. C. Donnan. Breaking of the regulations must come to a halt.

Magistrate Butler, from his experience, stated that ordinary warnings had been ignored and that fines had failed to bring any improvement. Hence in future, infractions would be met with cancellation of driving permits for the period of a month as a deterrent. The public is asked to co-operate with the police and report license numbers of cars driven by offenders. Mr. Donnan made clear city police are doing their best. He will ask the police commission of the city for permission to have Provincial Police officers residing in the city report any instances of such unwarranted driving which come to their notice.

Chief Constable Kidd has promised that the police will enforce the bylaw to the limit.

Therefore motorists who have been ignoring and breaking the bylaw are advised to observe the regulations strictly. There is no need of speeding on any street and particularly on certain streets where fast driving creates a grave menace to safety of life and limb. The sternest measures which can be taken with offenders are warranted when it seems that only by such will some be led to obey the rules of traffic.

Motorcar drivers can improve this situation immediately if they will without the need of heavy penalties. That is by obeying the law. If they will not do so, they must be taught in a way they will probably understand.

Every effort should co-operate with the authorities in their commendable task of maintaining the streets safe for all.

A fraction of a second may be the difference between injury or perhaps fatality and safety. Therefore no driver should drive so fast that he creates any danger for others in cars or on the street. In these warm days children often run or wander on to the roads, and it is the duty of motorists to be on constant care against an accident in striking one of these children. One moment's pain to any person outweighs far all the time that a motorist can make by speeding. Fast driving has been shown to be a fallacy, the gain is so little and the great risk so magnified.

Citizens will commend the Court, the Crown and Police authorities for the care they have taken to maintain security on the roadways of the city and for their insistence upon safe and sane driving.

Many motorists, one is happy to observe, are loyal to the motor laws and observe them faithfully.

Observance of the speed regulations are for the good of all and the good of everyone. Strict compliance with them is the way of safety, justice and fair play, while disregard of the rules may bring unfortunate experiences, which everyone would avoid.

BLITZ FAILS TO UPSET BRITISH SENSE OF HUMOR

Poetical proof of British sense of humor under Nazi air bombardment is evidenced by the following poem, a take-off on Kipling, which appeared recently in the London Daily Sketch:

"IF"

"If you can keep yourself from going crackers,
"From all the things that you are told to do,
"When Hitler sends along his air attackers,
"With squibs and bombs to try to frighten you,
"If you can hear that hellish banshee warning,
"Without that sinking feeling in your breast,
"If you can sleep in dugouts till the morning,
"And never feel you ought to have more rest,
"If you can laugh at every blackout stumble,
"Nor murmur when you cannot find a pub,
"If you can eat your rations and not grumble
"About the wicked price you pay for grub,
"If you can keep depression down to zero
"And view, it all as but a bit of fun,
"Then, sir, you'll be a ruddy hero,
"And what is more, you'll be the only one."

HESS-SCUSE ME

And if another of the Nazi bigshots decide to take off in a plane for Russia, we presume he will be a Hess of another color.

WOULD YOU LIKE IT?

WOULD you like to have an income that would enable you to live well, dress well, and have a few of the comforts of life now? Would you like to have a fine mansion in the city, a country home, and servants to take care of your every need? Would you like to be famous, a success in life, to associate with presidents and millionaires?

Would you like to take a trip around the world, traveling with the greatest possible luxury, and return with loads of souvenirs from this trip?

Would you like to be loved by the most beautiful girl in the world?

Would you like this and more?

Then shake, brother. Our desires are identical.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

The Nazis claim they've captured Nizpgyrdyrva
The Reds have entered towns of Lyzl and Stzz,
Tomorrow hopes to bring the capture of Wyztrzkyw,
Next Sunday Russian flags will fly o'er Skrz,
U-boats lay before the port of Snwzlye;
Men O'War are blasting Przmrzxe,
The Panzer lads will shortly bombard Wzzt,
And capture in their stride the town of Ymerztz.
Soon British guns will level Shryzmkawxr,
The Anzacs will encircle Nwcyrvylte,
Canadians ride triumphant over Lemtyre;
The Chinese blast the town of Sgtzeeee,
Meanwhile the guys who edit all this copy,
Are not on "limbs" but out on great big trees,
For their efforts at correct pronunciation
Resemble seven coughs, two burps, a sneeze,

MIKE the copy boy, can't figure out the nationality of Rudy Hess. Mike claims he went to England a Russian, Czeched out and nearly came down a Pole. He was Hungry when taken into a Scotchman's house, and, like his master, was angry because he was not given Turkey. Mike says Egypt the British when he took French leave from Germany, but as the Englishman said, "He must Roumania."

LOOKING BACKWARD

CLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BY-GONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

JUNE 28TH, 1921

The first sod upon the site where the new Albert College will be built was turned yesterday by Mr. R. J. Graham. A platform had been erected upon the grounds and an enthusiastic audience listened to speeches by persons connected with the college and by ardent supporters. The following took part in the proceedings: Rev. Dr. E. N. Baker, Miss Ella Gardner, Rev. A. H. Foster, Mr. W. W. Ackerman, Rev. W. Elliott, President of the Bay of Quinte Conference, Mayor Charles Hanna, Hon. Nelson Parliament, Mr. W. T. Leland, M. P. P., Mr. H. L. Denyes, M. P. P.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Easterby of Kennedy Road, former residents of Belleville, are here on a visit to friends after an absence of nine years.

Messrs W. H. F. Ketcheson (Phil) and George E. Ketcheson of the H. F. Ketcheson Insurance Office, are spending ten days at the Royal Muskoka Hotel, the guests of the London and Lancashire Fire Insurance Company.

30 YEARS AGO

JUNE 28TH, 1911

A survey party of the C. P. R. is in town locating the line of the railway through this city.

The annual inspection of the 15th Regiment was conducted by officers from Kingston and the men were complimented upon their appearance and drill. The officers of the Regiment are as follows: Lt. Col. Thomas Stewart, Major Marsh, Major Barrgar, Major Vermilyea; Adjt. Capt. Brown, Lieut. Middleton and Lieut. Hotson; R. Company, Capt. Wilson, Lieut. Duffin; C. Company, Capt. Aird, Lieut. Hudson; D. Company, Capt. Carman; E. Company, Capt. Cowle, Lieut. Hyman and Lieut. Foster; F. Company, Capt. McFee, Lieut. Burrows; G. Company, Capt. Doyle, Lieut. Orr; H. Company, Lieut. Gwen (Capt. Wellington is absent in England); Surgeon, Capt. McColl, in charge of Stretcher Bearer Corps.

40 YEARS AGO

JUNE 28TH, 1901

The thermometer in front of Clarke's Drug Store registered 95 degrees at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

The horses attached to the street sprinkler attempted to run away on Bridge Street this morning, but were caught before going far.

Lieut. C. M. Wallbridge of No. 4 Company, Hastings Regiment, now in camp at Kingston, was presented with a handsome silver mounted cane by the men of the company on Tuesday evening. Lieut. Wallbridge is very popular with the men.

Mr. and Mrs. Waller S. Lazier and son, Harry, of Vancouver, B. C., are here to spend the summer with Mr. Lazier's parents at their home on Commercial St.

A grandchild is being laid on the north side of Dundas St.

Twelve thousand boxes of strawberries, grown in Prince Edward County, were shipped to Montreal yesterday on the steamer Corsican.

50 YEARS AGO

JUNE 28TH, 1891

Boys were in bathing in the river near Prinkip's mill last Sunday. This should be stopped.

Dr. Nash has resumed his practice at his office, corner of Front and Campbell streets.

The steamer Hero overtook and passed the mail steamer Corsican on the trip up the bay last evening, leading by about two miles, although the Hero called at Northport.

Mr. John A. G. Crozier and Mrs. Crozier of Toronto are visiting relatives here.

Two golden weddings will be celebrated in the city tomorrow, namely those of Dr. and Mrs. Crozier and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Frost. To these esteemed citizens we with many friends extend hearty congratulations.

The following team will represent the Bay Shore Club from this city in their match against Kingston on Dominion Day: Fore in; Stevenson; Kirk; Hitchon; Hinton; Thomas; Simpson; Orwell, Burrell, Brough and Moore.

Protect Plants, Crops From Aphid Damage

Aphids, or plant lice, are softbodied insects which are frequently found feeding in clusters on a wide variety of plants. They vary greatly in color, white, green, blood red and black. They may be much more easily controlled at the beginning of an outbreak than later on in the season when their numbers have increased and they are affected protection from dusts or sprays by the curling up of the leaves on which they feed.

Spraying the plants with nicotine sulphate 40 per cent and water, to which has been added a small amount of laundry soap, is the easiest method of control. Nicotine should be used at the rate of 3-8ths of a pint to 40 gallons of water with two to three pounds of soap in addition. For small amounts, one teaspoonful of the nicotine should be used in a gallon of soapy water, applying the spray on a hot calm day and drenching both the upper and lower surfaces of the leaves, so as actually to hit the insects.

In protecting field crops, at least 100 gallons of spray should be used per acre at each application. Two or three applications will be necessary at weekly intervals for complete control. By buying nicotine sulphate in quantity, it is better to dilute on large outdoors in preference to small bottles or cans because the cost is much reduced by buying in bulk lots.

Pyrethrum sprays are becoming more popular as a control spray for aphids, states Alan G. Dustan, Division of Entomology, Dominion Department of Agriculture. They may be substituted for nicotine sprays if the grower so desires. Many excellent pyrethrum concentrates are on the market and may be obtained from seed or drug stores. Full directions for dilution and use are on the containers.

Helpful Hints On Watering Lawn

Artificial watering can have a beneficial or detrimental effect on lawns, depending on whether it is properly or improperly applied. In the case of established lawns, watering is not essential to keep the turf alive, except on very light, sandy soils, but it can be used to great advantage during the warm, dry months, says A. H. Hoyt, Division of Forage Plants, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa. Only sufficient water should be applied to maintain the grass in a slowly growing, vigorous green condition, but it should be done thoroughly so that the soil is wetted down to a depth of 4 or 5 inches. Sprinklers are preferable to hand watering, as the latter method usually results in unevenness of application of Forage Plants, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa. Weddings

MILLER—ANDERSON

Hillcrest Church, Toronto, was the scene this afternoon for the marriage of Miss Mary Elizabeth Anderson, daughter of Mrs. Anderson and the late Alexander Anderson of Napanee, to Mr. Roland Lester Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Miller of Napanee. Rev. Andrew Lawson officiated. Mr. Alexander Hill was at the organ.

The bride, in a picket dress of honey beige crepe, matching turban and accessories, carried a bouquet of tea rose buds. Miss Alice Holmes was her matron-of-honor, wearing a dusky pink redingote of crepe with white accessories and corsage of Johanna Hill roses. Mr. Lorne Miller was groomsman for his brother. The reception was at the Royal York Hotel.

WOOKEASEN—WHALEN

St. Mark's Church, Toronto, N.Y., was the scene of a pretty wedding Saturday morning, June 21, when Margaret Whalen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Whalen of Belleville, became the bride of William Wookasen of Buffalo. Pink and white garden flowers filled the altar, and Rev. Campbell performed the ceremony. The wedding music was played by Mr. Reynolds and Mrs. L. Frail sang.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. Robert Palen. She wore a white embroidered net dress and a shoulder length veil. She carried a bouquet of white sweet peas. The bride was attended by Miss Laura Reynolds in maid of honor wearing powder blue chiffon and net with matching veil. She carried a bouquet of roses. Mr. Edward Waechter was best man.

The wedding luncheon was held at the home of Mrs. Robert Palen, aunt of the bride.

Mrs. James Marshall of Port Erie, and Mrs. Palen received with the bridal party.

Later the couple left for a motor trip. For travelling the bride wore a blue sheer jacket dress and an ensemble hat. On their return the couple will reside in Buffalo.

McCAW—BEDFORD

A pretty wedding took place at Holloway Street United Church, last evening, at seven o'clock, when Edith, daughter of Mr and Mrs. William Bedford and Harry McCaw, R.C.A.F., Trenton, son of Mr and Mrs. McCaw of this city, were united in marriage by Rev. J. A. Dills.

The bride was charming in pastel blue chiffon with matching hat and shoulder veil. Her accessories were in white and she wore a corsage of red roses.

Miss Grace Gonyou was bridesmaid, wearing dark blue sheer with white picture hat and white accessories. Her corsage was of pink roses.

John King, R.C.A.F., Trenton, was groomsman.

After a honeymoon trip to Niagara Falls, the bride and groom will reside in Belleville.

CROTTER—KILLERMAN

An interesting wedding took place at eight o'clock last evening at 104 Church Street, when Rev. J. E. Hagerman united in marriage Miss Alma Killerman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. Killerman, 13 Starling St., and Jack Reid Crotter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Duncan and the late F. Crotter, Toronto.

The vows were attended by Miss Margaret Campbell and Mr. Roy M. Crouter, both of this city. Mrs. Crouter, Crouter will take up residence at 311 Coleman Street.

76 Girl Guides Leave on Monday For Annual Camp

On Monday afternoon, at two o'clock, the Girl Guides and their officers leave for a ten-day camp at Millerton, Prince Edward. There are members of Companies, One, Two, Seven and Seven.

Mrs. Mac Haig will be camp Commandant. Miss Dorothy Cochrane, camp cook, and the officers will be Misses Thelma Hodges, Mary Hutchinson, Dorothy Hall, Pat Sholand, Bernice Boyle, Norma Worrell, Shirley Jackson and Helen Miller. Mrs. Shore will be camp cook.

Young Women's Guild Of Tabernacle Church

The annual meeting of the Young Women's Guild of Tabernacle Church was held on Thursday evening. Mrs. John Buchanan, Dufferin Ave., on Monday evening.

The annual reports of all departments were read and the election of officers was held. The result of the election was as follows:

President, Mrs. Jessie Buchanan, Vice-President, Mrs. Withart. Secretary, Miss Ella Mills. Treasurer, Mrs. Wilks.

Press Reporter, Mrs. Mills.

Pianist, Mrs. Hearn.

The subject for discussion was "Mental Hygiene in Time of Crisis" and was led by Miss Earnhman.

John Morgan's questions were used as a basis:

(1) Are you happy?

(2) Have you a broad perspective of life?

(3) Can you do things easily and cheerfully?

(4) Do you enjoy the challenge of life's various problems?

(5) Do you put forth effort objective in life?

(6) What factors in life motivate you?

(7) Do you get glory with people?

(8) What is your faith on which you build your philosophy of life? It is not enough to live from day to day our nation in wartime and by building for peace when it comes to our country.

Our mental health is judged by the way we face sudden difficulties. Just now we are subject to many physical defects in recruits for public health work was begun. This is a time of great social maladjustment in physical condition.

Mental hygiene is very important in the present war.

Every child receives a well-balanced individual discipline must be given in the cradle.

Miss Smith gave a very interesting paper on "Intelligence Tests". Psychologists explain these are given to teachers and parents in training children. They are not to be given to a child must have reached the mental age of six before he begins school.

Mrs. Trudale spoke of the importance of the mental health life for building of mental health in the children. Money is not the most important as loving understanding between parents.

After a very interesting discussion, lunch was served by the hostess committee.

Teacher Honored By Students of Madoc High School

Madoc—On Tuesday morning the teaching staff and students of the Madoc High School assembled at assembly hall to pay honor to Miss Lavina Wood of the teachers' staff, who has tendered her resignation to accept a position in the Brantford Collegiate. Miss McDermid in her usual good manner read an address and Miss Doris Broad representing the students, presented Miss West with a leather brief case. A very pleasant time was spent at the training college of Major E. T. and Mrs. Naylor, Idoto Lake on Tuesday evening, when their niece, Miss Nora Naylor, is bride-to-be, was given a miscellaneous shower by her friends and neighbours. A well laden dinner wagon decorated in pink and white was wheeled in by Misses Marguerite Feeney and V. Davey and the gifts were opened by Miss Naylor who expressed her appreciation of the many beautiful gifts. A dainty lunch was served by the young ladies. On Monday evening Miss Naylor was the recipient of a floor shower when the members of the Catholic Women's League spent the evening at her home and presented her with many beautiful gifts of linen and silver. Miss Naylor, Petersburg, Florida, is spending a few days in Madoc.

Mrs. Jack Osborne of Toronto, is spending a short time visiting friends in and around Madoc.

Miss Frances Phelan of the High School staff, left for her home at Port Rowan on Thursday.

Mrs. Chas. Miller of Toronto, has been visiting her sister, Mrs. John McCaffrey and other relatives during the past week.

What to Serve at the Wedding Reception

What to serve at the wedding reception depends on the type of reception the hour at which it is to be held; the number of guests, and of course, the budget.

If the reception is held at an hour that is not an actual meal, then the plan is to do what is done at the majority of wedding receptions—serve simple, attractive foods in a simple attractive manner.

Menu For Afternoon or Evening Reception

The menu for a wedding reception that is held in the afternoon, or in the evening after the customary dinner-hour, may be of the simplest kind.

The menu may consist of only two items a cold drink with which to drink the health of the bride and groom (it may be a fruit punch or ice cream, if served in punch cups); and the bride's cake. Or punch and sandwiches. Or coffee and the bride's cake, and small cakes.

A more usual menu consists of the famous Four: sandwiches, cake, coffee, punch. The sandwiches are all tea-time, tea may be added as an alternative to coffee. The sandwiches are usually of assorted kinds, that is, there are several kinds of bread. The fillings should be simple, and the sandwiches should be small, about 2½ inches square. Wedges may be made well in advance and covered with a damp cotton cloth or waxed paper until time to serve. There may be small plate of iced cakes as well as the bride's cake. Or coffee is usually served in after-dinner cups, but this isn't convenient, serve it in teacups.

The bride's cake may be iced and add, if you wish, both or either of the three-tiered wedding-cakes with an salad and ice cream. The ice cream may be in bricks or in wedding form molds.

If you wish a more elaborate major you may add to the list chicken a la king, or lobster or chicken Newburg, and hot biscuits or heated finger rolls (split and buttered) and appropriate accompaniments.

The Wedding Breakfast

After a small informal wedding that takes place early in the morning, a menu that is appropriate to an early morning meal is usually served. The first course, fruit in some form; then perhaps scrambled eggs or eggs in casserole, with thin slices of crisp bacon; then tea, coffee, rolls, buttered toast or toasted English muffins, marmalade or strawberry jam; coffee.

The "wedding breakfast" is the big meal that is served after a late-morning wedding, a 4-thirty Noon wedding or an early dinner taken before one o'clock. For this we have a triple choice. Menu one: the first course might be fruit cocktail, or ice or cold consomme. The main course might be chicken, served as a la king or broiled or creamed on toast, or chicken patty, shrimp lobster or crabmeat Newburg. Sometimes one of each are the choice: chicken or turkey, ham, lamb, tongue, veal loaf; with vegetable or potato or Waldorf or apple salad. Small hot biscuits or finger rolls, and appropriate relishes. Then, for dessert, ice cream and small cakes or the bride's cake. Coffee.

The Wedding Supper

The wedding supper may be as simple as that or only two items, such as punch and the bride's cake; or sandwiches and coffee; or cake and coffee. Or chicken salad, sandwiches, cake, punch and coffee. You might have this for dessert, too, for either buffet or seated service:

Hot Bouillon
Thick Slices of Ring
Hot Biscuits or Rolls
Ice Cream Bride's Cake

Nuts Mints Bonbons

The usual feature of any bridal meal is the bride's cake—a white cake, simply or elaborately decorated, as the case may be. The bridal cake is not to be confused with the wedding cake which is a dark fruit cake. If there is to be wedding cake, as well as the bride's cake, the cake is usually packed in small white boxes and piled on a table by the bridesmaids.

If the refreshments are to be served buffet style, there are two somest cloth on the table; have the bridal cake at the end and the punch at the opposite end; arrange the other dishes with an eye to their convenience and artistic balance; and have piles of plates and cups and saucers, silver and napkins.

For a late-afternoon or evening reception, have your table festively candle-lighted, and have mints, nuts, bonbons. The centrepiece may be the bridal cake, or you may have the bridal cake on a separate table. If there is to be dancing after the bridal party, the bride's cake usually has the place of honor in the centre of this table.

Advice to the Lovelorn

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Wants Her Soldier Fiance to Think of Her Always

Dear Miss Fairfax:

Just before we went to army camp, we became engaged. I honestly believe I love him twice as much as he does me. I am very much terrified by all the temptations that are thrown in his way. At the present time, with time off to visit big cities, I feel certain he will think of me, only late and often?

Agnes

Everybody loves to get letters and maybe you'd give him homemade silly letters, with some loving ones. Write Jim about homecooking, housekeeping and the like of course, how much you miss him. Tell him about things in every line. Send him some gift every little while.

Wants to Go Back to Old Girl Friend

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am 22 years of age and thought I was in love with the girl I've been going with for over a year. But an old girl friend, who had been out of the city for over a year, has returned and I've known practically all my life, came back. We've discovered that we're in love with each other.

I want to break it gently to girl No. 1, and don't want to hurt her feelings. I don't want her to blame it on my old girl. What's the best way to do this?

C.

It's a pretty difficult thing to tell a girl that you've shifted your affections to another, but it's the most humane thing to do under the circumstances. In your grandfather's time a young man would have gone with the new girl and told girl No. 1, even if he didn't love her, that he couldn't bear to see such pitiful ideas about "honor" in the present day. In fact, they'd think it highly dishonorable to marry without love.

Have you thought of writing a letter saying that you think it wonderful that you've rekindled sweethearts, but you hope you can always remain friends? Remember Wendell Phillips Dodge's famous line: Dear Patricia:

We have been going together for over a year, and I have given her an engagement ring which is almost paid for now. All of a sudden she decided that she didn't want to be engaged, because she can't go out with other boys. Does she act this way? Doesn't she love me any more? I love her very much and want to keep on with the engagement.

Ever since we had an argument a couple of months ago, she has treated me rather coldly. Do you think there is any chance for me?

H. T.

Perhaps the young lady is a little too conscious of her power over you, and you'd be glad of a little absent treatment will work a cure. After all, eligible young men are not too plentiful, and you won't have much trouble finding another girl. You should see the letters I get from young ladies who never "get over" a break.

If this girl doesn't come around, I suggest you look for another one who will be more appreciative. It has been done before

SUNDAY'S horoscope may indicate a rather conflicting state of affairs, with Pat & Weagrating and threatening of circumstances, but by the end of the day, the situation will be straightened out.

Those whose birthday it is may be confronted by a year in which many changes will occur, but will be brought to bear on difficult and intricate problems. Clearness of plans, perhaps newness, may contribute to disposing of such devastating influence and also attract the help of influential friends, superiors and those in power.

A child born on this day should have much really outstanding and unusual ability and skill with which it will successfully apply to the many difficult and undermining influences.

Milk Isn't Perfect Food Because It is Lacking in Vitamin A

Every time I write in these columns about the advantages of pasteurized milk, I get letters criticizing me for my stand. And I can always depend on the same correspondents to tell me that pasteurization destroys the Vitamin C content of milk and that without Vitamin C we are subject to such terrible diseases as scurvy.

Well, I readily admit that if we don't drink pasteurized milk we will suffer a dietary deficiency that may be serious. But I must add that anyone who depends on milk, whether cream or skimmed, for his supply of Vitamin G will certainly suffer from a cefficiency of it. Vitamin G prevents rickets and that anyone who recommends milk as a primary source of vitamin G needs to learn more about dietetics.

Yes, pasteurization destroys the vitamin G in milk—if there is any. At the same time it destroys the organisms that cause diphtheria, typhoid, tuberculosis, scarlet fever, just to name a few of them.

Without Vitamin C, pasteurized milk is hardly perfect food for humans. But always it needs to be always supplemented with vegetables supplying needed quantities of vitamin C.

In different sections of this globe people drink the milk of various animals. Some prefer that that the milk of the cow is nearer human milk in composition than any other.

A baby, whale, when he swims to his mother for his milk, finds that it is fifty per cent fat, while in human milk only four per cent milk only one percent fat. Goats' milk is extremely high in butter fat. But it isn't the amount of fat that determines the suitability of animal milk for humans.

Average cow's milk contains 3.95 per cent fat and is considered for human milk is 3.86 percent—less than a tenth of one per cent difference. This is the reason the human race has picked on the milk of the cow for his important food. It comes nearer than any other to the food to which the baby is born. An adult's digestive system is best

Auction Sale Whimsies

Did you ever notice the things that prove auction sales to be oftentimes hard-headed people, at an auction sale? I attended one this week where there was a large crowd, because an electric refrigerator, and a seal coat had been advertised among the chattels. But the most excitement was caused by a small wall cabinet, about twenty by twelve inches. It was an antique, but a home-made one. It had been carved in wood by hand, and contained about eight very small drawers, each with a tiny knob. The initials C.E.O., had been cut carefully out of wood and glued at the top of the cabinet. It was old, tarnished and stained in a light and a medium tone. It looked as if it had been painstakingly made, by some leather-hard person, who knew was handy with tools, for the lady of his choice, about seventy-five years ago. Evidently the initials were hers. The drawers were so small, they would have held nothing except her spools of thread and her thimble. In our modern life, I do not know to what use it could be put. It would surprisingly, an antique grocer bid it up to six dollars, but a young doctor, before an elderly relative of his wife, had secured it at six-fifty. It would be a dust catcher, and I had feared it didn't show a flicker of interest in it, although I have always had something a woman, rather than a man, might fancy. But auction sales are always surprising.

I remember an auction sale at a jewelry store a number of years ago. The auctioneer was an attractive, middle-aged man, very witty. He kept a large crowd laughing, and bidding, and buying, for an after day. He would hold up a beer berry spoon and say "What a fine spoon, ladies and gentlemen. And the sale was over for the night.

SUMMER "Hair Do's"

Steps in the treatment of tresses to prevent or correct punishment administered by natural elements

By Delight Dixon

HAIR takes a lot of punishment in the summertime. The natural elements, in addition to lack of care, all too often leave the hair harsh, limp, dank or off-color. But these can be overcome by direct steps aimed at the scalp and hair, and by the use of thoughtful measures in preventing further punishment to the tresses.

If you are planning a permanent wave soon, today's suggestions will assure you a better permanent. If your hair is showing signs of becoming harsh, limp, dank or off-color, you can make it as obedient and silk-like as you wish by following these same tips.

Special lotion should be applied to scalp after it has been massaged. Cover every square inch of scalp.

Frequent shampoos may or may not be of paramount importance, depending upon your hair and what punishment it has suffered. Salt water bathers, as well as those whose heads perspire profusely, will do well to give their hair a light-lather shampoo after each plunge in the briny water or whenever excessive scalp moisture has left the hair unattractive. Rinsing the hair and scalp with lots of cold water after all shampoo hes been removed will, in a measure, serve to check the perspiration.

Normal hair, however, which shows traces of typical summertime unattractiveness and appears oilier than usual, should be treated daily with a fery exacting application of scalp lotion. Such a lotion, applied lightly to the scalp and the hair close to the scalp, will prove extremely refreshing, help check oiliness and flakes that cling to the scalp and go far toward removing the day's accumulation of soil. Scalp lotion employed for this purpose should be used this way:

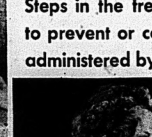
First, massage the scalp. Beginning low on the nape of the neck and using firm fingers, massage upward over the back of the head, in front of and just behind the ears and well over the frontal part of the head. Every area of the scalp should be thoroughly massaged. The firm massage acts as a normalizer in slowing down the over-active oil glands and so aids in checking extreme oiliness.

Use the lotion so sparingly that the hair can be brushed or combed into place immediately.

Scalp lotion is applied next. Part the hair and, using a pad of cotton moistened with the liquid, apply it along the part, directly to the scalp. Repeat this same method of parting the hair and applying the cooling, refreshing liquid until the entire scalp has been covered. Then, using nimble fingers, work over the scalp and through the hair in order to distribute the liquid.

A clean bath towel, or a brush covered with a double layer of gauze, should then be used for removing excess moisture and soil from the hair and scalp. Next, brush or comb your hair into place and either dry it out-of-doors or use a hand-dryer.

If dryness and harsh, split ends and faded hair are problems, follow these same steps but, in place of using a liquid, use a special pomade this way: After massaging your scalp and parting your hair as described above, place a little of the ointment or pomade on the back of your left hand. (This leaves all of your fingers free for making the application of corrective aid.) Then use the tips of your fingers for applying the ointment directly to the scalp. Be sure that areas of extreme dryness and scalp flakes receive a goodly amount of the corrective. Finally, take the little remaining ointment on your fingers and apply it sparingly to the hair ends.



Let the hair dry naturally or use a hand dryer, then prepare and employ formula for setting hair.

The correct application of ointment or pomade will not leave the hair or scalp greasy and it may be left on. Or, if you wish, use a clean bath towel or a gauze covered brush for removing grease and soil. If your hair is truly harsh and dry and has split ends, you'll be amazed at the amount of corrective aid it will absorb and the fine condition it will promote.

A light application of brilliantine used on dry hair and split, straw-like hair ends will do much to offset the appearance of sun-dried hair. If you use brilliantine, I suggest that you employ an atomizer made especially for the purpose. Such atomizers permit a fine, mist-like spray of the liquid to settle on the hair, while regular perfume atomizers used for this purpose make the application too concentrated in one spot and the tendency is to use too much.

While I don't approve whole-heartedly of the day-in day-out use of toilet water or cologne for setting the hair, especially if the hair is dry, I'm all in favor of a quick-drying lotion. You can make such a lotion by mixing any good waving solution with an equal amount of eau de cologne or toilet water. Shake the bottle of hair-setting mixture thoroughly and use it as you would any other preparation for the purpose. Oily hair, however, can be kept in perfect order by the use of this lotion every two or three days. Because of the alcoholic content of the fragrance, it has a tendency to be slightly drying to the hair and scalp and should not be used more often than once or twice each week on dry hair. But it is this same alcoholic content that evaporates quickly, permitting the waving lotion to dry in a jiffy.

Natural blondes and those whose hair has been changed by a bleach, dye or other color-changer, will do well to protect their hair against fading, streaking and further dryness. The regular use of a hair-protective liquid should be used whenever the hair is exposed to the sun. Children's hair, too, should be given this same protection when out-of-doors.

Bandanas and brimmed hats are both smart this summer and you will find one or the other becoming to you. Wear a bandanna to protect your hair, but wear a brimmed hat if it is more flattering and if you want to let your hair hang loosely while out-of-doors.

If a pronounced dandruff condition exists in spite of the application of today's suggestions, by all means concentrate two or three weeks of daily care on overcoming the flakes. Brush your hair every day, use a corrective aid as directed by its maker, and follow through with the type of shampoo especially designed for your particular type of hair and scalp and their condition.

Don't let your hair suffer punishment this summer. Use daily measures for solving summer hair problems and defeat unattractive hair and either oily or dry scalp. Shampoo your hair whenever necessary, remembering that soil is as damaging to the hair as it is to its lively luster. Use protective measures for further guarding your hair and warding off summertime punishment.

Photos posed exclusively for The Beauty Bazaar by Miss Allen Frost, CBS radio actress in "Big Sister."

A light mist of brilliantine gives the hair luster and removes harsh appearance of straw-like ends.

Air your hair whenever possible, especially if it is the type that becomes moist and unattractive.

Delight Dixon Says . . . .

IF you're in the market for a cool refuge this summer, consider the advantages of a new eau de cologne which is as cooling as a passing iceberg. It's a true eau de cologne imbued with an extra-frostiness. If you want to be a fugitive from sultry summer tempers and temperatures, spray this cooling fragrance over your body before dressing. If you want a cool night of sweet slumbers, spray the cologne over your sheets before turning in.

A social service organization in New York City teaches little girls cleanliness and the rudiments of grooming by letting them "adopt" a doll. If the doll is neat and clean after six weeks of care, the youthful foster mother has proved her appreciation for soap and water and is allowed to become the doll's permanent "Mother." Mothers of little girls might like to adopt this method. It works like magic.

A warm bath and a rubdown are things that iron out muscular aches and kinks caused by over-activity of muscles not accustomed to such strain. But make this after-exercise routine exciting. Use a bubble bath, or scent the tub water with your pet fragrance, either bath salts or bath oil. Then, instead of using regular alcohol for the rubdown, use a refreshing cologne. Remain relaxed in the tub for half an hour if you really want to take out all of the soreness and limber up over-worked muscles.

Do you keep a sharp eye on the measurements of your figure as well as on the figures on your scales? Watching one's figure includes the use of a tape measure. It is possible to lose or gain only two or three pounds, yet cause a change of from one inch to four inches in your measurements. Weight-watching is a help, to be sure, but checking measurements every week or so is the best system known for keeping a close check on the figure.

The newest beauty aids are exciting, but have a rare lady-like quality. This is a completely new set of fine aids made available by one of our most trusted makers of toiletries. The mystery of the great American desert, and the fragile beauty of the flowers found there, inspired the fragrance of these new aids, which are debonair and exotic, and have make-up shades that are subtle yet brilliant. Dusting, talcum and face powder, perfume and toilet water, lipstick, cheek rouge and soap coms in delicate pink plastic containers which do honor to any beauty wardrobe. These containers are refillable and about the most feminine you'll find on any cosmetic counter.

Don't let hot-weather blights get you. Don't rub soiled finger-tips over your face skin. Don't fidget with your scalp and hair. Keep your feet under control and don't let them dangle and dance while you are supposed to sit relaxed. Don't talk about the weather, but use every known means for keeping cool.

Now, more than ever, clean powder and rouge puffs are important to the well-being of your complexion. See that washcloth and towel are clean and that brush and comb are washed often.

PROBLEMS

MY hair is a dark reddish-brown streaked with gray. Would it be possible for me to use a henna rinse or pack for darkening the gray hairs? If so, how should it be used?
MRS. E. H. L.

It would be unwise to use a henna rinse or pack on your hair because such a color-changer would turn the gray hairs a bright carrot-color and make them too obvious. I suggest the use of a temporary tint. Such a color-changer is applied to gray hair after a shampoo. The tint remains on until the next shampoo. If you wish further information about temporary tints, please send me a three-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope. Let me add that these tints are absolutely harmless.

How can I prevent a too-sharp outline from the application of pencil or mascara on my eyebrows? My natural brows are very thin and I must build them up, but I detest an artificiality.
CLAIRE SEEMAN.

Using the correct shade of pencil, either black or brown, make little pencil lines like these ////// across your brows and over the area that should be brown, then rub the cushion of your finger over the pencil lines, rubbing from the nose outward and very slightly upward. This will smudge the make just enough to give them a natural look. Never use a straight pencil line without rubbing over it to diffuse just a little.

I have a terrible habit of frowning all of the time, even while sleeping, and as a result I have a few deep lines and ever so many new fine lines across my forehead and at the corners of my eyes. What self-correctives have I? J. A. S.

If frowning is due to eyestrain, by all means have your eyes examined and take steps to correct the strain. If frowning and squinting are caused by the bright sun when out-of-doors, wear dark glasses for protecting the eyes. Whatever the cause of frowning, try to overcome it at once. Use liberal applications of lubricating cream, followed by gentle finger-tip massage, around your eyes in order to make the skin soft and supple. Always make a generous application of special eye-area or lubricating cream before going to bed. Try to overcome your daytime habit of frowning and your brow-puckering while you sleep will take care of itself.

I'm 20 years old and have had a skin condition similar to acne for the past 10 years. As a result of these blemishes, my skin is quite scarred and fresh blemishes break out every 10 days or two weeks. One doctor advised me to use calamine lotion which I have done but without any degree of success. Perhaps you can suggest another remedy for my skin trouble.
MRS. OLGA S.

Nervousness, poor circulation and faulty elimination are a few of the probable causes of acne and similar skin disorders. Check over these and try to overcome the cause of the condition. External applications, used alone, are not likely to prove altogether satisfactory. Send a three-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope and I'll forward you my leaflets of suggestions for removing the cause of and overcoming unattractive facial skin.

I have a small frame, large abdomen, heavy thighs and very small breasts. Do you think it would be possible for me to distribute my weight so that my figure would look better?
M. H.

My special normalizing exercises should prove helpful in giving your figure better proportion. Send me a three-cent stamped and self-addressed envelope and I'll forward my exercise leaflets to you at once.

Cleveland Indians and Cards Again in Front in Loop Races; Yankees Downed by Athletics

Dimaggio Extends Batting Streak to Thirty - Nine Games

CARDS BEAT REDS

By JUDSON BAILEY
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Cleveland Indians and St. Louis Cardinals again are out in front of the major baseball leagues after giving New York fans a day of enthusiastic planning for a "subway series."

The Indians return home from a back-breaking eastern tour appreciably was just the tonic the tribe needed. They came through last night with a 2-1 victory over Chicago White Sox in the kind of a game they played best.

Al Milnar pitched a seven-hitter before 42,000 and his mates peppered Bill Dietrich with timely hits, one of them a homer by Jeff Heath.

It was Cleveland's second straight triumph after losing four of five previous affairs and came with a 7-6 decision for Philadelphia Athletics over New York Yankees.

Joe DiMaggio extended his batting streak to 39 consecutive games with his 13th home run and 45th single, and also increased the record home run string of the Bronx Bombers to 16 in 36 in 22 straight contests.

Joe needed to hit again today at Philadelphia to keep his streak alive and break the 19-year-old, 41-game journey of Wilbert Robinson of Washington Sunday, where the Yanks play a doubleheader.

Three-run Rally Wins.

Washington Senators whipped the Boston Red Sox, 5-4, last night with a three-run rally against Jack Wilson in the ninth inning. Steve Sundra kept eight hits spaced for his sixth victory.

Bob Harris pitched four-hit ball for St. Louis Browns to shut out Detroit Tigers, 1-0. Victory put the American League tail-enders into their fifth triumph in their last dozen in fifteen starts dating back to April 19. Nelson Potter and Johnny Berardino topped a 13-hit attack with homers.

Brooklyn Dodgers, who had ascended into a first-place tie in the National League Thursday while St. Louis Cardinals were idle, had a day off themselves yesterday and the Red Birds gave them the same kind of treatment.

The Cards slipped Cincinnati Reds 8-3 in a night tilt and regained their half-game advantage at the top of the standings. Paul Derringer and Max Lanier each pitched nine-hit ball, but St. Louis safeties included a home run by Terry Moore in the first inning and another by Don Padgett with one on in the eighth to decide the contest.

The third-place New York Giants crashed the Phillies, 11-2, and sent the cellar-dwellers to their sixteenth defeat in 18 games.

Truett (Rip) Sewell hurled six-hit ball for Pittsburgh Pirates at Chicago Cubs in a three-run escape as the Pirates went to the ninth inning before getting him the margin of a 4-3 victory.

HARRY HOLMES, CLEVELAND, DIES

Organized, Coached and at Time of Death Was Assistant Manager of the Barons

Cleveland, June 27 (AP).—Harry (Slap) Holmes, veteran baseball-baseball professional hockey to Cleveland in 1926, died here today. He was 62.

Holmes organized, managed and coached the old Cleveland Indians who were entered in the NHL as a group headed by Al Sobolin of Cleveland's business interests. Later the Barons of the American League, were formed and in 1937 he remained a stockholder and assistant manager of the Cleveland Arena home of the Barons.

In ill health for several years, Holmes left Cleveland at the end of the last hockey season and went to Florida to spend the winter on a farm between Fort Lauderdale and Miami.

Born at Aurora, Ont., he became one of the greatest goal tenders in hockey history and played in seven Stanley Cup games. He reached his peak as a player with the Victoria Cougars, and retired from playing after the 1927-28 season with Detroit of the National League.

Holmes' entrance into the hockey field in Cleveland was made possible through the backing of the late F. G. (Ok) Vollmer, Cleveland sports and the founder of the old International League with which the Indians was affiliated.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

(By the Associated Press)

Don Padgett, Cardinals—Hit two-run homer in eighth inning to beat Reds.

Bob Harris, Browns — Shut out Tigers on four hits.

Mel Ott, Giants—Hit 18th home run in win over Phillies.

Dick Siebert, Athletics—Doubled winning run home in ninth inning against Yankees.

Al Milnar, Indians — Stopped White Sox with seven-hit hurling.

Ki-Y Softball Loop Completes Year's Schedule

(Compiled by O. B. "Jerry" Hyde)
Juvenile Leagues.

Final standing:	W.	L.	P.
Orioles	5	1	10
Fighting Irish	4	2	8
Tigers	1	4	2
Big Shots	0	5	0

On Tuesday, June 24, the Orioles and Fighting Irish met in their regular league game which decided the juvenile championship for this year. After a very close and exciting game the Orioles were returned victorious by a 17-15 count. The Fighting Irish went away out in front scoring 4 runs in the first inning. However the Orioles fought back and slowly but surely crept up on the Irish getting one in front for the first time in the game in the fourth inning with a seven-run upheavel. The Fighting Irish then nearly caught the Orioles by scoring one run in the fifth and another in the sixth but the Orioles in their half of the sixth also scored a single run and this put the final runs up. They then held the Fighting Irish scoreless in the first of the seventh and became the Juvenile champions for 1941. The Fighting Irish were playing under the handicap of having but eight players on hand. Their showers rest upon themselves in their game effort. However the Orioles will meet the second but definite margin of superiority after that game and then defeated the Irish 17-15.

Orioles ..... 16 7 0—17
Fighting Irish ..... 4 11 2—15

Members of the championship team, the Orioles—Robert Shepherd (captain), Bernard Meagher (manager), Ralph Clarke, Allan Baker, Bill Wilson, Bill Lynch, Harry Taylor, Bert McDonald, Joe Adams, Bill Dyer, Bob Hall and Jack Fowler.

Members of the runners up, the Fighting Irish—Jack Millman, (captain), Earl Connors (manager), Robert Turner, Harold Young, Joe Cummings, Bill Nickle, Jim Burshaw, Fred Mopkins, Ed Pope, Jack Mustard.

Cresta will be presented to each member of both the above teams in the near future.

Senior League.

Final standing:	W.	L.	P.
Sluggers	3	1	6
Ossign Boys	3	1	6
St. Mikes	2	2	4
Strikers	0	4	0

In this league the Sluggers have emerged victorious over the opposition quite handily. In the activity they have shown that they appear to be three games played and all had a definite bearing on the final standing. The Ossign Boys and St. Mikes became champions without lifting a finger when the Strikers withdrew from the league. In 1937 two champions became although they were tied with the same number of games they did actually win it but were disqualified for using an ineligible player.

Members of the championship team, the Sluggers—Bill Dempsey (captain), Lyle Cross (manager), Bill Dempsey, Roddy Lyall, Charles Hewson, Harry Wardhaugh, Donald Hewson, Bill Hurst, Frank Cronin, John Adams, Alf Court.

Members of the runners up, the Ossign Boys—Harry Nicks (captain), C. Tebworth (manager), Gerald Turner, Fred Wood, Arthur Wellman, Henry Ford, George Garrow, Douglas Garrow, Donald Shorn, Ronald Hall, Jack Muirhead, Cecil Patterson, John Patterson, Don Patterson.

Cresta will be presented each member of the Sluggers at some time in the near future.

Intermediate League.

Final standing:	W.	L.	P.
Wildcats	6	0	12

WEIRD BALL GAME WON BY LEAFS FROM MONTREAL

Hurler for Royals Had No-Hit, No-Run Game in Grasp Going into Eighth

NEWARK WINS

By The Associated Press
If Big Steve Rachunock didn't sleep overnight no one can blame him; he's pitched still trying to figure out what happened last night in one of the weirdest ball games in International Baseball League history.

Rachunock had a no-hit, no-run game in the grasp and a seven-run lead when he started the eighth inning for Montreal Royals against the last-place Toronto Leafs. But when the game ended the Leafs had an 8-7 triumph.

Eric Tipton, first up for Toronto, singled to end Rachunock's no-hit dreams and then the Montreal hurler gave up walking on a pair three batters. An error didn't help and Manager Clyde Sukforth trotting out to take him out. Before Wes Flowers could retire the side, another error, a walk and a fly-ball's choice gave the Leafs three runs to tie.

Flowers was lifted after walking the first batter in the ninth and Hugh Mulcahy went in—and put again-after pitching to two batters. Charley Gassaway replaced Mulcahy, walked Joe Gantenbein to force in the winning run and then gave a single to Ed Morgan for the tying and winning pitching.

Kehn was charged with the loss and Walter Lanfranconi, who bunted safely at first base for Montreal Royals in the ninth, was given credit for the victory.

Meanwhile, the other clubs carried on their league activities usually.

Newark's League-leading Bears won their second straight game from Baltimore Orioles 13-7; Jersey City Skeeters defeated Rochester Red Wings 5-3, and Jersey City won a doubleheader from Syracuse, 6-3 and 8-2, to take over fifth place.

ZELLER LASSIES TIED FOR SECOND PLACE IN LOOP

With Rita Rabbel Checking Rally in Last Three Frames

SPLENDID FIELDING

Superb defensive playing on the part of the Viking infield during the last three innings of play assisted in the first half of the seventh when almost any kind of a hit could have tied the ball game, defeated the Zeller lassies and dropped them into a tie for second place in the Ladies' Softball League at the present. Seven hits were rifled when the girls in blue eked out a well-earned 14-12 victory.

Undefeated until this week the Zeller nine have dropped from first position to the second slot, with the SWACO girls taking over the initial rung and the Viking lassies now riding high in second place.

Perfect defensive playing by M. Tummon at short for the winners and good hurling by Rita Rabbel during the last three innings held the Zeller girls off the score sheet while they batted around a commanding lead in the forepart of the game and humbled the Vikings in a draw close by consistent hitting to this both Tummon and consistent four-run barrage in the sixth.

Viking outfit Zellers by 15-11, just about represented the difference of victory, while the pitchers on both sides, Rabbel for the winners and Peevee Colden for Zellers were both hitting the ball and were not being conked out by either team.

Seven-Run Spurge

A seven-run scoring splurge in the second inning just about put the game on ice for Zellers but they failed to use it to the limit, showed almost their entire offensive strength in that frame. Colden threatened only in spots with stranger third wave turning them back almost in order.

Going into the last half of the sixth one of the Zeller girls, Second Peevee Colden with three consecutive doubles and a solitary round for Friday and hold a two-stroke margin over Ray Mangrum of Oakmont, Pa., Jules Huot of Quebec, Lev Robson of Kawartha and Stanley Thomas of Weston, knotted in third place with 71's.

Turnesa, Fred Wood, Arthur Wellman, Henry Ford, George Garrow, Douglas Garrow, Donald Shorn, Ronald Hall, Jack Muirhead, Cecil Patterson, John Patterson, Don Patterson.

Cresta will be presented each member of the Sluggers at some time in the near future.

'SUDDEN DEATH' MEL HILL SOLD TO N.Y. AMERKS

Red Dutton Buys Boston Centre Player at Meeting of Governors in Toronto

FIVE DRAFTED

Toronto, June 28.— (CP)—Mel (Sudden Death) Hill, who earned the nickname by his penchant for punching home "money" goals with near the windup of New York Americans of the National League next season. The deal was completed yesterday.

The 27-year-old product of Western Canada Amateur Hockey who has alternated with Boston's Bruins of the N.H.L. and Providence of the American League in the last four years, was sold to the Amerks after close of the annual meeting of N.H.L. governors. Details of the transaction were not announced.

Hill's latest goal-getting performance was against Toronto Maple Leafs in the seventh and deciding game of the 1940-41 Stanley Cup playoffs.

Tied as a utility forward throughout the year, Hill was elected to take the place of Busher Bill Cowley, who was injured. It was his first appearance as a pivot man in another series, and he made the most of it ,breaking a 1-1 deadlock late in the game.

Five Players Drafted

Main business of the meeting was announcement of approval of five drafted players from the minor leagues and continuance of the agreement between the National Hockey Association and American Hockey League.

Three Clubs got the drafted players.

New York Rangers obtained Grant Warwick, winger with last year's Allan Cup champion Reina Rangers, from Hershey of the American League; Detroit Red Wings, Regina forward from Philadelphia Ramblers, and Boston Bruins, Norman Burna, centre with Minneapolis of the American Association last year.

Canadiens obtained Glen Harmon, husky Toronto Marlboro star, Winnipeg Rangers, Memorial Cup Champions through Tom Foley of the American Association and American Coast Darch from Regina Rangers from Seattle of the Pacific Coast League.

CORBYS DEFEATED FOR FIRST TIME THIS SEASON

'Ding' Luffman of Point Anne Hurls and Bats His Team to Victory

TWO DOUBLE PLAYS

With "Ding" Luffman, their ace pitcher, in the box, the Point Anne Quarrymen handed the Corby A.C. their first defeat of the season, when they downed Harold Bawden's charges 11 to 7 at Coleman Field last night. Luffman scattered 14 hits in a masterful manner, and came through with four hits, one a fourth inning triple that scored two runs. He also batted in two more in the ninth.

Connie Harris opposed Luffman on the mound, and to his credit allowed one more hit that the winning mounds-man. Harris' support was woeful at times, the Corbys booting the ball for four errors.

Luffman counted four hits and had his teammates on the attack as Sero, Whalen and Doug Bennett came through. Ralph Blanchard, pitcher with a home run and three singles passed the Corbys followed with a single, scoring on a fielder's choice. Hennessy scored on Whalen's double. Bennett's single scored Whalen and Hennessy, and Bennett scored on Blanchard's single.

Comeback

Comebacks characterized the game which they won. In victory the Quarrymen got the jump on the second run in the league schedule.

GOSSIP AND GLEANINGS

The winner of Monday's Kingston Soap Box Derby race is to be presented with American championship at the International races in Akron, Ohio, this summer, and come what may it is assured that the local lad who wins the race will be there. That is the latest account of himself till the race is run. The trip at the International is the dream of Belleville boys to design fast cars and drive them over the finish line first. Championship is already been demarcated, not only in this city, but in other Canadian cities and at Akron.

Those who know the sides of Derby Hill on Monday may expect to experience agony of thrills as those goody little racers hurtle down the grade, to come up smiling at the finish . . . It's good clean sport with a big kick in it even for the lucky boy who does, we'll be seein' you at Derby Hill.

Annually on Dominion Day the Belleville Lawn Bowling Club holds a district mixed rinks tournament, but the 1941 affair is to be the greatest ever and Secretary-Manager Bennett is anxious that the citizens in general, be they bowlers or not, should make ready this year's tourney a memorable one, because all proceeds are to go to the Belleville War Victims' Fund. Invitations have been issued to all lawn bowling clubs as far east as Ottawa and as far west as Hamilton. R. C. Webber, well - known Toronto bowling executive, is acting as referee of the Point Anne "Commandos," while Claude Bennett, Secretary-Manager hopes to round off their affair with a grand finale in the form of a mixed rink match between the "Commandos" and the "Vikings" of Belleville, with the latter's head by Harry Foster, skip, and at the hands of Mike Power's Vikings. It was the Vikings who handed Corby's their first defeat in as many starts. Over at the Viking "Hut" the boys are pitched and hit their way to an 11 to 7 win over the Corby's. Batsmen Genereaux, Bert St. Bennett, of which mounted the score with two hits each, while Hutchings and Harris charges played hands-up ball and behind batsmen Ward and Henn, they played loosely behind Connie Harris, handing the ball over to the opposition in the form of four costly miscues. It was the Corbys' first defeat in the league season and their only loss on eleven starts, including two exhibition games.

SPORT SPICE—Just as a cooling thought—the Governors of the National League met in Toronto yesterday . . . And New York American Red Dutton bought Mel Hill from Providence . . . Don't let 'em tell you night baseball won't pay, though, because the extra take after a tie 85 for the 18 holes..... Charlie Dean, who has stopped the Yankees on more than one occasion with a long drive, has signed the McCarthymen a 7-6 reverse as the A's won yesterday and dropped the Bronx Bombers into second place behind the Indians..... Joe DiMaggio had his 17th homer of the season, it was the 3th for the Yanks here over a record string of 7-23 games and "DiMagg" hit safely for his 39th consecutive game with only one to go to equal Wilbert Robinson's 19-year-old record of 41 consecutive games for batting safely... Pull down the shade.

AT THE BELLE

"SUNNY"

Another Anna Neagle screen musical, "Sunny," is now on the Belle Theatre screen, and judging from long odds the most entertaining picture of the star's career and one of the most delightful musical comedies of current months.

A charming romance, the basis of which is a bewildered wife's fear of the Jerome Kern hit tunes of the original stage success, and with a series of brilliant dance numbers cleverly woven into the plot. To the music of Kern, Neagle and dancing has been added the terpsichorean talents of Ray Bolger, as well as those of the noted dance satirists, The Hartmans, and this outstanding combination produces some delightful routines.

"Wow", "Sunny", "D'ya Love Me?" and "Two Little Bluebirds", the latter a favorite from the stage version, are also deftly worked into the story, and are sung in appropriate fashion by Miss Neagle, Bolger, John Carroll, who has the romantic lead, and the Hartmans.

New Orleans in the Mardi Gras season is the setting for the RKO Radio film, which captures perfectly the atmosphere and gaiety of the famous celebration. Miss Neagle turns in a delightful performance as Sunny Dillon, a circus performer who, while Carroll is an ideal choice for the role of Bill Adams, a society man who falls in love with her and whose plans for immediate marriage motivate the light-hearted plot.

Bolger as a carnival manager, Richard Denning, Marion and Grace Hartman as a pair of eccentric soubrettes, Paul Hartman as a magician and Helen Westley and Frieda Inescort as two of Sunny's relatives, handle the other important roles in notable fashion.

Herbert Wilcox's direction and production values, along with Sig Herzig's screen play from the book and lyrics by Otto Harbach and Oscar Hammerstein, and Irving Cummings's direction of the fine cast to make "Sunny" a cinematic pleasure and a picture well worth seeing.

The Belle latest world news events and Pluto in a Walt Disney color fun cartoon complete the program.

AT THE CAPITOL

"SAILORS THREE"

One of the most delightful farces of all time comes to the Capitol Theatre Sunday matinee, when Roy Young, the movie critic for Toronto's Globe and Mail, gave it five starts (top rank) and said the following about it in his column of March 10, 1941:

I suppose they do produce something worth while here and there in Ealing Studios in England, but with such samples of their product as the one from Formby pictures and now this Tommy Trinder piece, "Sailors Three," one wonders what Ealing can indicate that Ealing is rapidly becoming a studio of mediocrity. Possibly I was in a receptive mood, but I was encouraged to understand by the completely ridiculous antics of this yarn, and I'll be very surprised if it doesn't run for weeks and weeks and weeks.

Also, incidentally, it did run for six solid weeks at the Eglinton.)

Sailors Three are three navy men who "It's In the Air" did in the air force. R.rthe the senior service and the merchant navy. Trinder, with typical Cockney pluck, strips it completely of all dignity, and provides everybody with a solid string of laughs.

There are countless side issues for gag purposes, but the basic plot is the romance of a sailor with the English cruiser which is searching for a German pocket battleship that sinks and overstay their leave in a South American port. They get a merchant ship and the battleship and try to sneak aboard. In the meantime the girl they left behind that they had boarded the German battleship in the dark. So they proceed to capture the battleship!

Sure it's silly, but it's swell fun and we will claim that you almost believe it. You'll like Tommy Trinder, the Cockney English comic and variety star. He hasn't the dominant personality or facial characteristics which make George Formby stand out so in his films, and mixed up with so many sailors you may find him a bit difficult to identify. You'll easily pick out Claude Hulbert as the typical Hulbert chin.

Also on the bill Lady Lehmann is an attractive little lass, and heads the Canadian contingent, having been born in Winnipeg, the daughter of a surgeon.

Also featured in the well-known young character actor from Twickenham, Eric Clavering, who is cast as a comedy bartender in "Sailors Three."

Along with this first Belleville showing of "Sailors Three" will be shown the second episode entitled "The Louis-Conn fight—13 rounds of thrills," a sensational boxing match and also be a short subject starring Gene Krupa and his band.

Honeymoon Gold

By PEGGY DERN

CHAPTER TWENTY-NINE

SUDDENLY there came the sound of a whistle. The stranger was instantly alert.

"You folk stay here in this room and count to a hundred. If you want to see the dame and the guy we've got, again," he told them sternly. "Some move out of any of you—and they'll get bumped so quick you won't believe it."

He turned and the darkness swallow him up. They heard scuffs about the room, movement, murmurs of voices, and knew that the stranger had been bring when he said that the house had been surrounded. They stared at each other, restless, until suddenly the major made an impulsive movement towards the French door. Instantly Betsy was upon him, clinging to him, crying out sharply, "No, no—he'll kill Tom! He said he would—and he wasn't fooling."

The major nodded and stood still. The sound outside died away, silence crept in again, as though it were sound living, tangible thing that had been frightened away by the last hour or so. Only in the jungle the flickering row of lights was gone; silence had moved back there, and it was almost as laid by the queer, rumbling barking of an alligator.

The people huddled in the room there still gripped in the horror of what had happened, and when they heard slow, halting footsteps in the patio, they held their breath, watching the French door with wide, frightened eyes. So it was that Tom found them when he stepped across the threshold, carrying Natalie in his arms.

There was a moment of stupefaction; then Betsy cried his name and plunged across the room and upon him. He laid Natalie on a couch and turned to take the sobbing Betsy into his arms.

"Oh, Tommy, Tommy—darling, DARLING—I thought they'd killed you," she cried, clinging to him.

Tommy's arms closed about her and then there was a curiously startled look in his eyes as she kissed him. It took that she caught as she kissed him the second time. Then a hot wave of color swept over her face and she drew back, stammering. "Well, you were gone so long—and that awful man was here and——"

Mrs. Edmonds and Lucy were working over Natalie and they looked up to say reassuringly, "She's all right. She's only fainted."

"Neither of us was harmed," Tom explained gruffly. "We were simply held prisoners till the boats could take the men off the island—but what happened here?"

He looked at Brooks, still unconscious, a great cut on his temple, and at Bill, who was slowly trying to sit up, and wincing as his wounded shoulder throbbed furiously.

Swiftly, concisely, the major explained what had happened. Tom listened intently, nodding when the major had finished.

"I know now that the ship-wrecked sailors were from an oil tanker that they scuttled to avoid capture," said Tom. It was a German ship, trying to run the blockade. The English were waiting for her and when she came out of the Caribbean, after loading at Vera Cruz, they sank her. Rather than allow the prize to fall into the hands of the enemy, the ship was scuttled. That much I gathered from the men left fall as they were waiting to be taken off. They were pretty sore about their contact man being murdered—and they talked a lot more than their leader wanted. I imagine the fellow who was here was really in charge, and he probably knew about all of them up if he'd been around. As it was, they talked their heads off. Portions of it were enough German to be able to understand some of what they were saying——"

"They were German?" demanded the major.

"Most of them," answered Tom quietly. "They were taken off by a tramp steamer that had evidently been waiting off-shore ever since the other ship was scuttled and they took to the lifeboats. And—they are to be smuggled ashore into the United States along the gulf coast. There's a pretty thought, eh, Mafor?"

"Very pretty," said the major grimly. "But I only carries out what the Dieg Committee on un-American activities has been saying for months."

There was a little moan and Natalie sat up, one hand touching the disordered curls clustered on her forehead, she looked dazedly from Mrs. Edmonds to Tom and the major, and smiled ruefully.

"That was pretty silly of me, wasn't it?" she apologized. "I suppose I fainted—" Then her eyes fell upon Brooks, who still was unconscious. "Oh!" she cried, and and shakily to her, feet, stumbling to the side of the sofa where he lay.

"Oh, my darling—my darling! What's happened? Who did this?"

She was kneeling beside him, crying, patting his cheek, wincing before the sight of that ugly cut on his forehead that Mrs. Edmonds had carefully bathed and bandaged.

"He'll be all right, Mrs. Marchbanks," Mrs. Edmonds tried to soothe her. "It was an ugly blow."

"Well, don't just stand there! Somebody get a doctor. Oh, Brooks!" she sobbed.

"Get a doctor, my eye!" blazed Terry. "What the heck—do you think he's the only guy that's hurt? What Bill here? He's SHOT! Don't you suppose we'd get a doctor if we could?"

Natalie looked up at Terry, as though realizing for the first time that there was anybody else in the place except Brooks. And in that the bright, hot anger in Terry's eyes she flushed and said awkwardly, "I'm—I'm sorry. I forgot about our being prisoners here."

"It's all right," said Terry ungraciously, turning back to Bill.

"Up and at 'em, baby," whispered Bill, grinning a little, his hand curled about hers.

"Darling, does it hurt—so terribly?" Terry pleaded.

"Shucks—it's nothing. I almost enjoy it as a matter of fact," said Bill and set his teeth hard as a spasm of pain shook him and his white face made a liar of his gallant words.

"Well, this is awful," Lucy cried out wildly, "to have to stand around here helpless—with people hurt, maybe dying, needing things."

"Lucy, hush!" pleaded Orwin. To the others he apologized awkwardly. "She's pretty easily upset. You'll have to overlook—"

"Pretty easily upset my eye," Betsy cut in grimly. "Well, I've always prided myself on having nerves. When you're on your own in a world that's not very friendly, you get that way. But it would be no trick at all for me to explode and fly in all directions. Come on, Lucy, let's make some coffee. I think it would do everybody good."

"Stout fellen!" said Tom under his breath as she passed him.

"Smile when you say that, mister," Betsy said, with a game grin. "That's an insult, nowadays!"

Little Benny's Note Book

After supper pop started to wait upstairs singing Roll Out the Barrel all his might, being among the only songs he knows, and ma said, Willyum, not so loud for land sakes, what will the nayburs think?

They'll think I've started taking operatic lessons and from the evidence at hand, they'll think I should of started long ago, pop said, and ma said, Such conceit, you know very well you wouldn't know one note from another in the dark.

Neither do the berds, and nobody holds it against them, pop said, The berds sing by ear and so do I. I'm just a natural music lover, I'm a pottay berd by instinct, I've got it out your memory back a few years when you noticed that I was the one who was always successful when it came to singing Benny to sleep, he said, and ma said, Well if you was here it was only because he went to sleep I sself defense, Anyway, if you want to sing so bad why dont you confine your exploits to the bathroom, where it's proverbial? she said.

Exactly Any ungifted croaker can sing in the bathroom, where cleanness conquers everything, even adenoids, but it takes a natural songberd to berst fourth spontaneously, pop said, and ma said, Well if you're such a great lover of music I might as well make hay while the iron is hot, I mean I really wish you would go with me to the simphuny concert Saddiday, Willyum.

I'm an individualist, when it comes to music, I like what I like, I mean a lone thrush, pop said.

The result being he went to the movies to keep her from thinking of making him go to the concert.

40 Merchant Seamen Get $100 Bonus Each For Sinking U-boat

An East Coast Canadian Port, June 28—(CP)— Forty British merchant seamen here are lyrical in their praise of Jerry Persy, hard today to spend an unexpected windfall totalling $4,000.

Torpedoed while on route from England, the men managed to abandon ship and reach the Nazi U-boat before their ship took its final plunge. They were each awarded a $100 bonus by the British Government for the action on their arrival here. The entire crew escaped unharmed in lifeboats.

Top-Grade Eggs Reverse Price Trend

Toronto — Prices on top-quality eggs advanced 1-2 to 1 cent a dozen in trading on the Toronto open produce market yesterday. Butter also firmed slightly, showing an increase of 1-2 cent a pound.

Having been increased 1 cent a dozen in trading Thursday, prices on top-grade eggs advanced on the uptrend yesterday with another advance of one cent. Continued light receipts were cleared well by the good demand, it was stated by the trade creation. While grade A-large and A-medium have been fluctuating considerably of late, prices for these grades have remained fairly steady. There was little pick-up in volume of out-of-town shipments during this week-end holiday period, with several L.C.L. shipments going forward in Eastern points. Incoming shipments to the North Country have been nil, the Ontario Department of Agriculture reports.

Prices continued to advance on a steady basis in butter trading. Quality No. 1 creamery solids closed at 32 1-2 cents a pound, up 1-2 cent a pound from the previous close. Fresh receipts continued extremely light.

Montreal Produce

Teletype Operator Killed by Street Car

Toronto, June 28.— (CP)—Lorne Turner, 35, a member of The Canadian Press staff for 18 years, and New York for eighteen years, was killed instantly when he was struck by a street car at Suburban Loop, Branch.

Mr. Turner, a teletype operator, was a former general chairman of Division 32 of the International Stereotypers' Union of America. Surviving are his wife, Ethel, and a son, Mrs. Richard P. Turner of Toronto, and a son, Robert, aged 12.

Survivor Watches Fighting Craft Get the U-boat

Port Glasgow, N.S., June 28 (CP) — Torpedoed British sailors who have wished to "get even" with Jerry will like to hear about John Persy of New Glasgow. His ship was torpedoed in the North Atlantic. Persy, the 25-year-old petty officer gunner was managed to get aboard a few hours later and watched the fighting craft sink the same sun.

Better still, Persy says, when fishing for survivors from the water they found they had caught the Nazi U-boat commander, Otto Kretschmer, known as the "wolf of the Atlantic."

That, thinks Persy, was the high spot in his career. He says he has had his a few more to tell about as he hopes he will never have been.

Tops among them was the maiden voyage of the luxury liner Empress of Britain to England to New York. Persy was the lone Canadian in her crew at that time.

GERMAN TROOPS MARCHING ACROSS NORTH FINLAND

Probably Will Attack the Soviet Arctic Port of Murmansk

BOMBARD HANKO

London, June 28 (CP)—German troops from Norway are marching across northern Finland to attack the Soviet Arctic port of Murmansk, Reuters News Agency said in a dispatch from Stockholm today. The dispatch quoted Swedish press reports from Berlin.

The dispatches said also that German planes had taken off to bomb the Hango Peninsula, which juts eastward from Murmansk to divide the White Sea from the Arctic Ocean. The Soviet air force was reported to have built underground hangars on the peninsula.

It was reported from Helsinki that Finnish artillery had begun a bombardment of Soviet defences at Hanko, important naval base guarding the entrance to the Gulf of Finland.

This base, in southwest Finland, was leased to Russia for 30 years in the peace settlement ending last year's Russo-Finnish war. The Soviet government built it up for defence of Leningrad, which lies at the head of the gulf.

TO GIVE ANNOUNCEMENT

Berlin, June 28 (AP), Hitler's field headquarters said today that a big announcement in the eastern theatre of war will be made known to the German people sometime in the course of tomorrow.

R.A.F. CONTINUES ATTACKS

London, June 28 (CP)—Royal Air Force bombers attacked Nazi-occupied France, Belgium and Holland at points in western Germany for the 11th consecutive night, it was announced today. No French coast was heard by watchers on the south coast.

RED CAVALRY SMASHES NAZIS

London, June 28 (CP)—Reuters News Agency said today that Soviet communique today said a Red army cavalry division smashed a Nazi force of infantry in Bessarabia.

The communique also said Nazi attacks in the Polotsk area of Polish White Russian border suffered heavy losses, Reuters reported.

GERMANY FOR WAR

WAR IN ETHIOPIA PROGRESSING FAVORABLY

Nairobi, Kenya Colony, June 28 (CP)—British and imperial troops operating west of Lekemti, Ethiopia, have forced a crossing of the Didessa River despite Italian opposition, it was officially announced today.

Italian positions on the west bank of the river were occupied and opposing forces "quickly dispersed of the Division of the Blue Nile in Western Ethiopia.

Operations in all areas of Ethiopia were reported "proceeding satisfactorily" today. Heavy roads and rain and pirlor forces were said to be giving the retreating Italians no rest.

British Increase Pressure in Syria

Vichy, June 28—(AP)— Vichy spokesmen said that British and Free French forces had stepped up their pressure in their attack along the southern Syrian front in an effort to force a general breakthrough.

Military dispatches from Syria said the main attack had been delivered for the last 24 hours north of Damascus in the region of Kasiab.

There was no word from a French battalion last reported fighting in Jebel Ed Druz, where it was cut off.

An unusual New York street scene snapped as police, emergency squads and company squads and ambulance doctors worked over more of "overcome" workers who came by gas fumes in an office building of downtown New York.

BRITISH BOMBS WRECK NAZI AIRDROME

This aerial photograph was made by a British observer during an R.A.F. raid on the German-occupied area, of France. It shows a stick of bombs, nine in all, bursting in line on the concrete runway of Saint Omer aerdrome, used by the Nazis as a springboard in raids on England.

THE WAR TODAY

By DON GILBERT
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

The two vital sectors in the long Russo-German front appeared today to be before the fortified city of Minsk, objective of the German forces driving through Northeastern Poland and directly north of the western Polish city of Lwow, also known as Lemberg.

While much attention has been given to the German advance on Minsk, which is on the direct line to Moscow, it is perhaps the second drive, pointed at the Ukrainian capital of Kiev that the greatest danger lies.

This morning's Soviet communique said tank actions in this sector had gone on through the night and that German efforts to pass Lwow, presumably to make a flanking drive forces around Lock, sowmiles north, had failed.

Circling Little Ground

On the third important front, in the Rumanian province, of Bessarabia, where the Germans seem to have the Black Sea port of Odessa as their objective, the Russian army was giving little ground.

In no sector, apparently, had the Germans yet reached the Soviet frontier as it existed before Stalin seized parts of Rumania and Poland and the Baltic states in the first year of the war. All the fighting thus far has been in Russian territory. The Soviet frontier is a region of occupied territory where defence works have been constructed only recently.

Unless the Germans can outmanoeuvre the Red army and render the old border defences useless and ineffective, the fighting in the second week promises to be even tougher for the Germans than the first week has been.

Key Lack of Confidence

There is no lack of confidence in Soviet pronouncements. The official press continues defiant. Pravda, the Communist party organ, today asserting that the time of "cheap successes is ended for the Nazi gypsy imitator of Napoleon." The Soviet government continues the campaign in detail and seem frank in acknowledging the power of the German offensive and the necessity of giving ground at this stage of the campaign.

The Russian high command may be better informed than anyone else in the world on the progress of the initial advance from the head of the British munitions mission stationed in Moscow yesterday. The British government seems to even picked a good many to head the military section of the mission in Lt.-Gen. F. N. Mason MacFarlane, who is regarded as Britain's leading expert on the German army.

Before the war Gen. Mason MacFarlane was military attache in Berlin and is credited with having valuable and far-sighted views. As director of military intelligence with the British Expeditionary Force in France he was reported to have recognized the weakness of the French army and to have reported fears as to the outcome when the battle was joined.

Battledress Cuffnotes From Canadian Corps

BY ROSS MUNRO
Canadian Press War Correspondent

Somewhere in England, June 28. (Delayed)—In addition to Lieut.-Col. A. Nelson McMurdo of Kamloops, B.C., who won the Victoria in the First Great War and wears Royal Air Force wings on his cuffs, this army contains wide access as entertainment supervisor of the Canadian Legion War Services with the 2nd Canadian Division.

Concert parties have been organized in practically every unit for entertainment in the camps and numerous musical shows featuring talented Canadian soldiers under the direction have been given over British networks and to Canada.

Back in Canada, Capt. Mc-Murdo was an orchestra conductor and bandmaster and directed the Symphony Orchestra which won the Western Canada Championship for the last three years. Recently he won the Gold Medal for Canada, the highest award for candidates for the degree L.L.C.M.—Licentiate of the London College of Music.

Raising 100 pounds Sterling by a softball game, two Scottish artillery regiments defrayed all expenses of a war weapons week held in a small English community. Resources of Nazis Swapped For Russian Supplies

(By KIRKE L. SIMPSON)

Washington, June 28 (AP)—Just how the six-day Nazi drive against the Russians is going is uncertain, but on this it seems it appears that the Nazis have proceeded no further than Soviet frontier regions, except in one possible case.

Moscow admits that a panzer-edged thrust has speared north of the Pinsk Marshes to the vicinity of Minsk, 100 miles within the U.S.S.R. Berlin, however, that a more deadly drive south of the Pripet Marshes has still it stalled in Soviet-held Poland.

Nevertheless, the Nazis made a sizable proper are either prisoners or parachutists, so far as known, to date. If that is true, Hitler's hitch-hiking Rumanian allies are being held on the Bessarabian front, and apparently confirmed reports of Russian bombing of the Ploesti oil fields in Rumania indicates it is true.

Even if the Pinsk blow struck at that vital Nazi-Fascist war resource, for the production of which Hitler raided both the Balkan and Russian war, Britain missed it by a wide margin. From 1941 it is the jugular vein of Hitler's war effort, and British failure to hit it has been a source of bitterness to many.

Britain's failure to survey the Battle of the Atlantic in relation to the Russo-Nazi war, by concentrating on the blood that corretios, the ugly dockings of Britain's navy, and Britain's shipping losses, are winning a slow-but-sure victory. Of that there is apparently little doubt in little. It comes, however, close in the opinion of many here, to Parliament on the Atlantic situation.

Britain's failure to knock out soon enough at best, ran contrary to what was confidentially revealed by Washington as the Nazi plan a fuss about it in England. The Churchill government has made progress, critics to insure that.

There is also encouraging picture of progress being made in seafighting and the progressive of Britain's aerial hammering at British ports and shipyards are doubly encouraging. Washington does not believe that Germany's failure to knock out Britain by splitting Bismarck to sea and the immobilization of other German warships in French ports had much to do with throwing the Hitler sea attack timetable out of gear and definitely off schedule. Perhaps that Russian drive has simply compelled him to turn his attention to Russia.

Syria Near Collapse

Moreover, the collapse of the Vichy-French defense of Syria against the British and Free French Allies is imminent. Withdrawal of French troops from Syria is in progress. The circumstances under which they leave, whether for internment in Syria or to pass on to French Africa under duration-of-the-war parole, are not of great moment to London than the fact that they are leaving.

With Syria and Lebanon under Free French control, Britain will have a valuable base and air forces, the east flank of British defenses, greatly strengthened and secured. Westward, in Libya, it now has a force of seven divisions. Axis attack was broken up by the recent British drive which left it waiting on events of the Russo-German war.

ATTEMPT TO RUN BLOCKADE

Santos, Brazil, June 28 (AP)—The 3,175-ton German freighter Nadal, which penetrated the British blockade to reach here April 29 with a cargo of rails, railroad and chemical equipment, put to jet last night in an effort to return to Hamburg.

(Two other Nazi freighters, the 4,616-ton Hermes and the 4,351-ton Frankfurt, weighed anchor at Rio de Janeiro apparently ready to make a run for Germany, also bound in Buenos Aires, Chile,when the war began, later evaded British patrols.

counter-attacks beyond their borders.

At least 1,900 prisoners were reported taken yesterday. A Nazi general was one of the bag and several of his military documents seized. The communique said that Soviet bombers in Finland and Russian bombers attacked a naval base in Finland's Hango Peninsula.

The weight of Germany's attack was in the central sector, in Lithuania and northeastern Poland, the Soviet communique indicated, reported:

"During the past day our troops in the Siauliai, Wilno and Baranovice directions continued to retreat to positions prepared for defence, halting for fighting in intervening defence positions.

Counter-Attacks Successful

"The action of our troops in these directions were in the nature of stubborn defensive battles and actions and sectors our units launched counter-attacks, inflicting great defeats upon the enemy."

(This is a 250-mile front from North-Central Lithuania to the northern fringe of the Pinsk Marshes. Siauliai is about 60 to 60 to 130 miles into Soviet territory and Baranovice about 100 to 110 miles of the old Russian frontier in a drive toward Minsk, capital of White Russia.)

(Dispatches from Helsinki reported a broadcast from the Russian capital of Riga, north of Lithuania along the Baltic coast, had interrupted last night by a communication followed by an announcement from Moscow that the city had been occupied by the Nazis. After that, dispatch said, a Nazi victory program was heard.

Report Not Confirmed

(The German-controlled radio at Oslo, in a report broadcast and heard in New York, quoted Turkish circles as saying the Soviet Government, which left Moscow for Kuibyshev, almost 1,000 miles farther east, across the Volga River, Moscow itself was no confirmation.)

Moscow's opening front, the communique reported:—

"In the Lukk and Lvow directions, the day of June 27 passed in stubborn and intense fighting. Seeking to break through our defence, the enemy brought into action large forces of infantry and tanks, but checked all of the enemy's attempts and inflicted upon him heavy losses.

It added that "in the entire sector from the Gulf of Finland to the Sea our troops are holding firmly the state frontier."

Russians Stage Surprise Raid

The Soviet report told of an infantry division captured 800 Germans and Rumanians in a raid on the Rumanian frontier and that a surprise raid across the Dniester flotilla and Soviet warships Bessarabia netted 810 others.

The action on the Danube was said to have been supported by Soviet flotilla, and Soviet bombers were reported to have gained an overwhelming victory in the Rumanian bank.

In another thrust, the Russians reported they "dealt the enemy a blow in the area of Soroki (on Dniester River north of Iasi) and thwarted the enemy's preparations for a favorable offensive in this direction."

Claims Nazis in Russian Uniforms

The Soviet communique renewed Moscow's charge that the Germans have been operating in Russian uniforms in order to create confusion. It said a German officer, "clad in Red army uniforms" moved into Soviet territory shouting in Russian: "Do not fire. We are friends."

(Robert St. John, Associated Press correspondent en route home after two coverage in the Balkans, said last night in a dispatch from a ship at sea that Germans disguised as Russian secret agents have been laying the groundwork in Soviet-occupied Bessarabia and Bucovina for an anti-Communist revolution; they hoped the new war would set off.

(St. John said a highly-placed Rumanian official told him: "The entire plan was financed from Berlin and that reports of the secret agents—some of them operating even in the Russian Ukraine—were sent to the German legation in Bucharest.)

STRIVE FOR UNITY

The Prime Minister also told the House that "when the right moment comes I shall not hesitate to cross the Atlantic for purposes of conference when that can be jointly arranged."

"I must myself be judge of what, in the light of my responsibility to the Canadian people as a whole, is a time which will permit of my absence from Canada.

He said it was a responsibility that could not be shared or transferred to other shoulders.

"I know there are some who believe and think that I should not be visiting Western Canada, that, instead, I should be in Ottawa. But I left for Britain, the same persons would be telling me that I had no business to choose this particular time to visit Britain."

Must Speak For United People

He said it was his duty to strive for the unity of Canada, and added:

"While forces are gathering which would seek hostile to the absence of the Prime Minister to foment discord, I shall find it difficult Canada, what would it profit Britain...For me to learn Canada's unity to raise an army divided against itself."

Mr. Mackenzie King is the Prime Minister of Canada to serve a second term, and he said he would be able to speak with confidence for that purpose.

Mr. Mackenzie King said he personally regretted that the war being accomplished in Canada's war effort from coast to coast.

He said that war effort would be impossible except on a foundation of national unity.

"We cannot have a total effort and total unity without goodness and quarrels...The job of the Canadian people is to find their differences. They cannot fight Hitlerism and fight it unitedly."

Calls For Full Part

The Prime Minister added that the time for which he was a call to Canada's sons to play their full part in the war was at hand.

"No small part of our strength was in the air, and on that our country's participation is a voluntary service.

"Suppose instead we had conscription for service outside Canada, that the effort to say that the Canadians had to be dragged away from their homes to fight for liberty right across the seas? That is what Hitler and his gang would make forth to the world.

"That is the story we was faced with a people whose greatest strength lies in their unity, which comes from a free effort willingly made."

Mr. Mackenzie King is en route by Vancouver to continue his inspection tour of the Dominion's war effort.

bullet which presumably ended his life.

An inexpensive .32 calibre pistol was found on the bedroom floor but the weapon had the position to prove any clue as to who might have fired the shot.

Better Down Beers.

Police hastened down the apartment door last night after disturbing odors noticeable for several days were reported under the Residential Registration regulations. Mrs. Lawrence came a few days later and took the apartment, identifying the body as police said; as brother and sister.

Detectives said other residents of the apartment house described the couple as 'quiet and reserved' except for occasional parties when several loud voices were heard from the apartment. After that, they were not seen again.

In their search of the rooms, police found a bank book for $1,000 insurance policy on Gale's life with the Metropolitan Mass., Savings Company and some postal money orders.

Seek Two Relatives

Boston, June 28 (CP). — Police, seeking to locate relatives of a man and woman whose bodies were found in a Montreal apartment last night, said today that Mrs. Anna Gale had reported that her husband, Barton Wright Gale, 39, had been absent from their home here for a year.

She said she had not reported the matter because she had believed he might return. She said her husband had been a shipping clerk before with the Bethlehem Steel Company in Quincy, Mass. She described him as of slender build and approximately six feet tall.

The names of Mrs. Gale's husband correspond with those of the man found dead at Montreal, The woman was identified by Montreal police as Mrs. Eva M. Allen, 45, Hyde Park, which is part of Boston. Efforts to locate relatives have been unsuccessful so far.

Fine Hardwood Floors Beautify the Home— Consult Arthur Sills

"Satin finish" hardwood floors, that which every housewife and home owner wishes for their kitchens, for their dining rooms and living rooms, are featured by Mr. Arthur A. Sills, local flooring and finishing contractor, who for the past twenty years has given complete satisfaction to his Belleville and district customers.

Arthur A. Sills

Thirty - five years experience in laying and finishing all types of flooring has given Mr. Sills the opportunity to master every phase of flooring problems and this experience thus gained is his many customers' guarantee of smooth and gleaming floors that delight the home-lover's eye.

Although a native of this city, Mr. Sills began his career as a construction man in the city of Toronto working as an interior decorator, an occupation which fitted him well as a flooring contractor. After several years' business in the Queen City, however, Mr. Sills felt the urge to return to his native Belleville and twenty years ago he established his business at its present site on Coleman Street.

Since his return to Belleville, Mr. Sills' business has enjoyed possibly more than usual expansion with his staff of competent employees now constantly engaged in fulfilling roofing and flooring contracts over the entire Quinte district. Mr. Sills caters especially to the home building trade, a large percentage of his business having to do with flooring projects in the private dwelling field.

In addition to "Satin finish" hardwood flooring, however, which for years has been featured by Mr. Sills, the innovation of asphalt tile flooring to the building world has resulted the installation of a type of flooring which has gained considerable popularity with industrial firms and retail establishments. Asphalt tile flooring is especially adapted for use in stores, in restaurants, etc., because of its reciprocal comfort for its attractive appearance and for its exceptional wearing qualities.

When contemplating a flooring project, whether the job be large or small, and regardless of the type desired, keep in mind Arthur A. Sills, where complete flooring satisfaction is guaranteed.

Wholesale Commodity Prices Mount During Week of June 20th

Wholesale commodity prices continued to mount during the week ending June 20 and the Dominion Bureau of Statistics index, on the base 1926-100, advanced from 89.3 for the week ending June 13 to 89.8 for the week of June 20. In the corresponding week last year the standing was 84.8.

Increases over the previous week occurred in all but two of the eight major groups comprising the index while Non-Ferrous Metals and Non-Metallic Minerals were unchanged. Some of the more outstanding commodities to move higher were grains, potatoes, livestock, meats, cotton, wool and furniture, but raw rubbers and green coffee beans declined.

Canadian Farm Products were firm, moving from 71.0 in the previous week to 71.1. Field products rose from 56.6 to 57.1, as higher prices ruled for grains and hay, but Animal Products declined from 94.9 to 94.6, as a reduction in hides and skins outweighed advances in livestock, eggs and wool.

The Name of Bishop Means Quality Products In Garden, Farm Seeds

Throughout the entire Bay of Quinte district and Eastern Ontario, as well as in parts of the Maritime provinces, the name Bishop represents to farmers the finest garden and farm seeds obtainable. For more than one half a century the firm of Chas. E. Bishop and Son, Belleville, has maintained a standard in seed values that has not met with constant appreciation from a wide circle of rural customers.

Chas. E. Bishop

Since the inauguration of the firm of C. E. Bishop and Son by the late Charles Bishop fifty-two years ago, the business has been conducted completely by that name. At present it is owned and operated by Mr. C. E. Bishop, whose picture appears in this column, and with the recent addition of a member of the third generation, Mr. Bill Bishop, to the staff, the name Bishop seems destined to be representative of seed values in the Belleville district.

To Mr. Bishop as well as to the farmer, the prospect of luxuriant pastures and excellent crops of leafy clover hays and clovers presents an eye-satisfying picture, but Mr. Bishop appreciates, possibly better than the farmer, that in order to be assured of excellent crops strict attention to the seed sown must be given.

"Quinte Brand Seed", government-tested, and of their own patent is featured by the well-established firm of C. E. Bishop and Son, seed merchants. Only the best clover and grass seeds obtainable and which come up fully to the most rigid government specifications are sold under this brand—a brand from which district farmers have long seen reflected in better cuts of clover and in pastures from which milk production during the summer months has been maintained.

Featuring as they do, seeds of every kind, the business of C. E. Bishop and Son definitely caters toward the farmer, fully ninety percent of their trade volume being with rural customers. A long record of satisfaction received has been instrumental in farmers throughout Eastern Ontario and in the Maritimes becoming steady customers of the Belleville firm.

Bishop's seeds at 172 Front Street, have a long record of quality.

Carloadings Highest In Number of Years

Carloadings continue to increase. During the week ending June 14 they rose to 65,431 cars compared with 65,205 in the previous week, and the index number rose to 143.8, the highest reached for a number of years. A year ago the loadings were 56,976.

In the eastern division loadings increased from 26,273 cars in 1940 to 31,456 and in the western division from 29,304 to 29,935. Heavy grain loadings was the chief factor in the gains in both divisions, the total being up by 4,061 cars or 41 p. c.

Building Permits Increase in May

Building permits issued by municipalities reporting to the Dominion Bureau of Statistics in May were valued at $16,573,356 compared with $15,901,243 in the previous month and $12,949,506 in the corresponding month last year. New construction of all types in May accounted for 81 per cent of the total value, while the percentage of new residential construction was 46.4.

German Attempts To Land Troops at Viipuri Repulsed

Repeated Finnish and Nazi Onsets on 600-Mile Finnish Front Beaten Back, Russians Claim

Moscow, June 30 (AP)—Now under attack in strategic sectors of the whole 2,000 mile front with Germany, the Red army reported today stubborn resistance to the invaders in the area of Murmansk, Dvinsk, Minsk and Lutsk, the republic of two accepted shortcut drives toward Leningrad and serial estrangement of an armored force.

The last 24 hours brought an extension of the active front through a German attack across the extreme neck of the Baltic coast had been encircled in a new German northward push into Lithuania and Latvia.

The pinched ring is now narrow and tight around the Red army forces on the Baltic front, D.N.B., German news and propaganda agency, claimed, "thus destruction of the bolshevist mass is certain."

Claims 42 Canoes Destroyed

The agency also claimed several hundred Russian tanks and 42 canoes had been destroyed or captured by German forces at Rawa Ruska, just inside pre-1939 Poland about 40 miles northwest of Lwow. The latter fortified city, also known as Lemberg, was the scene of fierce German-Russian fighting in the first Great War.

German occupation of Lwow for the second time in two years was announced by the High Command in a special bulletin.

This and the D.N.B. reports from the front were the only new information, however, three days of extraordinary delay in issuance of the daily communique.

Two years ago the Germans had driven to Lwow before the war against Poland which ended in defeat for second Great War that considerable portion of the defeated Polish army was forced to capitulate in 1939.

The Germans then withdrew from the city and placed it in the Russian sphere when Poland was partitioned.

The 1941 capture of Lwow was reported from the Fuehrer's headquarters today in this brief announcement:

"Lwow was taken today. The Reich's war flags has been flying from the citadel since 4:30 a.m. (10:30 P.M. E.D.T. Sunday.)

Big Bruisers With Hearts of Iron Feed Half Their Meal to Some Pup

By DOUG HOW

(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Halifax, June 30 (CP)—It's time somebody had something to say about dogs and the war effort.

Take old Citadel Hill for instance. The Grenadier Guards, from Montreal in particular and anywhere from Dawson City to Newfoundland or Texas in general, are on guard there.

They have a regular staff of dogs. It fluctuates from six or eight up, depending on the whimsies of the commander or the new travelling along the canine grapevine.

Generally though, there are few volunteers more loyal than these.

26 MEN, 3 WOMEN ARE HELD IN U.S., SPYING CHARGED

G-Men Shadowing Suspects for Two Years, Lead Them into 'Fly-Trap'

22 ARE GERMANS

New York, June 30 (AP)—Seven of the 26 persons arrested in the government's big week-end spy sweep pleaded guilty today to espionage against the United States. Innocent pleas were made by 19 others, including two technicians charged with having been associated closely with the manufacture of secret bombsights for the U.S. army.

Twenty-five of the suspects were arraigned in Brooklyn federal court and were held for trial July 7 under bail totalling $435,000.

Two suspects who pleaded innocent were Hans Max Lemm, 40, German born draughtsman who was said to have worked since 1934 as a factory inspector of the Norden bombsight, and Everett Minster Roeder, 47, New York City native who reportedly reported to have been a draughtsman since 1937 at the Sperry Gyroscope plant in Brooklyn where the Norden bombsights are made.

New York, June 30 (AP)—Among the 26 persons arrested in the United States government's spectacular week-end roundup of suspected spies, it was learned authoritatively today, were two technicians described as having been 10 years closely associated with the manufacture of secret bombsights for the U.S. army.

Government agents declined to comment directly but they showed clearly they were centering their investigation on these two men:

Herman Lang, 40, German-born draughtsman who was said to have worked since 1934 as a factory inspector of the Norden bombsight.

Everett Minster Roeder, 47, New York City native, reliably reported to have been a draughtsman since 1937 at the Sperry Gyroscope plant in Brooklyn where the famed Sperry bombsight is made.

Agents Board Liner

Meanwhile, eight federal agents boarded the Moore-McCormack liner Brazil when it arrived off Sandy Hook this morning and removed a 50-year-old bedroom steward, described as a naturalized Greek citizen of German birth.

The steward refused to say whether there was any connection between his name and the roundup of spy suspects.

Lang and Roeder were among the group of 26 persons and others arrested in a swift climax to a two-year investigation of espionage.

Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation and Treasury Agent Edgar Hoover seized 34 in homes and taverns in four States. Five others were taken into custody on other charges.

Reputed head of the group, which included 22 natives of Germany, who were arrested, was Frederick Clinton Stables Commissioner in Brooklyn of the Nazi Bund, specific charge of planning to engage in espionage activities in the United States.

Shadowed for 2 Years

Hoover said the G-Men shadowed the suspects for two years and finally "led them into a fly-trap."

Warrants charged the prisoners with transmitting information to foreign nations concerning secrets on British-bound ships, new devices being made in factories, etc.

IAN PADEREWSKI, FAMOUS PIANIST, DIES IN NEW YORK

First President of the Republic of Poland, Succumbs to Pneumonia

A GREAT STATESMAN

New York, June 30 (CP)—Ignace Jan Paderewski, world-famous pianist and first President of the Republic of Poland, died in hotel suite tonight.

One of the greatest musicians of all time, the white-haired patriot was stricken with a cold last week and pneumonia developed a few days ago. Beside the deathbed were his sister, Mme. Antonina Wilkomirska, his doctor, and his aide, Sylvian Starackacz.

Although suffering from the cold, he ignored his doctor's orders last week and made one of his many recent public appearances to help raise funds for relief of his countrymen. He was placed in an oxygen tent yesterday and succumbed shortly before last midnight.

The man who was to rank with Liszt and Rubinstein as the three supreme masters of the keyboard was born Nov. 6, 1860, in the tiny village of Kurilowka in Russian Poland, and was the only child. He old before tragedy began plaguing his as it did most of his life.

Cossacks ravaged the town and put his father into detention camp.

At six, Paderewski took his first piano lessons from a wandering fiddler, at 13 he won his first recital and at 16 made his first concert tour. At 26, when he was beginning to win acclaim, his bride of less than a year died.

ORGANIZATION TO HANDLE REFUGEE INTERNEES

Ottawa, June 30 (CP)—Creation of a new organization to handle refugee interns in Canada separate from the interment operations branch which will continue responsibility for combatant prisoners of war and other civilian internees was announced today by Hon. Pierre Casgrain, Secretary of State.

A statement from Mr. Casgrain said the organization, under the civilian prisoners brought to Canada from Great Britain for confinement and dedicated refugee internees have now been returned to Great Britain. Additional accommodation can be accommodated in four or five camps.

MACKENZIE CONFERS ON AIR RAID PRECAUTION PROBLEMS IN BRITAIN

London, June 30 (CP Cable)—Hon. Ian Mackenzie, Canadian Minister of Pensions and National Health, today conferred with Herbert Morrison, Minister of Home Security, on air raid precaution problems. It was the first of a series of conferences Mr. Mackenzie will have with members of Brittish bombers started fires on the Bengasi, Libya, waterfront and bombed the Libyan port of Derna and Gazala near the command post said one R.A.F. raider was missing.

Palmyra Encircled

Cairo, June 30 (AP)—The British Middle East Command announced today that Allied forces have completed the encirclement of Palmyra, Vichy's stronghold in the Syrian desert.

"In the Damascus and coastal sectors," the communique said, "further advances have been made. In the central sector, the situation remains unchanged."

British Pilots Flying U. S.-Built Fighters Destroy 5 Vichy Planes

Cairo, June 30 (AP)—British pilots flying United States-built fighters destroyed five Vichy planes in Syria yesterday, Royal Air Force Middle East Command announced today.

Other aircraft, described by the communique as large and unidentified, also were said to have been damaged in R.A.F. sweeps over Syria.

At Palmyra, it said, barracks and warehouses were heavily raided, at Aleppo runways and grounded planes were bombed and at Rayak Ez-Zor machine-gun fire damaged five French planes.

200 Persons of Russian Services Held for Questioning Says Vichy Report

Vichy, France, June 30—(AP)—The Petain government asserted today that 200 persons arrested in Syria it was learned that at least 200 persons accredited to Russian diplomatic and consular services have been held for questioning.

Russian men and women who were held were concentrated in the internment camp at Rayak, the report said, and the Russian consulate-general in Beirut, Lebanon, was sealed off.

The break followed week-end negotiations between Marshal Petain and Soviet ambassador A. Z. Bogomolov.

Privy Council Reserves Judgment In School Tax Case

London, June 30 (CP Cable) — The Judicial Committee of the Privy Council reserved judgment in the appeal of the Board of Education for City of Windsor, Ont., from a decision of the Ontario Court of Canada in the tax dispute.

The case concerns the amount of taxes paid by the Ford Motor Company of Canada Limited and other companies to the Windsor Roman Catholic Separate Schools.

The case is concerned with interpretation of the Ontario Separate Schools Act of 1937, which provided for corporate assessments in favor of Separate Schools, instead of Public Schools, the distribution of the amount of stock held by Roman Catholics.

The Ford Motor company sought to have 18 per cent of its assessments in Windsor raised for Separate School purposes. This figure was challenged by the Windsor Board of Education. The arguments on the issue aroused much interest as the question of whether anyone knew what amount of shares was held by Catholics and Protestants in a company official had testified the Ford Motor company knew from the shareholders as to their religious faith.

Mast Twice Struck by Lightning — Upper Works of Ship Are Damaged

Kingston, Ont., June 30—(CP)—The Canada Steamships Lines passenger steamer Huronic undergoing repairs in drydock here following her release from a St. Lawrence River channel tie-up, was stranded June 17 and a run to port here in a heavy electrical storm.

The Kingston was released from the shoal Saturday and three hours later while proceeding to port under her own power, her foremast was struck by lightning. A second stroke of lightning struck and destroyed it, and also struck the upper works of the tug Salvage Prince which was standing by. No one on either ship was injured.

'URGENCY IN ALL OUR WATCHWORD' BEAVERBROOK

No Need for Panic or Misgiving About Results if Maximum Effort Made

SPEED IS NECESSITY

Ottawa, June 30 —(CP)— Lord Beaverbrook in a trans-Atlantic conversation today with Gladstone Murray, General Manager of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation said "urgency in everything is our watchword."

Newly appointed by Prime Minister Churchill as Minister of Supply, Lord Beaverbrook gave the following message to North America:

"Urgency in everything is our present watchword. Speed in production is the first requirement of the hour. There is no need for panic or any misgiving about the result provided we put forth the maximum effort unceasingly."

94,000 VISIT MILITARY CAMPS

Army Day is So Successful Further Public Visits Will be Arranged

Ottawa, June 30 (CP)—Encouraged by the success of Army Day on Saturday, when about 94,000 persons visited camps and barracks to see soldiers at work, national defence headquarters said today that further public visits, under carefully-controlled arrangements, will be arranged.

Maj.-Gen. B. W. Browne, Adjutant-General, in general supervision of the public interest in army activities, and said the visits had developed a keener interest in the men upon whose self-sacrifice and loyal help freedom is to prevail.

"The men of the Canadian army were proud to be hosts to the public for a day," he said. "The public, I know, is proud of the men in their army. There is room in these exclusive ranks for more red-blooded Canadians."

MARYNIAK SENTENCE COMMUTED TO LIFE

Ottawa, June 30 (CP)—The death sentence imposed on John Maryniak at Montreal has been commuted to life imprisonment, it was announced by the remissions branch of the Secretary of State's Department today. He was to have been hanged today.

Maryniak was found guilty of the murder of Mrs. Magdalena Lapchuk and Mrs. Anna Kuzmick clubbed through the chest at her home in Montreal's east end Dec. 15.

Member of U.S. Marine Corps Unofficially Reported As Missing

Washington, June 30 (AP)—While withholding official confirmation of the sinking, Sumner Welles, Acting Secretary of State, said today American Red Cross nurses were on board a ship reported to Great Britain by a United States Atlantic with the possible loss of several dozen marine.

Asked at a press conference about an unconfirmed report that the ship, carrying 10 United States marines, was torpedoed, Mr. Welles said he had been in touch with the Navy Department about the report but he did not believe the Navy was in a position yet to make an official statement.

Welles did not mention how many marines might have been aboard the ship.

The marines were on a Netherlands ship now in British service, which was torpedoed some-

German Shipping, Bremen, Oldenburg Heavily Attacked

Daylight Sweep of R.A.F. One of the Heaviest of War—Island Base off Holland Raided

PATROL SHIP BOMBED

London, June 30 (CP)—Royal Air Force bombers roared into a daylight offensive today against the northwest German cities of Bremen and Oldenburg, the Air Ministry announced, and battered at German shipping and a German island base off Holland.

Two German ships of 6,000 and 3,000 tons, were set afire and believed to have been sunk from a Nazi convoy off the Netherlands coast, the British radio station on the Nazi-controlled Netherlands island of Vlieland also were attacked and, southwest of the island, a patrol ship was reported "bombed and destroyed."

One German fighter plane was downed, the Ministry said, while the raiders escaped unscathed.

The bombers slithered clouds over northwest Germany, it was stated authoritatively, to screen the attack in the heaviest raids last night Hamburg and Bremen.

First Since June 2nd

The morning raid was the first daylight attack against the German mainland since June 2, when the RAF Coastal was bombed, and one of the few daylight penetrations of Germany since November, when similar attacks were made against Cologne, Hamburg, Salzbergen and other cities.

"It is a round trip flight of 600 miles from the British East Coast to Bremen, 500 between that and the Oldenburg. The direct course is over German fortifications in the occupied Netherlands. Farther north, there is the German base at Helgoland.)

The heavy bombing of Hamburg and Bremen last night was declared to have been terrific.

London, June 30 (CP)—Air raid siren alerts were started and guns in damage done to shipbuilding yards and industrial districts in both cities.

Bomber crews reported being able to see clearly the effects of heavy bomb hits on buildings and docks, the Air Ministry said today. Also bombed were Bremerhaven and Emden, and docks at Den Helder in the Netherlands.

Eleven British planes were lost during these operations.

The R.A.F. resumed its offensive after bad weather had forced a halt Saturday night after 17 consecutive nights of attacks on Germany and Nazi-held territory.

30 Nazi Merchantmen Will Try to Run British Blockade

Shanghai, June 30—(AP)—The ten German merchantmen in oriental ports have begun loading war supplies in preparation for sailing halfway around the world in an attempted dash through the British blockade, maritime quarters reported today.

Chinese seamen in recent days have been recruited in Shanghai and sent to Kobe as crewmen for the vessels, most of whose original crews went to Germany many months ago, leaving behind skeleton staffs of officers and engineers.

Most of the German ships in the far East at present are anchored in Kobe, five others are known to be in or near ports of Japan or Manchukuo.

Maritime quarters said it was believed the German vessels would endeavor to ship arms South America, and then proceed toward Germany or the Mediterranean.

Musician's Heart Placed in Cathedral

New York, June 30 —(AP)— In keeping with an old Polish tradition requiring the heart of a great artist to be separated from the body after death, the heart of Ignace Padewski will be removed here and ultimately placed somewhere in Poland other than the place of the body's entombment.

Eventual disposition of the body in Poland will depend upon the Polish government now ruling in exile, friends of the great musician said, but the heart, they said, probably will be kept in the cathedral at Warsaw where Chopin's heart was placed.

Tentative funeral arrangements call for services at St. Patrick's cathedral here on Thursday.

Increased Production Of Merchant Tonnage Imperative—Admiralty

Sheerness, England, June 30 (CP Cable)—Increased production of merchant tonnage in Britain is imperative, A. V. Alexander, First Lord of the Admiralty, said in a speech yesterday.

Maximum effort also should be made to acquire the services of such tonnage as can be provided from the expanding program of the United States and other countries building ships, he said. The speed of repairs to shipping also must be increased.

"We require the greatest possible effort in increasing the volume and speeding up of delivery of ships, guns, tanks and planes," Mr. Alexander said.

"In regard to specific naval requirements, I asked for increased effort especially in relation to short-range anti-aircraft weapons and more airplanes for the fleet air arm."

2 NAZI SHIPS IN CONVOY SET AFIRE, SUNK BY RAF

German Attempts To Land Troops at Viipuri Repulsed

Repeated Finnish and Nazi Onsets on 600-Mile Finnish Front Beaten Back, Russians Claim

FIGURES LISTED

Moscow, June 30 (AP)—Now under attack in strategic sectors of the whole 2,000 mile front with Germany, the Red army reported today stubborn resistance by the invaders in the areas of Murmansk, Dvinsk, Minsk and Lwow, in the pulse of two accepted shortcuts drives toward Leningrad and serial enlargement of an armored force.

The last 24 hours brought a new extension of the active front through the German attack across the extreme thigh of the Soviet flight toward the Russian Arctic port of Murmansk and repeated assertions of Russia's Karelian Isthmus frontier with Finland, north of Leningrad.

The enemy—either or both German and Finnish troops—made repeated attacks yesterday to cross the Karelian Isthmus border but each time was thrown back by fierce counter-fire and counter-attacks, authentic front reports said in today's Russian communique.

In the Kalinahi (Kalinkhoni) sector, on Lake Ladoga at the eastern edge of the Isthmus, there were three attacks by two infantry battalions. When the last of these was rolled back, the communique said, 300 bodies lay in front.

On the eastern edge of the Isthmus, near Viipuri, the enemy attempted a new landing, but the Red army reported, the landing force was wiped out in dismantling.

Viipuri and Kalisalmi are both about 70 miles from Leningrad, Viipuri to the northwest and Kalisalmi northeast.

Sheri on Detail

The Russian report was short on detail of the battle for Murmansk, the Dvinsk-polotsk Baltic drive toward Riga or Leningrad, and fighting in the Polish-White Russian sector where Minsk and a foothold in old Russia are at stake and in the Lwow region of Poland where the Germans are pointed toward the Ukraine.

In the Minsk sector the German drive appeared to be the most direct to Moscow, still more than 400 miles away, and the Dvinsk sector of Latvia they were a third of the way to Leningrad, more than 300 miles from Dvinsk.

"During last night our troops continued stubborn fighting in the Murmansk, Dvinsk, Minsk and Lwow sectors," the communique said simply, "in other sectors of the front night passed quietly. Insignificant troop re-groupings and artillery duels took place."

15 Inch Railway Mounted

The action highlight of the communique was an account of 15 German tanks destroyed by bombers and Russian tanks after a reconnaissance group had cut off an armored unit at a railway junction, only as "X".

"Soviet bomber squadrons flew to meet the enemy," said the communique. "As a result of the battle."

German High Command Claims Capture of Lwow in Poland, 50 Miles Inside Soviet Poland

CLAIM LUCK TAKEN

Berlin, June 30 (AP)—The German High Command claimed in special announcements today that its forces have taken Lwow on the Polish-Soviet border and the Latvian port of Libau on the Baltic Sea.

The High Command bulletin claiming the capture of the Latvian town was preceded by another that a Soviet division near the Baltic coast had been encircled in a new German northward push into Lithuania and Latvia.

The map is a "narrow and tight" around the Red army forces on the Baltic front, D.N.B., German news and propaganda agency, claimed, that destruction of the Bolshevist units is certain.

Claims 42 Canoes Destroyed

The agency also claimed several hundred Russian tanks and 42 canoes destroyed in the capture of the German forces at Rawa Ruska, just inside Soviet-held Poland about 40 miles northwest of Lwow. The latter fortified city, also known as Lemberg, was the scene of fierce German-Russian fighting in the first Great War.

German occupation of Lwow for the second time in two years was announced by the High Command in a special bulletin.

This and the D.N.B. reports from the front were the only new information, however, there being no extraordinary delay in issuance of the daily communique.

Two years ago the Germans captured Lwow in the early days in the war against Poland which touched off the second Great War that considerable portion of the Polish army was forced to capitulate to the Reich.

The Germans then withdrew from the city and placed it in the Russian sphere when Poland was partitioned.

The 1941 capture of Lwow was reported from the Fuehrer's headquarters" today in this brief announcement:

"Lwow was taken today. The Reich's war flags has been flying from the city since 5:30 a.m. (10.30 P.M. E.D.T. Sunday.)

26 MEN, 3 WOMEN ARE HELD IN U.S., SPYING CHARGED

G-Men Shadowing Suspects for Two Years, Lead Them into 'Fly-Trap'

22 ARE GERMANS

New York, June 30 (AP)—Seven of the 26 persons arrested in the government's big week-end spy train pleaded guilty today to espionage against the United States. Innocency pleas were made by 19 others, including two technicians described as having been associated with Dr. Hermann Lang, alleged secret bombsights for the U.S. army.

Twenty-five of the suspects were arraigned before Lang, the German-born daughtsman who was said to have worked since 1934 as a factory inspector of the Norden bombsight, and Everett Minster Roeder, 47, New York city native reliably reported to have been a draughtsman since 1934 at the Sperry Gyroscope plant in Brooklyn where the Norden bombsights are made.

New York, June 30 (AP)—Among the 26 persons arrests in the United States government's spectacular week-end roundup of espionage suspects, it was announced tentatively today, were two technicians described as having been for years closely associated with the manufacture of secret bombsights for the U.S. army.

Government agents declined comment specifically but they showed clearly they were centring their attention on these two men:

Herman Lang, 40, German-born draughtsman who was said to have worked since 1934 as a factory inspector of the Norden bombsight, and Everett Minster Roeder, 47, New York city native reliably reported to have been a draughtsman since 1934 at the Sperry Gyroscope plant in Brooklyn where the famed Sperry bombsights are made.

Agents Board Liner

Meanwhile, eight federal agents boarded the Motorship Scanmail, Soviet Uruguay when it arrived at Pier 40 on the Hoek of Holland and removed a 50-year-old bedroom steward, described as a naturalized U. S. citizen of German birth.

The agents refused to say whether there was any connection between his seizure and the roundup of spy suspects.

Lang and Roeder were among the group of 26 men and three women arrested in a swift climax to a two-year investigation of espionage.

Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation led by Director J. Edgar Hoover swept into homes and taverns in four States. Five persons were arrested in Detroit on other charges.

Eighteen of the group, which included 22 natives of Germany, will be arraigned before a United States Commissioner in New York on the specific charge of conspiring to engage in espionage activities in the United States.

Held Incommunicado for 2 Years

Hoover said the G-Men shadowed the suspects for two years and finally "led them into a fly-trap."

Warrants charged espionage with transmitting information to foreign nations concerning cargoes on British ships and troop movements in United States naval.

Big Bruisers With Hearts of Iron Feed Half Their Meal to Some Pup

By DOUG HOW

(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Halifax, June 30 (CP)—It's time somebody had something to say about dogs and the war effort.

Take old Citadel Hill for instance. The Grenadier Guards, from Montreal in particular and anywhere from Dawson City to Newfoundland in Texas in general, are on guard there.

They have a regular staff of dogs. It fluctuates from six or eight up, depending on the whimsies of the regimental pet who's travelling along the canine grapevine.

Generally though, there are few volunteers more loyal than Oliver.

When the Guards left Valcartier Camp in Quebec, they brought along their own mascot, a collie, and left behind other assorted friends-behind. But they reckoned without one fellow.

He cleaned their trail until overtook them at Debert, Nova Scotia. (Continued on Page Three, Col. 4)

British Pilots Flying U. S.-Built Fighters Destroy 5 Vichy Planes

Cairo, June 30 (AP)—British pilots flying United States-built fighters destroyed five Vichy planes in Syria and the Royal Air Force Middle East Command announced today.

Other aircraft, described by the communique as large and unidentified, also were said to have been damaged in R.A.F. sweeps over Syria.

At Palmyra, it said, barracks and warehouses were heavily raided, at Aleppo runways and grounded planes were bombed and at Deir-Ez-Zor anti-aircraft fire damaged five French planes.

On the western desert front, British bombers started fires on the Benghazi, Libya, waterfront and bombed the Libyan port of Derna and Gazala airdrome. The communique said one R.A.F. raider was missing.

Palmyra Encircled

Cairo, June 30 (AP)—The British Middle East Command announced today that Allied forces have completed the encirclement of Palmyra, Vichy's stronghold in the Syrian desert.

"In the Damascus and coastal sectors," a communique said, "further advances have been made. In the central sector, the situation remains unchanged."

JAN PADEREWSKI, FAMOUS PIANIST, DIES IN NEW YORK

First President of the Republic of Poland, Succumbs to Pneumonia

A GREAT STATESMAN

New York, June 30 (CP)—Ignace Jan Paderewski, world-famous pianist and first President of the Republic of Poland, died in hotel suite last night.

One of the greatest musicians of all time, the 80-year-old patriot was stricken with a cold last week and pneumonia developed three days ago. Death came at the bedside of his sister, Mme. Antonina Wilkonska; his doctor, and his aide, Sylvian Starackzar.

Although suffering from the cold, he ignored his doctor's orders last week and made one of his many secret public appearances to help raise funds for relief of his countrymen. He was placed in his oxygen tent yesterday and succumbed shortly before last midnight.

The man who was to rank with Liszt and Rubinstein as the high supreme masters of the keyboard was born Nov. 6, 1860, in the tiny village of Kurilowka in Russian Poland, and was but three years old before tragedy began plaguing him as it did most of his life.

Cossacks ravaged his town and sent his father into Siberian exile. At six Paderewski took his first piano lessons from a wandering fiddler. At 12 he gave his first recital and at 16 made his first concert tour. At 25, when he was beginning to win acclaim, his bride of less than a year died.

200 Persons of Russian Services Held for Questioning Says Vichy Report

Vichy, France, June 30—(AP)—The Petain government severed relations with soviet Russia today and it was learned that at least 200 persons accredited to Russian diplomatic and consular services have been held for questioning.

Russian men and women who were held were concentrated in the stadium outside Vichy. For 24 hours before the decision, to break relations with Moscow, all roads leading to and from Vichy were heavily guarded.

The break followed week-end negotiations between Marshal Petain and Soviet ambassador A. E. Bogomolov.

Privy Council Reserves Judgment In School Tax Case

London, June 30 (CP Cable) The Judicial Committee of the Privy Council today gave judgments in the appeal of the Board of Education for the City of Windsor, Ont., from a decision of the Supreme Court of Canada in a tax case.

The case concerns the amount of taxes levied by the Ford Motor Company of Canada Limited and others to be applied to the support of Roman Catholic Separate Schools.

The case is concerned with interpretation of the Ontario Separate Schools Act of 1937, which provided for corporate assessments in favor of Separate Schools, instead of Public Schools, in proportion to the amount of taxes paid by Roman Catholics.

The Ford Motor Company sought to have 18 per cent of its assessments in Windsor rated for Separate School purposes. The figure was challenged by the Windsor Board of Education. The arguments in the lower courts revolved around the question of whether the directors knew what amount of shares was held by Roman Catholics when the company official had testified the concern "did not inquire from the shareholders as to their religious faith."

Mast Twice Struck by Lightning — Upper Works of Tug Are Also Struck

Kingston, Ont., June 30—(CP)—The Canada Steamship Lines passenger vessel Kingston is undergoing repairs in dry dock following her release from a St. Lawrence River shoal on which she stranded June 17 and a run to port here in a heavy electrical storm.

The Kingston was released from the shoal Saturday and three hours later while proceeding to port under her own power, her forward mast was struck by lightning, the second bolt hit the mast and deflected it, but the lightning did further works of the tug Salvage Prince which was escorting the Kingston after the latter had been released by the Canada Steamship Lines.

'URGENCY IN ALL OUR WATCHWORD' —BEAVERBROOK

No Need for Panic or Misgiving About Results if Maximum Effort Made

SPEED IS NECESSITY

Ottawa, June 30 —(CP)— Lord Beaverbrook in a trans-Atlantic conversation today with Gladstone Murray, General Manager of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation said "urgency in everything is our watchword."

Newly appointed by Prime Minister Mackenzie King as Minister of Supply, Lord Beaverbrook gave the following message to North America:

"Urgency in everything is our present watchword. Speed in production is now the supreme war necessity. I am confident that North America will respond in the spirit of urgency now abroad. There is no need for panic or any misgiving about the results provided we all put forth the maximum effort unceasingly."

94,000 VISIT MILITARY CAMPS

Army Day is So Successful Further Public Visits Will be Arranged

Ottawa, June 30 (CP)—Encouraged by the success of Army Day on Saturday, when about 94,000 persons visited camps and barracks to see soldiers at work, national defence headquarters said today that further public visits, under military control, would probably be arranged.

Maj.-Gen. B. W. Browne, Adjutant-General, expressed "appreciation of the public interest in military activities, and said the visits had developed a keener interest in the army as a whole. "I could wish," Canada must rely if freedom is to prevail.

"The men of the Canadian army were proud to be put to the public le for a day," he said. "The public, in turn, is proud of the men in their army. There is room in these inclusive ranks for more red-blooded Canadians."

MARYNIAK SENTENCE COMMUTED TO LIFE

Ottawa, June 30 (CP)—The death sentences imposed on John Maryniak at Montreal has been commuted to life imprisonment, it was announced by the Privy Council branch of the Secretary of State's Department today. He was to have been hanged July 4.

Maryniak is found guilty of the murder of Mrs. Magdalena Lapchuk, who was found stabbed to death in the kitchen of her home in Montreal's east end Dec. 15.

Member of U.S. Marine Corps Unofficially Reported As Missing

Washington, June 30 (AP)— While withholding official confirmation of the sinking, Sumner Welles, Acting Secretary of State, said today American Red Cross nurses were on board a ship reported to have been sunk in the Atlantic with the reported possible loss of a United States marine.

Asked at a press conference about an authoritative report that the ship, carrying 71 United States marines to London, was lost, Welles said he had seen no basis in fact with the Navy Department about the report but he did not believe the Navy was in a position yet to make an official statement.

Welles did not explain how many nurses might have been aboard the ship.

The marines were on a Neutrality Patrol vessel now in British service, which was torpedoed somewhere in the Atlantic, the officials said, but the ship's name as the Maaraden.

Lloyds' register of shipping does not list a Maaraden, but it does list British freighter Marsden, and a Rollands-Aarnoudse ship named Maasdam. It was thought here the name of one of these ships may have been garbled in transmission.

Should the Maasdam be the vessel learned, did not mention the other nine marines and did not to the presumption they had been rescued.

There was no immediate confirmation of the sinking at the Navy Department.

Announcement was made here Saturday that three officers and 100 enlisted men of the Marine Corps were being sent to London "to facilitate communications between the various United States offices located there."

German Shipping, Bremen, Oldenburg Heavily Attacked

Daylight Sweep of R.A.F. One of the Heaviest of War—Island Base off Holland Raided

PATROL SHIP BOMBED

London, June 30 (CP)—Royal Air Force bombers roared into a daylight offensive today against the northwest German cities of Bremen and Oldenburg, the Air Ministry announced, and battered at German shipping and a German island base off Holland.

Two German ships of 6,000 and 1,000 tons, were set afire and believed to have been sunk from a convoy off the island of Nordeney by R. A. F. squadrons.

The docks and radio station on the Nazi-controlled Netherlands island of Terschelling also were attacked, and southwest of the island, a patrol ship was reported "bombed and destroyed."

One German fighter plane was downed, the Ministry said, while the raiders escaped unscathed.

The bombers utilized clouds over northwest Germany as was stated authoritatively, to screen the attack as followed raids last night on Hamburg and Bremen.

First Since June 2nd

The morning raid was the first daylight attack against the German mainland since June 2, when the Kiel Canal was bombed, and one of the few daylight penetrations of Germany since November, when similar attacks were made against Cologne, Hamburg, Bremburg and other cities.

It is a record-high flight of 600 miles between the English Norfolk coast and Oldenburg, on the German coast and Oldenburg. The direct course is over German fortifications in the occupied Netherlands. Further north, there is the German base at Heligoland.

The aerial strafing of Hamburg and Bremen last night was declared to have been heavy.

London, June 30 (CP)—Air raid Large fires were started and great damage caused to shipbuilding yards and industrial districts in both cities.

Bomber crews reported being able to see clearly the effects of heavy bomb hits on buildings and shipyards, the Air Ministry said, both Hamburg and Bremen-Vegesack and Emden, and the docks at Den Helder in the Netherlands.

Eleven British bombers were lost during these operations.

The R.A.F. resumed its offensive after bad weather had forced halt Saturday night after 13 consecutive nights of raiding on Germany and Nazi-held territory.

MOTOR CAR KNOCKED FROM C. P. RAILWAY

When an automobile started on the C.P.R. tracks south of Smithfield on Sunday afternoon, the driver got out after seeing the situation decided to go after help to have the vehicle towed off the railway tracks. When the motorist returned to the scene, however, he found that a passing C.P.R. freight engine had removed the motor car from the tracks.

During the driver's absence the freight train had approached, but before the engineer could bring his train to a stop, after seeing the stalled motor car, the engine had struck the parked vehicle, rolling it into the ditch. Fortunately the train's speed had been considerably retarded and the impact was slight. The car was later towed to a Brighton garage, but authorities did not say whether the car or the motorist at little damage resulted.

TWO WATCHES STOLEN OVER THE WEEKEND

Two watches were stolen in Belleville over the week-end, one of which was recovered and returned to its owner.

Miss Donna Ellis, 1 West Moira St., complained to police that some person had entered her apartment and stolen a gold wrist watch. Later Detective Fred Just recovered the timepiece, which had been stolen by a 13-year-old harbour lad and sold for $1.50.

Mrs. Muriel Jamieson, 62 Canniflon Road, told police yesterday that some time between last night's home over the week-end and stolen her wrist watch valued at $22.50. This matter is still under investigation.

SIXTEEN PERMITS ISSUED IN JUNE

Sixteen building permits representing proposed new construction and alterations to present structures to the value of $19,550 were issued at the city hall during the month of June according to records kept by City Engineer Charles Meter.

Of the sixteen permits issued only four were for new residences while the balance represented alterations to apartments, construction of three new garages, kitchen additions and the erection of a warehouse and two new coal sheds.

While only eight permits were issued during the above month in June, the construction value represented amounted to only approximately $2,000 less than in the month just closing. During June last year permits totalled $16,600.

Seventy - six members of the Belleville groups of the Girl Guides left early for a ten-day summer vacation period at Hillcrest Camp in Prince Edward County. The party was composed of 54 in all, including Camp Commandant Mrs. MacLean Hale, Miss Jean Dickens, second in command and in charge of meals for the camp, and other officers.

SEEK WHEREABOUTS OF CARMINO PETERNO

Belleville police today were asked to ascertain the possible whereabouts of Carmino Paterno, formerly of St. Catharines and Brantford. Paterno is believed to have moved into the Belleville district some months ago, but police are unable to locate him. Any person knowing of this man's whereabouts are asked to communicate the same to the Belleville Police Department.

POLICE BEDECKED IN NEW UNIFORMS

Bedecked in their new open-neck coat tunics, the members of the Belleville police department appeared on duty for the first time Sunday in their new summer police attire. The constables presented a cooling aspect with the new uniforms and peaked caps, discarding the closed tunics and conventional high helmets for the summer months. It is the first time in the history of the Belleville Police Force, that any deviation from the conventional English style of police uniform has ever been attempted. The innovation came following a motion of the Belleville Police Commission ordering summer attire for the local police.

MAJOR REV. A. B. PAYNE ACTS AS CHAPLAIN

Major , the Rev. A. Beauchamp Payne rector of St. Thomas Church, and chaplain of the Argyll Light Infantry (Tank) R. P. left today for Connaught Camp, Ottawa, where he will join his unit, which entrained here yesterday for the Ottawa Training Centre. Major Payne will remain in the military camp for the next three weeks.

During his absence, The Rev. G. O. Wright, rector of Christ Church, will officiate at the St. Thomas services. Upon Major Payne's return from a month's vacation, he will assume the duties of both churches, while Rev. Mr. Wright is absent on vacation.

CANNING SEASON FOR PEAS OPENED

With the first of the season's pea crop brought to canning factories this week, the canning season is expected to be in full operation by today.

Canning factory officials and field men stated they expected the crop to be a big one, coming in the early varieties, but recent heavy rains are expected to have a beneficial effect insofar as yield goes in later harvests. Pea pods in the early varieties are not filled out and quality is below the average.

POLICE BLOTTER

Officers of the Provincial Motorcycle Patrol carried out a dangerous mission over the week-end when a large ten-ton truck filled with high military explosives was escorted the entire distance from Montreal to Hamilton. Through the Belleville district the dangerous load was escorted by a detachment of Motorcycle Police under Sergeant Sid Hunter. The load was parked on the Market Square in Belleville, while the drivers partook of breakfast on Sunday.

"Those truck drivers were most efficient. I noticed their actions while driving over railway crossings, that they were being careful in the low gears and at the lowest possible speed," reported Sergeant Hunter after the convoy had been delivered safely out of the Belleville area.

Two Bikes Stolen

Two bicycles were reported stolen in Belleville over the week-end. Constables Palmer, 16 Ridley St., had his bike stolen at the Fair Grounds while duty on Monday. The bicycle, left his bicycle parked at the upper end of Front St. Saturday and returned to find it missing.

Airdrie Reported

A window-peeping Tom was seen loitering around 216 Charles St. late Sunday night. The action of the man, who was seen looking in to the windows of a cottage by a neighbour, were reported to police, who hastened to the scene, but the culprit could not be found.

Car Robbery Reported

Peterborough police reported the robbery of a large amount of cash taken from a department store in that city sometime Saturday night. Belleville police were told that the robbers were travelling in three private owned automobiles.

Despite the intense heat that prevailed over the week-end, transients still preferred to slumber in the security of the confines of the police station, rather than sleep beneath the canopy of heaven. Three were given shelter at the police station.

Following a two week vacation, Sergeant Arthur Booth returned to his post as night sergeant last evening.

Corbyville Angler Lands 35-Pound 'Lunge' Below Dam

The maskinonge laddies of the city and district lost no time in chasing their favorite fish after the season officially opened on Saturday. And the finny boys likewise lost no time in accommodating at least one fisherman.

Ken Sharpe, who chose the water in the dam below the powerhouse at Corbyville as a likely place for a lurking musky, had his reward.

Placing a common or garden humble worm on the hook, he flipped his line into the water, and it wasn't long before things began to happen. Came a flurry of foam, and a handsome thirty-five pounder thrashed his way in and about the water.

Sharpe battled the big fellow for some time, and had managed to get it in about three inches of water near the shore, when near-disaster happened. The line snapped, and it looked like a case of fisherman's labor lost. But the thing had gone too far for any such disappointment and Sharpe leaped into the water, grabbed the flopping fish and hurried to shore and safety.

The fish measured 44 inches in length and 20 inches in girth.

NEW RAID SHELTER

Natives who have been drilled to obey the alarm service, stream into this unusual air-raid shelter constructed in Belleville in the Dufferin East Indies. Most shelters are built underground, or close to the ground. Those are stacks up into the air like a giant shell. Details of its construction are not given.

Month Of June Close To Record

June, 1941 doffs its hat to its predecessor of a year ago insofar as hot weather is concerned. According to statistics released today by members of the Belleville Purification Plant, June of this year had a maximum high temperature of 92.2 degrees as compared to 85.5 a year ago.

Minimums were 41.8 and 42.5 respectively.

Rainfall in June, 1940 was 1.15 inches against 3.41 inches in June a year ago.

Miss Jean Gunn, Nursing Supt., Dies in Toronto

Native of Belleville Was Foremost Authority on Nursing and Welfare

DECORATED BY KING

Miss Jean Isabel Gunn, LL.D., C.B.E., R.R.C., daughter of Mrs. Ellen E. (Coonan) Gunn, and the late Donald Gunn, of Belleville, died in the Private Patients' Pavilion at the Toronto General Hospital on Saturday, June 28th. She was in ill health since the first of this year.

The late Miss Gunn held over a long period of time the responsible position of Superintendent of Nurses at the Toronto General Hospital and during her career she made contributions of worth to the nursing profession and public welfare and received international recognition for her outstanding ability. Although Miss Gunn had not resided in this city for many years she usually spent some time each summer at her mother's cottage on the shores of the Bay of Quinte. Her mother, who survives her, makes her home during the Winter in Toronto. To old friends in Belleville and Hillcrest Township the death of Miss Gunn will bring sincere regret.

The Gunn was the holder of numerous decorations and awards, including the C.B.E. of the British Empire conferred on her in 1935 by His Late Majesty King George the Fifth, Miss Gunn was one of the foremost authorities in nursing and welfare. For twenty-seven years she directed the activities of the nursing service and the School for Nurses at Toronto General Hospital and her success in these fields was of so high an order that honors were showered upon her.

Despite serious illness, Miss Gunn took a leading part in organizing the wide resources of the Canadian Red Cross for service. Recently her has been attributed the major credit for the establishing and the committees of leading citizens and nurses which worked in close cooperation with military medical authorities in designing and planning the supplies provided by the Red Cross.

Born in Belleville

Miss Gunn was a proud legend in the nursing and public welfare fields. Her outstanding abilities were developed to work where they found full expressions, and she made many discoveries. Born in Belleville, the daughter of Donald and Ellen E. Gunn, she was her desire even in early years to enter the nursing profession. She graduated in 1905 from the Presbyterian Hospital of New York City and in the five years her activities continued in that institution, followed by two years of further study and clinical work. Then came two years as Superintendent of Nurses at the Montreal General Hospital at Morristown, New Jersey.

From Morristown, Miss Gunn went directly to Toronto to become Superintendent of Nurses at Toronto General. From the beginning she demonstrated those qualities of heart and mind which made her so vital a part in a great hospital organization. Her ability and integrity, translated into action, brought high ideals to her students. Entrance policies and exacting professional standards were woven into a character dignified and sympathetic and marked with the human touch and quiet humour that made for a personal response to nursing discipline. Clarity of judgment and a gift for organization and executive duties, were also among the qualities manifested in notable improvements to the profession.

Won Many Honors

Miss Gunn was honored by the Canadian recognized by the Government of France and was the recipient of the Florence Nightingale Medal, the highest degree to which she can aspire. She was also honored by the French Government when it made her a Chevalier of the Legion of Honor. Other honors were conferred by her own Government. She represented her "outstanding contribution to the general public welfare" with a medal. In the same year the International Red Cross Committee of Geneva presented her with the coveted honor of the Florence Nightingale Medal, awarded for outstanding contributions to the welfare of mankind.

In September, 1938, the Alumnae Association of Toronto General Hospital tendered Miss Gunn a dinner in recognition of her twenty years association with the hospital. On that occasion congratulatory messages were received from every Province in Canada and from practically every State in the United States, and from the south, and several points in the British Empire. There were held by groups of graduates who were unable to be present, yet wished to honor their former instructor.

Miss Gunn received many honors during her lifetime. Among them were: Honorary Canadian Nurses' Association; vice-president International Council of Nurses. Advisor in Nursing the Canadian Red Cross Society; member of the board of the Florence Nightingale Foundation and representative of the International Council and of the Order of Red Cross Societies. She was one of the Commissioners for the Post-Graduate Nursing Course, of London, England.

Tribute Paid

In Toronto, Miss Gunn's death has created much regret and tributes as follows were paid by prominent people:

"Miss Gunn was a noble character and a great leader." — Lieut.-Governor J. C. Derby, Toronto General Hospital. "I have will be forever linked with this institution; created, as her life was dedicated, to the service of the sick and suffering. Miss Gunn's great gifts, and her devotion to the profession she loved, has been, and will continue to be, an influence for progress and efficiency in the science of nursing in all lands."

Similar tribute was voiced by Miss Helen G. R. Lockie, Assistant Superintendent of Nurses at the Hospital.

Surviving are three brothers and four sisters, John S., of Belleville; George E., of Stouffville, and Donald A., of Belleville; Mrs. D. M. Sinclair, of Seattle; Mrs. John L. Armstrong of New York City; Mrs. John Gunn and Mrs. G. H. Wills, both of Toronto.

The body will lie in state at the chapel of A. W. Miles, 30 St. Clair Avenue West, until 12 noon, Tuesday. The funeral service will be held at three p.m. Tuesday at St. Andrew's United Church, with Rev. Dr. J. R. P. Sclater officiating. Interment Dr. H. J. Cody of Dulwich Presbytery, will read the Scripture lesson. The final service and burial will take place in Belleville Wednesday.

Local Reserve Force Entrains For Ottawa

Troop trains roared through the city yesterday as reserve force units of the district sped to the various training centres in the Eastern part of the province.

Entraining shortly after 2 P.M. the Argyll Light Infantry (Trash) Regiment, 200 strong, moved to the station by trucks. The unit was under the command of Lieutenant-Colonel Ross Hubbard, with the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment Band in attendance strong, commanded by Lieut.-Colonel Bert Ketcheson.

Both units will train for the next two weeks at Connaught Camp, Ottawa. The units were under the command of Lieutenants Ernest Alford and Mowat respectively, second in command of the units. The commanding officer left a few days ago with the advance parties.

CITY SCHOOLCHILDREN DONATE $1,000 TO WAR SAVINGS STAMPS

Schoolchildren of the city have contributed in no small extent during the past year to the nation's war effort. According to figures released today by Wilbert L. Christie, Chairman, Schoolchildren's Committee, Education War Savings Committee, the four city public schools and St. Michael's Separate School, purchased and sold War Savings Stamps amounting to $1,000 during the year the last school year.

While the majority of the stamps were purchased during War Savings Campaign held earlier in the year, the children have sought and purchased the stamps with contributions from officials of the committee in charge expressed themselves as they are well pleased with the results thus far.

BRIGADE ANSWERS ONLY TWO ALARMS

Only two fire alarms, both attended out of minor causes, were answered by the Belleville Fire Department during the past week. Shortly after the noon hour on Saturday the brigade was summoned to Enquin Grill on Front Street where the wiring of the electric fan sign above the entrance was causing trouble. Damage was restricted to the insulation, however.

The second run occurred shortly before midnight on Saturday when a grass fire broke out at Coleman Plats, the trouble being remedied in short order by the brigade.

QUIET WEEKEND IN POLICE CIRCLES

"It must have been a rather quiet week-end," Magistrate Masson and Crown Attorney S. Gordon Mackenzie were reviewed the cases listed for trial before Magistrate K. J. Butler in city police court on Monday.

"Maybe it was too hot for them," remarked Police Chief Kidd as only three cases of intoxication and one of vagrancy were disposed of, with the minimum fines being imposed and paid in each case.

Mr. Robertson will be in charge of the campaign throughout the county for the next three weeks with Lieut.-Col. R. C. Carman of the attending military camp of the Canadian Legion Services Overseas as Commanding Officer of the Second Battalion of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment.

MONTHLY MEETING OF H.N.S. HELD

The final meeting of the Holy Name Society for the month of June was held in St. Michael's Academy on Sunday afternoon, June 22nd, when a short business meeting was opened by prayer by Monsignor Nicholson, who briefly spoke to the members for their interest after the reading of the minutes by the secretary. The meeting granted a donation to the Catholic Church Extension for the graduation exercises to be held in the fall. Arrangements were also made for an appointment of a chairman of entertainment as well as for improvements on the encampment of the Communion breakfast to be held in the fall. The President in a brief address thanked the members for their interest and support and then closed the meeting by prayer.

Go To Church Parade.

The Guards went on a church parade a Sunday or so ago and the dogs went along. Eight of them filed into church, curled up and waited until the troops were ready to go home.

In the other afternoon, the entire outfit was out on the parade grounds for an inspection. The critics were flying thick and fast but nobody could hear them. The dogs were the only ones who were not suffering, yowling and seeking out their special friends among the crowd.

The chief officer settled the issue by ordering that these animals be cooped up in barracks until the ceremony was over.

Soldiers and dogs get to be great friends.

A husky Grenadier sergeant chuckled this verification of that point:

"It's a funny sight to see some big bruiser who professes to have a heart of iron passing out half his dinner to some ex-scout pup. After a while, these hounds get so attached to the boys around the lines during but an army uniform just doesn't rate."

TELLS HOW HITLER ROSE TO POWER IN GERMAN REICH

Swedish Pastor, Bertil Forsgren, Blames Failure of Christians in Germany for Hitler's Rise

NO UNITED FRONT

Asserting that the failure of Christians in Germany was responsible for bringing Hitler into power, Pastor Bertil Forsgren, of Stockholm, Sweden, spoke before a large congregation at the City Hall on Sunday evening. Pastor Forsgren is in Belleville under the auspices of Bethel Temple, whose pastor, E. N. O. Kulbeck, has brought him to this city to conduct a series of religious meetings.

The German Christians, he said, had nothing to do with politics or the life of the state of the government. Germany was in a terrible state, coming very close to Hitler on the scene that it was ready to make a change and as the way was paved for Hitler.

There were three causes, the low moral conditions in Germany, corrupt democracy with a corrupt government and Germany and a falling Christianity.

EXPELLED BY GESTAPO

Pastor Bertil Forsgren, formerly of Stockholm, Sweden, and a pastor of a congregation in Germany, before and after Hitler's coming, is in this city addressing a series of meetings in Bethel Temple. He said the failure of Christians in Germany was responsible for the rise of Hitler.

Opportunists

In 1931 the Germans were opportunists. It is said there were eleven million communists ready to hurl Hitler into the power. When he came most of them put on the brown uniform of the Nazis. There were nothing less than opportunists under the banner of the Nazis, the Swastika.

In those days the church was really the only force that could have prevented Hitler or the Nazis and the only body that could have expelled him.

The German people was in Hamburg at the time of Hitler's arrival on the German scene. A conference party had been attacking the German church and its leaders and telling the people that the church had left the people stone instead of bread.

United Front Needed

The trouble was that the church did not present a united front against Hitler. If it had done so this should show the heavy resistance that this time and the people would have had from a Lutheran, a state church minister. Next month Hitler had come to power. Then not all men were commanded to salute the Swastika and say Heil Hitler.

The pastor told of the coercion exercised by Nazis against individuals by threat of lost jobs. So there were many that did not want to go to the church or salute the Nazi Swastika. When it came to the test it looked as if Hitler would lose. But two days before the vote the Reichstag building was set afire. The Nazis said the communists had done it but "everyone knows who did it."

The Nazis issued posters calling on the German people to vote against Communism and saying that the only hope was in Hitler and the National Socialist party. Millions of good people voted for Hitler. He had fifty-one per cent of the vote in 1933. That one per cent made the difference. And in 1934 Hitler were God-fearing Christians. No one had any power to resist Hitler up to then, they laughed at him, but after the election in 1933 that stopped.

The Pastor Told

Speaking of the needs of today he said, "We have to sacrifice and sacrifice everything necessary to win this war. God helps us to realize the menace that Hitler means.

Last night's collection, $21.26 was taken during the Red Cross relief of British War Victims' Fund.

Pastor Forsgren is a composer of of hymns and has a fine singing voice. He is gifted with eloquence in his utterances and last evening he gave a fine address.

Pastor E. N. O. Kulbeck conducted the devotional service in which fashionable gospel hymns were sung. He welcomed Pastor Forsgren to Belleville.

Reference was made to the purpose of Dedication Sunday which was being celebrated and Pastor Forsgren left no doubt as to Bethel their lives to the cause of liberty and righteousness.

The succeeding meetings Pastor Forsgren will speak on various interesting subjects arising out of the great world crisis.

Experience In Germany.

Mr. Forsgren is in Canada on a preaching and lecture tour through special permission of the Canadian Government. His meetings are patronized as religious.

Mr. Forsgren's church in Hamburg is the free church from 22 members to more than 2,000. But not without trouble during the last few years when the were in power. For over two years Gestapo agents attended each service, and invariably, every week he was called to the Gestapo headquarters to explain the meaning of his sermons. He was sentenced to prison, or ordered the life of a fine of 150 marks for praying for the sick. He was forbidden to preach anywhere.

He was saved from the concentration camp by the intervention of the Swedish Consul because he was a Swedish subject. He was escorted to the border and given his passport which he treats as his greatest treasure. He left Germany in 1937.

But his parishioners had no such means of escape from Germany. Many were sent to the concentration camps. Others were released only on the declaration that they were not Christians, receiving loss of food and "no spank" as Mr. Forsgren called it. But only the flock, who was released, could hardly be recognized by his acquaintances after his confinement received.

Since the expulsion from Germany, he has preached in Denmark, Sweden, Finland, Russia, the United States and now in Canada. He speaks in Belleville tonight. Though a citizen of Sweden, he is living in Paris, stating "a British victory does not only mean a victory for the democratic nations but also the whole Christian and civilized world, including millions who are suffering under the Nazi iron heel in Germany and the lands it has conquered countries." Prior to entering the ministry he was a cavalry officer in the Swedish army.

Rotary Karnival Victoria Park July 4th to 9th

Victoria Park will be the mecca for thousands of residents of the city and district for five days commencing Friday, July 4th, and throughout until the 9th. Sunday excepted, the Belleville Rotary Club will sponsor a mammoth Karnival in Victoria Park.

The event will be one of the most colorful of its kind ever staged in the city, and foresighted citizens have acted wisely in selecting the dates for the Karnival as the cool breezes as the locale for its entertainment.

There will be games and fun galore, with McGillicuddy Mary Makers in charge of the city and district will be the British Victims' Fund. Two hundred youngsters of varying ages have been selected to participate in the amusement and entertainment for the five days, and parents with the family and your friends in the cool atmosphere of the park and help a worthy cause.

Butter Prices Steady— Better Grade Eggs Up

Toronto—Top-grade egg prices advanced 1-2 cents a dozen in quiet trading on the Toronto produce and market Saturday. Butter held firm.

Having pulled out of their weekend slump, prices of the more quality eggs continued on the upward trend Monday. Prices at A-large and A-medium stood at 27 and 26 cents, respectively Monday, at the close of the quiet session. Fresh receipts were light and a good demand existed.

The butter market held steady, with fresh supplies in good volume. Offerings were not heavy, but ample to meet the moderate demand.

Montreal Produce

Montreal, June 30 (CP)— Produce market prices here Saturday, as reported by the Dominion Department of Agriculture:

Dressed poultry, jobbing price 32c.

AFTER 74 YEARS

Seventy-four years ago the Dominion of Canada came into being with a union of provinces.

Confederation was born of the wisdom of the leaders of the sixties who saw that the course of the British Colonies should be towards union. Canada at that time possessed men who worked together and created the Dominion of Canada. Four provinces first formed Confederation, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Upper and Lower Canada. British Columbia and Prince Edward Island followed. The British Colony of Newfoundland stayed outside the union. The vast territory of the Hudson's Bay Company was purchased by the Dominion in 1869 and this North-west Territory has become Alberta and Saskatchewan.

Confederation gave a large view. It was an expression of the sense of nationhood. The trend of events since that day of nearly three quarters of a century ago has justified this act. In a very true sense there is in this country a national sense responsible. This country passed through the Great War and her sons wrote their name, for students of history to read, in acts of valor whose memory will never fade. Again in this present day Canada holds a key position in the Commonwealth, the closest of the Dominions to Britain in point of distance, something of the greatest importance in these days of co-operation in the Imperial sense.

Canada is on the line between the old world of Europe and the Orient. South of her she has a sympathetic people in the United States, whose origins stem from Britain, far across the Pacific to the southwest lie the sister Dominions of New Zealand and Australia and northeast of them British India and the great British Africa.

Seventy-four years after Confederation Canada is a united nation in spite of her vast extent from ocean to ocean and from the Forty-Ninth parallel to the Arctic Ocean. While her population is not large her people have exerted a potent influence upon the world. To the spirit of the people of Canada who gave Confederation and to the spirit of the early pioneers is owing this nation's progress.

On Dominion Day 1941 Canada stands among the democracies battling the modern resurgence of oldtime autocracy and tyranny of Germany. Herself the product of liberty and fighting in the cause of freedom for others, Canada plays her part ably.

This Dominion has the noblest heritage, a lover of freedom she is an example of goodwill to the world.

Particularly situated by nature and fostered by the kindly mother of liberty, Great Britain, Canada has had an opportunity of developing a race with a precious heritage and a growing future. The Canadian people glow with pride at their association with England, Ireland, Scotland and Wales and with Old France which sent to this country those intrepid pioneers who built the province of Quebec and there keep the happiest relations with the English-speaking people. History has been kind to the Dominion's people, they have had their trials and problems but with a natural political wisdom her people have charted their course under the inspiration of the purest democratic ideals.

THE VICTORY TORCH

Canada's Victory Torch is now in Britain and on Dominion Day is to be placed in the hands of the British Prime Minister, Winston Churchill. On the one-day trip across the ocean in a bomber it was in charge of the Hon Ian Mackenzie.

Now on British soil and passing into the hands of Mr. Churchill it is Canada's pledge, symbolic of the recent successful Victory Loan, but as well the symbol of the all-out co-operation which Canada is to give in the war effort.

It is fitting that the time suits the presentation to the British Premier on Canada's birthday of nationhood.

Canadians did loyally by the Loan and the Torch is an apt symbol of the Dominion's part in the war.

If the best man's faults were written on his forehead, he would draw his hat over his eyes.—Gray.

OURSELVES AND OTHERS...

BY

The following from a recent issue of Britain's humorous and popular magazine "Punch" is significant of the longing of many thousands of brother anglers who are engaged in the serious business of defending the Empire. Let us hope that "the present job" upon which the writer is engaged will not be unduly prolonged, and that he may soon again be enabled to discard his gun for his "greenheart" and witness the "evening rise" in an environment of peace.

A FISHERMAN'S PRAYER (1941)

Grant me this prayer, O Lord,
That when my present job is done
I may return once more
To those quiet haunts
By reed and river,
Sedge and sand.

To wander down the old familiar paths,
Find mill and meadow as they always were,
See the first mayfly on the Orchard House
And hear the stock-dove in the Manor woods
Or by the Bowmen's Ford
Feel in my face again
The sting of April rain.

But best of all, O Lord,
To stand below the Rectory stepping-stones
Waiting the evening rise,
My greenheart in my hand.

DOMINION DAY

Tomorrow is Dominion Day, Canada's national holiday. Tomorrow a war-busy Canada will pause in its stride except in those industries essential to war production, to rest, and take respite from its workaday life.

Temporarily forgotten will be taxes, the high cost of living, and other worries as Canadians seek diversion in the great outdoors, along highways, in fishing spots and other holiday attractions. Thousands will flock to beaches, to summer resorts, to the wooded beauty that is part of Canada's natural heritage. Thousands will enjoy for a short time a brief holiday.

But unless the 1941 Dominion Day will be vastly different to its predecessors, the shadow of the Grim Spectre will hover in the background. The toll-taking grinning skull will be in the offing to reap his grim harvest. It will flit over traffic-packed highways, over the peaceful calm of inland lakes and rivers, and in camp and cottage.

Accidents have, and it seems, always will, happen. But they can be reduced to a minimum if the care and caution is exercised. Don't load that gun before your start on the shooting trip. Don't attempt to change seats in that canoe in midstream. If the other fellow wants to pass you on the highway, let him do it. Avoid rides in the whirling motors of automobiles, trucks and in the swirling foam of the rapids and beneath the glassy calm of the lakes. It needs is a little encouragement in the form of carelessness to strike swiftly.

Think twice before you attempt to pass that car or truck in front of you. A momentary care is worth a lifetime of regret and remorse. Don't be a "smart-alec" in that boat. Don't be a "show-off" with that gun. And if you drink, don't drive—if you drive, don't drink.

HELP THE KIDDIES

The fine work of the Belleville Rotary Club is providing treatment, operations, and care for the crippled children of the city and district, was revealed at a recent meeting of the club. There, it was stated, over 600 children had reaped the benefits provided by the cluhmen and a large number are still under its care. But funds are needed to keep up this fine work. Starting on Friday of this week, the Rotarians are holding a grand Karnival on Victoria Park. There will be games and fun for all. The Karnival will last for five days, and the proceeds will go to assist the crippled children proteges of the Club. All are invited to attend and participate in the fun.

Kinsmen Club Sponsors Softball League in Marmora

Marmora — Marmora Kinsmen Softball League in which three teams are now entered completes its schedule with a double-header at Deloro on Tuesday July 1st, with the fast-time clashing twice. The teams comprising the league are Deloro Spitfires, managed by Russell Negadoro, Marmora Tigers, managed by James Augur, and Marmora Yankees managed by Bill McInroy. Work has been delayed on the ball field that the Kinsmen proposed to build at their playgrounds in Marmora. If the work is completed in time, remaining games between the Yankees and Tigers will be played at Marmora. Otherwise, all games will be played at Deloro, where are the only suitable grounds available.

A former resident of Marmora Township passed away in Belleville General Hospital early Monday morning in the person of Christopher Denne, after a week's illness. Born sixty-one years ago in London, England, he was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Denne. While residing in Marmora Township, he worked at cheesemaking but since 1923 he had lived at the Hastings County Home. He was unmarried. Surviving him are two brothers and two sisters, namely Charles Denne and Sidney Denne of this place, Miss Lillian Denne of London, England, and Mrs. Alves of Surrey, England. The funeral service was conducted in the Pinkston Funeral Home, Belleville, on Wednesday at 11 a. m. with interment following in Belleville cemetery.

Mr. E. C. Prentice, principal of Marmora Public School, presided at the Entrance Examinations at Coe Hill last week.

Mr. John Holsey who celebrated his ninety-third birthday about the middle of last March is visiting his daughter, Mrs. Archie Jones. His general health is still good, but he is not able to walk as well as a couple of years ago and he does not get down to the village as often as he used to.

Mr. Angus Gawley of Niagara Falls, N. Y., has been visiting his mother and other relatives in the district.

Miss Lola Gawley and brother Ray of Peterborough spent the week end at the home in Malone.

Mr. Norman Sopha visited his sister, Mrs. C. Clarke in Peterborough on Tuesday.

Mr. James Shannon, Finn. B., attended the annual convention of the Ontario Druggists' Association which was held at Bigwin Inn, Lake of Bays, last week.

Messrs. Donald Prentice, Tom O'Connor and Frank Sheahan returned to Toronto on Thursday to make application for enlistment in the R. C. A. F.

Miss Lillian Turner, B. A., left on Thursday to spend the summer vacation at her home in Islington.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Byrnes and family are occupying their cottage at Crowe Lake.

NEW YORK HARBOR MINED—BUT ONLY IN PRACTICE

Most extensive mine-laying exercises since World War days are now being held at Port Hancock, N.J., where men of the special mine command have started intensive drills to prepare them for their part in protecting New York harbor and its approaches from enemy shipping. The mines used are of the fixed type, controlled by a mine and its anchor are pictured, LEFT, ready to be dropped. The soldier in the foreground is on board a tug ready to catch the electrical cable attached to the mine. After he has secured the cable it will be connected with a control box which, in turn, will be hooked up with shore observation point, and then the mine can be fired at will, preferably when an enemy ship is sailing over it. At RIGHT is shown a some aboard a mine-layer as the mine is dropped.

AT THE McCARTHY

"Her First Beau"

Two of the screen's most popular youngsters, Jane Withers and Jackie Cooper are co-starred at the McCarthy Theatre now, in the rip-tickling comedy-riot for the entire family "Her First Beau". Others in the large cast include Edith Fellows (Polly Pepper), William Edgar Fontaine, Una O'Connor and Jonathan Hale (Mr. Withers, Dargwood's Boss, in "Blondie" fils).

The added feature presentation is "Millionaires in Prison" starring Lee Tracy. Latest McCarthy-Pete News Events is also shown and as well to the ladies another piece of the gladiole perfumers is given, but only a five cent service charge.

AT THE CAPITOL

"Sailors Three"

"If we sound like a press agent with a vocabulary full of superlatives today, don't be surprised, because the idea we want to get across may put us out on a limb. Anyway we'd like all readers of this space to know that one of the most hilariously exciting pictures in years is right here in town. We advise you to lose no time whatever in begging, borrowing or stealing the necessary cash to go to the Capitol to see it. That's "Sailors Three", gang, and we mean every word of it when we say it hits the entertainment jackpot right on the nose.

The British studios have given us other comedies based on the war, chiefly in the George Formby pictures—but where the Formby films rely on George's personality to get the thing, in this case, the play's the thing. Not that Tommy Trinder, Claude Hulbert and Michael Wilding aren't grand comedians. They are, but they're not quite as good as the situations cooked up by scripters Angus McPhail, Austin Melford and John Dighton. Granted, the plot is completely ridiculous for the most part, but somehow in a picture of this type it doesn't seem to matter. It concerns the capture of a German battleship by three lone sailors, who, while intoxicated, have boarded it mistaking it for their own. By a series of clever coups, which occur only in comedies of this kind, they get rid of the entire crew and set out for a British port. The very fact that they know nothing about the intricate mechanisms of a ship doesn't mean a thing to these guys.....they muddle through anyway, and when the ship finally docks in anti-ocean, they sit by and wait for their own cruiser to rescue them. That, naturally, is only a skeleton of the plot. There is a great deal of play, including the story of Hulbert's sister, Carla Lehmann (the Winnipeg girl), who is governess to a couple of Swedish kids, both of whom, with their parents, end up on the German ship with the boys.

There's not much use in discussing the performances turned in by the players since the plot requires them to do little but be themselves. There are a couple of swell tunes worked in—one of them "All Over the Place", is particularly good and is used more or less as a theme song. The other is "Sing a Happy-go-lucky song".

By all means see "Sailors Three" and help yourself to a flock of laughs. Technically, and from a standpoint of entertainment, it's one of the best things to come out of the British studios in many months.

There now didn't we say we'd sound like a press agent?"

The same programme includes the Joe Louis-Billy Conn fight. Don't miss these thirteen rounds of fast and furious fighting. A short subject featuring Bugs Baer and his band completes the bill.

There will be a special matinee on the holiday.

Copies Of Booklet On Rent Control Are Available

Ottawa, Canada, June 30—Copies of a booklet explaining the rent control regulations of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board are being distributed without charge to Canadian landlords and tenants.

Obtainable from the offices of court clerks in the more than forty-five rent controlled areas or by writing direct to the Rentals Administrator at Ottawa, this booklet answers commonly-asked questions about maximum rentals, charges for rooms in rooming and boarding houses, rentals for new housing, charges for furniture, repainting and decorating and lease renewals and evictions.

The preface to the booklet, written by Mr. Justice Martin, Rentals Administrator under the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, states that "the rent control regulations contained in this booklet are designed to guide the relationship between landlord and tenants in war-congested areas, and to prevent unreasonable increases in the cost of living. In this manner, the cost of living will be stabilized to a large extent."

"By mutual consideration and by co-operation with each other and with their government, landlords and tenants may make their fullest contribution to the efficiency of our war effort on the home front."

Unemployment Has Record Gain in March; Marked Rise in Manufacturing Industries

Ottawa, June 30.—(CP)—An "abnormal" contra-seasonal increase in the adjusted index of employment at April 1 was noted by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics today in a report which placed employment expansion during March close to a 20-year peak.

"The increase," the bureau said, "has rarely been exceeded in the 20 years during which monthly surveys of employment have been made."

The Bureau received reports from 12,000 establishments employing 1,605,425 persons compared with 1,344,138 at March 1, a 4.8 per cent. increase. The increase pushed the index from 130.5 at March 1 to an all-time high of 141.3 at April 1. On the same date last year the index was 119.8, previous high for the beginning of April.

The adjusted index "showed its greatest advance on record," rising from 141.0 to 146.7. Completion of winter logging operations in the eastern and central provinces previously had resulted in a downward movement for employment at April 1.

An "outstanding" advance marked employment in manufacturing industries, the report said. Firms reporting showed staffs totalling 29,382, five per cent. more than the previous month. Iron and steel, chemical, textile, pulp and paper, food, lumber, leather, non-ferrous metal, electrical apparatus, clay, glass and sugar divisions also moved sharply upward.

Reported earnings in Ontario were higher than in any other province, "principally because of the considerable concentration of the heavy industries in the province." In Manitoba, the average was "relatively high" because of a high ratio of transportation workers.

The per capita average at Quebec was below the Dominion average. The bureau attributed this to the large percentage of women workers employed in the province's textile industries.

Per capita earnings for cities showed largest advances at Windsor, Ont., and Hamilton, reflecting "important concentrations of workers in the highly paid, heavy industries."

REPEATER TUBES IN ACTION

When you hear a voice coming to you clear and distinct over hundreds of miles of telephone line, then repeater tubes are in action. They keep the voice up to strength, no matter how far it is travelling.

Formerly these repeater tubes required as much electricity as a 15-watt lamp and lasted only a few weeks. Bell Telephone research and manufacture have developed a tube that now does a better job, lasts 20 times as long, consumes 1/5 of the power and costs about a quarter of the older tubes.

That's just an example of what research is doing for telephone service — improving it, extending its scope and keeping costs within bounds. Research has made the telephone equal to war-time demands.

SEES NEW ERA OF PEACE, HOPE AFTER WAR'S END

Vatican City, June 30 (AP) — In a Sunday message broadcast to the world Pope Pius XIII attributed the sufferings of war to divine providence punishing the sins of mankind, but said the "fierce intensity of the trial" would be followed by a new era of peace and hope.

The Holy Father made no specific mention of the Russia-German conflict, but spoke of the sufferings from war at the fighting front and behind the lines— from bombs, machine-gun bullets, blockade and confiner-blockade, and from persecutions endured because of religious faith.

The Pope advised Catholics to trust in God and said that means "believing that God can permit at times here below for some time preeminence of sitheism and impiety, the lamentable obscuring of a sense of justice, the violation of law, the tormenting of innocent, peaceful, undefeated, helpless men."

Trials of Mankind

"It means," he said, "believing that God at times thus lets trials befall individuals and peoples, trials of which the malice of men is the instrument in a design of justice directed toward the punishment of sin, towards purifying persons and peoples through the expiations of this present life and bringing them back by this way to himself; but it means believing at the same time that this justice always remains here below the justice of a father inspired and dominated by love....

Fierce Intensity of Trial to Pass

"It means believing finally that the fierce intensity of this trial, like the triumph of evil, will endure even here below only for a fixed time and not longer; that the hour of God will come, the hour of mercy, the hour of holy rejoicing, the hour of the new canticle of liberation, the hour of exultation and joy....the hour in which, after having let the hurricane loose for a moment on humanity, the all-powerful hand of the heavenly father with an imperceptible motion will detain it and disperse it and, by ways little known to the mind or to the hopes of men, justice, calm and peace will be restored to the nations.

Peace of Suffering

He said men, however, were wont to judge as evil "all the physical mishaps of this earth" and declared:

"They have forgotten that suffering stands at the threshold of life as the way that leads to the smiles of the cradle.... They have forgotten that the cross is frequently a gift of God...."

The Pontiff urged Catholics to regard the cross as comfort and salvation and to remember that "there is no life in the love of Christ without suffering."

JAN PADEREWSKI

Paderewski made his first United States tour in 1891, and in 19 such tours he never returned home with less than a profit of $250,000. It has been estimated that his fingers earned him $5,000,000 in America.

A Great Statesman

Although famed as a pianist and composer——his minuet is perhaps his best known and was written in 20 minutes—Paderewski had another side to his personality, that of orator and statesman. The first Great War brought it out.

His homeland turned into a theatre of war, he came to the United States and raised an army of 100,000 Poles which later became the largest Polish fighting unit in France. In 1919 he was made President of Poland but resigned the same year because of political unrest.

Illness made much of his life a misery when coupled with the tragedies that beset his household and country. Bright spot through 36 years, however, was his second marriage, to Baroness Helene Von Rosen in 1899.

She died seven years ago and once more left him in loneliness which only his great love for the piano and his country—and his unceasing efforts at both—could assuage.

He still retained his title of President of the Polish National Council at the time of his death.

Slim Dress Has Panel Novelty

By ANNE ADAMS

Here's a "line-perfect" dress that will make all your figure faults vanish magically! Of course Pattern 4790 is an Anne Adams sleight! — you can tell that by its smartness . . . its stylish designing . . . its simple, finished-before-you-know-it style. The panel that smoothly curves down the front and into the wide, low-pointed waist-girdle, insures a beautiful fit through the waistline. The front skirt panel and another full-length panel in back complete the slenderizing effect. The very softening side bodice sections are held trim at the shoulders by shirring, with gathers above the waist. You might dress up the becoming scallop-edged neckline with flowers or buttons; a back half-sash is optional.

Pattern 4790 is available in women's sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48 and 50. Size 36 takes 3 1-2 yards 39-inch fabric.

Send twenty cents (20c) in coins (stamps cannot be accepted) for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly SIZE, NAME, ADDRESS and STYLE NUMBER.

Afternoon Or Suntan Dress

By ANNE ADAMS

A captivating young style to bring forth the "oh's" and the "ah's" of your public in this Anne Adams frock, Pattern 4793. It carries out the popular peasant-girl mood in a full, gathered skirt, a tiny, banded waist and tucked bodice lines. The useful versions of this frock are included. One is an afternoon style with short sleeves and bow-and-lace trim for the neckline; a sleeveless dress with a suntan back. The enasingly shaped yoke would look delightful in contrast, perhaps with the waistband to match. There's a saucy and convenient buttoning down the back. Make the pert matching or contrasting pillbox.

Pattern 4793 is available in feminine sizes 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17 and 18. Size 13 dress with sleeves and cap, takes 3 1-4 yards 39-inch fabric and 3 yards lace edging; dress without sleeves, 3 3-8 yards 35-inch fabric and 1-2 yard contrast.

Send twelfty cents (20c) in coins (stamps cannot be accepted) for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly SIZE, NAME, ADDRESS and STYLE NUMBER.

THE WAR TODAY

(By DON GILBERT)
Canadian Press Staff Writer

While the Russo-German war gives Britain a respite from the danger of invasion, emphasis is being placed on increasing degree on greater effort at home, particularly in production. No chance is being taken on giving scope for any tendency to relax while the Nazi and Soviet armies fight it out.

Prime Minister Churchill's decision to entrust the Ministry of Supply to Lord Beaverbrook is a step in this direction. The Canadian's unorthodox approach to business problems, which in peace made the circulation of The Daily Express the largest in Britain and in war achieved wonders in the output of aircraft, is to be applied to British industry generally.

The brusque, sometimes ruthless, methods Lord Beaverbrook used while Minister of Aircraft Production brought a lot of complaints from industrial executives who felt they were being unduly pushed around, but the answer to all these was that results had been achieved where his predecessors failed.

While Lord Beaverbrook can be relied upon to take care of recalcitrance in industry, The Daily Express reported measures are imminent to deal with labor problems in British ports, where there has been some difficulty in getting the work of unloading done with sufficient speed to permit the quick turnabout in the tightness of Britain's shipping position demands.

Mentioned for Post

The Express said the plan is to create the post of "National Port Director General" who would enrol all stevedores as state employees with a guaranteed weekly wage. Sir Douglas Ritchie, general manager of the Port of London, was mentioned for the post of National Director.

The First Lord of the Admiralty, A. V. Alexander, mentioned in a speech at Greenock, England, yesterday, some of the things which Britain particularly needs at this moment. "We require the greatest possible effort in increasing the volume and speeding up of delivery of ships, guns, tanks and planes," the First Lord said. "In regard to specific naval requirements, I ask for increased effort especially in relation to short-range anti-aircraft weapons and more airplanes for the fleet air arm."

Aircraft production is understood to be satisfactory now, with Britain likely soon to pass Germany in quantity as well as quality. Apparently, however, there is still a lag in production of types needed by the fleet. In addition there must be an improvement in the shipping position before full benefit can be derived from the increased output of faster planes in the United States, for these cannot at present be flown across the Atlantic in the same way bombers are.

The shortage of anti-aircraft guns was painfully apparent in the battle of Crete, and Prime Minister Churchill in the parliamentary debate on the battle stressed the tremendous area to be protected against air attacks by Britain. The short-range anti-aircraft guns mentioned by the First Lord of the Admiralty are needed by ships to ward off dive-bomber attacks.

Vichy Breaks Relations With Russia

Vichy, France, June 30 (AP) — Diplomatic relations between Vichy, France, and Russia were broken off today after week-end negotiations between Marshal Petain and Soviet Ambassador A. E. Bogomolov.

A communique said Vichy had taken the initiative in breaking off relations because it was "learned with certitude Soviet diplomatic and consular agents in France were carrying out activities against the public order and security of the state."

It was the first time Vichy had taken such a step against any of Germany's enemies. The Yugoslav and Greek legations still remain in Vichy with full diplomatic standing.

Bogomolov first saw Petain Saturday and called on Pegain this morning, after which the break was made definite.

The actual notification of severance of relations was made by Vice-Premier Jean Darlan this morning. At the same time Vichy's ambassador in Moscow was told to notify the Soviet government.

Flaming Claws No Beauty Asset

The pretty girl is applying a light polish to her nails

By HELEN POLLETT

BELIEVE it or sneer, but we wish to state that there are women, even girls, who actually relish those who hate it like poison. Everybody's doing it, they say. They can't be out of things. But they feel silly and self-conscious with glaring nails. Poor weak women, they are to be pitied, we say. They can move the grand piano, hustle for a living, or drive airplanes, but the will rose is lovely coral. There are blue-pinks that are intriguing; pink rosebuds. She was attended by her sister, Mrs. Ted Hodge of Toronto as matron of honor, her gown being of green floral cretton, with white, and a corsage of rosebuds.

The bridegroom was his brother, Mr. Joe Nudds of Toronto. The ushers were Mr. Fred Brisbin and Mr. Ted Hodge.

Following a reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Nayler a wedding breakfast was served with Mrs. Albert Nudds, mother of the groom, assisted by Mrs. H. Nicks and Miss Jean Brisbin of Peterboro.

Mr. and Mrs. Stewart left for a motor trip, the bride wearing navy a pink ensemble with brown accessories. They will reside in Peterboro. Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Brown of Toronto, and Mrs. Brown of Delove.

HILTON—AIKENHEAD

One of the loveliest of the June weddings was solemnized at Hew St. James' Presbyterian Church, London, at one o'clock Saturday, when Lillian Aikenhead became the bride of Walter Waine Hilton, B.A., son of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Hilton of "The Mustangs," senior rugby team of the University of Western Ontario.

A student in Chemistry, Mr. Hilton played rugby during his four years at Western and was on the team which won the championship in 1938.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm S. Aikenhead, of Wortley Road, London, and the groom is the son of Mr. Hilton, and the late Charles Hilton, of Belleville. Both are graduates.

Late June flowers, palms and ferns were used effectively in the church to form the setting for the ceremony, Rev. T. J. Watson officiated and John McDermid played the organ.

The bride, escorted up the aisle by her father, was lovely indeed in a gown of white organza patterned with floral design, and embroidered with a little shawl collar, long tight sleeves and a long waistline which flared into a full sweeping skirt. The lower part of the skirt was frilled with the same material and the frills effect was repeated in the short sleeves. From a little halo of organdy and daisies and lilies of the valley fell her long finger-tip length. A bouquet of sprayed carnations, daisies, bouvardia and baby's breath completed the smart ensemble.

Three attendants preceded the bride—her classmate and sorority sister, Miss Shirley Stewart, who was the maid of honor, and her cousins, Miss Ruth Aikenhead, of Toronto, and Miss Grace Aikenhead, Toronto, bridesmaids. They wore gowns in the same shading style as the bride's, in floor length and with bracelet sleeves. Miss Stewart's gown was white patterned with a little blue flower, designed with blue taffeta, and trimmed with matching blue velvet. Her little hat was of the same material in a poke bonnet style.

Miss Aikenhead's gown was white with a little orchid flower motif through the fabric, and Miss Alcorn's was also white with a floral pattern. They carried colonial bouquets.

Brian Casey, now a flying officer at Trenton, was formerly a pal back with "The Mustangs" was best man. The ushers were Bill Cook and Donald Spring of Toronto.

A reception at the home of the bride's parents on Wortley Road, followed. Mrs. Aikenhead received, wearing a Churchill blue gown of embroidered net with matching navy accessories and a corsage of roses, and Mrs. Hilton, in white, who wore a dusty rose ensemble, white accessories and a corsage of roses.

For a motor trip, the bride chose a becoming beige ensemble trimmed in brown with brown and white accessories. They will reside in Marmora, Ontario, near Deloro, where Mr. Hilton is a chemist with a Cobalt refinery.

PARKS—WORRELL

A pretty wedding took place Saturday afternoon, June 28th, at four o'clock at the Emmanuel Church Rectory when Margaret Mary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Worrell, became the bride of Thomas Clarence Parks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Prairie Parks of Oshawa. Rev. D. L. Chatrain performed the ceremony.

The bride was charming in a dusky rose dress with white hat and accessories and a corsage of pink sweet peas and roses. She was attended by Miss Jean Corbeil, wearing a turquoise blue redingote dress with white accessories and corsage of pink sweet peas and white cornflowers.

Mr. Russell Parks was groomsman for his brother.

A reception was held at the bride's home, Station Street, following the ceremony. The bride's table was lovely with gailiardia and delphiniums, the rooms being decorated profusely with gailiardia.

Mrs. Worrell, wearing blue sheer and Mrs. Parks in silk printed crepe received with the bride and groom.

Mr. and Mrs. Parks left on a wedding trip to points west, after which they will reside in Belleville.

MERTENS—WILLIAMS

St. John's Church, Norway, was the scene of a pretty event on Saturday evening when Margaret (Peggy) daughter of Mrs. Williams and the late Alfred Williams, Toronto, became the bride of Cpl. Kenneth (Bruce) Mertens, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Mertens, Toronto. Rev. A. Brierly Browne officiated, with W. J. Mould at the organ, and Aircraftman Ray Bruce, R.C.A.F., as soloist.

The bride, given in marriage by T. Hodgson, her uncle, wore a Queen Elizabeth blue crepe ensemble with matching hao hat and veil. She carried roses, carnations and bouvardia. Miss Dorothy K. Williams attended her sister in a dusky pink sheer crepe ensemble with matching hat and veil and carried Colonial bouquet of roses, cornflowers and bouvardia.

Leading the bridal party William Calvert, R.C.A.F., was best man and the ushers were Cpls. James Martin and Sam Rutledge, R.C.A.F.

The reception was held at Hotel Savarin, the bride's mother wearing a beige crepe ensemble with beige and white accessories, corsage of roses. Assisting was Miss Vardia. The groom's mother was in navy blue crepe with corsage of roses and bouvardia. The couple motored east on their honeymoon and will reside in Belleville. For travelling the bride wore navy sheer with polka dot blouse and matching turban.

TALBOT—TRUAISCH

Gladioli and delphiniums graced the altar and sanctuary of the Church of the Holy Redeemer in Andrew, angel for the wedding at nine o'clock this morning of Catherine Josephine Truaisch, Reg. N., daughter of Mrs. Truaisch and the late J. M. Truaisch, and John Maurice Talbot, Kingston, son of Mrs. Talbot and the late F. X. Talbot, Toronto. The ceremony was performed by Rt. Rev. J. F. Nicholson, V.G. The bride, who James Grant presided at the organ for wedding music, and Miss Anna Lafferty sang. The bride was given bride's "Ave Maria."

Given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. J. V. C. Truaisch, the bride was a lovely picture in her gown of white chiffon over taffeta, fashioned in princess style, with long, full skirt and fitted bodice. Her long veil was caught to her hair with orange blossoms and she carried a bouquet of lilies.

Miss Mary Truaisch was her sister's bridesmaid and wore a charming costume, a floor-length dress of pale buttercup yellow chiffon in fitted lines, and net headdress with tiny veil in violet shade. Her lace mittens and slippers were in the same violet tone and she carried violet and mauve sweet peas.

Mr. Edward Talbot, Toronto, brother of the groom was groomsman, and the ushers were Mr. Fred C. Smith, Kingston, and Mr. Jim Truaisch, brother of the bride.

A reception was held at the Windsor House, Brighton, Mrs. J. Truaisch in black sheer with black and white hat, corsage of white sweet peas, and the bride's mother in navy blue sheer with white accessories and corsage of white sweet peas, received the guests assisted by the bride.

Later Mr. and Mrs. Talbot left on a wedding trip to Ottawa and through the Laurentians, the bride travelling in an ensemble of cocoa brown with white and cocoa printed frock and shoes; fitted redingote jacket and white pebbled revers. Her hat was of natural leghorn straw with white trimming. They will reside at 106 Clergy St., Kingston.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding included Mrs. F. X. Talbot and Mr. Edward Talbot, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Truaisch, Sudbury; Mrs. and Mr. J. McIntosh, Ottawa; Mrs. John Condon, Ottawa; Mrs. and Mr. A. McCarty, Toronto; Mrs. Hugh Bedore, Gananoque; Mrs. and Mrs. Fred C. Smith, Kingston, and Mr. Kevin Cowan, Montreal.

McKINNON—TOTTON

Miss Nellie Evelyn Totton, daughter of Mrs. Totton and the late Blake Totton, Toronto, formerly of Belleville, and Mr. Hugh McKinnon, Montreal, son of Mrs. McKinnon and the late Alexander McKinnon, Toronto, were married in Marriage, and she wore a white lace dress with matching tucked jacket, picture hat of navy blue straw and white accessories. They carried cliff roses.

Following the reception at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Arthur McAdam, Mr. and Mrs. McKinnon left for Montreal where they will reside. The bride travelled in a printed Jacobin dress with white accessories.

STEWART—NAYLER

Madoc (Special)—On Saturday morning, June 28th, a very pretty wedding took place in the Sacred Heart Church, Madoc, when Nora, daughter of Mr and Mrs. Fred Nayler, was united in marriage to Mr. Gordon Stewart of Peterboro. Rev. Father Hyland said the Nuptial Mass.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and wore a gown of embroidered net with white accessories and wore a corsage of

GOOD MANNERS

MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Planning Shower for Girl Friend

Dear Mrs. Beeckman,

I am planning to give my girl friend a miscellaneous shower.

1. Are men ever invited to a shower of this kind? I would like to invite her fiance, but I am not sure whether he should be invited if no other men are invited.

2. I don't know this girl's friends, but her fiancee has given us a list of their names. How would I greet her friends?

3. Would it be proper for me to invite my friends also?

4. What foods should I serve?

Ans.

1. Yes, men are often invited to this kind of party — but a later hour is mentioned in their invitations. If men are invited, the shower is given in the evening. The girls are asked to come at, say, eight o'clock and the men invited for nine-thirty. Between those hours the gifts are opened. When the men arrive, the refreshments are served and there may be dancing or bridge or any other game popular with the group.

Sometimes, when the shower is in the afternoon and men are not invited, the fiance is nevertheless invited to appear toward the end of the party.

2. If the guest of honor isn't near to whose group when you are unknown to you arrives, it is simply right to introduce yourself — "I am Almeda Forbes, and I am delighted that you could come to the shower I am giving for Mary."

3. Usually only close friends of the surprise-ee are invited to the shower given in her honor. If you were giving a tea, and not a shower, it would, of course, be proper for you to invite your friends as well.

4. Your refreshments, for either shower or tea, should be simple. They might be as simple as assorted sandwiches, with coffee, iced or hot cocoa, nuts and candy. If your party is to be in the evening and you wish a less simple menu, you might serve chicken a la King on toast, with fruit salad or ice cream and cake for dessert. Or you might serve chicken or tuna-fish salad with hot biscuits, hot rolled or baked rolls, ice cream and cake, and coffee.

Necessary to Answer Invitation?

Dear Mrs. Beeckman,

Will you please tell me whether or not it is always necessary to answer an invitation to a wedding reception?

I recently received an invitation to a wedding to be held in church, and with this invitation was enclosed a small card which read "Reception at the home immediately following the ceremony" and gave the address. There was also an r. s. v. p. on this invitation, and I do not know whether I should answer or do not know either the bride or groom very well. I shall not be able to attend, but I do want to do the right thing.

Katherine

Even if there is no request for an answer to this wedding invitation, it should be answered. It undoubtedly would be appreciated by the bride's mother to know approximately how many guests to expect.

Your regret would read:

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Forbes deeply regrets that she is unable to accept Mr. and Mrs. Allen Forbes family's kind invitation for Tuesday, the eighth of May.

Advice to the Lovelorn

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Groundless Fear

Dear Miss Fairfax:

We worked in the same office for a long time, and then he was transferred to another city. I was so blue after he left because I was afraid he'd marry me. But he never did, and I couldn't get interested in anyone else.

But within the last couple of months he has come back and is in the same establishment with me. He seemed glad to see me and I love him more than ever. I live with my sister, and she says to ask him over to play cards some evening. I'm afraid to ask him for fear he might have a girl somewhere, and I'd feel embarrassed if he turned me down.

I am not bad looking, and have been told I'm bright and nice, and they seem to like me. I'm 23 years of age, and he must be about 27.

Ruth Ann

If you ever expect to get any- where in this life, don't spend your time worrying about groundless apprehensions. You've got your boy friend back and he loves you, but you haven't used to see you. Why look for trouble? Ask him over to play a game of cards, and have a nice little supper afterward. You don't know when you will get another.

Intolerable Situation

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I have been dating a man one his grown daughter? She is old enough to have her own husband and home by this time. Her mother is dead, and I feel sorry again to a good woman, whom I love and who would be a good mother to my child. But the girl can't seem to get site with us. She has jealous fits if we go to the movies or for a motor- both and want to do what is right by my daughter. But I don't want to lose my wife, whom I love also.

My wife loves me too, but this way of living is getting her down. And she is threatening to leave us. I'm very unhappy about the whole situation and hope you can give me some advice.

Lonely

You write me that your daughter is old enough to have a husband and a home of her own by this time. Why don't you look out for this happy solution of your family problems? Is your home attractive? Are your daughter's friends made welcome, especially the men friends? Do you try to cooperate in letting the girl have nice little parties to which her young friends are invited and are they often in your home?

Evidently you want your daughter to marry and leave you, but first she must be given a chance. Give her the right background for choosing a husband. The situation you describe of stepmother and daughter making life hideous on account of jealousy over the husband and father is intolerable.

Job Versus Marriage

Dear Miss Fairfax:

When I first met the young man to whom I am engaged I was in love at first sight, if there is such a thing. He is much older than I am and we get along "swell". He wants me to give my job and get his consent to our marriage, but I don't feel as I should when I told him of our affair that he declined to meet him. He insists that I'm not ready to marry, and that it should take up a business course of some kind so that I can have a job.

My mother passed away not quite a year ago, and I have no one to consult. Do you think I should break with the young man who loves me so dearly as I love him, or do you think my father will ever listen to reason?

Sorrowful

You tell me your father wants you to take up a business course, and that he thinks you have not been prepared yourself as yet for marriage. You are a young girl, about 17 or 18, which is pretty young to be left in your own with and fly in the face of parental opposition.

You and the young man are convinced you love each other dearly. But is that love so true that most searching of all tests—time? If you take the training your father has planned, surely he cannot object to your having some time to come to see you occasionally. Be patient. Go along with him for the time being at least.

Fashion Flashes

GET A REST from black or navy by wearing green, a most important color this summer. Deep moss green shows to good for a smart frock and jacket. The jacket is collarless has a deep V throat, is fitted and has big pleated cape sleeves to match the pleated skirt of the frock.

A GOOD COMPANION with simple or more dressy clothes is a hat with a tall crown made of black felt and a brim of parchment colored felt. The hat has a turned up one side and indented at the other side, to make a heart-shaped effect. Narrow black felt bow trims lining.

A DRESS TO CHERISH and wear right through the summer is of sheer crepe in beige. Made with a high round neck, it is pleated with very fine pleats, all the way down except for narrow set-in belt. Pleated short sleeves. For an additional effect a dark-brown pleated apron to give a tunic effect.

A RELIEF from all the strange and fancy blouses to wear for swim suits is a suit made of crisp white eyelet pique. Bodice edged with narrow pique ruffle and same edging for shoulder straps.

JUST REWITCHING to set off smart informality, instead of redefining black is a big black hat, and for the feet, sheer black and clear-set of black stockings and black pique pumps.

REAL ASSISTANCE to the summer wardrobe is a supply of bells in white, natural, navy blues or blacks. A wide belt of white webbing has many uses, although one half covered in blue kidskin, the other half covered in red kidskin.

New York, June 30 (AP)— The National Party of the United States issued a statement last night advocating United States aid to the Soviet Union, Great Britain and all who fight against Hitler.

At the same time, the committee urged that the democratic liberties and economic welfare of the American people be preserved and extended as "basic requisites for a successful struggle to defeat German fascism."

EXTRA SALT MAY BE NEEDED IN SUMMER TO PREVENT HEAT HAUSTION FROM HEAT

For several years now, each heat wave will be accompanied by stories of large numbers of cases of heat prostration. Many more will be confused in some minds with sunstroke, although the two are different. Heat exhaustion can be suffered by anyone who is over-exposed to the sun, such as workers in steel plants and others in manufacturing establishments where there is intense heat.

Heat exhaustion is often a very serious condition and should never be taken lightly. It requires to be treated as carefully as sunstroke. It occurs when the body, in perspiring abnormally freely, has lost much of the salt in the body that requires for its normal functioning. It is this loss of salt that is the victim his nausea, cramps, and general feeling of debility.

Since this cause of heat prostration was recognized, it has been the practice in industries where men are required to work in intense heat for the workers to take a salt tablet a couple of times a day. Another perfectly satisfactory way to add salt to the drinking water. However, care is needed in doing this cold. Drinking very cold water is not advisable under any circumstances.

Sunstroke can be more serious than heat exhaustion. I have had experience with cases so serious that the victim never recovered. As the name implies, it is the result of over-exposure to the glaring midday sun. We know today that some persons are more susceptible to sunstroke than others. This is why we advise you to keep from the brightest sun bareheaded for protracted periods, without apparent harm. Persons with high blood pressure kidney diseases and th, or in a similar condition are specially susceptible, are most likely to be sunstroke victims. Persons of this type should be treated as carefully as sunstroke. It occurs when the body, even in perspiring abnormally freely, has not lost much of the salt in the body that requires for its normal functioning. It is this loss of salt that is the victim his nausea, cramps, and general feeling of debility.

Since this cause of heat prostration was recognized, it has been the practice in industries where men are required to work in intense heat for the workers to take a salt tablet a couple of times a day. NEWARK'S LEAD EXTENDED TO 4½ GAMES OVER FIELD

Defeat Syracuse Chiefs Twice to Give Them 19 Victories in June

LEAFS LOSE TWICE

By The Associated Press

The battle for second place in the International Baseball League is giving the pace-setting Newark Bears a chance to breathe easily all day while the sun and the floodlights shine. While the other clubs battler one another in trying for second place, the Bears go on winning consistently.

The Bears have won their last six games, taking a doubleheader from Syracuse Chiefs yesterday, 8-3 and 6-1. That gave them a record of 19 victories and 11 defeats during June. The only club that can approach that record during the same stretch is Buffalo, which started the month in fourth place and escalated to second with 18 games won and 14 lost.

As a result Newark's lead now is 4 1-2 games, while the latest has only a half-game edge over the third-place Montreal Club after losing the games to the Royals yesterday, 4-3 and 3-2. Rochester's fourth-place Red Wings swept a Sunday doubleheader, beating Toronto 4-3 and 3-1. So did the fifth place Jersey Giants, who pounded Baltimore Orioles 11-5 and 11-3.

Herb, Five-Hit Ball

Yesterday Johnny Johnson returned to the hill for his first start in a month and pitched five-hit ball as Newark took the opener. Johnny Lindell hung up his 10th second victim in the Big Apple circuit.

Rochester out-steadied Toronto in a pair of ball games, Herschel Lyons gottatted 10 Leaf hits in the opener to beat Hod Ford. Bill Cuccinello and Vallie Eaves both limited six-hit ball in the afterpiece, but with two out in the seventh Eaves forced in the winning run with a pass.

Jersey City pounded seven Baltimore elements for a total of 20 hits, including homers by Johnny Mizzy and Mickey Heath, and shut Marlin in the first game and by Tony Cuccinello in the second. Baltimore's Jimmy Smith hit for the circuit twice in the opener.

In Harrisburg's park, Manager Palace Leafs split a doubleheader with Wilmington, taking the abbreviated nightcap 4-2 after dropping a 9-8 decision. Jersey City walloped Syracuse 6-1 and Albany took an 11-7 decision from Baltimore.

In the only night game, Buffalo edged Rochester 8-7.

Ottawa Canoe Club Wins Major Honors

Ottawa, June 30 (CP)—Paddlers from the Ottawa and Edinburgh Canoe Club won major honors Saturday in the Rideau Aquatic Club's paddling regatta with 36 points, nine more than the Edinburgh club. Rideau Carleton Place, Ont., with seven points and Cataraqui Canoe Club of Kingston, Ont., with six trailed the leaders.

For the Edinburghs, Bev. Walker took the senior singles, Bill Crowe and Gerry Crowe the senior tandem, Bob Driscoll the junior singles and Crowe's boat won the senior fours.

The Burgh paddlers capped their day's triumphs by winning the war canoe race.

Dimaggio Hits Safely in 42nd Game to Shatter 19-Year-Old Record Set up by George Sisler

Yankees Great Hitter Only Two Games Short of World's Record Set by "Wee Willie" Keeler

HAS DAY OFF

By GAYLE TALBOT

(Associated Press Sport Writer)

From today on it is Joe DiMaggio, the Yankees great "wrist hitter," who for perhaps a long period of his life must sit and watch nervously as one slugging youngster after another comes up to challenge his modern Big League record for hitting in consecutive games.

The long watch ended yesterday for George Sisler, one peerless first baseman of St. Louis Browns as he saw his record of batting in 41 straight contests shattered after 19 years by Dimaggio in an exhibition that thrilled 31,000 fans in Washington.

Joltin' Joe, as the Yanks slammed a double in the first game against the Senators to tie Sisler's record, and then came through with a single in the seventh inning of the nightcap to stamp his name in the record book.

In scoring yesterday's twin killing of the Senators, 8-4 and 7-6, the Yanks ran the number of consecutive contests in which they have hit at least one home run to 36. Today they hold a date and a half lead over Cleveland Indians, second-best in the history of the Lyons of Chicago White Sox, 9-3, in 10 innings.

Yanks Idle Today

Idle today, Dimaggio will attempt to run his record to 43 straight games when the Yankees open a series against Boston Red Sox tomorrow.

The Red Sox lost ground yesterday in the Junior circuit race when ed a double bill with the Athletics. Manager Joe Cronin hit a homerun with the bases loaded in the 13-1 victory in the opener, but Jack Knott stopped them in the nightcap 3-2 on seven hits.

Detroit broke a four-game losing streak when young Hal Newhouser beat St. Louis Browns down on four hits, 3-1.

The two National League batters, St. Louis and Brooklyn, fought to a draw as each divided a doubleheader, the Cardinals retaining their one-game lead in the torrid race.

Cards Split With Reds

Bucky Walters of Cincinnati outpitched Lon Warneke and two other St. Louis flingers to win yesterday's first game, 6-2, but the Cards came roaring back to slug out a 16-4 victory in the second. The Cards scored eight runs in the seventh inning, their biggest round of the season.

Brooklyn gained a split with Boston Braves, winning 5-2 and then losing 6-2 in the nightcap, which was halted after seven innings by Boston's Sunday closing law.

Frankie Frisch's Pittsburgh Pirates pulled themselves together by thumping Chicago Cubs twice, 8-2 and 3-2, and thereby vaulting into fifth place in the National.

The Giants tightened their hold on the third rung by stifling the Phillies, 10-7. A scheduled second game was rained out.

In Saturday's games, the Phillies took 12 innings to beat the Giants 3-2, Cincinnati-St. Louis was rained out, in the two American games the Senators defeated Boston, 3-1, New York overpowered the A's 7-4, Chicago beat the Indians 8-4 and St. Louis defeated Detroit 3-1 in 10 innings.

Budpath Entered At Winnipeg in Canadian Derby

Winnipeg, June 30—(CP)—Harry Hatch's Budpath, winner of the King's Plate, classic Eastern Canada horse race, at Toronto last month, is expected to battle it out with eight other western breds for the $5,000 added, Canadian Derby, here tomorrow.

Although defiling entries from the 50 eligibles will not be known until late today, racing officials said Budpath will face the Whittier Park Stock Farm, Baltiford and Lee Brown, J. N. Pitt's Willie, the Scotia stable's Flagboro, Mrs. R. Ira Reichhorn's Flint Brown, Keeno Inaman's Hi Duke and Dr. L. H. Appleby's Swift Heels.

The four fillies—Lace Brown, Flagboro, Flint Brown and Swift Heels—will carry 121 pounds and the colts—Budpath, Baltiford, Willie and Hi Duke—128 pounds. There may be other entrants.

Jockey Bobby Watson will make his first appearance in Winnipeg aboard Budpath and the leading jockey of 22-days of racing here, Gail Smith, contract rider for the Whittier Park Stock Farm, said last night that he would seek permission from his physician to ride Baltiford in the Derby, despite a fractured ankle in a racing accident here Friday.

WITH THE LAWN BOWLERS

by

GEO. E. WATKIN.

The tournament that was to have been played on Tuesday has been postponed to a later date. They clubs in the district have been notified by the President.

Harvey Stewart and John Bean were going right to town against Ernie Hughes and Jack Allen as soon as the lights were turned on Harvey had a 21 and four end lead when Hughes and Allen took one explanation Harvey: "You just are not used to the bright lights."

When are we going to start our club games.

Mrs. C. Lent is going to town this year. On Tuesday last she skipped the 66th end won the Doble's Cup and on Thursday came right back and captured the honors at the ladies' tournament. As John says: "Class, will tell."

The ladies are entertaining the men tomorrow afternoon and evening at their annual garden party. It will be a picnic lunch. This should produce real entertainment for all. Be on hand.

There are men in our club who have been bowling for five or six years, but are still patiently waiting for some one to ask them to lead for them. Boys, cannot you see your way clear to ask one, get a partner and step right into those big boys. We can do it.

This paragraph is for the officers of our club. We have an ideal President and Executive, but the trouble our club is lacking in activities of the right kind. Not enough games have been attempted. These games should be commenced the last week in May and finish not later than the 2nd week in July. No one man can do it or give the time to do this alone. There should be at least two men on the games committee. Peterboro club have eleven. Think this over.

BUMMY DAVIS TO MEET ZIVIC

Last Meeting Ended in a Disqualification, for Davis

New York, June 30—(AP)— So much tub-thumping has been going on to prove to the breathless public that Fritzie Zivic really is a little gentleman now, you'd think the Brooklyn Bombshell was going to be in the Polo Grounds ring all by himself Wednesday night.

Well, don't believe it. In Pittsburgh Zivic, he not only tangles with the welterweight champion of the world but a fighter who has turned up with the best rags-to-riches story of the ring since Jim Braddock crashed the big time to play Cinderella to Max Baer's Prince Charming.

Just a year ago, about the only thing the public knew of Bummy Davis knew about Zivic was that he was a guy out to get Bummy. They knew he was the youngest member of the Davis family, a big troupe of brothers given to bashing heads.

He'd learned how to fight by working as third-string bouncer in his father's drinking place, a couple of older brothers had the job at Yankee Stadium second string.

He went five and a half minutes with Davis in July and then in a little drama that began with Fritzie poking a playful thumb or two into Bummy's face and wound up with Bummy being pitched out of the ring and disqualified for bouncing a half-dozen wallops south of Zivic's belt.

BOBBIE BURNS FIRES 66 TO WIN ONTARIO OPEN

Scores 209 in Three Rounds to Defeat Bob Gray of Scarboro

2 TIE FOR THIRD

Hamilton, Ont., June 30—(CP)—The prevailing tedium in golf—a sport which has more than its share of innovations—is put temporarily at an injury and go out and win a championship.

Craig Wood, after years of trying, won the United States open early this month with his back muscles tied in a knot. On Saturday at the Ancaster Club, Bobbie Burns of Weston, one of his ribs bound in adhesive tape, blasted his way through to the Ontario Open title.

However, on the other hand one of the reasons Burns couldn't defend his Ontario open honors this year was because the long-hitting Texan had "misery in his back." Burns hurt his rib in the qualifying round Friday.

But it is doubtful if stood at his best on which that proud distinction he has held since 1936. Burns fired in the final round of the 54-hole tournament. This four-under par round gave the Weston veteran 209 to 209 total and left him just too shy of the record set by Tommy Armour when the Chicagoan won the Canadian open in 1930.

Burns Came From Nowhere

Burns came from nowhere to top the field of 64 golfers. There were few spectators to witness his trail of pars and birdies on the hill 18. He was five strokes behind Bob Gray at the finish. Burns was out for the last time and he finished four strokes ahead of him.

Gray, who carded 68's on the first two rounds, slumped to a 73 in final but managed to salvage second place after he appeared to be all but eliminated. Tommy Jules Huot of Quebec City and Ernie Jones of Toronto tied for third at 214. Bob Lamb of Toronto, who had led on the first round, fired 215 with 215.

Phil Farley of Toronto headed the amateurs with 219, just one stroke better than Howard Coates of Burlington, the early pace setter among the amateurs. Gus Forbes, Thompson, Joe Gaudet, was one of three tied for 14th with 220. Norman Hamilton, Westmount, had 226; Vic Corbett, Owen Sound, 228 and Wm. Marland, North Bay amateur, 239.

Due to circumstances beyond their control, the mixed rink lawn bowling tournament planned for Dominion Day by the Belleville Lawn Bowling Club had to be postponed. Invitations had been sent to Hamilton, Toronto, Ottawa and intermediate points and all proceeds were to have been given to the British War Victims' Fund. We only found out Saturday that the annual Trent Valley League baseball tournament had been scheduled for Tuesday, while the Hamilton club is staging a big men's doubles, so there was little use of us holding our tourney at this time, as we want to stage a big, signed mixed tournament over held in Eastern Ontario," explained Cliff Bryce, chairman of the Games Committee of the Belleville Lawn Bowling Club. The project is only being postponed until a later date, when it is hoped to have a team here from the above-mentioned cities and between games will be present to help the local Lawn Bowling Club in their venture. A local club match will be held tomorrow, however.

Don Padgett has three jobs with the St. Louis Cardinals, and each requires a different glove. Besides his regular position in left field he is the Cards' second string first baseman and third on the list of catchers. He started his career as an outfielder, and that's where he played his first year with St. Louis in 1937. The next year he played the outfield, first base, and behind the plate. In 1939 and 1940, he confined his duties to catching and playing first base.

When the names of baseball greats are mentioned Honus Wagner, the name of Joe DiMaggio can be added to such names as Ty Cobb, Tris Speaker, Rogers Hornsby, et al. As Cobb stated recently: "If DiMaggio can keep up the game more seriously he'd rank with the game's greatest." And that's a fairly good tribute coming from a calloused player like Cobb. Yesterday DiMaggio became all his way into baseball's immortals when he hit safely in his 42nd to equal the record set by Sisler. Sisler batted a 19-year-old record by hitting safely in the second game of the double-header. Yes, DiMaggio established a new major League record by hitting safely in 42 consecutive league games. Sisler previously held the record set at 41 games back in 1922. DiMaggio's streak in existing run in a doubleheader at Washington on Sunday. Kingston Combines Back in First Place After Weekend Games

(By the Canadian Press)

Kingston Combines, idle all week, moved into undisputed possession of first place in the Interprovincial Baseball League and Hull 9 and B., who were tied with Combines, have dropped to a second place tie with their home town Ottawa Canoe Club.

Volants won two games during the past week. Wednesday they defeated Buckingham and Sunday they set B. and B. down 6-5. The double win pushed Volants up to a second place tie with B. and B. Ottawa Canoe Club, who have yet to win a league game, lost twice during the week-end but they dropped a loosely played game to Ottawa and Buckingham.

Volants introduced a new pitcher in Wednesday's game and Ottawa had a 19-year-old Roger Pressault. Young Pressault set Buckingham down with only three hits but even with this fine pitching Volants were lucky to gain a 5-4 win after seven errors.

AT THE BELLE

"Sunny"

Described as a streamlined film version of the popular Broadway musical comedy successes, R. K. O. Radio's "Sunny" at the Belle, tonight, with Anna Neagle in the title role and with seven spectacular dance routines and four of the original song hits highlighting the sparkling romantic plot.

A notable cast surround the lovely star, including Ray Bolger, John Carroll, Edward Everett Horton and the famous dancing Harmons, Professor and directed by Herbert Wilcox. "Sunny" features such hit tunes as "Who?" "Sunny", "D'ya Love me?" and "Two Little Bluebirds".

"Meet John Doe". The eagerly awaited showing of Frank Capra's latest production, "Meet John Doe", will begin next at the Belle Theatre, according to word just received from the management. Gary Cooper and Barbara Stanwyck are co-starred.

Columbus discovered America for Queen Isabella in 1492. And Frank Capra and Robert Riskin discovered it for Americans in 1941.

Capra and Riskin, director and writer of "Meet John Doe", have put on the screen as thrilling entertainment and human understanding as almost of us have overlooked or consciously forgotten. Many think of saying at nation are as strong as the small people of that nation want it to be.

NAVY BLUE SUIT COAT, BEtween Henry St. and Church St. dump. Finder please return to 46 Olive St. J28-3t

This famed writer-director combination who took apart the Genius of Americans in such human documents as "You Can't Take It With You" "Lost Horizon" and "Mr. Deeds Goes to Town" search deeply into the soul of our American way through the eyes of John Doe in their newest film.

Riskin's "John Doe" as played by Gary Cooper is everyman.

John Doe is the man who reached into the return slot of a pay telephone hoping to grab a nickle someone forgot. He is also the guy who will give his last dime to a beggar on the street. He is the guy who will do anything within the law to beat a fellowman on a business deal and when he has succeeded will take the guy out and spend twice as much as he made getting the fellow drunk. He is the same fellow who will cheer "Pop Warner" at a display of patriotism but will knock down anybody block of for saying anything against the flag or against the nation.

IN MEMORIAM

HALL—In memory of a loving husband and father, Walter Hall, who passed away June 30th., 1940.

His smiling way and pleasant face
Are a treasure to recall.
He had a kindly word for each,
And died loved by all.
Some day we hope to meet him,
Some day, we know not when,
To clasp his hand in the better land,
Never to part again.
—Ever remembered by wife and Family. J30

STRATTON — In loving memory of our dear parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Stratton, who departed this life, Mother, July 1st, 1939; Father, April 23rd, 1938.

The Stars Say

For Tuesday, July 1
BY GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

An eventful day, with far-reaching and radical effect on the life is forced from the invisible astral influences. There are signs of sudden and surprising adventures, probably in the yove life, although all interes are under a sway of the precipitate and unpredictable. Business ventures of a novel or startling nature, with strange incidentists or side issues are shown, although both old and new objectives may promise out- standing accomplishments. Thrills and romance may influence the private life but particularly discreet and circumspect conduct is enjoined. Shun impetuosity.

Those whose birthday it is should expect a year of conspicuous achievement and dramatic experiences in both private and business life. New and old matters are under surprising stimuli with the new profiting through bold and adventurous strokes. Possessions may have sudden spurts in value, probably through taking high chances, but the end is a firm and enduring security. The influences of personal affiliations call for much restraint, watchfulness and moderation, to attain success.

A child born on this day should be endowed with many unusual talents, with much ingenuity and originality backed up by sound judgment and well-thought-out procedures. It should have a dramatic and successful life.

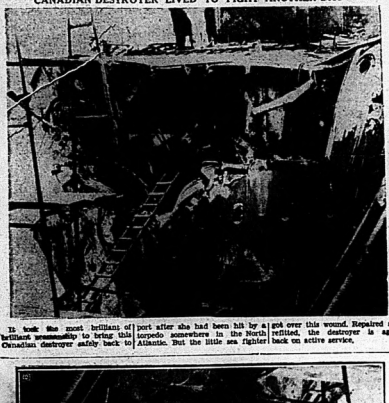
CANADIAN DESTROYER LIVED TO FIGHT ANOTHER DAY



It took the most brilliant of brilliant seamanship to bring this Canadian destroyer safely back to port after she had been hit by a torpedo somewhere in the North Atlantic. But the little sea fighter got over this wound. Repaired and refitted, the destroyer is again back on active service.

CHAPTER THIRTY

...yas a warm glow about Mrs. Hart as she and Lucy went into the kitchen and set briskly about the business of making coffee and sandwiches.

"Of course," said Betsy with a cheerfulness she was far from feeling, but which she felt she must pretend for the sake of the older girl, "nobody's hungry. But just the same,'tis'll give us all something to do—pretending to eat, anyway."

Lucy put down the coffee canister with a little convulsive movement that made the kitchen table rock. Betsy caught it deftly with her head up, her eyes bright, her face pallid.

"I thought the tropics were going to be so beautiful," she said her voice shaking a little. "I've lived in New England all my life. I thought everything would be—oh, lush and beautiful and exotic down here. But it isn't; there's something hideous behind every lovely thing. Those nasty little garden snakes — the housewife's friend, Mrs. Edmonds calls them, if you please, because they eat bugs and insects—hide behind flowers. In fact, yesterday I gathered a fat of tuberoses from under the bed in front of the cottage, and when I put them in a vase on the table, there was a big green lizard sitting as big as my little finger crawled out of the very centre of them! The grasshoppers are so big that they hide the blossoms on the hibiscus — and when I struck at a roach and it flew, that was the last straw! I hate it! I'll trade hibiscus and water-hyacinth and bougainvillea for lilacs and apple blossoms and violets any day! I hate it!"

"I can't say I blame you for that," admitted Betsy, remembering the first giant grasshopper she had seen, and the shock it had been when she realized that the thing was so big that she could see the features of its ugly face, and that it was looking straight at her as though not quite sure whether to leap at her or sway from her. I'm so sorry things have been spoiled for you."

"Betsy, I'm a beast!" Lucy said quickly, ashamed. "It's beautiful here. Orvin and I went over forget me-nots for Please forgive me for seeming so ungrateful. It's just that thought has been—well, a sit—"

"Upsetting?" Betsy was busily spreading cottage cheese on salted crackers, and opening a can of pineapple. "Think, nothing of it, Lucy. It has been what you might call a rather large evening."

The coffee was ready, and Lucy had filled a tray with cups and saucers. She got the coffee maker on it and went into the living room.

Betsy, putting the plate of sandwiches and the crackers and cheese on another tray, turned just as Tom and Orvin came in from the porch.

She held her breath but it didn't help. In spite of such a precaution the color rose in her cheeks, and that was about the one unlucky thing in the world, because after all this was Tom, her friend and comrade. Why would a girl act herself blushing and turning the colors of a rainbow just because of her friend and comrade came into the room?

"I just wanted to tell you, Betsy, my girl, that I'm pretty proud of the way you've carried on through this night," said Tom quietly.

"I haven't done anything except just what I HAD to be done," Betsy said, elaborately casual. "Mrs. Edmonds is the brave one, and to think that, like the nit-wits we are, we said she was a dangerous woman," and went around making fun of her because we thought she was making passes at our men."

She looked up at that, caught the look in Tom's eyes, and hurriedly. "But I've got to start feeding your guests with the coffee gets cold."

Tom stood aside and let her pass him. She felt his eyes upon her as she went through the small pantry and into the living room, and she knew the exact moment when he followed her through she did not turn her head nor seem to notice him.

Dawn broke with a burst of gloriously colored clouds, purple and gold and rose, fading as the sun popped up out of an ocean so blue as to be almost black. In the light of the rising sun, the electric lights looked garish and unreal, and Mrs. Edmonds went briskly about turning them off. In her passage about the room, she came suddenly face to face with a mirror and stopped, appalled.

Her hair was disheveled about a face white and strained with fatigue and sleeplessness; her pinned up looked faded and raddled; her eyes were tired above little circles of lavender; her flowered chiffon gown was stained and rumpled.

"Oh, what a sight I look!" she wailed, trying to hide her face behind her palms. "They didn't seem to look at all accustomed, Mr. Edmonds, you look beautiful," said Terry firmly. "And it's not just because I'm so grateful that you patched up my William, either. You do look grand!"

The others echoed her. Mrs. Edmonds' hands dropped, and she looked about the group and said, her voice not quite steady, "But—how kind you all are—"

"Kind my aunt's feathered bonnet!" protested Billy. I mean, figuratively. "You're the lady who's kind. You're a pretty swell person, Mrs. Edmonds. Thanks a million for everything."

"I didn't like you when I first met you," Terry said huskily, like an abashed child. "I thought you were making a pass at Bill—"

"Ye gods, brat, keep a civil tongue in your head," protested Bill, appalled at the possibilities of what she might say.

"But I don't understand—making a pass at Bill?" protested Mrs. Edmonds. It was obvious that she did not understand Terry's slang.

"I mean — well, I thought you were flirting with him," admitted Terry, ashamed, but determined to clear away every possible barrier of pretense so that she and this surprising woman could be friends.

Mrs. Edmonds stared at the girl and then at Bill. A blush crept up beneath the faded makeup on Mrs. Edmonds' face, and she said, a little breathlessly, "But my dear, how very flattering! To think that you spoke that kind of tears in her eyes. Why, the poor thing, thought Betsy—her mind's not being young! She hates feeling that way about it, and she wants to be giddy and gay—and it's too late!

"I only hope," said Terry, determined to make any possible amends for anything she may have thought or said against this woman, "that when I'm as old as you, I can be as gracious and— and charming and generally swell as you are."

"That's very sweet of you, my dear," said Mrs. Edmonds gratefully.

TORONTO STOCKS

Toronto, June 30 (CP)—Base metal and industrial stocks were narrowly higher on the Toronto Stock Exchange this afternoon and the golds weakened slightly. 54,000 shares were traded in the first three hours.

The Exchange will be closed tomorrow, July 1, Dominion Day.

Upper Canada was sold for a loss of 7 cents to 1.84 and minor declines were netted by Wrightlargreaves, Preston, Chesterville and Madsen.

Smelters and Nickel were moderate gainers and other base metals held steady. A gain of 3 points to 10 for Sherritt was the only change in the Western Oil list.

C.P.R., Brazilian and British American Oil stalled up narrow gains, Abitibi Pfd. and Silverwoods Pfd. added 1-4 to 3-8 and Thos. Tallors Pfd. gained 2 1-2 to 103. Canadian Oil dropped 1-4 to a new low for the year at 12 1-4.

WALL STREET

New York, June 30—(AP)—While offerings were exceptionally light irregularly lower trends prevailed in today's stock market.

Main buying handicap, brokers suggested, was the lack of positive information regarding the course of the Russian-German conflict.

Among stocks in the backward column were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Santa Fe, General Motors, Anaconda, Westinghouse, U. S. Rubber, Olen Martin, United Aircraft and U. S. Gypsum.

Given occasional support were American Telephone, Standard Oil (N. J.) American Bendix, Brewery Union, Montgomery Ward and American Can.

Faltering in the curb were Brewster Aero, Gulf Oil and Phoenix securities. Calambra Sugar and International Petroleum rallied.

Canadian stocks were unchanged. In the bond market Canada 4s regained 1-8 point.

GERMAN PRISONER MAKES ESCAPE

Fugitive From Internment Camp Near Schreiber Believed in Woods

Ottawa, June 30 (CP)—Peeque ol a German prisoner, Ober-Lieutenant Martin Meuller from an internment camp near Schreiber, Ont., was announced at internment operations headquarters here today. He got away about midnight last night.

Officials expressed the opinion Meuller is somewhere in the neighborood of the camp which is a wooded, rough country without roads. They described Meuller who is a pilot in the German air force with rank equivalent to pilot officer, as a smart chap who previously made several attempts to escape.

The missing man is wearing a white or khaki shirt, blue trousers and running shoes. He is 27 years old, 5 feet 10 inches tall and weighs 175 pounds. He has a fresh complexion, close-cut brown hair receding from the temples, brown eyes, a straight nose and a round chin.

It was from the same camp that 28 prisoners got away in April. They were the cause of an extended manhunt which resulted in two being shot to death and other 26 recaptured.

Character of Country

The wild character of the country proved the undoing of most of them although several managed to get aboard trains and two were captured as far away as Medicine Hat, Alta.

Meuller was the 62nd prisoner of war whose escape has been announced officially. All but four have been returned to custody, including the two shot in the April break from the prison camp in northwestern Ontario.

One other prisoner, Ernst Nuiller died under fire of a guard when he resisted recapture in northwestern Ontario.

The fourth—26-year-old, Baron Franz von Werra—made his escape from the United States on $10,000 bond posted by the German Consulate. Von Werra, a high-ranking airman, reached the United States by crossing the St. Lawrence River near Prescott, Ont., after escaping from a prison train in eastern Canada.

Von Werra's bid for freedom was his third since he was taken into custody. He escaped from prison camps in England and Scotland but was recaptured each time.

$15,000 CONTRACT AT R.C.A.F. STATION AT TRENTON AWARDED

Ottawa, June 30 (CP)—Award of a construction contract totalling $15,000 at the Royal Canadian Air Force station, Trenton, Ont., for an electrical distribution system, to the Hydro Electric Power Commission, Toronto, was announced today.

Graduated as No. 1 man at the U.S. Naval Academy in 1940, Joseph D'Arezzo did not get his naval commission because of a minor eye strain. Undaunted he set out to try his luck with the army and today is a lieutenant with the coast artillery in the Panama Canal zone. He is shown aboard the flagship of the coast artillery's Gatun Lake fleet, which he terms an "Admiral" of the army's "third ocean navy."

Livestock

Montreal, June 30 (CP)—Calves and lambs were lower but hog and cattle prices were not yet established here on the Montreal livestock markets, the Dominion Department of Agriculture reports.

Receipts: Cattle 1300; calves 1,522; hogs 810; sheep and lambs 706.

There was a weak undertone to the cattle market while prices were unsettled and not numerous enough to establish quotations.

Cattle were 25 to 50 cents lower. Choice calves declined $7.50 to $10, with the bulk of the low yeals around $8; there were no tops. Good veals made $10 and medums $9. Drinkers ranged from $5.50-7. Although there were no sales made, hog prices were strong.

Lambs were easier and suffered a cut of $1; good ones made $12, with culls picked out at $10 and a few sales were also made at $11-$11.50 flats. Sheep were $5-$7, selling mostly mixed between $5.50-$6.00.

Toronto, June 30 —(CP)— Cattle trade was slow with prices about steady on good killers up to mid-session on the livestock market here today. Veal calves, lambs and sheep were steady. No price was established for hogs. The cattle holdover from last week was 400 head.

Receipts reported by the Dominion Marketing Service were: Cattle and calves 2,000, hogs 1,000, sheep and lambs 9000.

Weights and grades sold mostly at $8.95 with a few at $9, butcher steers and heifers at $8.50-90 for a few, butcher cows at $5-$7, canners and cutters at $3.75-$4.75, bulls at $5-$6.25, fed calves at $8.75-$9.25, CCFS slow at $5.50-$6 and stock calves at $7-$8.50.

Sheep and lambs steady, spring lambs $12 to $13.50 and $13 delivered, Culls sold mostly at $10.

Sheep sold at $5.50-$6.

Hogs closed previously at $14.10-$14.25 dressedweight at yards or plants.

GERMAN

tle, in which crews of our aircraft and our tanks showed courage and fortitude, the enemy was defeated. Fifteen tanks were destroyed."

In addition, the Red Air Force was credited with the destruction of 58 planes, against 21 of its own.

Figures Listed

From the Bessarabian area to the Black Sea, along the southern flank of the Russian front, the communique said German and Rumanian attempts to smash through into Ukraine and to cross the Prut River into Bessarabia were repulsed in fierce fighting.

Terming the Nazi High Command's claims "fantastic" and exaggerations and great destruction "a manifest lie and boastful humbug," the Moscow communique listed these figures of its own for the two sides.

"Tanks destroyed or captured—2,500 German, up to 900 Russian; planes destroyed—1,500 German, 940 Russian; prisoners—30,000 German, 15,000 Russian.

The Nazi summary of the first week of fighting claimed the Germans destroyed 2,233 Russian tanks, 1,297 armored cars and 4,107 planes, took 40,000 prisoners, sank four Soviet destroyers, three submarines and a torpedo boat and seriously damaged the 8,000 ton cruiser Maxim Gorky.

(D.N.B. and Propaganda and News Agency, claimed the drive toward Moscow had swept into old White Russia today to the fortress town of Minsk. A German radio report claimed that, in Southern Poland, had been captured in a drive toward the Ukraine. The Germans reported deep penetration into Lithuania and Latvia and claimed two Russian armies were cut off between Bialystok and Minsk.)

Advance Stopped

The Soviet communique acknowledged that a Nazi spearhead had driven through the Minsk defense line, but said the advance was stopped by Russian infantry, pounded and strafed by the Red air fleet and threw itself "in an extremely difficult position," cut off from its base and its supporting troops.

Other Russian forces were said to be "stopping the advance of the enemy's motorized troops and of his infantry along the Lida-Volkovysk line," Lida being northeast of Wilno-Dvinsk area of Lithuania to block a flanking move by the Nazi columns which captured Wilno and Kaunas, the Lithuanian capital.

The communique quoted prisoners as saying a Nazi motor division was annihilated near Lida.

In the Lwow area, 50 miles into Soviet territory, along the Bug River frontier, "fighting between important mass of mechanized troops" was reported going into its fifth day as tank forces which the Russians have estimated as high as 4,000 battled at the gateway to the Ukraine.

A Serious Situation

London, June 30 (AP)—German armored forces smashing into the Minsk region and, to the south, toward Kiev have created a very serious situation" for the Red Army, an authoritative London source said today.

He asserted the Nazis had some basis for claims of encirclement of large Red army forces. This source emphasized that the next two or three days would be "of the greatest importance in the battle line" as they will test the ability of the Germans to support armored divisions with infantry."

The German drive in the north was described as a pincer's movement, with armored columns striking from Suwalki toward the important rail junction of Drinsk and from East Prussia through Kaunas and Wilno.

This source said this pincer probably closed around Soviet forces, while a separate drive toward Minsk developed from farther south.

It was held likely the Nazis had followed their usual tactics in bypassing Minsk to reach the inner road to Moscow, leaving the big White Russian capital to be assaulted by other troops.

The possibility that other Soviet forces might have been encircled farther south, in the drive past Luck and Lwow toward the Ukraine capital of Kiev, also was expressed.

HEAVY INFLUX OF U.S. TOURISTS OVER THE WEEKEND

One of the heaviest influxes of American motor traffic of the year invaded the district over the week-end, Sgt. Sid Hunter, Provincial Police officer in charge of district No. 8 Motorcycle Patrol stated today.

Fully 45 per cent. of the stream of vehicular traffic came from south of the border, the sergeant said.

He patrolled the district as far as Lindsay to Peterborough, Marmora and Madoc, as well as Highway No. 2 as far as Cobourg. The majority of the cars bore Ohio state licenses, he said, but nearly every state in the Midland Regiment and batteries of artillery from Central Ontario union was represented.

A significant feature of the motor "invasion" was the fact that no United States holiday was being celebrated. The national holiday which falls on July 4th is expected to be responsible for the largest number of Americans to visit Canada in a number of years.

The next few weeks, when the tourist season is, or should be at its peak, should also see a large number and one it is felt which will be a record.

GERMAN HIGH

Minsk Menaced

Nazi spokesmen, meanwhile, claimed that Minsk, in old Russian territory, was menaced seriously as German armored divisions, driving from the west, reported east of that White Russian capital.

There has been no claim that Minsk has been taken, but German motorized units were said to hold firm control of one end of the Minsk-Moscow motor road.

(Forces in the front area between Lake Lyna and Lwow, where the Russians said a battle of 4,000 tanks had entered its fifth day, apparently were making their way at the Ukrainian capital of Kiev, 250 miles east of Lwow.

(The German radio earlier, in a broadcast picked up in New York, had claimed the occupation of Lock, which is about 100 miles northeast of Lwow, but this was not confirmed.)

Further to the north, Nazi armored vanguards advancing across Lithuania toward Moscow by way of S. S. R.-itself were claimed by D. N. B., German news and propaganda agency, to have skirted the White Russian capital of Minsk to the east of the highway leading to Moscow, 450 miles to the northeast.

Tremendous Battle Being Waged

The claim came a few hours after the Nazi high command in special communique reported on Nazi advances in the first week of fighting on the eastern front and said a tremendous battle was being waged in the Bialystok area of Poland, west of Minsk. The Nazis further claimed that two Red armies were trapped there.

A dozen announcements, released at intervals yesterday from Hitler's headquarters, said the Nazis had taken Wilno and Kaunas in Lithuania, Brest-Litovsk and Grodno in Poland, and Dvinsk in Latvia.

The communique claimed destruction of 3,233 Russian tanks, 4,107 Russian planes and 1,297 Russian armored cars in the first week and of the capture of 40,000 prisoners, 600 heavy guns and vast quantities of other materials.

They claimed that four Russian destroyers, two submarines and a torpedo boat had been sunk and the 8,000-ton Russian cruiser Maxim Gorky damaged. The only mention of the cost of these successes was the assertion: 50 Nazi planes had been lost.

The Russian communique acknowledged the loss of Grodno, Wilno and Kaunas, but claimed it made no mention of Dvinsk but conceded loss of Bialystok.

Russian Counter-Offensive

(It said 2,500 German tanks were destroyed, compared with 900 Russian; that 1,500 German planes had been destroyed, to 850 Russian planes; and that 30,000 Germans had been taken prisoner, compared with 15,000 Russian.)

The column which reached the head of the motor road from Minsk 20 miles inside the old Russian frontier, it became clear, claimed to have side-stepped the two "encirclement" Russian armies in the Bialystok area to reach their objective.

(Military sources in Vichy heard that the two armies included 400,000 Russians. These sources, however, gave the Soviet forces a good chance to break through the Nazi ring.

(The Russians claimed that instead of being cut off, their armies before Minsk were intact and were not encircled.

(Berlin and Deutschland, controlled German commentary, said the "strategic pressure" of the German army should be viewed as follows:

1. The two surrounded armies in the Bialystok area must choose to surrender or be destroyed.

2. In the Baltic area the German forces in the front line have been and successful. The High Command said that the German area had battered 350 miles along the railroad from Pskov to Leningrad.

3. Victory is expected soon in the Lwow area, where the High Command claimed fortifications had fallen.

Considered Under Three Headings

The course of fighting in the three headings, Dienst said:

1. The Germans are convinced the Russian tank arm is as good as defeated, and the Russian Air Force has been mentally wounded.

2. Special emphasis must be given to the great distances covered in the fighting and the large area brought under German control.

3. The initiative along the entire front remains in German hands despite Russian attempts to counter-attack.

"New and great success is in preparation," the High Command said in its delayed series of special announcements.

Hitler's Voelkischer Beobachter declared: "The Fuehrer has saved Europe from the Bolshevist invasion."

army and aircraft products—especially the latter—and transportation by couriers of samples of latest armaments.

The alleged spy ring was said to have used secret inks for couriers travelling across the Atlantic by clipper planes. Hoover declared in a shortwave radio with ocean-to-ocean range was found in a room of one suspect.

Arrests will be taken in the metropolitan area and the five already in federal custody, four were arrested in New Jersey and one each in Michigan and Wisconsin.

On Monday afternoon, June 30th, the first modern cruiser tank ever produced in Canada will move out, under its own power, from the shops of the Montreal Locomotive Works. Above shows German armored tanks in final adjustment on the new tank.

WITH MALICE TOWARD SOME — IF THEY ATTACK EAST INDIES

Javanese welders are shown working on sea mines which will be sown in the waters of the Dutch East Indies at the first sign of attack.

The islands, incredibly rich in raw materials, which certain "have-not" nations would like to own, are waiting overtime on defence preparations. Don't think these mines are dummies—they are being readied as part of the East Indies defence plans which call for all-out defence against any kind of attack.

DEMONSTRATING NEW R.A.F. LIFE-JACKET FOR AIRMEN

To save the lives of airmen who are shot down or forced to bail out of their planes at sea, a new R.A.F. life-jacket is demonstrated here. At the LEFT the outfit is shown as it looks on an airman. The jacket and trousers will keep the airman afloat until he inflates the small rubber boat carried in a flat container attached to the jacket. The inflation is done with a tiny compressed air bottle. At RIGHT, the tiny boat has been inflated and the airman is aboard. The gadget fastened to the left side of the raft is a torch which lights automatically at night to show the position of downed flier to rescuers.
